THE AMERICAN Federation of Labor asks American athletes not to attend the 1936 Olympic games, if they are held in Germany. As a reason for "banning German Olympics," the federation says Hitler is crushing labor unions "with blood and fire."

THERE IS a better reason for not holding the 1936 Olympics in Germany.

The chief value of sport is in the fact that manly exercise is supposed, primarily, to develop and inspire courage.

THE SPECTACLE of 60,000 Germans cruelly persecuting and suppressing 600,000 German-Jews is not exactly a picture of courage.

Olympic games come from ancient Greece where at marathon ten thousand Greeks defeated 100,000 Persians, and one Greek after fighting all day with heavy shield and spear, ran 20 miles to Athens to tell about it and drop dead.

Men of ancient Olympics would find nothing admirable in the persecution of 600,000 Jews by 60,000,000 Germans. One hundred to one is hardly fair odds.

NEW YORK'S automobile exhibition opens in a few days, industry having decided that the most important car is the winter car, "when the automobile wears the rubbers for the whole family."

The early exhibition will encourage early selection of the winter car.

AMERICAN AUTOMOBILE men will want to know that their English competitor is "stepping out in a big way."

It positively will put out a twelve-cylinder car. Think of that.

Also the new car will have 50 horsepower and the price is only $13,000.

IN AMERICA a 50-horsepower car belongs in the baby carriage class. And, for thirteen thousand dollars, you would buy fifteen or twenty American cars that would lose the $13,000 vehicle on the way uphill and run all around it on the level.

This country knows how to make automobiles, steel, radio sets, movies and other things. We ought to be more cheerful.

DR. C. [illegible] MAYO predicts that drugs will cure insanity. With the drug now used experimentally, Dr. Mayo hopes to effect permanent cures by changing the blood circulation in the brain.

He is especially hopeful about "young persons suffering from dementa praecox."

HOUSING DIVISION INAUGURATES SLUM CLEARANCE PLANS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Struggling to meet President Roosevelt's work relief deadlines, the PWA housing division today started moving its 25,000 family slum clearance program out of blue print rooms to construction sites.

In calling for foundation bids on 21 slum clearance projects totaling $70,000,000, A. R. Clas, housing director brought to 46 the total number of projects that may meet the October 22 date for contract awards. His assistants expressed confidence that December 15, the final date for starting work, would find excavation under way.

After two years, PWA has 16 federal housing projects under way, besides seven, sponsored by private interests from PWA loans, which are already occupied.

RITES HELD FOR MOTHER OF SHREVEPORT EDITOR

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Funeral services were to be conducted here today for Mrs. Sudie B. Frantz, 73, mother of Dolph Frantz, editor of the Shreveport, La., Times, who was fatally injured yesterday at Shreveport when she was struck by a trackless trolley.

Mrs. Frantz was the widow of the late Judge E. E. Frantz, veteran Jackson newspaperman. She had lived in Shreveport for the past six years with her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Baker.

Other survivors are three sons, E. E. Frantz, Alexandria, W. K. Frantz, New Iberia, La., and Frank J. Frantz, Jackson, and a brother, A. J. Frantz, Shreveport.

SHUSHAN CALLED FINANCIAL AGENT OF LONG MACHINE

Testimony Of Defense Witnesses Reveals Monetary Dealings

SECOND WEEK OF TRIAL AT NEW ORLEANS CLOSES

Claim Alleged Untaxed Funds Were Gifts To Organization

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The second week of Abraham Lazard Shushan's trial in federal district court for alleged income tax evasion ended today with the robust defendant attempting to show that monies the government claims he received and failed to account for in his tax returns were political gifts to the late Huey P. Long's Louisiana machine.

Shushan, charged in a ten-count indictment with wilfully attempting to defeat payment of $71,000 taxes on a gross unreported income of $448,000 for the years 1929, 1930, 1931, 1932 and 1933, began unfolding his defense today through the testimony of witnesses who laid bare the financial dealings of the Louisiana Democratic association, Long's state machine.

Hugh M. Wilkinson, Shushan's attorney, informed the court and the jury that the defense was based on the contention that Shushan, in handling large sums termed "rebates" or "graft" by the government, was merely acting as the fiscal agent for the Long organization.

After opening its case yesterday the defense lost little time in launching its attack on the government's testimony, which was devoted principally to an effort to establish its contention that Shushan, president of the Orleans levee board, received thousands of dollars in "rebates" on lake shore development contracts awarded the Standard Dredging company of New York, and which he assertedly failed to include in his tax returns.

By the testimony of two witnesses today the defense began unraveling the fiscal affairs of the Louisiana Democratic association in an effort to show that Shushan served as the

TENSION EASES IN WALL STREET

Relief Indicated Over Week-End By More Hopeful Tones In Europe

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Wall Street expressed its relief at relaxation of war tension in Europe today by bidding industrial shares up to new peak prices since 1931.

Throughout the week, financial circles had been favorably impressed by business and trade news, including another record-breaking weekly total of electric power used, and a new peak since 1931 shown in the weekly statistics of freight movement.

But the war tension had tended to keep Wall Street cautious until today, when news of resumption of direct discussions between London and Rome were thought to have cleared the European atmosphere considerably, for the moment at least.

Many industrial shares pushed up $1 to more than $4. The bond market saw a pronounced stiffening of for-

FOUR PERSONS KILLED IN AUTO COLLISION FRIDAY

The top scene shows what remained of an automobile which collided with a truck, belonging to the Gatlin Wholesale Grocer company of Monroe, on the Monroe-Ruston highway near Ruston late Friday afternoon. The truck, badly damaged, is pictured below. Four occupants of the car were fatally injured but the negro driver of the truck was unhurt.

VICTIM OF CRASH NOT IDENTIFIED

500 Persons View Body Of Man Killed In Auto-Truck Collision

RUSTON, La., Oct. 19.—(Special)—Approximately 500 persons today viewed the remains of an unidentified man who yesterday was killed, along with three others, in a collision of a small sedan and a truck, four miles east of Ruston, on highway 80.

Deputy Sheriff Clyde Frasier made fingerprints of the man, and it was thought possible that his identity may be established through this means.

District Attorney McBride said the body would be held at a local morgue for several days before burial.

According to Martin Sheppard, one of the crash victims, who died in a local hospital several hours after the crash, the man was picked up on the highway just east of Shreveport, and gave no definite destination as his objective, other than just looking for work. Local authorities claim they have been in communication with hundreds of others, who either telephoned or telegraphed in for description, but as yet have no clue which might lead to identification.

At the time of the accident, the unknown victim was wearing brown woolen trousers, a black jersey sweater, no shirt, brown tennis shoes, and grey socks. He is described as having straight, dark brown or black hair, about five feet, six inches in height and weighing approximately 135 pounds, probably more normally. He has a vaccination scar on the right arm, and what appears to be a pen knife scar just below the elbow of the right arm. Also a small scar running across the top of his head.

The body of Sheppard was today carried to Rayville for burial sometime tomorrow. Remains of the other two victims, A. W. Little, former Alton, Ill., commercial school representative, and Miss Ethel Johnson of

CONFLICTING LAWS TO WPA PROGRAMS ARE URGED LIFTED

NEW ORLEANS Oct. 19.—(AP)—A resolution adopted by the Louisiana Architects association urging repeal of all state laws in conflict with the federal government's policies in releasing works funds in Louisiana, was forwarded today to Governor O. K. Allen with the request that he call a special session of the legislature to repeal them.

The resolution, R. B. Roessle, president of the association, said, pointed out that the government has fixed December 15 as the time limit for starting projects and adds that in preventing the release of federal funds in Louisiana the state has not provided any form of relief as a substitute.

EMPEROR STOPS SLAUGHTER MOVE

Foreigners In Ethiopian Capital Threatened By Gofa Tribesmen

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 19.—(Exchange Telegraph)—What was described as an attempt by thousands of wild Gofa tribesmen to storm Addis Ababa and kill all foreigners was averted today by Emperor Haile Selassie's imperial troops and armed police.

(There was no confirmation of this report from other sources.)

When he learned of the impending march, Emperor Haile Selassie threatened instant death to any rebellious tribesman who dared to set foot in the capital.

The tribesmen, nevertheless, left their encampment and started toward the town.

Imperial troops rushed out and compelled the turbulent warriors to march beyond the town.

It was believed a number of Greek

ANXIETY EXPRESSED FOR STEAMER CREW WHICH LEFT VESSEL

GLASGOW, Oct. 20.—(Sunday)—(AP)—The gravest anxiety for the safety of the crew of the British steamer Vardulia which was believed abandoned 420 miles northwest of the Hebrides islands in the north Atlantic, was expressed in shipping circles today.

The Donaldson line, owners of the vessel, have received no information concerning the crew of 37 since the master, Capt. William Patterson, sent a wireless message yesterday that he was "now abandoning ship." Previously he had asked for assistance because of a dangerous list.

Six vessels were reported rushing to the place where the Vardulia sent out its SOS. Shipping authorities said the first ship likely to reach the scene was the Danish cargo boat Oregon.

The Vardulia was en route from Hartlepool, England, to Botwood, Newfoundland, with a cargo of coal.

LOCAL PROJECTS TO BE COMPLETED

Witholding Of WPA Funds Won't Affect Fifth District Expenditures

The withholding of four million dollars in WPA projects in the state, as announced Friday by Frank H. Peterman, Louisiana WPA administrator, will not affect the expenditure of $60,961.98 on projects in Ouachita parish, already approved, A. P. Lassiter, fifth district WPA director, said Saturday.

"The sum of $167,208.56 was allotted for projects in the fifth district sometime ago, of which $60,961.98 was set aside for approved projects in Ouachita parish. Mr. Peterman's action in withholding four million dollars, will not affect these projects," Mr. Lassiter said.

Withholding of the four million dollars was done to prevent the Louisiana highway commission from using the money for political purposes, Mr. Peterman said in a statement issued in New Orleans.

The statement was in reply to a charge made by A. P. Tugwell, chairman of the state highway commission, that Peterman was delaying approval of funds under the "pretense" of studying a law passed at the direction

ACCUSED NEGROES ARE TRANSFERRED TO UNKNOWN JAIL

GRETNA, La., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Two negroes arrested for robbing two white men and criminally attacking their women companions during the past week were reported secretly transferred to an unannounced jail last night or early today.

The negroes, Henry "Buddy" Freeman, 24, and Dave Hart, alias Fred Lindsey, 22, arrested in New Orleans Wednesday, had been brought to the Jefferson parish jail here.

The Gretna jailor said they have been taken back to New Orleans, just across the Mississippi river from here but New Orleans parish prison officers said they had not been received.

Police said the negroes confessed robbing Oscar Cire, 42, and attacking his young woman companion on the New Orleans lake front and to a similar offense against Vick Caimi, 24, of Algiers, and a young woman in Jefferson parish a week ago.

CAPTAIN GIMMLER WINS MITCHELL TROPHY RACE

SELFRIDGE FIELD, Mich., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Capt. Karl G. E. Gimmler of Milwaukee, Wis., won the Mitchell trophy race, premier speed event of the army air corps, today with an average of 212.9 miles an hour for the 100 miles.

Lieut. Jared V. Crabb of New Harmony, Ind., whisked across the finish line close on the tail of the winner's plane. His average was 211.9 miles an hour. Third place went to Major Warren A. Maxwell of Indianapolis, with an average of 211.4.

Selfridge Field officials estimated that 55,000 spectators witnessed the race.

NOTED ATTORNEY SUCCUMBS AFTER HEART AFFECTION

John M. Munholland Dies Suddenly At His Home Saturday Night

FUNERAL WILL BE HELD AT 3 O'CLOCK MONDAY

Was Notable Figure In Life Of Parish Since His Early Manhood

John M. Munholland, one of the best known lawyers of North Louisiana, died suddenly at his home on Trenton street, West Monroe, at 6:30 Saturday night, following a heart attack. He was 65 years old.

Though he had not been in robust health for several years, Mr. Munholland's death was wholly unexpected. The news of his passing came as a distinct shock to the entire community when it became known last night.

Mr. Munholland had suffered a slight heart attack Friday night and was undergoing treatment Saturday when he succumbed to a second attack.

He had only recently returned from a legal mission to Chicago, where he spent two weeks sitting as a master in hearing a case out of the United States district court of the western district of Louisiana. On his return he seemed apparently improved in health.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon at the family residence in West Monroe. Rev. W. C. Scott, pastor of the First Methodist church, assisted by Rev. D. C. Barr, will officiate. Burial in the old city cemetery will be conducted under Masonic auspices, Western Star Lodge No. 24 having charge of the interment.

Mr. Munholland had been a notable figure in the life of Ouachita parish since his early manhood. He was the son of Rev. C. T. Munholland, a Methodist minister, who served various congregations of north Louisiana in the seventies and eighties of the last century. John Munholland was born in Franklin parish, south

WORK ON BRIDGE NEAR COMPLETION

Submarine Cables For Lighting System Are Now Being Installed

Submarine cables for the lighting system of the new traffic bridge over the Ouachita river at Louisville avenue are now in the process of installation by the Mill and Marine Electric company of Gastonia, N. C., it was learned here yesterday from A. W. Day, engineer for the Vincennes Bridge company, of Vincennes, Ind.

Mr. Day stated that all steel and machinery for the operation of the bridge is now here and it is expected that the bridge will be opened to traffic about January 15.

Practically all of the steel of the west bascule leaf is already in place and steel is now being placed in the east bascule leaf. All the construction work on the bridge with the exception of the bascule span has been completed for some time and with all material on hand, nothing now remains to be done except to place

MONGOLIAN CITY MAY BE OCCUPIED

Japanese And Manchoukuoans Threaten To Enter Republic Capital

MOSCOW, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Soviet dispatches from Ulan Bator, capital of the Mongolian peoples republic, said tonight Japanese and Manchoukuoans had threatened to occupy the city if the Mongolians do not comply with demands for the right to maintain permanent observers there.

Other dispatches reported the slaying of a young border official Oct. 12 in a clash with a Japanese-Manchoukuoan detachment.

Negotiations between the Mongolians and the Japanese and Manchoukuoans are being carried on at a point on the border.

Soviet sources said the foreigners previously had threatened part of Mongolian territory but had not proposed anything so drastic as was reported tonight.

The talks are revolving around proposals to appoint a mixed commission to investigate border disputes. The Japanese-Manchoukuoan members would reside in Mongolian territory and the Mongolian members in Manchoukuoan territory.

Soviet dispatches said the Japanese some time ago demanded not only that the head of the delegation be permitted to reside in Ulan Bator but also that they have the right to build their own communication line direct to Manchoukuoa.

The dispatches tonight said the Mongolian delegation "remained calm" in the face of the latest demand and referred the matter to the government for decision.

"This demand," said Tass Soviet) news agency, "is unprecedented in the history of international negotiations and caused great indignation in Ulan Bator.

"It is expected that the Japanese government will call its too free diplomat to order."

A sharp Soviet protest over a recent clash on the Manchoukuoan border still has not been answered by Tokyo.

Soviet accounts of the slaying of a border official said a force of 40 foreigners penetrated more than two kilometers inside Russian territory and clashed with 20 members of a Soviet border patrol.

The slain official was named Kotelnikoff and he was said to be chief of a platoon. The vice-commander of the Soviet district of frontier police was wounded as was a member of the patrol, said the dispatches.

The report said there were casualties among the Japanese and Manchoukuoans, but the number was not given, after the skirmish they were reported to have returned to Manchoukuoan territory. The clash occurred near Novi Alexeyevka.

A fight last week-end along the same border led Moscow to make strong representations to Japan.

TWO PERSONS DIE BENEATH DEBRIS OF RAVAGED CITY

Losses Estimated Possibly Between One And Two Million Dollars

ABOUT HUNDRED PEOPLE RECEIVE MINOR INJURIES

Many Groups Huddle About Open Campfires In Dread Of Tremors

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 19.—(AP)—A giant broom, fashioned from federal relief funds, began sweeping earthquake debris today from this picturesque state capital, nestling at the mountain-studded continental divide, even as the receding tremors bared two deaths and damage of million dollar proportions.

Physicians said perhaps a hundred persons were treated for cuts and bruises with a dozen requiring hospital attention of several days' duration.

Only a scattered handful of business structures were beyond repair but the cumulative total of cracked walls and fallen brick-work led Oscar Bearson, city engineer, to estimate property losses might run between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000. Other calculations were several hundred thousand dollars lower.

Bearson said about 150 homes would be vacated temporarily for further inspection.

Earth shocks, which began a week ago and reached a climax last night, vibrated less severely in the downtown area as late as 11:56 o'clock this morning (mountain standard time). The total of all the tremors, major and minor, was computed by the weather bureau as approximating 195.

The quake, described by Dr. Charles Richter of Pasadena, Calif., as "the fourth large shock felt in the United States in the past two years," jarred points as far north as Canada and Washington, dipping into Idaho and Sheridan, Wyo., and affecting a large slice of western Montana.

Prof. Perry Byerly, Berkeley, Calif., said it was the general story of "mountain building" in the bowels of the earth.

All places of public gathering in Helena were applied to theaters, churches, schools, libraries, dance halls, beer parlors.

Throughout last night bedraggled and chilled groups of men, women and children huddled about campfires built in the open. Others moved beds into front yards of parkways, and still more slept in their cars driven far into the Helena valley to the north. Some refused to return even with the break of day and others were making plans for a temporary vacation.

The two dead were Charles Siggelink, a transient, of Appleton, Wis., crushed in the fall of a building at the state fairgrounds transient center, and Dave Harris, negro, killed when trapped beneath a falling wall in the business district.

Masonic officials said the city's spectacular Shrine temple with its ornate Turkish spire, may have been severely damaged.

VICTIM OF ATTACK REPORTED STILL IN SERIOUS CONDITION

CONVERSE, La., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Miss Myrtle Robinette, Sabine parish school teacher, one of two victims of a vicious attack by a man named Edward Simpson, apparently intoxicated, remained in serious condition at the sanitarium here today. The school teacher, struck with a plank wielded by Simpson while a school play was being rehearsed at Noble, Sabine parish, suffered severe brain injuries.

Miss Pauline Cassell, another teacher of the Noble school, who was also struck by Simpson, was not seriously hurt.

Simpson, held in jail at Many, was said by Sheriff E. L. Edwards to have made no statement, and nothing has been learned as yet regarding the reason for the brutal assault upon the two young women.

STEALING OF PECANS TO BE STOPPED, TARVER SAYS

Warning was issued last night by L. V. Tarver, superintendent of Monroe police, that persons caught stealing pecans off trees located on private property will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

"The practice has got to stop," Mr. Tarver said. "Persons caught in the act of taking pecans can be prosecuted on two counts, larceny and trespassing and I expect to see the law upheld," he said.

Numerous complaints have been received by the police from residents of the city who say their property is being trespassed and that pecans, which they intended using, are being carried away.

British Premier Makes Bid For American Help

WORCESTER, Eng., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Premier Stanley Baldwin, voicing faith in the League of Nations, made today what many interpreted to be a direct bid for the United States to join the league.

Britain's leader told his political constituents that the failure of the league to end the war in Africa would not mean the end of the league itself.

"I would say rather," he asserted, "that if this first attempt by the world to secure peace fails let us see whether our machinery or whether our work may have been at fault; let us try again and let us see once more whether we cannot get those still outside the league to join the league."

Baldwin made a direct appeal to Italy to understand that Britain's opposition to the Ethiopian campaign is motivated "solely", by concern for world peace, rather than any hostility toward Italy or a desire to overthrow Fascism.

Striking while the iron is hot in the wake of an apparent easing of Anglo-Italian tension in Rome, Baldwin declared the time is long past when Britain "would seek by arms or any other method to overthrow the form of government existing in any country."

The prime minister's speech opened his campaign for re-election to the house of commons after 34 years in politics.

"Not one country today if war broke out could regard itself as secure until that war ended," he said. "Even America, which has talked of isolation, is up against that peril.

"It is a dangerous lie to say the object of the British government is to overthrow Fascist Italy. The object

Fist Fight, Riot Mark Labor Federation Meet

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 19.—(AP)—A roaring riot and a three-blow fist fight between two of the nation's best known labor leaders climaxed the American Federation of Labor convention today.

Chunky John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, and William L. Hutcheson, hefty president of the carpenters, threw the convention into a bedlam of shouting, shoving and fist-swinging when they exchanged blows after a heated verbal duel.

Order was quickly restored after Lewis and Hutcheson were separated. Hutcheson left the convention hall, his face bleeding. Lewis' only apparent injury was a small scratch on the middle finger of his left hand. On the next finger he wears a massive gold ring.

Lewis said he swung after Hutcheson called him a "foul name." Hutcheson swung back. With Lewis' second blow, some observers said, Hutcheson tumbled back, knocking over a table.

William Green, federation president, told reporters nothing of the kind ever before had happened at a federation convention.

The fight grew out of the bitter personal feeling that has developed out of the controversy between craft and industrial unionists over how mass production industry workers should be organized. The craft unionists say "by craft," the industrial unionists say "by industry."

When the convention voted on the general issue Wednesday night, the craft unionists won by an overwhelming vote.

In view of this vote, the resolutions committee today recommended rejection of resolutions introduced by rub-

FOUR PERSONS KILLED IN AUTO COLLISION FRIDAY

The top scene shows what remained of an automobile which collided with a truck, belonging to the Gatlin Wholesale Grocer company of Monroe, on the Monroe-Ruston highway near Ruston late Friday afternoon. The truck, badly damaged, is pictured below. Four occupants of the car were fatally injured but the negro driver of the truck was unhurt.

VICTIM OF CRASH NOT IDENTIFIED

500 Persons View Body Of Man Killed In Auto-Truck Collision

RUSTON, La., Oct. 19.—(Special)—Approximately 500 persons today viewed the remains of an unidentified man who yesterday was killed, along with three others, in a collision of a small sedan and a truck, four miles east of Ruston, on highway 80.

Deputy Sheriff Clyde Frasier made fingerprints of the man, and it was thought possible that his identity may be established through this means.

District Attorney McBride said the body would be held at a local morgue for several days before burial.

According to Martin Sheppard, one of the crash victims, who died in a local hospital several hours after the crash, the man was picked up on the highway just east of Shreveport, and gave no definite destination as his objective, other than just looking for work. Local authorities claim they have been in communication with hundreds of others, who either telephoned or telegraphed in for description, but as yet have no clue which might lead to identification.

At the time of the accident, the unknown victim was wearing brown woolen trousers, a black jersey sweater, no shirt, brown tennis shoes, and grey socks. He is described as having straight, dark brown or black hair, about five feet, six inches in height and weighing approximately 135 pounds, probably more normally. He has a vaccination scar on the right arm, and what appears to be a pen knife scar just below the elbow of the right arm. Also a small scar running across the top of his head.

The body of Sheppard was today carried to Rayville for burial sometime tomorrow. Remains of the other two victims, A. W. Little, former Alton, Ill., commercial school representative, and Miss Ethel Johnson of

CONFLICTING LAWS TO WPA PROGRAMS ARE URGED LIFTED

NEW ORLEANS Oct. 19.—(AP)—A resolution adopted by the Louisiana Architects association urging repeal of all state laws in conflict with the federal government's policies in releasing works funds in Louisiana, was forwarded today to Governor O. K. Allen with the request that he call a special session of the legislature to repeal them.

The resolution, R. B. Roessle, president of the association, said, pointed out that the government has fixed December 15 as the time limit for starting projects and adds that in preventing the release of federal funds in Louisiana the state has not provided any form of relief as a substitute.

EMPEROR STOPS SLAUGHTER MOVE

Foreigners In Ethiopian Capital Threatened By Gofa Tribesmen

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 19.—(Exchange Telegraph)—What was described as an attempt by thousands of wild Gofa tribesmen to storm Addis Ababa and kill all foreigners was averted today by Emperor Haile Selassie's imperial troops and armed police.

(There was no confirmation of this report from other sources.)

When he learned of the impending march, Emperor Haile Selassie threatened instant death to any rebellious tribesman who dared to set foot in the capital.

The tribesmen, nevertheless, left their encampment and started toward the town.

Imperial troops rushed out and compelled the turbulent warriors to march beyond the town.

It was believed a number of Greek

LOCAL PROJECTS TO BE COMPLETED

Witholding Of WPA Funds Won't Affect Fifth District Expenditures

The withholding of four million dollars in WPA projects in the state, as announced Friday by Frank H. Peterman, Louisiana WPA administrator, will not affect the expenditure of $60,961.98 on projects in Ouachita parish, already approved, A. P. Lassiter, fifth district WPA director, said Saturday.

"The sum of $167,208.56 was allotted for projects in the fifth district sometime ago, of which $60,961.98 was set aside for approved projects in Ouachita parish. Mr. Peterman's action in withholding four million dollars, will not affect these projects," Mr. Lassiter said.

Withholding of the four million dollars was done to prevent the Louisiana highway commission from using the money for political purposes, Mr. Peterman said in a statement issued in New Orleans.

The statement was in reply to a charge made by A. P. Tugwell, chairman of the state highway commission, that Peterman was delaying approval of funds under the "pretense" of studying a law passed at the direction

ACCUSED NEGROES ARE TRANSFERRED TO UNKNOWN JAIL

GRETNA, La., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Two negroes arrested for robbing two white men and criminally attacking their women companions during the past week were reported secretly transferred to an unannounced jail last night or early today.

The negroes, Henry "Buddy" Freeman, 24, and Dave Hart, alias Fred Lindsey, 22, arrested in New Orleans Wednesday, had been brought to the Jefferson parish jail here.

The Gretna jailor said they have been taken back to New Orleans, just across the Mississippi river from here but New Orleans parish prison officers said they had not been received.

Police said the negroes confessed robbing Oscar Cire, 42, and attacking his young woman companion on the New Orleans lake front and to a similar offense against Vick Caimi, 24, of Algiers, and a young woman in Jefferson parish a week ago.

NOTED ATTORNEY SUCCUMBS AFTER HEART AFFECTION

John M. Munholland Dies Suddenly At His Home Saturday Night

FUNERAL WILL BE HELD AT 3 O'CLOCK MONDAY

Was Notable Figure In Life Of Parish Since His Early Manhood

John M. Munholland, one of the best known lawyers of North Louisiana, died suddenly at his home on Trenton street, West Monroe, at 6:30 Saturday night, following a heart attack. He was 65 years old.

Though he had not been in robust health for several years, Mr. Munholland's death was wholly unexpected. The news of his passing came as a distinct shock to the entire community when it became known last night.

Mr. Munholland had suffered a slight heart attack Friday night and was undergoing treatment Saturday when he succumbed to a second attack.

He had only recently returned from a legal mission to Chicago, where he spent two weeks sitting as a master in hearing a case out of the United States district court of the western district of Louisiana. On his return he seemed apparently improved in health.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon at the family residence in West Monroe. Rev. W. C. Scott, pastor of the First Methodist church, assisted by Rev. D. C. Barr, will officiate. Burial in the old city cemetery will be conducted under Masonic auspices, Western Star Lodge No. 24 having charge of the interment.

Mr. Munholland had been a notable figure in the life of Ouachita parish since his early manhood. He was the son of Rev. C. T. Munholland, a Methodist minister, who served various congregations of north Louisiana in the seventies and eighties of the last century. John Munholland was born in Franklin parish, south

Japanese And Manchoukuoans Threaten To Enter Republic Capital

MOSCOW, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Soviet dispatches from Ulan Bator, capital of the Mongolian peoples republic, said tonight Japanese and Manchoukuoans had threatened to occupy the city if the Mongolians do not comply with demands for the right to maintain permanent observers there.

Other dispatches reported the slaying of a young border official Oct. 12 in a clash with a Japanese-Manchoukuoan detachment.

Negotiations between the Mongolians and the Japanese and Manchoukuoans are being carried on at a point on the border.

Soviet sources said the foreigners previously had threatened part of Mongolian territory but had not proposed anything so drastic as was reported tonight.

The talks are revolving around proposals to appoint a mixed commission to investigate border disputes. The Japanese-Manchoukuoan members would reside in Mongolian territory and the Mongolian members in Manchoukuoan territory.

Soviet dispatches said the Japanese some time ago demanded not only that the head of the delegation be permitted to reside in Ulan Bator but also that they have the right to build their own communication line direct to Manchoukuoa.

The dispatches tonight said the Mongolian delegation "remained calm" in the face of the latest demand and referred the matter to the government for decision.

"This demand," said Tass Soviet) news agency, "is unprecedented in the history of international negotiations and caused great indignation in Ulan Bator.

"It is expected that the Japanese government will call its too free diplomat to order."

A sharp Soviet protest over a recent clash on the Manchoukuoan border still has not been answered by Tokyo.

Soviet accounts of the slaying of a border official said a force of 40 foreigners penetrated more than two kilometers inside Russian territory and clashed with 20 members of a Soviet border patrol.

The slain offficial was named Kotelnikoff and he was said to be chief of a platoon. The vice-commander of the Soviet district of frontier police was wounded as was a member of the patrol, said the dispatches.

The report said there were casualties among the Japanese and Manchoukuoans, but the number was not given, after the skirmish they were reported to have returned to Manchoukuoan territory. The clash occurred near Novi Alexeyevka.

A fight last week-end along the same border led Moscow to make strong representations to Japan.

TWO PERSONS DIE BENEATH DEBRIS OF RAVAGED CITY

Losses Estimated Possibly Between One And Two Million Dollars

ABOUT HUNDRED PEOPLE RECEIVE MINOR INJURIES

Many Groups Huddle About Open Campfires In Dread Of Tremors

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 19.—(AP)—A giant broom, fashioned from federal relief funds, began sweeping earthquake debris today from this picturesque state capital, nestling at the mountain-studded continental divide, even as the receding tremors bared two deaths and damage of million dollar proportions.

Physicians said perhaps a hundred persons were treated for cuts and bruises with a dozen requiring hospital attention of several days' duration.

Only a scattered handful of business structures were beyond repair but the cumulative total of cracked walls and fallen brick-work led Oscar Bearson, city engineer, to estimate property losses might run between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000. Other calculations were several hundred thousand dollars lower.

Bearson said about 150 homes would be vacated temporarily for further inspection.

Earth shocks, which began a week ago and reached a climax last night, vibrated less severely in the downtown area as late as 11:56 o'clock this morning (mountain standard time). The total of all the tremors, major and minor, was computed by the weather bureau as approximating 195.

The quake, described by Dr. Charles Richter of Pasadena, Calif., as "the fourth large shock felt in the United States in the past two years," jarred points as far north as Canada and Washington, dipping into Idaho and Sheridan, Wyo., and affecting a large slice of western Montana.

Prof. Perry Byerly, Berkeley, Calif., said it was the general story of "mountain building" in the bowels of the earth.

All places of public gathering in Helena were applied to theaters, churches, schools, libraries, dance halls, beer parlors.

Throughout last night bedraggled and chilled groups of men, women and children huddled about campfires built in the open. Others moved beds into front yards of parkways, and still more slept in their cars driven far into the Helena valley to the north. Some refused to return even with the break of day and others were making plans for a temporary vacation.

The two dead were Charles Siggelink, a transient, of Appleton, Wis., crushed in the fall of a building at the state fairgrounds transient center, and Dave Harris, negro, killed when trapped beneath a falling wall in the business district.

Masonic officials said the city's spectacular Shrine temple with its ornate Turkish spire, may have been severely damaged.

VICTIM OF ATTACK REPORTED STILL IN SERIOUS CONDITION

CONVERSE, La., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Miss Myrtle Robinette, Sabine parish school teacher, one of two victims of a vicious attack by a man named Edward Simpson, apparently intoxicated, remained in serious condition at the sanitarium here today. The school teacher, struck with a plank wielded by Simpson while a school play was being rehearsed at Noble, Sabine parish, suffered severe brain injuries.

Miss Pauline Cassell, another teacher of the Noble school, who was also struck by Simpson, was not seriously hurt.

Simpson, held in jail at Many, was said by Sheriff E. L. Edwards to have made no statement, and nothing has been learned as yet regarding the reason for the brutal assault upon the two young women.

STEALING OF PECANS TO BE STOPPED, TARVER SAYS

Warning was issued last night by L. V. Tarver, superintendent of Monroe police, that persons caught stealing pecans off trees located on private property will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

"The practice has got to stop," Mr. Tarver said. "Persons caught in the act of taking pecans can be prosecuted on two counts, larceny and trespassing and I expect to see the law upheld," he said.

Numerous complaints have been received by the police from residents of the city who say their property is being trespassed and that pecans, which they intended using, are being carried away.

British Premier Makes Bid For American Help

WORCESTER, Eng., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Premier Stanley Baldwin, voicing faith in the League of Nations, made today what many interpreted to be a direct bid for the United States to join the league.

Britain's leader told his political constituents that the failure of the league to end the war in Africa would not mean the end of the league itself.

"I would say rather," he asserted, "that if this first attempt by the world to secure peace fails let us see whether our machinery or whether our work may have been at fault; let us try again and let us see once more whether we cannot get those still outside the league to join the league."

Baldwin made a direct appeal to Italy to understand that Britain's opposition to the Ethiopian campaign is motivated "solely" by concern for world peace, rather than any hostility toward Italy or a desire to overthrow Fascism.

Striking while the iron is hot in the wake of an apparent easing of Anglo-Italian tension in Rome, Baldwin declared the time is long past when Britain "would seek by arms or any other method to overthrow the form of government existing in any country."

The prime minister's speech opened his campaign for re-election to the house of commons after 34 years in politics.

"Not one country today if war broke out could regard itself as secure until that war ended," he said. "Even America, which has talked of isolation, is up against that peril.

"It is a dangerous lie to say the object of the British government is to overthrow Fascist Italy. The object

ANXIETY EXPRESSED FOR STEAMER CREW WHICH LEFT VESSEL

GLASGOW, Oct. 20.—(Sunday)—(AP)—The gravest anxiety for the safety of the crew of the British steamer Vardulia which was believed abandoned 420 miles northwest of the Hebrides islands in the north Atlantic, was expressed in shipping circles today.

The Donaldson line, owners of the vessel, have received no information concerning the crew of 37 since the master, Capt. William Patterson, sent a wireless message yesterday that he was "now abandoning ship." Previously he had asked for assistance because of a dangerous list.

Six vessels were reported rushing to the place where the Vardulia sent out its SOS. Shipping authorities said the first ship likely to reach the scene was the Danish cargo boat Oregon.

The Vardulia was en route from Hartlepool, England, to Botwood, Newfoundland, with a cargo of coal.

Fist Fight, Riot Mark Labor Federation Meet

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 19.—(AP)—A roaring riot and a three-blow fist fight between two of the nation's best known labor leaders climaxed the American Federation of Labor convention today.

Chunky John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, and William L. Hutcheson, hefty president of the carpenters, threw the convention into a bedlam of shouting, shoving and fist-swinging when they exchanged blows after a heated verbal duel.

Order was quickly restored after Lewis and Hutcheson were separated. Hutcheson left the convention hall, his face bleeding. Lewis' only apparent injury was a small scratch on the middle finger of his left hand. On the next finger he wears a massive gold ring.

Lewis said he swung after Hutcheson called him a "foul name." Hutcheson swung back. With Lewis' second blow, some observers said, Hutcheson tumbled back, knocking over a table.

William Green, federation president, told reporters nothing of the kind ever before had happened at a federation convention.

The fight grew out of the bitter personal feeling that has developed out of the controversy between craft and industrial unionists over how mass production industry workers should be organized. The craft unionists say "by craft," the industrial unionists say "by industry."

When the convention voted on the general issue Wednesday night, the craft unionists won by an overwhelming vote.

In view of this vote, the resolutions committee today recommended rejection of resolutions introduced by rub-

MOREHOUSE CCC CAMP ABANDONED

Completion Of Work Projects Causes Unit To Be Discontinued

BASTROP, La., Oct. 19.—(Special)—The Bastrop CCC camp, which has been in existence since June, 1933, was discontinued this week when the members of the camp were transferred to other existing camps. The official reason given for the discontinuance of the camp is that all the work projects have been completed.

Since the camp was established here in 1933, it has had a personnel of around 200 young men. A large number of roads and other projects have been built in and around the camp and the work has been under the supervision of the forestry division.

All the physical equipment of the camp, including cots, bedding, kitchen equipment and everything movable has been sent to Camp Beauregard at Alexandria. From this central location the equipment will be divided among other existing CCC camps.

Nothing will remain at the camp site except the buildings, which will be in charge of a representative of the forestry department until they are formally occupied again.

Word has been received here that a camp of veterans will be moved into the camp to take charge of the work of building the national park that has been approved for this parish. The present CCC camp is located just a short distance from the site of the proposed national park and the workers would make their headquarters at the camp. Just when the camp will be occupied by the veterans has not been learned.

"The record speaks for itself," said Dr. Mengis. "I have devoted my entire time to the office of parish coroner, and I believe that an impartial analysis of the work accomplished will demonstrate that it has been done efficiently and economically in the interest of the public I have sought to serve. I have no other appeal than that of faithfulness to the task the people entrusted to me when they placed me in office."

Before becoming coroner Dr. Mengis served several terms as member of the parish police jury from ward one. He has served as a director of the Ouachita chapter of the Red Cross for a number of years, and is active in the American Legion and is a former chef de gare of the Forty and Eight. Forty workers were employed in the department under his direction.

BOYS WINNING NEWSPAPER CONTEST TO VISIT FAIR

Thirty-five carriers of the Morning World and News-Star who were Saturday declared winners in a circulation contest which ended yesterday, will be given a free trip to Shreveport and the Louisiana state fair today. # OUACHITA BAKING COMPANY EXCELS

Best Of Modern Equipment Is Coupled With Expert Service

The Ouachita Baking company, 2519 South Grand street, is regarded as one of the most sanitary establishments of the kind to be found in the entire south. The firm is known far and wide for its famous product, Butter-Krust bread.

Patrons visiting the retail department of this bakery are at once impressed with the operations of the modern and scientific equipment. Moulding machines far outclass the old method of hand manipulation. There is a dough mixer which is equipped with automatic scales to assure that each "mix" has the exact amount of flour required, and a scaling machine which weighs each loaf of bread so that uniformity in the size of the loaves will be assured.

Each man who is employed by the Ouachita Baking company has had long experience in his line. Salesmen and salesladies are ever courteous and obliging to the trade no matter how exacting. The company makes a specialty of preparing special orders for weddings, birthday celebrations and other social affairs.

Trucks of the company make trips to all parts of northeast Louisiana, giving prompt and efficient service to many parishes of this section.

The man who modestly presides over the destinies of the company, J. W. Rohr, has had many years of experience and is never quite so happy as when he is able to give personal and expert attention to the demands of his patrons.

NEGRO IS FATALLY INJURED IN FALL FROM TRUCK HERE

Simon Johnson, negro, about 28 years old, was fatally injured when he fell from the rear of a truck onto the pavement in the 1800 block of Cypress street, West Monroe, late yesterday. He died in an ambulance en route to a sanitarium.

Coroner C. L. Mengis, after a preliminary investigation of the case, said the negro, who lived near Calhoun, was riding in the rear of a truck with several other negroes and he was in an intoxicated condition. He fell from the truck into the street near where Keith Toombs, highway patrolman, was killed in a motor accident some months ago.

After falling from the truck the negro was run over either by the truck on which he was riding or one following it, it was reported. Several of the negroes in the truck with Johnson differed in their versions of his being run over, Dr. Mengis said. The negro died of concussions and a fracture of the skull.

MOREHOUSE CCC CAMP ABANDONED

Completion Of Work Projects Causes Unit To Be Discontinued

BASTROP, La., Oct. 19.—(Special)—The Bastrop CCC camp, which has been in existence since June, 1933, was discontinued this week when the members of the camp were transferred to other existing camps. The official reason given for the discontinuance of the camp is that all the work projects have been completed.

Since the camp was established here in 1933, it has had a personnel of around 200 young men. A large number of roads and other projects have been built in and around the camp and the work has been under the supervision of the forestry division.

All the physical equipment of the camp, including cots, bedding, kitchen equipment and everything movable has been sent to Camp Beauregard at Alexandria. From this central location the equipment will be divided among other existing CCC camps.

Nothing will remain at the camp site except the buildings, which will be in charge of a representative of the forestry department until they are formally occupied again.

Word has been received here that a camp of veterans will be moved into the camp to take charge of the work of building the national park that has been approved for this parish. The present CCC camp is located just a short distance from the site of the proposed national park and the workers would make their headquarters at the camp. Just when the camp will be occupied by the veterans has not been learned.

WRIGLEY USERS REWARDED WITH DOLLAR BILLS

Popular Reporters Visit All Sections Of Monroe

By MISS MINT
(The Wrigley Representative)

Don't think for a minute that my assistants and I spend all our time in the downtown section. Not by any means—we are all over Monroe and vicinity. I don't care where you are—we will find you. Sitting on the porch—on the street—waiting for a car—in stores or offices—you are never safe. We are apt to stop you anytime, anywhere and ask: "Have you an opened package of Wrigley's gum?" That's the moment you have been waiting for. And that's the time to have Wrigley's if you want one of those crisp, new dollar bills.

You know it's impossible for me to list everyone to whom my assistants and I pass out dollar bills, but here is a partial list of those who were rewarded dollar bills yesterday:

L. E. ELLEDGE, 303 Cotton street; CASON MITCHELL, 514 S. River street; NORRIS HAMPTON, 306 Pargoud street; MRS. MARIE CARLTON, 804 St. John street; P. A. POAG, 311 M street; CHAS. The supply of dollar bills is holding out perfectly. We have enough to keep us busy for a long time yet. So don't be discouraged if you have not been stopped. Just continue to enjoy Wrigley's Spearmint, Double Mint, Juicy Fruit or P. K. while waiting for my assistants or me to stop you. Always be prepared by carrying an opened package of Wrigley's. Then you will be ready to give your opinion and a new dollar bill will be yours.

Political Activities

THOMPSON ANNOUNCES FOR CITY JUDGE

C. Elliott (Pee Wee) Thompson is making his first venture in the political scene in Monroe in announcement of his candidacy for the office of municipal judge, subject to the Democratic primary in January.

Mr. Thompson is a young lawyer who has lived in Monroe nearly all his life. He is a son of Charles C. Thompson, prominent shoe merchant of this city.

He was educated at the local schools and graduated from the Ouachita parish high school. He received his education preparatory to entering the field of law at Louisiana State university and Washington and Lee. He graduated in law at Tulane university and was admitted to the bar in 1931. Since that time he has been practicing his profession in this city.

In making announcement of his candidacy for the city judgeship Mr. Thompson said he planned "no expensive campaign." He expects, however, he said, to meet personally every voter in the city.

Mr. Thompson was recently married. He is a member of the Ouachita Parish Young Men's club and was formerly identified with the Y's Men's club.

MENGIS IS OUT FOR RE-ELECTION

Dr. C. L. Mengis, parish coroner for the past four years, has announced his candidacy for re-election to the office for a second term. Dr. Mengis will make his appeal to the voters on the record of his service during his incumbency of the office.

"The record speaks for itself," said Dr. Mengis. "I have devoted my entire time to the office of parish coroner, and I believe that an impartial analysis of the work accomplished will demonstrate that it has been done efficiently and economically in the interest of the public I have sought to serve. I have no other appeal than that of faithfulness to the task the people entrusted to me when they placed me in office."

Before becoming coroner Dr. Mengis served several terms as member of the parish police jury from ward one. He has served as a director of the Ouachita chapter of the Red Cross for a number of years, and is active in the American Legion and is a former chef de gare of the Forty and Eight. Dr. Mengis is a gradaute of Mississippi A. and M. college and received his degree in medicine at Tulane. He spent seven years in Central America engaged in eradication of infectious diseases. He saw active service in the World war, joining the American forces with a lieutenant's commission, and being awarded a major's commission at the close of the conflict. He is a Mason and a member of Monroe commandery Knights Templar, and is also a member of the Fifth District Medical society and the Ouachita Parish Medical society. He is married and has five children, three girls and two boys.

OAKLAND TO RUN FOR POLICE JURY

Barney Oakland, field manager of the LaDel Oil Properties, Inc., has announced his candidacy for office as a member of the parish police jury, subject to the Democratic primary to be held next January.

Though he has been a resident of Monroe since 1906, Mr. Oakland has never before been a candidate for any office. He is well known throughout this section of the state through his activities in the gas production industry, and has been actively identified with civic and welfare activities. He is regarded as an outstanding authority on the Monroe gas field and has won honors in the American Society of Engineers for inventions in the field of mechanical engineering. He was associated with Louis Locke in the pioneering work that resulted in the discovery of gas in this area.

Mr. Oakland has been especially active in the life saving and first aid work of the Red Cross, and for many years has been chairman of that branch of the activities of the Ouachita chapter. In the 1927 flood he did notable work in the rescue of sufferers, and later in aiding in rehabilitation. He is an active member of the emergency corps of the American Legion and Red Cross, former vice-president of the Louisiana State Federation of Labor; active in Masonry, Knights of Pythias, Monroe Lions club and other organizations. He is married and has four children.

E. F. JONES IN RACE FOR POLICE JURY POST

E. F. Jones, prominent in the oil and gas distribution industry, is a candidate for nomination as police juror for ward three in the January primary, he announced Saturday.

Mr. Jones has resided in ward three for the past twelve years. He is married and has one child. Mr. Jones has been in the services of the Gulf Refining company for 20 years and is now distributor of the company's products in this district.

He was given a leave of absence during the World war to enter the military service of the United States in that conflict.

He is 44 years old and announced that his platform in the primary election will be based on his experience as a business man. "I feel the efficient management of my own business qualifies me to conduct the business of the parish in a manner that will be entirely satisfactory to the people of ward three and the parish as a whole," he said.

J. L. PRICE TO MAKE RACE FOR SENATE

WINNSBORO, La., Oct. 19.—(Special)—A. L. Price, sheriff of Franklin parish for 12 years, did not qualify for reelection but announced that he would be a candidate for the state senate in the January election. He is expected to be opposed by the present incumbent, Senator H. W. Gilbert of Wisner.

BUTTITTA ANNOUNCES FOR CITY COMMISSION

V. J. (Jimmie) Buttitta, proprietor of Buttitta's Best Foods Grocery, 615 DeSiard street, today formally announces his candidacy for the office of commissioner of streets and parks in the election to be held next January 21.

Mr. Buttitta is a native of Monroe and was educated in schools here, in New York and Pennsylvania. He is now in his thirty-fourth year.

As a youth Mr. Buttitta worked in a pottery factory in Falls Creek, Pa., after four years becoming a journeyman potteryman. Before he had completed his apprenticeship he was promoted to the position of superintendent of the gas burner department in which earthenware was made. Forty workers were employed in the department under his direction.

In 1921, when Mr. Buttitta's father, Giacomo Buttitta, became ill, his son returned to Monroe and was associated with his father in the latter's grocery store for five years. He established his own business in 1926.

"I am going to make every effort possible to personally meet every voter in the city in my campaign," Mr. Buttitta announced. "If elected to the office I seek, it will be my conscientious effort to beautify the streets and parks of our city with the cooperation of its citizens, in a general movement towards making Monroe a larger and better city.

"It would be one of my personal interests to broaden the scope of the municipal playgrounds for children," Mr. Buttitta said.

BOYS WINNING NEWSPAPER CONTEST TO VISIT FAIR

Thirty-five carriers of the Morning World and News-Star who were Saturday declared winners in a circulation contest which ended yesterday, will be given a free trip to Shreveport and the Louisiana state fair today. They will be taken in special cars to the Caddo parish city and will be guests of the two newspapers. Return to Monroe will be made late tonight.

The contest was declared highly successful and a total of 400 subscribers were added as a result of the boys' efforts.

Accompanying the carriers will be H. B. Murdoch, circulation manager of the Morning World and News-Star, A. E. Penfield, city circulation manager, and Tom Allison, assistant city circulation manager.

This country loses more mothers in childbirth than all but five nations of the world.

OUACHITA BAKING COMPANY EXCELS

Best Of Modern Equipment Is Coupled With Expert Service

The Ouachita Baking company, 2519 South Grand street, is regarded as one of the most sanitary establishments of the kind to be found in the entire south. The firm is known far and wide for its famous product, Butter-Krust bread.

Patrons visiting the retail department of this bakery are at once impressed with the operations of the modern and scientific equipment. Moulding machines far outclass the old method of hand manipulation. There is a dough mixer which is equipped with automatic scales to assure that each "mix" has the exact amount of flour required, and a scaling machine which weighs each loaf of bread so that uniformity in the size of the loaves will be assured.

Each man who is employed by the Ouachita Baking company has had long experience in his line. Salesmen and salesladies are ever courteous and obliging to the trade no matter how exacting. The company makes a specialty of preparing special orders for weddings, birthday celebrations and other social affairs.

Trucks of the company make trips to all parts of northeast Louisiana, giving prompt and efficient service to many parishes of this section.

The man who modestly presides over the destinies of the company, J. W. Rohr, has had many years of experience and is never quite so happy as when he is able to give personal and expert attention to the demands of his patrons.

NEGRO IS FATALLY INJURED IN FALL FROM TRUCK HERE

Simon Johnson, negro, about 28 years old, was fatally injured when he fell from the rear of a truck onto the pavement in the 1800 block of Cypress street, West Monroe, late yesterday. He died in an ambulance en route to a sanitarium.

Coroner C. L. Mengis, after a preliminary investigation of the case, said the negro, who lived near Calhoun, was riding in the rear of a truck with several other negroes and he was in an intoxicated condition. He fell from the truck into the street near where Keith Toombs, highway patrolman, was killed in a motor accident some months ago.

After falling from the truck the negro was run over either by the truck on which he was riding or one following it, it was reported. Several of the negroes in the truck with Johnson differed in their versions of his being run over, Dr. Mengis said. The negro died of concussions and a fracture of the skull.

VICTIM OF CRASH NOT IDENTIFIED

Shreveport, are still being held at a local undertaking establishment pending funeral arrangements.

CORONER'S INQUEST CALLED AT RUSTON

A coroner's inquest was called at Ruston Saturday to investigate the automobile collision on the Monroe highway four miles east of Ruston late Friday in which three hitch-hikers and the driver of the car who picked them up were killed.

The victims were A. W. Little, 45, driver of a sedan which plunged into a ditch after sideswiping a truck driven by a negro; Miss Ethel Johnson, 20, Martin Sheppard, 23, and an unidentified man. The victims were from Shreveport.

The negro driver of the truck, West Tappen, was ordered to appear at the inquest. A request was made by Sheriff A. J. Thigpen, of Ruston, that he be returned there, from Monroe, his home.

The negro said he had just passed a farm wagon when Little's car came into view traveling "like a bullet," and that when they were about to pass each other, they sideswiped instead and Little's car plunged into a ditch about five feet deep.

Little and Miss Johnson were killed. Sheppard and the unidentified man died later. The negro was not injured.

The three hitchhikers had been picked up a short time before the accident.

Miss Johnson, who was recently divorced from W. A. Fletcher, of Jackson, Miss., and Sheppard were en route to Tallulah, La., where her half-brother, J. W. Burt, operates a cafe, and they hoped to obtain work so they could be married, Miss Johnson's family said.

A four-year-old son, Walter Allen Fletcher, survives her.

Ethel Johnson, 20, fatally injured in the Ruston accident, is not a sister of O. W. Johnson of Monroe. Mr. Johnson's sister bears the same name as the fatally injured young woman, her age is the same and she is also a resident of Shreveport. These similarities caused a number of friends of Mr. Johnson's sister here and in Shreveport to fear that she was a victim of the accident. Mr. Johnson is an employe of the Morning World.

NOTED ATTORNEY SUCCUMBS AFTER HEART AFFECTION

of Delhi, April 12, 1870, and came to Ouachita parish with his parents in 1886. He attended public schools in various communities as was necessary due to the frequent changes of his father's pastorate as a Methodist minister. He was a member of the same graduating class of Ouachita parish high school as the late John Potts. It is related as a characteristic incident of young Munholland's thoroughgoing honesty that he refused to accept a diploma with the other members of his class because, due to illness, he had been kept from school for the last three months of his term. He had been offered the diploma as an award for his brilliant work as a student.

After leaving school he worked for a time as a carpenter while preparing to take up a career in medicine. An accident deprived him of a foot, and he gave up the plan to be a doctor and took up the study of law instead. He studied law under the late Franklin Garrett and his brother, the late W. D. Munholland, and was admitted to the bar in 1896.

He practiced law in Rayville, being associated with Garrett and Munholland, and on the death of Mr. Garrett came to Monroe, opening a law office here with his brother. Later he went into partnership with another brother, M. M. Munholland, also practicing law at that time. Then he conducted a law business by himself for about 10 years.

In 1909 he became associated with Ben C. Dawkins, now United States judge of the western district of Louisiana. That partnership continued for three years, when Mr. Dawkins was first elected as a district judge. In recent years he has been associated with his son, C. T. Munholland.

He was recognized as one of the brilliant members of the Louisiana bar and was for many years a member of the examining board of the Louisiana Bar association. He never aspired to public office, though his advice was constantly sought on public affairs.

He was a member of the Masonic fraternity and the Woodmen of the World. He was also a member of the Methodist church.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Belle Munholland, he is survived by one son, C. T. Munholland; one daughter, Mrs. Mary Ellett; and one brother, M. M. Munholland. A foster son, John Munholland, is a lieutenant in the United States navy, stationed at San Pedro, Calif. A niece, Mrs. W. C. Royce, and two nephews, C. E. McKenzie and M. C. McKenzie, also survive. His step-mother, Mrs. S. M. Munholland, lives in New Orleans.

of the late Senator Huey P. Long making "unconstitutional" expenditure of federal money, punishable by jail sentences.

"It is known to every intelligent citizen in this state the highway commission is highly politicalized," Peterman said. The projects approved for the fifth district are as follows:

Ouachita parish: Clearing lower end of Young's bayou, $15,471; completing the road from the Monroe city dam and pumping stations to the city limits, $1,839.39; excavating the drainage canal at Selman field with subservice draining system, $18,771.60.

SHUSHAN CALLED FINANCIAL AGENT OF LONG MACHINE

unofficial financial agent of the organization.

Charles J. Donner, secretary of the state organization and leader of its 15th New Orleans ward group, occupied the witness stand during most of the curtailed Saturday session.

He testified that during the period covered in the indictment five major elections were held for which he received between $1,500 and $2,000 campaign expenses from Shushan for each election.

He said he got the money directly from the defendant in cash, declaring the organization did not maintain an expense account. He further testified that he obtained other cash from Shushan, in his capacity as secretary of the L. D. A., for distribution of campaign circulars in New Orleans which were written by the late Senator Long.

The other important defense witness today was Monte E. Hart, New Orleans electrical contractor who supplied the late political "dictator" with his sound trucks.

Hart testified that he carried an envelope to New York in the spring of 1934, given him by Shushan to deliver to C. R. Birch, secretary of the Standard Dredging company, which he said contained three levee board bonds.

The witness said Birch opened the envelope in his presence and placed the bonds with a batch of 46 others and during a conversation at the time told him that he (Birch) had "given large sums to Shushan as political contributions."

Hart then testified that he asked Birch about some electrical work he wanted to get, and that Birch asked him if he would take bonds in payment.

"I asked him," Hart said, "if he meant would I consent to take bonds in payment for the work, and he said 'no' that he'd pay me in cash but for me to add the amount of the bonds to the bill, so they could get the bonds out."

Asked to explain what was meant by "get the bonds out," the witness said:

"Mr. Birch told me that both the bonds and other contributions of his company were being investigated and that he had not paid income tax on the bonds and that there was going to be hell to pay for this situation."

In commodities, however, in which there had been considerable bullish speculation on the possibility of war demands, it was another story. Wheat prices in the Chicago pit broke nearly 4 cents at one time, and closed with net losses for the day of 1 1-4 to 1 3-4 cents a bushel. Cotton at New York lost 15 to 65 cents a bale.

ASKS EARLY SENTENCE TO ESCAPE FROM WIFE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 19.—(AP)—A request that he be sentenced to prison speedily "so I can escape my wife" was made here today by Ralph B. McMahon, 37, in waiving preliminary hearing on forgery charges involving $35 in checks.

Arresting officers said they had found a letter written by McMahon to his wife, Lillian, listing 45 men as being involved in his domestic affairs.

"If I don't get away from her," McMahon told Judge R. M. Galbreth, "I'm going to drink myself to death."

CCC YOUTH BEATEN BY GROUP OF MEN IN HOUSTON STRIKE

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Handling of cargoes with non-union labor continued today as the International Longshoremen's association spent its ninth day on strike in Texas and Lake Charles, La.

Another waterfront disturbance occurred here. Alton Hufstutler, 19, CCC worker from Brenham, was badly beaten near the I. L. A. headquarters, Hufstutler reported that a group of men asked him if he was looking for work and that even though he replied he was not, about 12 or 15 persons attacked him. He suffered a bruised nose, black eye and lacerated lip.

Operators of locomotive cranes owned by the county navigation district on the Houston ship channel apparently had joined the strike. The eight operators failed to report for work yesterday and today.

The Vincennes company constructed the bridge at Columbia over the Ouachita river. This bridge has been formally opened.

The first cement was poured on Louisville avenue at North Sixth street on Friday. This is for the paving of the approach to the new bridge which will be easily reached from the Dixie-Overland highway on the east through an extension of Louisville avenue.

CONTINUE INVESTIGATION OF FATAL ROAD MISHAP

HOUSTON, Miss., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Officers here were today continuing their investigation of an automobile crash which took the life of Bernard M. Hughes of Dallas, Texas.

It was reported that the coupe in which Hughes was riding alone ran into a lumber truck at the top of a hill four miles south of Mantee, Miss., on state highway 15 Friday morning.

His body was horribly crushed and identification was possible only through papers found on his person. He was traveling representative of the Charles H. Elliott Engraving company of Philadelphia, Penn.

Hughes' body was being held at an undertaikng parlor awaiting advice from his relatives.

VICTIM OF CRASH NOT IDENTIFIED

Shreveport, are still being held at a local undertaking establishment pending funeral arrangements.

CORONER'S INQUEST CALLED AT RUSTON

A coroner's inquest was called at Ruston Saturday to investigate the automobile collision on the Monroe highway four miles east of Ruston late Friday in which three hitch-hikers and the driver of the car who picked them up were killed.

The victims were A. W. Little, 45, driver of a sedan which plunged into a ditch after sideswiping a truck driven by a negro; Miss Ethel Johnson, 20, Martin Sheppard, 23, and an unidentified man. The victims were from Shreveport.

The negro driver of the truck, West Tappen, was ordered to appear at the inquest. A request was made by Sheriff A. J. Thigpen, of Ruston, that he be returned there, from Monroe, his home.

The negro said he had just passed a farm wagon when Little's car came into view traveling "like a bullet," and that when they were about to pass each other, they sideswiped instead and Little's car plunged into a ditch about five feet deep.

Little and Miss Johnson were killed. Sheppard and the unidentified man died later. The negro was not injured.

The three hitchhikers had been picked up a short time before the accident.

Miss Johnson, who was recently divorced from W. A. Fletcher, of Jackson, Miss., and Sheppard were en route to Tallulah, La., where her half-brother, J. W. Burt, operates a cafe, and they hoped to obtain work so they could be married, Miss Johnson's family said.

A four-year-old son, Walter Allen Fletcher, survives her.

Ethel Johnson, 20, fatally injured in the Ruston accident, is not a sister of O. W. Johnson of Monroe. Mr. Johnson's sister bears the same name as the fatally injured young woman, her age is the same and she is also a resident of Shreveport. These similarities caused a number of friends of Mr. Johnson's sister here and in Shreveport to fear that she was a victim of the accident. Mr. Johnson is an employe of the Morning World.

of Delhi, April 12, 1870, and came to Ouachita parish with his parents in 1886. He attended public schools in various communities as was necessary due to the frequent changes of his father's pastorate as a Methodist minister. He was a member of the same graduating class of Ouachita parish high school as the late John Potts. It is related as a characteristic incident of young Munholland's thoroughgoing honesty that he refused to accept a diploma with the other members of his class because, due to illness, he had been kept from school for the last three months of his term. He had been offered the diploma as an award for his brilliant work as a student.

After leaving school he worked for a time as a carpenter while preparing to take up a career in medicine. An accident deprived him of a foot, and he gave up the plan to be a doctor and took up the study of law instead. He studied law under the late Franklin Garrett and his brother, the late W. D. Munholland, and was admitted to the bar in 1896.

He practiced law in Rayville, being associated with Garrett and Munholland, and on the death of Mr. Garrett came to Monroe, opening a law office here with his brother. Later he went into partnership with another brother, M. M. Munholland, also practicing law at that time. Then he conducted a law business by himself for about 10 years.

In 1909 he became associated with Ben C. Dawkins, now United States judge of the western district of Louisiana. That partnership continued for three years, when Mr. Dawkins was first elected as a district judge. In recent years he has been associated with his son, C. T. Munholland.

He was recognized as one of the brilliant members of the Louisiana bar and was for many years a member of the examining board of the Louisiana Bar association. He never aspired to public office, though his advice was constantly sought on public affairs.

He was a member of the Masonic fraternity and the Woodmen of the World. He was also a member of the Methodist church.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Belle Munholland, he is survived by one son, C. T. Munholland; one daughter, Mrs. Mary Ellett; and one brother, M. M. Munholland. A foster son, John Munholland, is a lieutenant in the United States navy, stationed at San Pedro, Calif. A niece, Mrs. W. C. Royce, and two nephews, C. E. McKenzie and M. C. McKenzie, also survive. His step-mother, Mrs. S. M. Munholland, lives in New Orleans.

The projects approved for the fifth district are as follows:

Ouachita parish: Clearing lower end of Young's bayou, $15,471; completing the road from the Monroe city dam and pumping stations to the city limits, $1,839.39; excavating the drainage canal at Selman field with subservice draining system, $18,771.60.

What Does It Profit?

The greatest ambitions of our greatest men are apt to be futile things with futile endings.

The great Bismarck, the Iron chancellor of German empire, made it his life work to bring the German peoples into a close-knit empire. He succeeded. In order to achieve his end, Bismarck deliberately provoked war with three nations, Denmark, Austria, France.

Kaiser Wilhelm, sixteen years after Bismarck's death, sought a greater achievement than that of the Iron Chancellor, so he made war to conquer Europe.

But while the kaiser had wider ambitions than Bismarck he did not have as much sense. Bismarck always cleverly saw to it that the nation he planned to subdue was isolated from other nations; then he provoked it into attacking Germany. But the kaiser stupidly isolated Germany from the entire world, then made unprovoked assault on Europe. So the kaiser was defeated, and to fly for his own personal safety.

Now Mussolini has the itch to be a Julius Caesar. He would do well to study the life of Caesar, who was a wonderfully intelligent man. In his day conquest by force of arms was accepted as correct and proper; it was regarded as the thing to do, if one could do it.

Today, were Julius Caesar in Mussolini's place, he would not start a war in the face of a world which no longer believes in war.

Mussolini is making the same blunder the kaiser made—he has isolated himself from the entire world—he has won its disapproval and disdain—and he is making an unprovoked assault on a nation whose independence he agreed not to violate.

And what about Julius Caesar, whom Mussolini yearns to copy? What has become of the great empire that his ambition created? There is nothing left of it but the piece which Mussolini is getting into trouble. And, as for Caesar himself, he was stabbed to death by men he had befriended.

What about Bismarck's successful life work for a united Germany? The kaiser tore that up for him, and Hitler is making it still worse.

Men whose ambitions are to conquer and subjugate peoples almost invariably come to nothing and their works come to nothing. Look at Napoleon.

Who are the men, dead and gone, whose lives today most influence the world?

Not the men who have subjugated nations, but the men whose deathless spiritual teachings have come down through the ages, and will go on through the ages.

REWRITING HISTORY

Governor Hoffman in that now famous letter to Republican National Chairman Fletcher called slavery "the only issue the Republican party has had in its eighty years of life." It will surprise many good citizens to be told that "for forty years our quadrennial presidential elections have been decided on negative and not upon positive issues." If you don't believe it, listen to Mr. Hoffman:

"William McKinley was elected to defeat William Jennings Bryan and the currency ideas expounded by the latter. Theodore Roosevelt was elected to preserve the status quo. William Howard Taft was elected for the same pale reason. Woodrow Wilson was elected because of the division in the Republican party in 1912 and because of a difference between Charles Evans Hughes and Senator Hiram Johnson in 1916.

"Warren Harding was elected to retire the international ideas of Mr. Wilson, and Calvin Coolidge to keep those ideas in retirement. Herbert Hoover was elected to defeat Al Smith. Franklin Roosevelt was elected to defeat Mr. Hoover."

A few muddled old-timers may think they recall having heard something in campaigns about a protective tariff, and the full dinner pail, and our duty to "our little brown brothers," and "dollar diplomacy," and Coolidge economy, and "a chicken in every pot and two cars in every garage." Never mind; memory oft plays strange tricks on those advanced in years.

As a teacher of history the governor's brevity would endear him to most school children; as a possible presidential aspirant, how a national convention of his party would warm to his idea that slavery is "the only issue the Republican party has had in the eighty years of its life."

TRADITION MUST STAY

The way old traditions hang on in a monarchy long after they have lost all reason for existence was perfectly illustrated when a son was born to the duke and duchess of Kent. The duke is the youngest son of the king, and the new baby is seventh in line for succession to the British throne—and so, according to ancient custom, Sir John Simon, home secretary, had to be present at the baby's birth.

The nation, in other words, must be satisfied, through the eyes of one of its own representatives, that any person in line for the crown is actually of the royal blood.

Centuries ago, such a precaution was natural. The need for it must have vanished long, long ago—but a monarchy must prize its old traditions, and so England keeps this odd custom alive.

THE MAIL PLANE

I hear it every morning
Before I'm out of bed.
It drones a whirring warning
Far, far above my head.
A few dim stars still glisten
Against the morning sky,
And eagerly I listen

Upon its way from here to there,
I never know quite where.

I always watch it coming,
I always see it go;
I hear the motor humming
From where I stand below.
The birds can't seek to follow
Its strong and steady flight,
No lark, no hawk, no swallow
Could climb to such a height.
The boldest eagle would not dare
So far aloft to fare.

Each morn I fix my eyes on
The dim and distant skies
To watch, on the horizon,
This man-built marvel rise
To hear it roar and rumble
As it sweeps over-head,
And then, content, I stumble
Back into my snug bed.
But, ere a farewell I can say,
It vanishes away.

WHATEVER IT IS, IT'S NOT SO GOOD

It's more than a mere breathing spell, it's a panting spell.

Deceitful War Chorus

BY BRUCE CATTON

If you put your ear carefully to the ground these days you can hear the first faint squeakings and twitterings of a great propaganda chorus that will presently be in full cry.

The same phenomenon was noticeable in 1914, and Americans failed notably to devise the right kind of defense against it. Before so very long we were lending the Allies money to buy our own goods, going to war to protect the loans, and then learning that the loans weren't to be paid anyway.

Right now the propaganda noises have Geneva as their base.

The League of Nations has imposed "sanctions;" member nations, in other words, are asked to put trade and financial penalties on Italy, in the pious hope that Signor Mussolini can thereby be persuaded to see the light of reason.

Through it all we hear a great deal of talk about "enforcing peace," and about the challenge which the war presents to the world's collective machinery for averting war.

This makes fine reading, but we should beware of taking it all too seriously. For it leads to a long lane which has no turning, and at the end of the lane there is another fight to make the world safe for democracy, or something, in which American troops and warships would be greatly appreciated.

Italian imperialism has provoked a new war. That much is undeniable. What we can easily overlook is that the shouting at Geneva comes principally from a rival imperialism whose toes are about to be stepped on.

Britain is the moving spirit in this action for sanctions; and Britain, you may remember, has the greatest African empire the world has ever seen. It got this empire in precisely the way that Mussolini is trying to get one—by hitting the original possessors of the soil on the head.

Africa is a large continent, but it does not contain room enough for two rival empires, both interested in the same territory. If Mussolini achieves the empire he wants, the British empire in Africa will be threatened. Hence Downing Street is anxious, warships are concentrated in the Mediterranean, and Britain is prodding the league into activity.

It is up to Americans to refuse to be fooled. The league action is less a move to enforce peace than a move to protect England's African possessions against the designs of a rival power.

If we let ourselves get swept off our feet by emotional talk about America's duty to the cause of peace, we may yet find ourselves sending troops across the sea to preserve the British empire. And while that empire may be well worth preserving, it is hardly our job to do it.

SO THEY SAY

It has never been possible to insulate young people from the world. If they must meet new ideas some time, it would seem wise to have them meet those new ideas where they are fairly presented by intelligent people who have no ax to grind.—Dr. R. M. Hutchins, president, University of Chicago.

The public will get what it wants, but it won't bother much about the legislator who votes against its wishes. It figures that one legislator is about as bad as another.—Franklin Moore, Harrisburg, Pa., addressing hotel men's convention.

There has been nothing fundamentally new in crime in the last thousand years. The only newness is in the methods employed.—Austin H. MacCormack, commissioner of correction, New York.

All our congresses and legislatures are not worth shucks if they cannot make this land safe for people to live in.—Chief Judge F. E. Crane, New York court of appeals.

The cause of peace is the cause of free speech, of a free press, of human liberty, of constitutional government.—Senator Borah.

"Seals Becoming a Menace," reveals a California paper. Husbands will certainly be glad when the fur coat season is over.

New Deal In Washington

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON. — Scads of New Dealers have been out around the country lately and many of them are now back on their jobs.

A symposium of off-the-record reports from these fellows shows they're distinctly more optimistic about the 1936 election than they were one month or two months ago.

They agree Roosevelt will have a "fight" and most of them insist it will be the "dirtiest fight" ever seen in an election campaign. They are just as bitter about the millions they expect big business to raise to defeat the president as Republicans have been about the billions of work-relief money which the G. O. P. terms a "campaign fund."

Most New Dealers used to regard the work-relief money as a sort of campaign fund, too. But now they're worried over the extent to which the WPA program may also become a liability.

Resent Loose Spending

The stronger belief here in the inevitability of Roosevelt's re-election has been partly due to the good popular reception F. D. had on his cross-country trip. But it's much more due to the fact that the traveling observers find, as they found a year ago, that neither Republican candidates nor issues are stirring up popular enthusiasm. Which perhaps is a lucky thing for Democrats, because these observers also found almost universally:

1. General resentment about the looseness of relief expenditures. Harry Hopkins can reply that responsibility for this rests with local administration, but nobody pays any attention. Graft, inefficiency and odorous politics are all charged up to Roosevelt.

2. The cities are still convinced that AAA's "slaughter of little pigs" is to blame for the high price of meat. And most people in the cities judge AAA on the basis of that.

3.—People are bewildered as to where we're from here and young people, especially, wonder what they're going to do for a living.

And, in vast numbers, administration men admit, citizens are worrying as to "where all the money is coming from."

Hurt By Civil War

In one state after another, Democratic politicians have reverted to type and are engaged in vicious factional battles. This is going to weaken the national ticket to a degree and will certainly result in some Republican victories in state elections where control is now held by Democrats. (Ohio and Iowa, for instance, seem fairly certain to elect Republican governors.)

Despite all that, returning political correspondents as well as interested administrationists are impressed by the failure of voters to demonstrate any love and affection for the Republican party, to indicate any desire to return to the "good old days," or to become particularly steamed up over anything Republicans are now offering.

Borah Has Most Appeal

Little enthusiasm for any of the candidates for Republican nomination has been noted. There is more for Senator Borah than for anyone else, chiefly—according to most viewpoints here—because his name has long been a household word.

Someone may come along to burn up the prairies and stir up the emotions of urban workingmen, but even Republicans here can't see him quite yet.

Some of Roosevelt's closest advisers have told him he must prepare to take off his coat and fight without gloves. They expect him to dramatize the issue as one between the people and the "power trust," bankers, and big corporations.

Meanwhile, they say, he is pursuing a quiet, middle-of-the-road policy.

The president, they say, doesn't want to stimulate the enemy to more active organization.

Partisan—But Honest

While this dispatch is chiefly a consensus of partisan opinion, the opinion is honest and many Republicans agree with the details of the picture.

The chief point of disagreement between the groups is as to the political importance of widespread dissatisfaction with the New Deal and the extent to which that dissatisfaction will grow.

Any impartial observer must assert that although at present Roosevelt's path to re-election may seem relatively clear, there are menacing boulders which may come hurtling down the mountains to block him.

Lights Of New York

By George Ross

NEW YORK.—"Ride 'em cowboy! Yip-e-e! Let's go!" Which means that the tenth annual world's championship rodeo has come to town and Broadway has been lassoed into a cocked ten-gallon hat by the hard-riding boys and gals from Las Vegas, New Mexico, and other wild and woolly cattle centers.

First there was the arrival at the railroad yards on Eleventh avenue of the wild west show and Colonel W. T. Johnson, owner of the 15,000-acre Bird's Nest ranch in Texas. He's boss of the rodeo and he is also foster-father to cowboys from Canada to the Rio Grande who happen to be headin' to the annual round-up. Famed all over the land for his rodeo, the colonel has never been known to give a cowboy a bum steer. . . .

Anyway, Eleventh avenue, where freight trains chug, spouted broad-hatted men and beasts while the colonel supervised the unloading of the stock. And if you believe that's a city slicker job, here's a partial inventory of the four-footed haul: 325 bucking horses and riding mounts; 800 head of cattle; 10 Texas longhorn steers; 24 prize bucks; 50 calves. . . . It made a man, with a night club complexion, yearn for the prairie.

Lasso Interest

Then came the dress parade across to Fifth avenue, down to Greenwich Village, across to Times Square and up Broadway, led by a band with plenty of brass. For this, the tophands spend most of the previous night scrubbing their boots, their necks, and horses' hides. A million blase New Yorkers who wouldn't know a Brahma steer's grunt from a six-cylinder honk, turned out on the narrow, canyon streets to greet the wild boys from the wide open spaces. Because when the rodeo lurches into the Madison Square Garden for a spell, New York natives let a little grass grow under their feet.

Madison Square Garden is the mecca for all rodeo contestants just as the Palace used to be the dream paradise of every honky-tonk vaudevillian. This is where the big stakes and glory are to be had for outsmarting a broncho across the sawdust arena. Cowboys compete in 50 preliminary rodeos in Tucson, Ariz., Fort Worth, Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Iowa, Nebraska, Wyoming, Montana, California, Washington and the Pendleton round-up in Oregon before the winning riders are picked out for New York.

They pay their own transportation and living expenses here and the freight charges on their mounts, besides. But they figure the $40,000 cash prizes are worth the risk.

Gory Pastime

Two hundred of these broncho-busting cowboys showed up for this year's exercises, including Slats Jacobs, Rusty McGinty, the boy with the iron skull, Oklahoma Curley Roberts, Shorty McCrory and Shorty Ricker and Harry Knight, who not so long ago married the daughter of Tom Mix. They'll do anything from calf-roping to steer-herding for a couple of bucks and for the fun of it. And this year, they have the toughest bull Colonel Johnson has ever made them face. A black one-half Brahma, half-Galloway who, the colonel says, is hell-on-hooves. He calls him Joe Louis.

These tiffs with the ferocious bulls have never wound up, as far back as I can recall, without one casualty or another. A cowboy was gored last year and a prize-crazy ranger was gored the year before that. Every contestant enters at his own risk. Once the cage door of the pen is up, a player on horseback takes his life into his own hands.

ST. LANDRY BAR GROUP NOT TO SEND DELEGATE

OPELOUSAS, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The St. Landry parish bar association has refused to send a delegate to the meeting of the state bar of Louisiana.

The local association adopted a resolution, a copy of which was sent to Gaston L. Porterie, president of the state organization, charging that the state bar "was created for the purpose of humiliating the profession in Louisiana" and that it was "controlled and officered by politicians."

The state bar of Louisiana was created under an act sponsored by the late Senator Huey P. Long to replace the old Louisiana Bar association. The latter organization still exists but has been stripped of most of its powers.

DISBARRED CANDIDATES TO RESORT TO COURTS

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Sixteen candidates affiliated with the "home rule" ticket who were disqualified by the Jefferson parish Democratic executive committee, will carry their fight for reinstatement to the courts.

Lucius P. Levee, attorney for the candidates, announced after the disqualification that suit would be filed in civil district court in Jefferson parish for their reinstatement.

Affidavits against the candidates were filed by J. Alfred Adams, justice of peace of the seventh ward, and they were disqualified on technicalities.

The disqualified candidates were running for minor offices.

Many things distinguish Franklin, including the fact, admirably expressed by a Frenchman, that "he snatched the lightning from heaven and the sceptre from the hand of the tyrant."

The most remarkable thing about Franklin was that he went to Europe, lived in England, and came back still an American. That does not happen always. Have you met any returning diplomats?

At a meeting of Turkmen girls, every one, after three had set the example, threw away their "berets," bonnets decorated with silver coins indicating woman's inferior position, they deplaced the bonnets with brilliant silk kerchiefs of soviet red as a move toward liberation of working women.

The young ladies will find it easier to change the bonnet than to change the men.

SPARKS FROM CHIMNEY SET FIRE TO DWELLING

Sparks from a chimney were the cause of a fire that partly damaged the roof of a house at 1614 Grammont street about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, firemen reported. The house was owned by Albert Britton but was occupied by Rosa Pringle, negro. The damage was small.

Three grass fires were also extinguished by Monroe firemen yesterday, one in the 3400 block of DeSiard street, another at Riverfront and Louisville avenue and the other on South Fourth street between Texas avenue and Orange street.

Deceitful War Chorus

BY BRUCE CATTON

If you put your ear carefully to the ground these days you can hear the first faint squeakings and twitterings of a great propaganda chorus that will presently be in full cry.

The same phenomenon was noticeable in 1914, and Americans failed notably to devise the right kind of defense against it. Before so very long we were lending the Allies money to buy our own goods, going to war to protect the loans, and then learning that the loans weren't to be paid anyway.

Right now the propaganda noises have Geneva as their base.

The League of Nations has imposed "sanctions;" member nations, in other words, are asked to put trade and financial penalties on Italy, in the pious hope that Signor Mussolini can thereby be persuaded to see the light of reason.

Through it all we hear a great deal of talk about "enforcing peace," and about the challenge which the war presents to the world's collective machinery for averting war.

This makes fine reading, but we should beware of taking it all too seriously. For it leads to a long lane which has no turning, and at the end of the lane there is another fight to make the world safe for democracy, or something, in which American troops and warships would be greatly appreciated.

Italian imperialism has provoked a new war. That much is undeniable. What we can easily overlook is that the shouting at Geneva comes principally from a rival imperialism whose toes are about to be stepped on.

Britain is the moving spirit in this action for sanctions; and Britain, you may remember, has the greatest African empire the world has ever seen. It got this empire in precisely the way that Mussolini is trying to get one—by hitting the original possessors of the soil on the head.

Africa is a large continent, but it does not contain room enough for two rival empires, both interested in the same territory. If Mussolini achieves the empire he wants, the British empire in Africa will be threatened. Hence Downing Street is anxious, warships are concentrated in the Mediterranean, and Britain is prodding the league into activity.

It is up to Americans to refuse to be fooled. The league action is less a move to enforce peace than a move to protect England's African possessions against the designs of a rival power.

If we let ourselves get swept off our feet by emotional talk about America's duty to the cause of peace, we may yet find ourselves sending troops across the sea to preserve the British empire. And while that empire may be well worth preserving, it is hardly our job to do it.

SO THEY SAY

It has never been possible to insulate young people from the world. If they must meet new ideas some time, it would seem wise to have them meet those new ideas where they are fairly presented by intelligent people who have no ax to grind.—Dr. R. M. Hutchins, president, University of Chicago.

The public will get what it wants, but it won't bother much about the legislator who votes against its wishes. It figures that one legislator is about as bad as another.—Franklin Moore, Harrisburg, Pa., addressing hotel men's convention.

New Deal In Washington

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON. — Scads of New Dealers have been out around the country lately and many of them are now back on their jobs.

A symposium of off-the-record reports from these fellows shows they're distinctly more optimistic about the 1936 election than they were one month or two months ago.

They agree Roosevelt will have a "fight" and most of them insist it will be the "dirtiest fight" ever seen in an election campaign. They are just as bitter about the millions they expect big business to raise to defeat the president as Republicans have been about the billions of work-relief money which the G. O. P. terms a "campaign fund."

Most New Dealers used to regard the work-relief money as a sort of campaign fund, too. But now they're worried over the extent to which the WPA program may also become a liability.

Resent Loose Spending

The stronger belief here in the inevitability of Roosevelt's re-election has been partly due to the good popular reception F. D. had on his cross-country trip. But it's much more due to the fact that the traveling observers find, as they found a year ago, that neither Republican candidates nor issues are stirring up popular enthusiasm. Which perhaps is a lucky thing for Democrats, because these observers also found almost universally:

1. General resentment about the looseness of relief expenditures. Harry Hopkins can reply that responsibility for this rests with local administration, but nobody pays any attention. Graft, inefficiency and odorous politics are all charged up to Roosevelt.

2. The cities are still convinced that AAA's "slaughter of little pigs" is to blame for the high price of meat. And most people in the cities judge AAA on the basis of that.

3.—People are bewildered as to where we're from here and young people, especially, wonder what they're going to do for a living.

And, in vast numbers, administration men admit, citizens are worrying as to "where all the money is coming from."

Hurt By Civil War

In one state after another, Democratic politicians have reverted to type and are engaged in vicious factional battles. This is going to weaken the national ticket to a degree and will certainly result in some Republican victories in state elections where control is now held by Democrats. (Ohio and Iowa, for instance, seem fairly certain to elect Republican governors.)

Despite all that, returning political correspondents as well as interested administrationists are impressed by the failure of voters to demonstrate any love and affection for the Republican party, to indicate any desire to return to the "good old days," or to become particularly steamed up over anything Republicans are now offering.

Borah Has Most Appeal

Little enthusiasm for any of the candidates for Republican nomination has been noted. There is more for Senator Borah than for anyone else, chiefly—according to most viewpoints here—because his name has long been a household word.

Someone may come along to burn up the prairies and stir up the emotions of urban workingmen, but even Republicans here can't see him quite yet.

Some of Roosevelt's closest advisers have told him he must prepare to take off his coat and fight without gloves. They expect him to dramatize the issue as one between the people and the "power trust," bankers, and big corporations.

Meanwhile, they say, he is pursuing a quiet, middle-of-the-road policy.

The president, they say, doesn't want to stimulate the enemy to more active organization.

Partisan—But Honest

While this dispatch is chiefly a consensus of partisan opinion, the opinion is honest and many Republicans agree with the details of the picture.

The chief point of disagreement between the groups is as to the political importance of widespread dissatisfaction with the New Deal and the extent to which that dissatisfaction will grow.

Any impartial observer must assert that although at present Roosevelt's path to re-election may seem relatively clear, there are menacing boulders which may come hurtling down the mountains to block him.

Lights Of New York

By George Ross

NEW YORK.—"Ride 'em cowboy! Yip-e-e! Let's go!" Which means that the tenth annual world's championship rodeo has come to town and Broadway has been lassoed into a cocked ten-gallon hat by the hard-riding boys and gals from Las Vegas, New Mexico, and other wild and woolly cattle centers.

First there was the arrival at the railroad yards on Eleventh avenue of the wild west show and Colonel W. T. Johnson, owner of the 15,000-acre Bird's Nest ranch in Texas. He's boss of the rodeo and he is also foster-father to cowboys from Canada to the Rio Grande who happen to be headin' to the annual round-up. Famed all over the land for his rodeo, the colonel has never been known to give a cowboy a bum steer. . . .

Anyway, Eleventh avenue, where freight trains chug, spouted broad-hatted men and beasts while the colonel supervised the unloading of the stock. And if you believe that's a city slicker job, here's a partial inventory of the four-footed haul: 325 bucking horses and riding mounts; 800 head of cattle; 10 Texas longhorn steers; 24 prize bucks; 50 calves. . . . It made a man, with a night club complexion, yearn for the prairie.

Lasso Interest

Then came the dress parade across to Fifth avenue, down to Greenwich Village, across to Times Square and up Broadway, led by a band with plenty of brass. For this, the tophands spend most of the previous night scrubbing their boots, their necks, and horses' hides. A million blase New Yorkers who wouldn't know a Brahma steer's grunt from a six-cylinder honk, turned out on the narrow, canyon streets to greet the wild boys from the wide open spaces. Because when the rodeo lurches into the Madison Square Garden for a spell, New York natives let a little grass grow under their feet.

Madison Square Garden is the mecca for all rodeo contestants just as the Palace used to be the dream paradise of every honky-tonk vaudevillian. This is where the big stakes and glory are to be had for outsmarting a broncho across the sawdust arena. Cowboys compete in 50 preliminary rodeos in Tucson, Ariz., Fort Worth, Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Iowa, Nebraska, Wyoming, Montana, California, Washington and the Pendleton round-up in Oregon before the winning riders are picked out for New York.

They pay their own transportation and living expenses here and the freight charges on their mounts, besides. But they figure the $40,000 cash prizes are worth the risk.

Gory Pastime

Two hundred of these bronco-busting cowboys showed up for this year's exercises, including Slats Jacobs, Rusty McGinty, the boy with the iron skull, Oklahoma Curley Roberts, Shorty McCrory and Shorty Ricker and Harry Knight, who not so long ago married the daughter of Tom Mix. They'll do anything from calf-roping to steer-herding for a couple of bucks and for the fun of it. And this year, they have the toughest bull Colonel Johnson has ever made them face. A black one-half Brahma, half-Galloway who, the colonel says, is hell-on-hooves. He calls him Joe Louis.

These tiffs with the ferocious bulls have never wound up, as far back as I can recall, without one casualty or another. A cowboy was gored last year and a prize-crazy ranger was gored the year before that. Every contestant enters at his own risk. Once the cage door of the pen is up, a player on horseback takes his life into his own hands.

ST. LANDRY BAR GROUP NOT TO SEND DELEGATE

OPELOUSAS, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The St. Landry parish bar association has refused to send a delegate to the meeting of the state bar of Louisiana.

The local association adopted a resolution, a copy of which was sent to Gaston L. Porterie, president of the state organization, charging that the state bar "was created for the purpose of humiliating the profession in Louisiana" and that it was "controlled and officered by politicians."

The state bar of Louisiana was created under an act sponsored by the late Senator Huey P. Long to replace the old Louisiana Bar association. The latter organization still exists but has been stripped of most of its powers.

DISBARRED CANDIDATES TO RESORT TO COURTS

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Sixteen candidates affiliated with the "home rule" ticket who were disqualified by the Jefferson parish Democratic executive committee, will carry their fight for reinstatement to the courts.

Lucius P. Levee, attorney for the candidates, announced after the disqualification that suit would be filed in civil district court in Jefferson parish for their reinstatement.

Affidavits against the candidates were filed by J. Alfred Adams, justice of peace of the seventh ward, and they were disqualified on technicalities.

The disqualified candidates were running for minor offices.

SPARKS FROM CHIMNEY SET FIRE TO DWELLING

Sparks from a chimney were the cause of a fire that partly damaged the roof of a house at 1614 Grammont street about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, firemen reported. The house was owned by Albert Britton but was occupied by Rosa Pringle, negro. The damage was small.

Three grass fires were also extinguished by Monroe firemen yesterday, one in the 3400 block of DeSiard street, another at Riverfront and Louisville avenue and the other on South Fourth street between Texas avenue and Orange street.

ROOSEVELT HIT BY REPUBLICANS

Rival Party Leaders Urge Democrats To Join In Ousting President

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Republican leaders of eight inter-mountain states concluded a two-day conference today with a call for "broad-minded Democrats" to join them in ousting the Roosevelt administration.

The invitation was coupled with an appeal for support of the nation's youth.

"There should be no blank wall of prejudice separating the young and the old, the east and the west, the Republican and the broad-minded Democrat," said a resolution.

"Therefore we extend an invitation to all citizens to join with us in the fight for the preservation of American ideals, laws and standards of living."

Other resolutions favored payment of the soldiers' bonus, decried government in business, hit at the present administration's farm program and, in a lengthy enumeration, indicted federal policies generally on a score and more of points.

An appeal to agricultural states was seen in the declaration:

"When the American farmer is told that he must apply for authority to plant his crop or range his herd, and that if he raises more than five bushels of potatoes they must be branded or marked or identified in some ridiculous manner, he is in effect a victim of much the same character of restrictions as those now imposed in some European nations. One hundred and thirty-five million people do not desire to be governed from Washington in all the activities of their daily life."

The Roosevelt administration was charged with responsibility for decreasing the value of the dollar 41 per cent; increasing the number of government employes from 565,000 to approximately 758,000 "exclusive of 100,000 part-time paid members of 5,000 committees and agencies trooping up and down the country in an effort to teach the people their New Deal ABC's."

SCRAP METAL DESTINED FOR WAR MACHINE

The boycott against supplying Italy with war materials won't leave the country short of scrap. Shiploads of scrap iron, much of which can be used for manufacture of armaments, already are Italy-bound. Here the freighter San Julian is shown at Jersey ity, N. ## SENATE COMMITTEE ON COTTON DECLINE EXPECTED TO MEET

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The prolonged investigation by the senate agriculture committee of last March's sudden decline in the market price of cotton probably will be brought into the open next month.

Chairman Smith said today he expected to call the committee into special session some time early in November to consider data obtained by the committee's investigators who have been at work since last June.

The hearings, which Smith said he hoped could be completed by Thanksgiving, will be public. He said he expected to have ready a report for submission to congress in January.

The investigators have been working more or less in secrecy since congress authorized the inquiry into the March 11 break which sent the market tumbling $10 a bale to a low for the year.

Smith declined to comment on what his investigators have uncovered so far.

"We want all the evidence to come out when we get around the committee table," he said.

Previously, the South Carolina senator had expressed belief the inquiry would result in changes in cotton market regulations, intimating that present trading rules might have been a factor in the sudden market decline.

INAUGURAL SPEECH OF NEW UNIVERSITY CHANCELLOR GIVEN

OXFORD, Miss., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Dr. Alfred Benjamin Butts delivered an appeal for active research into the problems of Mississippi in his inaugural address as chancellor of the University of Mississippi here today.

"Fine teachers are essential to any great university," he said, "but these are not enough. A university is not performing its function unless it engages in research. In so doing we must not be afraid of new thoughts, new ideas, and new tendencies."

The academic procession which formed at ten o'clock this morning contained representatives of forty-three universities and colleges in addition to the members of the Ole Miss faculty.

Dr. Alfred Hume, chancellor emeritus, delivered the opening address in Fulton chapel before presenting Bishop William Mercer Green, chairman of the board of trustees, who presided.

James Hector Currie of Meridian, pledged the cooperation of the Ole Miss alumni with the new administration. Dr. John James Tigert, president of the University of Florida, brought felicitations of the college presidents of America. Paying tribute both to Dr. Hume and to his incumbent.

Bishop Green formally pronounced Dr. Butts chancellor of the university.

PROGRAM WILL BE GIVEN BY CHILDREN'S THEATER

Plans for the holding of the meeting of the Children's theater on Saturday, October 26, were formulated at the meeting held yesterday at the Monroe Recreation department's center at 124 1-2 DeSiard street.

The program chairman for the next meeting will be Catherine Carson. A piano solo will be presented by Vivian Harper. Gladys Alton will present a reading, and there will be a variety of numbers.

The stage committee for the event will comprise Ann Kemp, Doris Speed and Satchie Cooper. The committee to greet the guests at the door will comprise Billy Matthews, Mildred Carroll and Durwood Jones.

Mrs. Charles Hall will assist Miss Lucyle Godwin with the conduct of the Children's theater, during the fall and winter.

The Dramatic club will meet Monday night at 7:30 o'clock at the recreation center and there is said to be much interest shown in this project.

The "gym" classes will be conducted at the same place by Miss Godwin. The woman's class will meet at 8:30 a.m. Monday and the business girls' class meets Monday night.

Was Ready To Give Up All Hope Of Regaining Health

Then Gly-Cas Ends 24 Years Of Stomach Suffering; Back Pains Gone, Kidneys Regulated; Mrs. Lynch Should Have Had Gly-Cas Years Before.

Gly-Cas is helping people all over Monroe and vicinity who never before had been given any actual relief by any other medicine or treatment. Read what Mrs. J. R. Lynch, 514 Mississippi street, Monroe, a highly respected lady, said recently in talking with the Gly-Cas man who is daily meeting crowds of local people at the Phoenix Drug company, 348 DeSiard street, this city:

"I did not realize that there ever would be such a wonderful medicine as Gly-Cas has proven to be in my case," said Mrs. Lynch, "My only regret is that I could not have taken it many years ago. For about twenty-four years I had suffered with stomach trouble so badly I always had to be careful of my diet. Most any kind of food would give me indigestion and sour stomach. I bloated dreadfully, gas pressed against my heart until I would become dizzy and would have to lie down. I was always troubled with shortness of breath and the bloating was so severe that my clothes were uncomfortable. My bowels were irregular too and my kidneys were always causing me trouble with back pains. My system became so full of poisons that neuritis pains in my neck and shoulders were awful. Oh, I was in a miserable condition and was ready to give up all hope of getting well again when I realized so many people were regaining their health through the use of this new Gly-Cas."

"It was only a short time until Gly-Cas proved to be the very medicine I should have had all these years," she continued, "My stomach, kidneys and bowels were regulated in a most natural way and today I can eat and enjoy the foods that had been forbidden me for years and with no distress afterwards. Indigestion and bloating has left me, neuritis pains have disappeared, enjoying perfect sleep and my former pep and energy has been restored. It is a pleasure to do my housework feeling as I do today. It is easy to understand now why so many people are praising Gly-Cas—it deserves it all and more too."

The Gly-Cas man is daily meeting crowds of local people at the Phoenix Drug company, 348 DeSiard street, where he is introducing and explaining the action of this new medical discovery.

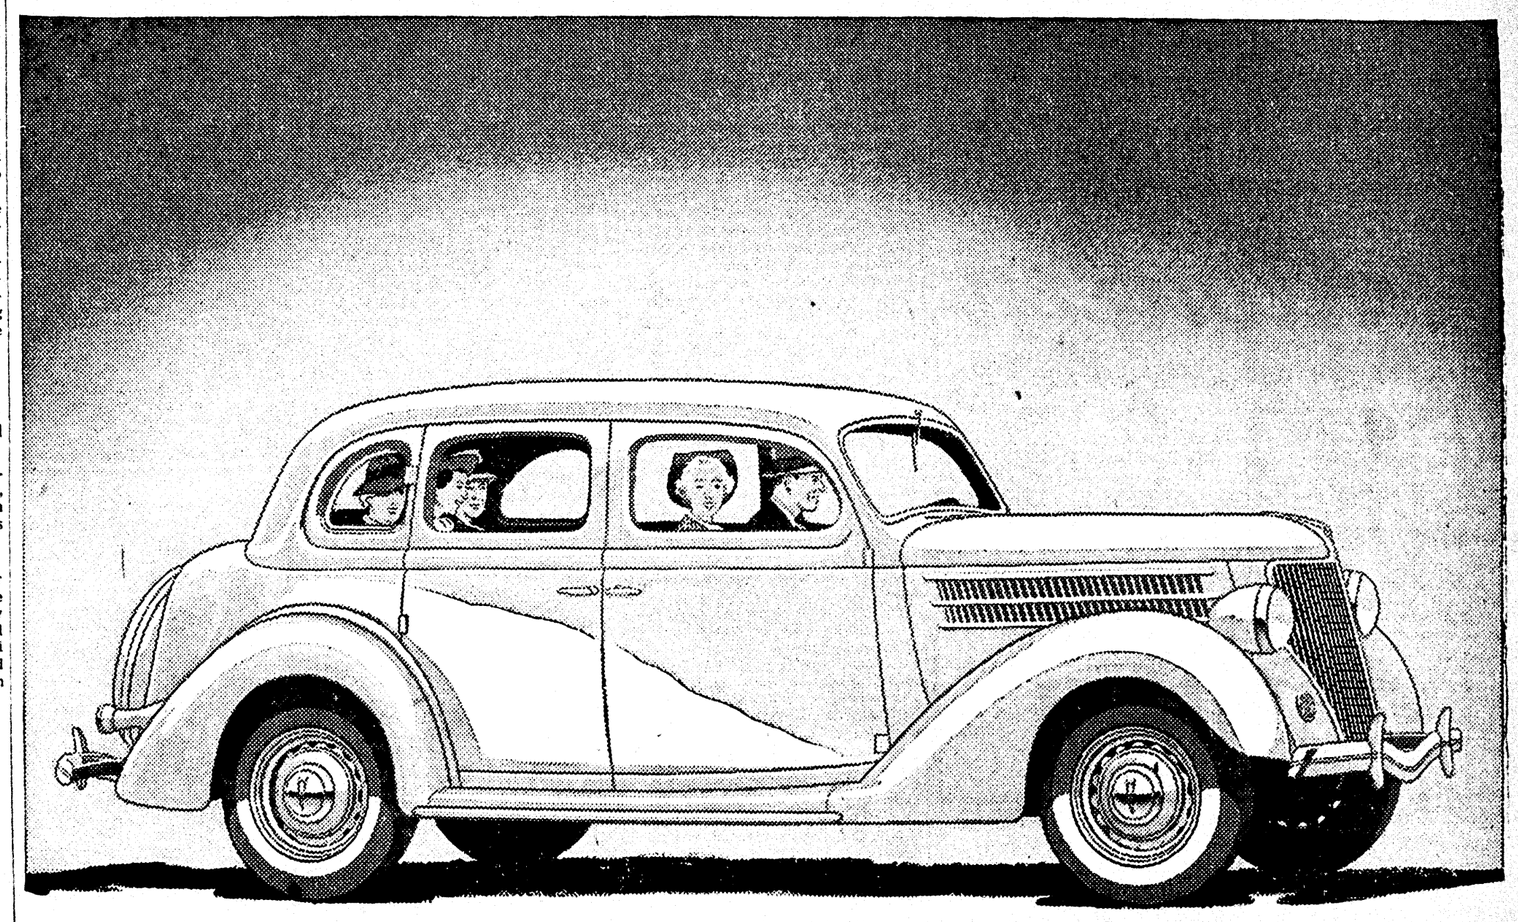
NOW ON DISPLAY



THE NEW FORD V·8 FOR 1936

Distinguished new beauty of line has been combined with the outstanding comfort, safety and performance that have put the Ford V-8 in a class by itself. The car that led all others in 1935 has been made still better for the new year. It has been proved by the past and improved for the future. The New Ford provides every modern feature, with the assurance of satisfactory service. There are no experiments in it—nothing that has not been tried and tested. This means a great deal to motorists—especially in mechanical construction and safety. . . . The Ford gives you distinctly better performance because of its V-8 engine—it stands out also because it is such a safe car. The Steel Body, Safety Glass all around and Super-Safety Brakes provide exceptional security. . . . The Ford V-8 for 1936 is the finest, safest, most reliable Ford ever built.

New Modern Lines—New longer hood extends gracefully over the distinctive new radiator grille, accentuating the length of the car. New larger fenders, with a wide flare, contribute to the imposing front-end appearance. Horns are concealed behind circular grilles beneath the headlamps. New hood louvres. Steel wheels of entirely new design. Rich, enduring upholstery. Attractive appointments.

New Easier Steering—Steering gear ratio increased. Steering gear sector shaft mounted on roller bearings.

New Gear Shifting—Easier, quicker, smoother. Shorter distance for gear shift lever to travel. Quiet shifting. Quiet running in all speeds because of silent helical gears.

Super-Safety Brakes—Safest, most reliable type of brakes under all driving conditions. Mechanical brakes of the same proved design as have been used for years on America's finest cars. Extra large braking area. Easy to apply.

Welded Steel Bodies—The Ford V-8 has a genuine all-steel body structure—electrically welded for still greater strength.

Safety Glass Throughout—All Ford body types are equipped with Safety Glass throughout at no extra cost.

V-8 Engine—Fine-car power, speed, acceleration and smoothness. The reliability of the Ford V-8 engine has been proved in actual service by more than two million motorists—over a million Ford V-8s purchased in the last year. Figures show that the Ford V-8 is the most economical Ford ever built. Every year the Ford costs less to run.

No "Breaking In"—The Ford V-8 engine is made to such high standards of precision that it requires no breaking in. You can drive it 60 miles an hour the first day.

Efficient Cooling—The cooling system of the New Ford V-8 for 1936 circulates 5½ gallons of water through a new, larger radiator. Natural thermo-syphon action is assisted by two centrifugal water pumps. New style hood louvres permit rapid flow of air around the engine.

Bodies Insulated for Quiet—The floor, dash and body panels of the Ford V-8 for 1936 are insulated with new materials that absorb and deaden sound.

Center-Poise Riding—All passengers ride near the center of the car—cradled between the soft, flexible springs. Exceptional comfort on every type of road. The Ford V-8 gives a front-seat ride to back-seat riders.

Unusual Body Room—Short, compact Ford V-8 engine takes up less space under the hood and permits more of the car's length to be used by passengers. There is increased room in the 1936 Fordor Sedans because the rear quarter trim is recessed above the new style arm rests.

LOW FORD V·8 PRICES

THIRTEEN BODY TYPES—Coupe (5 windows), $510. Tudor Sedan, $520. Fordor Sedan, $580. DE LUXE—Roadster (with rumble seat), $560. Coupe (3 windows), $570. Coupe (5 windows), $555. Phaeton, $590. ## SCRAP METAL DESTINED FOR WAR MACHINE

The boycott against supplying Italy with war materials won't leave the country short of scrap. Shiploads of scrap iron, much of which can be used for manufacture of armaments, already are Italy-bound. Here the freighter San Julian is shown at Jersey ity, N. J., as giant cranes fill its holds with metal brought alongside on barges.

SENATE COMMITTEE ON COTTON DECLINE EXPECTED TO MEET

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The prolonged investigation by the senate agriculture committee of last March's sudden decline in the market price of cotton probably will be brought into the open next month.

Chairman Smith said today he expected to call the committee into special session some time early in November to consider data obtained by the committee's investigators who have been at work since last June.

The hearings, which Smith said he hoped could be completed by Thanksgiving, will be public. He said he expected to have ready a report for submission to congress in January.

The investigators have been working more or less in secrecy since congress authorized the inquiry into the March 11 break which sent the market tumbling $10 a bale to a low for the year.

Smith declined to comment on what his investigators have uncovered so far.

"We want all the evidence to come out when we get around the committee table," he said.

Previously, the South Carolina senator had expressed belief the inquiry would result in changes in cotton market regulations, intimating that present trading rules might have been a factor in the sudden market decline.

INAUGURAL SPEECH OF NEW UNIVERSITY CHANCELLOR GIVEN

OXFORD, Miss., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Dr. Alfred Benjamin Butts delivered an appeal for active research into the problems of Mississippi in his inaugural address as chancellor of the University of Mississippi here today.

"Fine teachers are essential to any great university," he said, "but these are not enough. A university is not performing its function unless it engages in research. In so doing we must not be afraid of new thoughts, new ideas, and new tendencies."

The academic procession which formed at ten o'clock this morning contained representatives of forty-three universities and colleges in addition to the members of the Ole Miss faculty.

Dr. Alfred Hume, chancellor emeritus, delivered the opening address in Fulton chapel before presenting Bishop William Mercer Green, chairman of the board of trustees, who presided.

James Hector Currie of Meridian, pledged the cooperation of the Ole Miss alumni with the new administration. Dr. John James Tigert, president of the University of Florida, brought felicitations of the college presidents of America. Paying tribute both to Dr. Hume and to his incumbent.

Bishop Green formally pronounced Dr. Butts chancellor of the university.

Was Ready To Give Up All Hope Of Regaining Health

Then Gly-Cas Ends 24 Years Of Stomach Suffering; Back Pains Gone, Kidneys Regulated; Mrs. Lynch Should Have Had Gly-Cas Years Before.

Gly-Cas is helping people all over Monroe and vicinity who never before had been given any actual relief by any other medicine or treatment. Read what Mrs. J. R. Lynch, 514 Mississippi street, Monroe, a highly respected lady, said recently in talking with the Gly-Cas man who is daily meeting crowds of local people at the Phoenix Drug company, 348 DeSiard street, this city:

"I did not realize that there ever would be such a wonderful medicine as Gly-Cas has proven to be in my case," said Mrs. Lynch, "My only regret is that I could not have taken it many years ago. For about twenty-four years I had suffered with stomach trouble so badly I always had to be careful of my diet. Most any kind of food would give me indigestion and sour stomach. I bloated dreadfully, gas pressed against my heart until I would become dizzy and would have to lie down. I was always troubled with shortness of breath and the bloating was so severe that my clothes were uncomfortable. My bowels were irregular too and my kidneys were always causing me trouble with back pains. My system became so full of poisons that neuritis pains in my neck and shoulders were awful. Oh, I was in a miserable condition and was ready to give up all hope of getting well again when I realized so many people were regaining their health through the use of this new Gly-Cas."

"It was only a short time until Gly-Cas proved to be the very medicine I should have had all these years," she continued, "My stomach, kidneys and bowels were regulated in a most natural way and today I can eat and enjoy the foods that had been forbidden me for years and with no distress afterwards. Indigestion and bloating has left me, neuritis pains have disappeared, enjoying perfect sleep and my former pep and energy has been restored. It is a pleasure to do my housework feeling as I do today. It is easy to understand now why so many people are praising Gly-Cas—it deserves it all and more too.'

The Gly-Cas man is daily meeting crowds of local people at the Phoenix Drug company, 348 DeSiard street, where he is introducing and explaining the action of this new medical discovery.

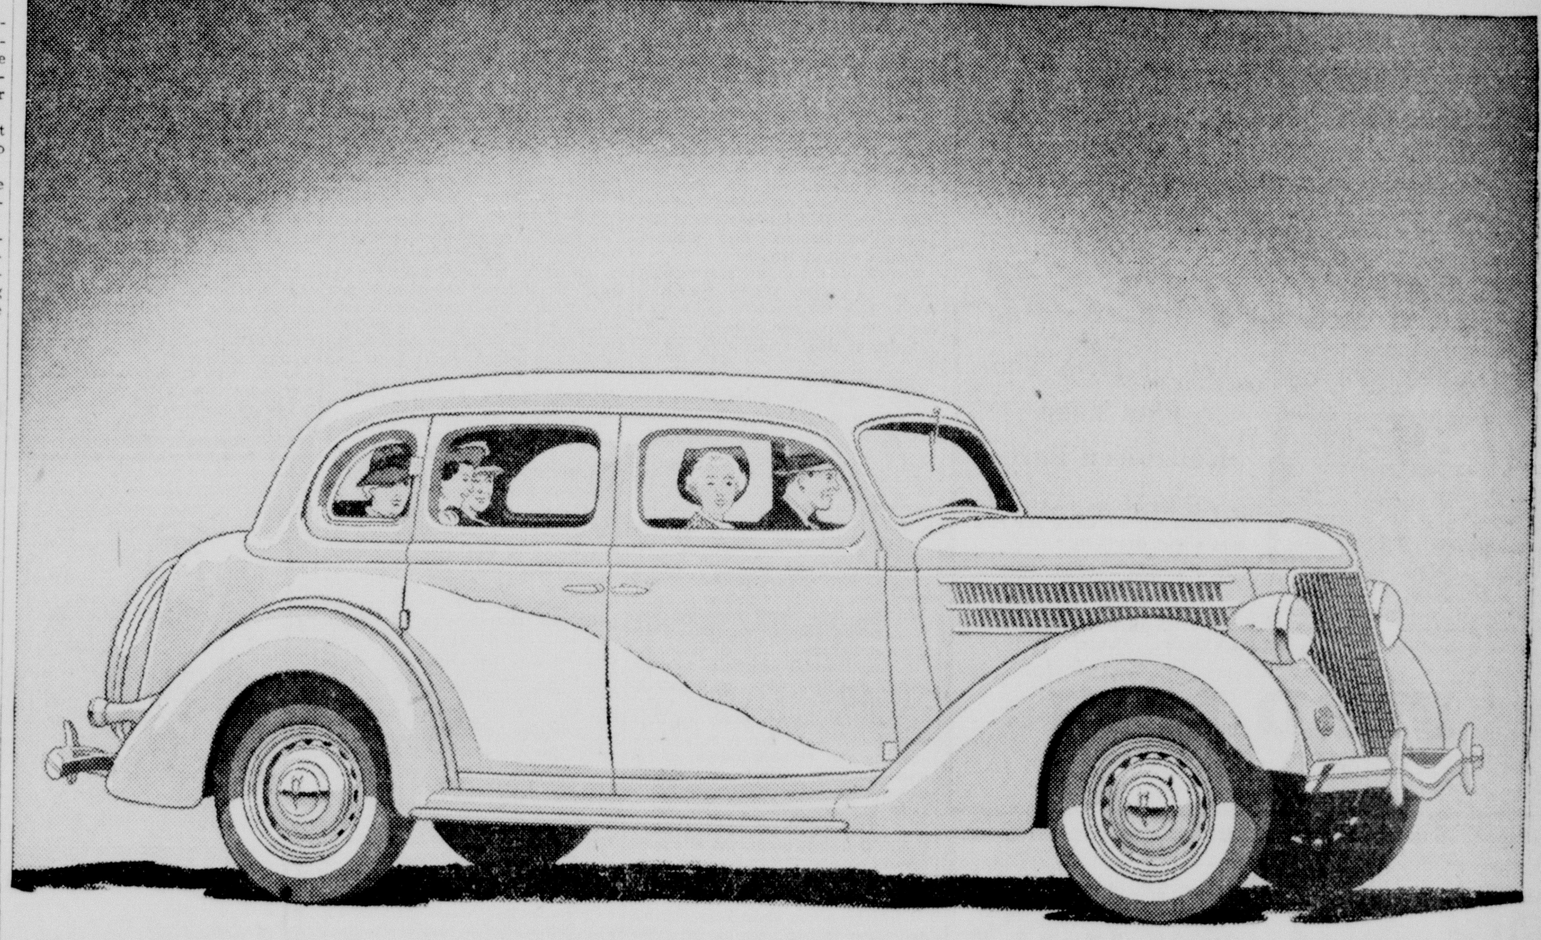
NOW ON DISPLAY



THE NEW FORD V·8 FOR 1936

Distinguished new beauty of line has been combined with the outstanding comfort, safety and performance that have put the Ford V-8 in a class by itself. The car that led all others in 1935 has been made still better for the new year. It has been proved by the past and improved for the future. The New Ford provides every modern feature, with the assurance of satisfactory service. There are no experiments in it—nothing that has not been tried and tested. This means a great deal to motorists—especially in mechanical construction and safety. . . . The Ford gives you distinctly better performance because of its V-8 engine—it stands out also because it is such a safe car. The Steel Body, Safety Glass all around and Super-Safety Brakes provide exceptional security. . . . The Ford V-8 for 1936 is the finest, safest, most reliable Ford ever built.

New Modern Lines—New longer hood extends gracefully over the distinctive new radiator grille, accentuating the length of the car. New larger fenders, with a wide flare, contribute to the imposing front-end appearance. Horns are concealed behind circular grilles beneath the headlamps. New hood louvres. Steel wheels of entirely new design. Rich, enduring upholstery. Attractive appointments.

New Easier Steering—Steering gear ratio increased. Steering gear sector shaft mounted on roller bearings.

New Gear Shifting—Easier, quicker, smoother. Shorter distance for gear shift lever to travel. Quiet shifting. Quiet running in all speeds because of silent helical gears.

Super-Safety Brakes—Safest, most reliable type of brakes under all driving conditions. Mechanical brakes of the same proved design as have been used for years on America's finest cars. Extra large braking area. Easy to apply.

Welded Steel Bodies—The Ford V-8 has a genuine all-steel body structure—electrically welded for still greater strength.

Safety Glass Throughout—All Ford body types are equipped with Safety Glass throughout at no extra cost.

V-8 Engine—Fine-car power, speed, acceleration and smoothness. The reliability of the Ford V-8 engine has been proved in actual service by more than two million motorists—over a million Ford V-8s purchased in the last year. Figures show that the Ford V-8 is the most economical Ford ever built. Every year the Ford costs less to run.

No "Breaking In"—The Ford V-8 engine is made to such high standards of precision that it requires no breaking in. You can drive it 60 miles an hour the first day.

Efficient Cooling—The cooling system of the New Ford V-8 for 1936 circulates 5½ gallons of water through a new, larger radiator. Natural thermo-syphon action is assisted by two centrifugal water pumps. New style hood louvres permit rapid flow of air around the engine.

Bodies Insulated for Quiet—The floor, dash and body panels of the Ford V-8 for 1936 are insulated with new materials that absorb and deaden sound.

Center-Poise Riding—All passengers ride near the center of the car—cradled between the soft, flexible springs. Exceptional comfort on every type of road. The Ford V-8 gives a front-seat ride to back-seat riders.

Unusual Body Room—Short, compact Ford V-8 engine takes up less space under the hood and permits more of the car's length to be used by passengers. There is increased room in the 1936 Fordor Sedans because the rear quarter trim is recessed above the new style arm rests.

LOW FORD V·8 PRICES

shop keepers on the outskirts of the city were held up by the Gofas, who intended to loot their stocks, but the timely arrival of armed police saved the situation.

LEAGUE DECLARES BOYCOTT ON ITALY

GENEVA, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The League of Nations employed a powerful weapon against warring Italy tonight by declaring a boycott upon all her goods.

This sanction, by far the most drastic ever adopted by the league, is expected by its authors to cut off 70 per cent of the Fascist nation's exports—if rigidly enforced.

It will affect directly most and indirectly all of the workers of Italy.

In approving this far-reaching step, the league's general committee of 52 nations fixed October 31 as the date to meet to decide when the sanction will become effective. Premier Benito Mussolini has until then to think things over.

The attitude, or measure of cooperation the league may expect in the move, will be sought from the United States and other non-league members.

Only the voices of Hungary and Austria, as on previous occasions, were raised against the sanction. Delegates of both these nations, neighbors and friends of Italy, said the economic boycott would be a crushing blow to them economically.

By its action the league ended the first and most important phase of its "halt the war" drive, which began with the indictment of Italy as an aggressor.

PEACE TALK CONCERNED ITALY, GREAT BRITAIN

(By Associated Press)

The peace talk of Friday turns out now to have had nothing to do with the Italo-Ethiopian war.

It was peace talk about a non-existent war—the "war" many diplomats feared was brewing between Italy and Great Britain.

The war of bombs and bullets, of dead and wounded, goes on; and so does the "war for peace" waged by the League of Nations against Italy, the "aggressor."

The league's "war" was marked Saturday by another sharp thrust—the voting of a "buy nothing from Italy" boycott.

But still the league machinery to punish Italy for its armed aggression against another league member moves slowly. The "buy nothing from Italy" blade cannot begin to swing until the league fixes a date for concerted action; and that date will hardly be before early November.

If the capitals of Europe are easier today because of the easement of the Anglo-Italian tension—a tension "artificially created outside of Geneva," the British say—there is no lessening of the deadly earnestness that has imbued a million black warriors of Ethiopia to march to the defense of their African kingdom.

The "major clash" so long anticipated on the northern front is shaping up. Both Rome and Addis Ababa agree to that. It will be fought probably at Makale, which is 60 miles south of the present forward lines of the Italians' Eritrean army.

The Ethiopian strategy probably will be to make the Italians come in and fight; that is, the Ethiopians will take advantage of the natural fortifications of the area and defy the soldiers of General Emilio de Bono to dislodge them.

Guns—even American-made machine guns—and war supplies are pouring into Ethiopia as the lifting of the embargo against weapons of war begins to make itself felt. (Removal of the arms embargo which had existed against Ethiopia was one of the League of Nations' first punitive measures against Italy.)

Hordes of tribesmen are moving across the rugged Ethiopian country toward both the northern and southern fronts. They march under the injunction of their emperor to "do or die."

Italy indicated Saturday that her forces, at home and abroad, now under arms total 1,200,000, or 200,000 more than Mussolini promised to have ready by the end of this month.

The Geneva action Saturday sounded sinister, but may actually not prove as damaging to Italy as the league intends.

What the league decided to do, briefly, is this:

1. Stop all Italian exports to league members.

2. Stop Italy from receiving any "key products"—war materials—from league members.

3. Give mutual assistance to such league members who, by reason of large trade with Italy, would suffer by loss of such trade under the boycott.

What the representatives of 52 league nations actually did was to say that they intended, at a future date, to "buy nothing from Italy." That status will remain until October 31. On that day, unless there is some interim change, the league will set a definite date to begin a concerted "buy nothing" boycott.

Great Britain sponsored the boycott, and Great Britain's envoys have said on several occasions that they believed sanctions were too slow to accomplish the league object which is to stop the war in Africa.

There were no signs Saturday that the Italo-Ethiopian trouble was even near the possibility of early solution.

CONCENTRATE TROOPS FOR MAJOR CONFLICT

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Concentration of Ethiopian troops for a major clash with an Italian army was disclosed today by Ethiopian authorities.

The government announced a carefully prepared plan had been completed for a strong stand against the Fascist invaders. It is expected to take place at Makale, 60 miles southwest of Aduwa.

Emperor Haile Selassie's warriors have been strengthened by a stream of war materials into the country following a lifting of munitions embargoes.

Ethiopian officials said the populace around Ambaalae, northern Tigre province, was infuriated by the killing of a child by Italian air bombs.

Although the government did not state the quantity nor the places to which the arms and munitions shipments were going, it is known they include American machine guns and Belgian and Czechoslovakian rifles and cartridges, and are modern. Other secret sources are also sending older arms over the borders.

Commenting on reports that Italy was ready to refrain from bombing Addis Ababa and Diredawa, on the railroad connecting the Ethiopian capital and Djibouti, French Somaliland, if no military activities were permitted in those cities, an official said Selassie would find it virtually impossible to abandon Addis Ababa as a military center.

He said the emperor would have as much right to ask Premier Mussolini to abandon military activities at Rome. He declared tens of thousands of warriors in the interior would consider it a grievious insult if the emperor declined to permit them to enter the capital for review.

CAPTURED IN ITALY'S FIRST OFFENSIVE

Clinging to the bleak, rugged hills of northern Ethiopia, the native city of Aduwa was captured in first phase of the Italian offensive to avenge the annihilation of an Italian army there nearly 40 years ago. Here is a view of part of the town, with the fort from which the Ethiopians launched their historic attack on the 1896 invaders in the left foreground. The Italians made the town the target of several aerial bombing raids, in which nearly 100 persons were reported killed.

MISSISSIPPI'S ANNUAL FAIR COMES TO CLOSE

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Blessed by generally favorable weather, Mississippi's 32nd annual free state fair came to a close tonight with the best record in attendance and interest in many years.

Even a short shower during Saturday afternoon failed to dampen the spirits of thousands of fair-goers, later-hour Jackson guests and visitors from far and near. The slight downfall only succeeded in settling the dust of fairgrounds midway, race and grounds and cooling the air to an agreeable temperature.

Final prize winners were announced in several contests during the day, with Miss Myrtle Todd, blonde senior of Central High school, named Miss State Fair with a lead of 1,347 votes over the runnerup, Miss Louise Smith. Mayor Walter A. Scott presented Miss Todd with a loving cup on behalf of the state fair association.

Ouida Loris, Rose Marie Cameron and Pattie Patrick, dance trio from Hattiesburg, won first place for their presentation at the aesthetic contest.

ber and auto workers calling on the federation to keep craft unions out of their industries.

William Thompson, an Akron, Ohio, rubber worker, was speaking against the committee's report when Hutcheson, one of the craft union leaders, asked the chair to rule the speaker out of order. The issue had been settled, he said.

After some discussion of Hutcheson's point, Lewis stalked down the middle aisle of the convention hall, stopped half-way, and urged that Thompson be permitted to continue.

The champion of the industrial unionists, Lewis called Hutcheson's objection "small potatoes."

Hutcheson retorted that eating small potatoes was what had made him so big.

Others continued the discussion. Lewis quietly moved to Hutcheson's side. Words were exchanged and the fight started.

While Green furiously rapped for order, hundreds of delegates closed around the combatants. The hall rang with the shouting. Blows were exchanged on the side.

After peace was restored—the whole affray lasted only a few minutes—the convention sustained the committee on the rubber resolution. After hours of debate, similar action was taken on the automobile resolution.

Both Lewis and Hutcheson are big men, each weighing more than 200 pounds. Hutcheson is taller, but not so chunky. Each is upward of 50 years old.

BREAD does it!
BUILD ENERGY WITH BREAD
Your most reliable authority on nutrition as related to health is the Committee on Foods of the American Medical Association. This Committee accepts the following statements as true facts about bread—
1 Bread is our outstanding source of the largest single need in the balanced diet—Food-Energy.
2 Bread is a most economical source of Food-Energy—almost no waste in white bread as it is 96 per cent digested.
3 Bread is often incorrectly called a "fattening food." The fact that bread is high in Food-Energy does not mean that it itself will produce over-weight. The control of weight depends solely on the Food-Energy content of the diet as a whole, not on any one specific food in the diet. Bread can and should be used, even by those who are reducing weight under their physician's instructions. Remember, you should never think of bread as a "fattening food," but as a food high in Energy.

MISSISSIPPI'S ANNUAL FAIR COMES TO CLOSE

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Blessed by generally favorable weather, Mississippi's 32nd annual free state fair came to a close tonight with the best record in attendance and interest in many years.

Even a short shower during Saturday afternoon failed to dampen the spirits of thousands of fair-goers, later-hour Jackson guests and visitors from far and near. The slight downfall only succeeded in settling the dust of fairgrounds midway, race and grounds and cooling the air to an agreeable temperature.

Final prize winners were announced in several contests during the day, with Miss Myrtle Todd, blonde senior of Central High school, named Miss State Fair with a lead of 1,347 votes over the runnerup, Miss Louise Smith. Mayor Walter A. Scott presented Miss Todd with a loving cup on behalf of the state fair association.

Ouida Loris, Rose Marie Cameron and Pattie Patrick, dance trio from Hattiesburg, won first place for their presentation at the aesthetic contest.

Long research, he said, established Dr. Gregory's direct lineage from King Alpin, ruler of the Alpin clan in Scotland from 834 to 859.

ber and auto workers calling on the federation to keep craft unions out of their industries.

William Thompson, an Akron, Ohio, rubber worker, was speaking against the committee's report when Hutcheson, one of the craft union leaders, asked the chair to rule the speaker out of order. The issue had been settled, he said.

After some discussion of Hutcheson's point, Lewis stalked down the middle aisle of the convention hall, stopped half-way, and urged that Thompson be permitted to continue.

The champion of the industrial unionists, Lewis called Hutcheson's objection "small potatoes."

Hutcheson retorted that eating small potatoes was what had made him so big.

Others continued the discussion. Lewis quietly moved to Hutcheson's side. Words were exchanged and the fight started.

While Green furiously rapped for order, hundreds of delegates closed around the combatants. The hall rang with the shouting. Blows were exchanged on the side.

After peace was restored—the whole affray lasted only a few minutes—the convention sustained the committee on the rubber resolution. After hours of debate, similar action was taken on the automobile resolution.

Both Lewis and Hutcheson are big men, each weighing more than 200 pounds. Hutcheson is taller, but not so chunky. Each is upward of 50 years old.

BREAD does it!

BUILD ENERGY WITH BREAD
Your most reliable authority on nutrition as related to health is the Committee on Foods of the American Medical Association. This Committee accepts the following statements as true facts about bread—
1 Bread is our outstanding source of the largest single need in the balanced diet—Food-Energy.
2 Bread is a most economical source of Food-Energy—almost no waste in white bread as it is 96 per cent digested.
3 Bread is often incorrectly called a "fattening food." The fact that bread is high in Food-Energy does not mean that it itself will produce over-weight. The control of weight depends solely on the Food-Energy content of the diet as a whole, not on any one specific food in the diet. Bread can and should be used, even by those who are reducing weight under their physician's instructions. Remember, you should never think of bread as a "fattening food," but as a food high in Energy.
4 Bread is a completely wholesome food.

PORKERS HOLD LOUISIANA STATE TO 13-7 VICTORY

TIGERS SCORE IN FOURTH QUARTER TO SHADE HOGS

Razorbacks Fight Desperately To Hold Powerful Old Lou Team

By Quincy Ewing
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 19.—(AP)—A desperately fighting University of Arkansas football team came down out of the Ozarks today and staged a brilliant aerial exhibition that sent 10,000 spectators home gasping, but was beaten by Louisiana State university's more powerful team, 13 to 7.

The scarlet jerseyed Razorbacks came within an ace of imitating so many underdog teams this season and kicking pre-game dope sky high, but couldn't quite make the grade, and Louisiana State, which had been figured a victor by easy margin, hammered out its triumph in a tussle packed and jammed with spectacular thrills.

It was a game of irony and paradox.

For the past several seasons, Louisiana State has regarded Arkansas a set-up for passes, and L. S. U. has consistently depended upon its bombing raids to win.

The Tigers had heard that the Porkers were planning to fill the air with rifle passes by Robbins, brilliant triple threat sophomore, and prepared to meet them.

But Robbins came through better than expected, and kept Louisiana State hearts thumping as he hurled forwards and started laterals that gained yard after yard with assistance of able spearing by Keen, Poole, and others.

Had it not been for an ironclad tightening of Louisiana State's defenses to thwart eight successive Arkansas tries by ground and air from the Louisiana five yard line just before the game ended, the Porkers might have gone back to Fayetteville with a tie or a victory.

After playing a nip and tuck game through a scoreless first half, Louisiana State scored first in the third period when Bill Crass busted over from the two yard line after a pass from Crass to Dumas, who was standing on the four yard line, was ruled complete there because of interference. Crass converted from placement.

Arkansas struck back quickly and flashingly in the same period with a pass, Robbins to Howell, that gave first down on the Tiger 42, and a lateral, Robbins to Poole to Keen, who raced 20 yards for a touchdown. Seamster kicked the point to tie the score.

Not disheartened, the Porkers struck

Nebraska Held To Tie By Kansas State; Cincy Beats Indiana

By Herbert W. Barker
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The under-dogs bowled nothing but football "strikes" yesterday and left an already shell-shocked fandom gasping at the defeat of a half dozen prime favorites headed by the Rice Owls, Michigan State Spartans and Duke Blue Devils.

To Boston college and Georgia Tech go the credit for engineering the most startling upsets of the day. Michigan State, with a high-powered array that had steam-rollered all opposition, invaded Boston for what appeared to be a "warm-up" with Boston college, but the Eagles turned in an amazing performance to whip the hot favorites 18-6. Georgia Tech, which ruined Duke's undefeated record two years ago, came through with another bang-up game to win, 6-0, in the most stunning of the south's series of form reversals.

Rice, defending Southwest conference champion, fell before Southern Methodist's fourth-period onslaught 10-0. Indiana's 7-0 setback at the hands of the University of Cincinnati and Nebraska's scoreless draw with a Kansas State team which previously had lost to Fort Hays Teachers, likewise came as a shock to form players.

Meanwhile Yale, Ohio State, Minnesota, Purdue, Notre Dame, North Carolina, California, Washington, Army and Dartmouth continued their unbeaten charge through the opposition.

A crowd of 60,000 saw Al Hessberg sprint 20 yards around end for a touchdown and Henry Gardner add the point that gave Yale a 7-6 victory over a battling Navy outfit at New Haven. Marty Peters' field goal from the 25-yard line was the margin by which Notre Dame turned back Pitt's Panthers in a spectacular fray that had a crowd of 51,000 wildly excited at South Bend from start to finish.

Ohio State packed entirely too much power for Northwestern and the Buckeyes rang up their first Big Ten victory 28-7. Minnesota, meanwhile, swept through Tulane for a 20-0 tri-

TECH PLAYS TAMPA GAME ON DEC. 14

RUSTON, La., Oct. 19.—(Special)—Louisiana Tech's football players, fearing that they would be deprived of a trip to Florida because their game with the University of Tampa was changed to a week later than scheduled, have had their doubts dispelled.

Although observing that December 14 "is too late for a regular-season football game," President G. W. Bond has granted his approval of the date. The Techmen have only one other out-of-town engagement this fall, namely, a game with Louisiana college at Pineville on November 23.

The Tech-Tampa contest, at first set for December 7, was moved to December 14 in deference to the wishes of Tampa athletics officials, who pointed out that the University of Florida will play at Tampa on December 7.

President Bond has suggested that the Tech players should spend a half day or a full day after the Tampa tilt in looking over the sights of Florida.

OLE MISS TRIMS FLORIDA, 27-6

Mississippians Thrill Big Homecoming Crowd With Easy Victory

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Oct. 19.—(AP)—University of Mississippi rose up in its might to overpower the University of Florida 'Gators here today 27 to 6, before a "home-coming day" crowd of 7,000 in its first real Southeastern conference test.

The red and blue proteges of Coach Ed Walker, considered little more than a "warm-up" team for the conference leaders in bygone years, served notice by their performance today that Ole Miss is heading for the top.

Trailing 20 to 0 going into the fourth quarter, Florida took to the air with desperation, and succeeded in making its aerial game effective after having been checkmated for three quarters as Captain Billy Chase heaved the pigskin far and wide. Ole Miss intercepted six Florida passes.

Ole Miss exhibited three scoring aces in Ray Hapes, Chester Bernard and Rab Rodgers.

Bernard, sub for C. Hapes, was responsible for Mississippi's final marker when he broke through a scattered Florida defense late in the final period after receiving a kick-off within the shadow of his own goal and raced 85 yards, placing the ball on the Florida ten, where a pass to Poole netted the score a moment later.

Ray Hapes brought the spectators to their feet in the second period when a 70-yard touchdown jaunt on a punt return, but the score was called off, and Ole Miss was penalized for being offside.

A 28-yard run by Rodgers early in the second period placed the ball on the Florida one-yard line, where Bernard went over for the touchdown for Ole Miss' first score.

Rodgers scored the second and third touchdowns for Ole Miss, one in the second period when Ray Hapes intercepted a Florida pass in midfield and raced it back 37 yards to the 10-yard line, where Rodgers skirted around end for the score. Rodgers again tallied in the third period on a fake reverse when he caught the Florida defense napping inside their 30-yard line.

ENGINEERS AGAIN UPSET POWERFUL DUKE ELEVEN, 6-0

Georgia Tech Outplays Blue Devils To Win Surprising Victory

By Glenn Ramsey
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

ATLANTA, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Georgia Tech, for the second time in three seasons, blocked Duke university's possible way to the Rose Bowl, defeating the Blue Devils today, 6 to 0, in one of the day's outstanding upsets.

Approximately 10,000 spectators were in the stands.

It was the identical score by which the Tornado swept Duke into the defeated column at the close of 1933.

Coach Wallace Wade of the North Carolina squad, commenting crisply, said:

"They completely outplayed us."

That's exactly what happened, the statistics showed.

The Yellow Jackets gained 186 yards from rushing to 95 for the powerful Blue Devils; Tech gained 49 yards from passes to 19 for Duke; the Jackets made 15 first downs to 7 for Duke.

Doped to take the Tornado for a decided trimming, the boys from Durham in the Old North State's tobacco belt found an improved Tech line and backs that seemed to get better as the game progressed.

For three periods the breaks were with Duke but they didn't take advantage. Poor judgment, fumbles and intercepted passes got them the ball at strategic intervals, but they failed to come through.

Duke, recovering a Tech fumble in the second period, got within 20 yards of the Tech goal but never afterward reached closer. The Blue Devils made only one first down in the last half.

It was a break, however, that gave Tech its big moment in the fourth and resulted in a touchdown.

"Ace" Parker, Duke's hard driving quarterback, fumbled on his 40-yard line. Another Blue Devil player in attempting to recover batted the ball further toward his own goal line and then Ed Jones, a Tornado end who had just come into the game, recovered the ball and it was first down for Tech on Duke's 30.

On the second play, a trick formation, Edwards forward passed to Sims—it was a short one over the line—and Konemann, taking Sims' lateral, tossed it to Jones and the ball was on Duke's 9-yard line.

Appleby, the plunging Tech fullback, ripped the line for four yards and on an ancient football play—the old end around end—Jones took it for the remaining five yards, crossing the goal line standing up.

Appleby's try for point was blocked and the performance of 1933 was repeated.

The lineup and summary:

| Duke | Pos. | Tech |
|---|---|---|

OKLAHOMA TROUNCES IOWA STATE, 16-0

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Captain "Biff" Jones' University of Oklahoma football team made its bow in the Big Six conference today with a powerful ground game and defeated Iowa State, 16 to 0.

The aerial game was left in the dressing rooms, as Oklahoma gained 328 yards rushing to the visitors' 37. Oklahoma had only a 3-0 lead at the half, but punched and drove to a touchdown in each of the last two periods.

PRESIDENT'S CUP TOURNEY STARTS

Qualifying Round In Handicap Affair Opens At Lakeside Today

The annual President's cup golf tournament at Lakeside Country club will start today when the qualifying round opens, Shep Girault, Lakeside pro, announced yesterday.

Entrants have until next Sunday night to post their qualifying scores, Mr. Girault said, with the low 32 qualifiers becoming eligible to compete for the cup. The tournament will be played on a handicap basis.

The tourney will be played in flights, with the low eight being placed in the first flight, the next eight going in the second, etc. Trophies will be awarded the winner of each flight, with the grand prize going to the tournament winner.

One week will be allowed for qualifying, and matches in each round will be completed in one week or defaulted.

Dr. R. T. Harberson is defending champion, having defeated Morton Braswell in the final match last year. Dr. Harberson will not defend his title as he is not playing at Lakeside club this year, Mr. Girault said.

The President's cup will again be donated this year by H. K. Touchstone, who recently was re-elected president of the club.

ARMY TURNS BACK HARVARD, 13 TO 0

Charles Meyer Leads Cadets In Victory Over Weak Crimsons

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Army called desperately for reinforcements today and up came a long-legged gangling kid steeped in military tradition, Charles (Monk) Meyer, from the Fort Sheridan, Ill., army post, to lead the way to two touchdowns and a 13-to-0 victory over a game but woefully inept Harvard team.

The only thing missing in the spectacle was the traditional Army mule. It was solemnly announced that because of motorization of the army forces here, only two mules are left on the reservation and both are desperately ill.

Where Oklahoma's Jim Craig, heralded as West Point's new triple-threat star, failed before the crowd of 27,000 in Michie stadium, Meyer rollicked all over the place.

Meyer, son of a Fort Sheridan colonel who once captain the baseball team here, was the whole show in the second and third period touchdown drives that gave Army the first victory it ever has scored at home over Harvard.

Craig was good—reeling off 32 yards in one first-quarter burst from a fake kick formation, 24 another time, then 10, but for the first 15 minutes Army was helpless once the charge reached Harvard's 30-yard line.

Meyer replaced Craig at the start of the second half. His 159 pounds hurdling through holes, his arm pitching perfect strikes, Monk set out for the Harvard goal 65 yards away and never stopped until Bill Grohs, his quarterback, plugged the last yard through center for Army's first touchdown.

Meyer launched the second and last Army scoring drive from his own 30 with a 25-yard dash off tackle, and with the aid of only one eight-yard pass and two plunges by Grohs, brought the ball to Harvard's nine. He stepped back there and pitched a perfect touchdown pass into the arms of Grove, ending his major work for the day.

If the dashboard light dims extremely or goes out, when an attempt is made to start the car, battery trouble is indicated.

Wuxtry!! O'Mahoney Wants Crack At Braddock's Crown

By John J. Romano

Danno O'Mahoney is the latest to signify his intention of entering the list of challengers for the world's heavyweight boxing title. The big Irishman finds his knowledge of the manly art a great help in subduing his opponents on the mat. A clip on the jaw readies them for the application of his "Irish Whip." After a few tune-up matches O'Mahoney would be receptive to a purse of a quarter of a million dollars. Danno has made a good sized pile as a wrestler but he is still short of that sum. Taking it in one gob would be much more pleasant than traipsing all over the country picking it up in scattered bits.

O'Mahoney was an amateur boxer as a member of the Irish Free State guards. What little he learned about wrestling came when he was induced to come to this country and lend his name to the imposing list of foreigners making merry, tugging and groaning all over the mat. What new kinks he brought to the game has not hurt it any, because his name brought fans who otherwise did not attend wrestling exhibitions.

Chances For Success Slim

There is no denying that the appearance of O'Mahoney as a fighter would strike a popular chord with many fans. The big Irishman is better built for fighting than he is for wrestling. No one denies his gameness and when it comes to hitting, those who tried cuffing him around learned that Danno carries a hefty wallop in his right fist.

Is there any chance of O'Mahoney winning the heavyweight boxing crown?

The chances are decidedly against him. No matter how much experience he has as an amateur boxer, it would take him at least two years before he could be fully developed into a fighter ready to take a crack at a first rater. Fighters like Joe Louis, who mature rapidly and pick up the fine points of the game quickly, come up only once in a generation.

O'Mahoney would not be the first grappler to try his hand in the boxing game. Thirty or more years ago Frank Gotch, then the wrestling champion, was induced to put on the gloves with an old-time boxer. The fight, if it can be called that, lasted but a fraction of a minute—just long enough for the fighter to crack down with his right, and Gotch was more helpless than George Hackenschmidt in the grip of Frank's punishing toehold.

Then there was the case of the older Munn boy who made football history at Nebraska. Munn started off as a fighter when he left college and was quickly subdued in his first start with the mitts. Munn promptly took up wrestling and achieved some fame, and much money, when he threw Strangler Lewis out of a Chicago ring and claimed the title. But Munn's fame did not last long.

Berlenbach Succeeded

Paul Berlenbach was quite a wrestler as an amateur. Dan Hickey was the first to see possibilities in the heavy-set young man who was willing to try his hand at anything. Those who watched Berlenbach in training got one peek at him and went away saying that he was as graceful as a baby elephant. Hickey thought otherwise, and within two years had the fans singing the praises of the best hitter since the days of Bob Fitzsimmons.

Berlenbach is one who subscribed to the opinion that a mixed match between a wrestler and a fighter would end in a victory for the fighter. Paul did not always think so, but one demonstration in which he took part, convinced him otherwise. Unless a fighter gets in the first blow accurately, according to Berlenbach, he is easy prey in the grip of a wrestler.

Steeped In Wrestling

Wrestling, as it is conducted today, requires a wrestler to take considerable punishment from butting, elbowing and hitting with the closed fists. Some fans marvel that a wrestler can appear as much as three times a week without showing signs of physical exhaustion. It often brings up the question about present day wrestlers being more hardy than those in the days when the game was conducted strictly according to the rules. It is no secret that many matches are little more than hippodromes and what looks like punishment is nothing more or less than what takes place in the gymnasium every day. Therefore, that question is left open to argument.

Getting back to O'Mahoney. If it took Paul Berlenbach two years to reach the top in the light heavyweight division, it would assuredly take the Irishman that much time to make real headway in the heavyweight ranks. O'Mahoney is too steeped in the ways of wrestling now and it would require considerable time for him to forget the tricks he has learned. For this reason it can be safely predicted that James J. Braddock will be the only Irishman to hold the title for some time to come, and O'Mahoney would do better sticking to the game which has made his name world wide.

PORKERS HOLD LOUISIANA STATE TO 13-7 VICTORY

TIGERS SCORE IN FOURTH QUARTER TO SHADE HOGS

Razorbacks Fight Desperately To Hold Powerful Old Lou Team

By Quincy Ewing
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 19.—(AP)—A desperately fighting University of Arkansas football team came down out of the Ozarks today and staged a brilliant aerial exhibition that sent 10,000 spectators home gasping, but was beaten by Louisiana State university's more powerful team, 13 to 7.

The scarlet jerseyed Razorbacks came within an ace of imitating so many underdog teams this season and kicking pre-game dope sky high, but couldn't quite make the grade, and Louisiana State, which had been figured a victor by easy margin, hammered out its triumph in a tussle packed and jammed with spectacular thrills.

It was a game of irony and paradox.

For the past several seasons, Louisiana State has regarded Arkansas a set-up for passes, and L. S. U. has consistently depended upon its bombing raids to win.

The Tigers had heard that the Porkers were planning to fill the air with rifle passes by Robbins, brilliant triple threat sophomore, and prepared to meet them.

But Robbins came through better than expected, and kept Louisiana State hearts thumping as he hurled forwards and started laterals that gained yard after yard with assistance of able spearing by Keen, Poole, and others.

Had it not been for an ironclad tightening of Louisiana State's defenses to thwart eight successive Arkansas tries by ground and air from the Louisiana five yard line just before the game ended, the Porkers might have gone back to Fayetteville with a tie or a victory.

After playing a nip and tuck game through a scoreless first half, Louisiana State scored first in the third period when Bill Crass busted over from the two yard line after a pass from Crass to Dumas, who was standing on the four yard line, was ruled complete there because of interference. Crass converted from placement.

Arkansas struck back quickly and flashingly in the same period with a pass, Robbins to Howell, that gave first down on the Tiger 42, and a lateral, Robbins to Poole to Keen, who raced 20 yards for a touchdown. Seamster kicked the point to tie the score.

Not disheartened, the Porkers struck

Nebraska Held To Tie By Kansas State; Cincy Beats Indiana

By Herbert W. Barker
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The under-dogs bowled nothing but football "strikes" yesterday and left an already shell-shocked fandom gasping at the defeat of a half dozen prime favorites headed by the Rice Owls, Michigan State Spartans and Duke Blue Devils.

To Boston college and Georgia Tech go the credit for engineering the most startling upsets of the day. Michigan State, with a high-powered array that had steam-rollered all opposition, invaded Boston for what appeared to be a "warm-up" with Boston college, but the Eagles turned in an amazing performance to whip the hot favorites 18-6. Georgia Tech, which ruined Duke's undefeated record two years ago, came through with another bang-up game to win, 6-0, in the most stunning of the south's series of form reversals.

Rice, defending Southwest conference champion, fell before Southern Methodist's fourth-period onslaught 10-0. Indiana's 7-0 setback at the hands of the University of Cincinnati and Nebraska's scoreless draw with a Kansas State team which previously had lost to Fort Hays Teachers, likewise came as a shock to form players.

Meanwhile Yale, Ohio State, Minnesota, Purdue, Notre Dame, North Carolina, California, Washington, Army and Dartmouth continued their unbeaten charge through the opposition.

A crowd of 60,000 saw Al Hessberg sprint 20 yards around end for a touchdown and Henry Gardner add the point that gave Yale a 7-6 victory over a battling Navy outfit at New Haven. Marty Peters' field goal from the 25-yard line was the margin by which Notre Dame turned back Pitt's Panthers in a spectacular fray that had a crowd of 51,000 wildly excited at South Bend from start to finish.

Ohio State packed entirely too much power for Northwestern and the Buckeyes rang up their first Big Ten victory 28-7. Minnesota, meanwhile, swept through Tulane for a 20-0 tri-

TECH PLAYS TAMPA GAME ON DEC. 14

RUSTON, La., Oct. 19.—(Special)—Louisiana Tech's football players, fearing that they would be deprived of a trip to Florida because their game with the University of Tampa was changed to a week later than scheduled, have had their doubts dispelled.

Although observing that December 14 "is too late for a regular-season football game," President G. W. Bond has granted his approval of the date. The Techmen have only one other out-of-town engagement this fall, namely, a game with Louisiana college at Pineville on November 23.

The Tech-Tampa contest, at first set for December 7, was moved to December 14 in deference to the wishes of Tampa athletics officials, who pointed out that the University of Florida will play at Tampa on December 7.

President Bond has suggested that the Tech players should spend a half day or a full day after the Tampa tilt in looking over the sights of Florida.

OLE MISS TRIMS FLORIDA, 27-6

Mississippians Thrill Big Homecoming Crowd With Easy Victory

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Oct. 19.—(AP)—University of Mississippi rose up in its might to overpower the University of Florida 'Gators here today 27 to 6, before a "home-coming day" crowd of 7,000 in its first real Southeastern conference test.

The red and blue proteges of Coach Ed Walker, considered little more than a "warm-up" team for the conference leaders in bygone years, served notice by their performance today that Ole Miss is heading for the top.

Trailing 20 to 0 going into the fourth quarter, Florida took to the air with desperation, and succeeded in making its aerial game effective after having been checkmated for three quarters as Captain Billy Chase heaved the pigskin far and wide. Ole Miss intercepted six Florida passes.

Ole Miss exhibited three scoring aces in Ray Hapes, Chester Bernard and Rab Rodgers.

Bernard, sub for C. Hapes, was responsible for Mississippi's final marker when he broke through a scattered Florida defense late in the final period after receiving a kick-off within the shadow of his own goal and raced 85 yards, placing the ball on the Florida ten, where a pass to Poole netted the score a moment later.

Ray Hapes brought the spectators to their feet in the second period when a 70-yard touchdown jaunt on a punt return, but the score was called off, and Ole Miss was penalized for being offside.

A 28-yard run by Rodgers early in the second period placed the ball on the Florida one-yard line, where Bernard went over for the touchdown for Ole Miss' first score.

Rodgers scored the second and third touchdowns for Ole Miss, one in the second period when Ray Hapes intercepted a Florida pass in midfield and raced it back 37 yards to the 10-yard line, where Rodgers skirted around end for the score. Rodgers again tallied in the third period on a fake reverse when he caught the Florida defense napping inside their 30-yard line.

ENGINEERS AGAIN UPSET POWERFUL DUKE ELEVEN, 6-0

Georgia Tech Outplays Blue Devils To Win Surprising Victory

By Glenn Ramsey
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

ATLANTA, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Georgia Tech, for the second time in three seasons, blocked Duke university's possible way to the Rose Bowl, defeating the Blue Devils today, 6 to 0, in one of the day's outstanding upsets.

Approximately 10,000 spectators were in the stands.

It was the identical score by which the Tornado swept Duke into the defeated column at the close of 1933.

Coach Wallace Wade of the North Carolina squad, commenting crisply, said:

"They completely outplayed us."

That's exactly what happened, the statistics showed.

The Yellow Jackets gained 186 yards from rushing to 95 for the powerful Blue Devils; Tech gained 49 yards from passes to 19 for Duke; the Jackets made 15 first downs to 7 for Duke.

Doped to take the Tornado for a decided trimming, the boys from Durham in the Old North State's tobacco belt found an improved Tech line and backs that seemed to get better as the game progressed.

For three periods the breaks were with Duke but they didn't take advantage. Poor judgment, fumbles and intercepted passes got them the ball at strategic intervals, but they failed to come through.

Duke, recovering a Tech fumble in the second period, got within 20 yards of the Tech goal but never afterward reached closer. The Blue Devils made only one first down in the last half.

It was a break, however, that gave Tech its big moment in the fourth and resulted in a touchdown.

"Ace" Parker, Duke's hard driving quarterback, fumbled on his 40-yard line. Another Blue Devil player in attempting to recover batted the ball further toward his own goal line and then Ed Jones, a Tornado end who had just come into the game, recovered the ball and it was first down for Tech on Duke's 30.

On the second play, a trick formation, Edwards forward passed to Sims—it was a short one over the line—and Konemann, taking Sims' lateral, tossed it to Jones and the ball was on Duke's 9-yard line.

Appleby, the plunging Tech fullback, ripped the line for four yards and on an ancient football play—the old end around end—Jones took it for the remaining five yards, crossing the goal line standing up.

Appleby's try for point was blocked and the performance of 1933 was repeated.

The lineup and summary:

OKLAHOMA TROUNCES IOWA STATE, 16-0

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Captain "Biff" Jones' University of Oklahoma football team made its bow in the Big Six conference today with a powerful ground game and defeated Iowa State, 16 to 0.

The aerial game was left in the dressing rooms, as Oklahoma gained 328 yards rushing to the visitors' 37. Oklahoma had only a 3-0 lead at the half, but punched and drove to a touchdown in each of the last two periods.

PRESIDENT'S CUP TOURNEY STARTS

Qualifying Round In Handicap Affair Opens At Lakeside Today

The annual President's cup golf tournament at Lakeside Country club will start today when the qualifying round opens, Shep Girault, Lakeside pro, announced yesterday.

Entrants have until next Sunday night to post their qualifying scores, Mr. Girault said, with the low 32 qualifiers becoming eligible to compete for the cup. The tournament will be played on a handicap basis.

The tourney will be played in flights, with the low eight being placed in the first flight, the next eight going in the second, etc. Trophies will be awarded the winner of each flight, with the grand prize going to the tournament winner.

One week will be allowed for qualifying, and matches in each round will be completed in one week or defaulted.

Dr. R. T. Harberson is defending champion, having defeated Morton Braswell in the final match last year. Dr. Harberson will not defend his title as he is not playing at Lakeside club this year, Mr. Girault said.

The President's cup will again be donated this year by H. K. Touchstone, who recently was re-elected president of the club.

ARMY TURNS BACK HARVARD, 13 TO 0

Charles Meyer Leads Cadets In Victory Over Weak Crimsons

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Army called desperately for reinforcements today and up came a long-legged gangling kid steeped in military tradition, Charles (Monk) Meyer, from the Fort Sheridan, Ill., army post, to lead the way to two touchdowns and a 13-to-0 victory over a game but woefully inept Harvard team.

The only thing missing in the spectacle was the traditional Army mule. It was solemnly announced that because of motorization of the army forces here, only two mules are left on the reservation and both are desperately ill.

Where Oklahoma's Jim Craig, heralded as West Point's new triple-threat star, failed before the crowd of 27,000 in Michie stadium, Meyer rollicked all over the place.

Meyer, son of a Fort Sheridan colonel who once captain the baseball team here, was the whole show in the second and third period touchdown drives that gave Army the first victory it ever has scored at home over Harvard.

Craig was good—reeling off 32 yards in one first-quarter burst from a fake kick formation, 24 another time, then 10, but for the first 15 minutes Army was helpless once the charge reached Harvard's 30-yard line.

Meyer replaced Craig at the start of the second half. His 159 pounds hurdling through holes, his arm pitching perfect strikes, Monk set out for the Harvard goal 65 yards away and never stopped until Bill Grohs, his quarterback, plugged the last yard through center for Army's first touchdown.

Meyer launched the second and last Army scoring drive from his own 30 with a 25-yard dash off tackle, and with the aid of only one eight-yard pass and two plunges by Grohs, brought the ball to Harvard's nine. He stepped back there and pitched a perfect touchdown pass into the arms of Grove, ending his major work for the day.

If the dashboard light dims extremely or goes out, when an attempt is made to start the car, battery trouble is indicated.

Wuxtry!! O'Mahoney Wants Crack At Braddock's Crown

By John J. Romano

Danno O'Mahoney is the latest to signify his intention of entering the list of challengers for the world's heavyweight boxing title. The big Irishman finds his knowledge of the manly art a great help in subduing his opponents on the mat. A clip on the jaw readies them for the application of his "Irish Whip." After a few tune-up matches O'Mahoney would be receptive to a purse of a quarter of a million dollars. Danno has made a good sized pile as a wrestler but he is still short of that sum. Taking it in one gob would be much more pleasant than traipsing all over the country picking it up in scattered bits.

O'Mahoney was an amateur boxer as a member of the Irish Free State guards. What little he learned about wrestling came when he was induced to come to this country and lend his name to the imposing list of foreigners making merry, tugging and groaning all over the mat. What new kinks he brought to the game has not hurt it any, because his name brought fans who otherwise did not attend wrestling exhibitions.

Chances For Success Slim

There is no denying that the appearance of O'Mahoney as a fighter would strike a popular chord with many fans. The big Irishman is better built for fighting than he is for wrestling. No one denies his gameness and when it comes to hitting, those who tried cuffing him around learned that Danno carries a hefty wallop in his right fist.

Is there any chance of O'Mahoney winning the heavyweight boxing crown?

The chances are decidedly against him. No matter how much experience he has as an amateur boxer, it would take him at least two years before he could be fully developed into a fighter ready to take a crack at a first rater. Fighters like Joe Louis, who mature rapidly and pick up the fine points of the game quickly, come up only once in a generation.

O'Mahoney would not be the first grappler to try his hand in the boxing game. Thirty or more years ago Frank Gotch, then the wrestling champion, was induced to put on the gloves with an old-time boxer. The fight, if it can be called that, lasted but a fraction of a minute—just long enough for the fighter to crack down with his right, and Gotch was more helpless than George Hackenschmidt in the grip of Frank's punishing toehold.

Then there was the case of the older Munn boy who made football history at Nebraska. Munn started off as a fighter when he left college and was quickly subdued in his first start with the mitts. Munn promptly took up wrestling and achieved some fame, and much money, when he threw Strangler Lewis out of a Chicago ring and claimed the title. But Munn's fame did not last long.

Berlenbach Succeeded

Paul Berlenbach was quite a wrestler as an amateur. Dan Hickey was the first to see possibilities in the heavy-set young man who was willing to try his hand at anything. Those who watched Berlenbach in training got one peek at him and went away saying that he was as graceful as a baby elephant. Hickey thought otherwise, and within two years had the fans singing the praises of the best hitter since the days of Bob Fitzsimmons.

Berlenbach is one who subscribed to the opinion that a mixed match between a wrestler and a fighter would end in a victory for the fighter. Paul did not always think so, but one demonstration in which he took part, convinced him otherwise. Unless a fighter gets in the first blow accurately, according to Berlenbach, he is easy prey in the grip of a wrestler.

Steeped In Wrestling

Wrestling, as it is conducted today, requires a wrestler to take considerable punishment from butting, elbowing and hitting with the closed fists. Some fans marvel that a wrestler can appear as much as three times a week without showing signs of physical exhaustion. It often brings up the question about present day wrestlers being more hardy than those in the days when the game was conducted strictly according to the rules. It is no secret that many matches are little more than hippodromes and what looks like punishment is nothing more or less than what takes place in the gymnasium every day. Therefore, that question is left open to argument.

Getting back to O'Mahoney. If it took Paul Berlenbach two years to reach the top in the light heavyweight division, it would assuredly take the Irishman that much time to make real headway in the heavyweight ranks. O'Mahoney is too steeped in the ways of wrestling now and it would require considerable time for him to forget the tricks he has learned. For this reason it can be safely predicted that James J. Braddock will be the only Irishman to hold the title for some time to come, and O'Mahoney would do better sticking to the game which has made his name world wide.

LONGHORNS PUSH OVER TOUCHDOWN IN FOURTH PERIOD

Centenary Battles Gamely But Loses In Bruising Struggle

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 19.—(AP)—A sustained 30 yard drive in the closing minutes of the fourth period, featuring crushing drives by Jay Arnold, big halfback, gave the University of Texas a 19 to 13 victory over Centenary college here today in a "grudge" game that was a battle royal from start to finish.

The victory atoned for a 9-6 defeat last year that spoiled a day set aside for the Texas team to honor its coach, Jack Chevigny.

Centenary's Gentlemen battled to the last ditch to stave off defeat after pulling up even with the Longhorns by sterling playing in the third period. But the Texas powerhouse was too much.

On his touchdown march Arnold repeatedly rammed the Centenary line for heavy gains and first downs. Thrown out of bounds on the Gents' three yard line, in three bruising efforts he cracked center to the six inch line from where Pitzer, fullback, took it over by inches for the winning tally.

With Texas playing ragged ball in the opening period and fumbling frequently, Centenary had things its own way.

A fumble by Gilbreath a few minutes after the game opened was recovered by Crowther for Centenary on the Texas 14 and opened the way for a Centenary touchdown. Texas was penalized five yards for offside and Crowther took it through the line in two tries. Stokes place kicked the extra point. Centenary threatened repeatedly until near the end of the second period, when Texas marched down the field for a touchdown from its 37 yard line. Sands passed to Launey for 33 and passed to Arnold for 22 more. Atchison tossed one into the far corner to Johnny Morrow, a substitute quarterback, for the score. Small placekicked to tie the count.

Texas took the lead in the third quarter when it bucked and passed to a touchdown from the kickoff.

TALLULAH DEFEATS LAKE PROVIDENCE

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Oct. 19.—(Special)—In one of the most exciting games ever played on the local gridiron, the Tallulah Trojans defeated the hard-fighting Lake Providence Panthers, 25 to 13, here yesterday.

The Panthers got the jump on the Trojans in the first quarter when they surprised the invaders with an aerial attack that netted two touchdowns and an extra point.

In the second quarter Tallulah tried the overhead route and netted two touchdowns also but failed to convert the extra points, the half ending 13 to 12 for the locals. But the Trojans got their running plays to clicking in the last half and wasted no time raking in two more touchdowns and an extra point.

The Panther passing attack of Brice to Lightsey and Bonner was the chief ground gainer for the locals. They completed 15 passes and first downs were about even.

Lake Providence has a clean slate in Class B circles. Next week they meet Forrest.

Whatley, Erwin, Trim, Davis, Shockley, Howard, Lightsey played in the local line with Bonner, Brice, Goode, Braswell and Murray in the backfield. The Cagnolatti brothers, Morton, Coad and Wade were outstanding for Tallulah.

IMPORTANT GAME WITH HAYNESVILLE NEXT FOR NEVILLE

Tigers Face Biggest Obstacle In Battle For Class A Title

The biggest obstacle remaining in the path of the Neville High school Tigers in their march toward the Class A. championship goal is the Golden Tornado of Haynesville whom they will strive to dispose of here Thursday night in a game scheduled to be played at Northeast Center of L. S. U.

The Tornado is just as powerful this year as it was last season when it nosed out the Bengals, 7 to 0, at Haynesville. Neither has the Tornado been defeated during their present campaign and they don't intend to be a stepping stone for Neville, if they can help it.

On the other hand the Tigers have been awaiting this chance for one whole year, and if ever they wanted vengeance on an old foe, it is this time. They haven't forgotten that the touchdown that robbed them of a chance at the title was disputed and they still stoutly contend that the best that game should have been was a scoreless tie.

From all appearances the two elevens will again be about evenly matched and it will be a hard earned victory for one or the other. The apparent evenness in strength is shown in their showing against the powerful Crimson Tide of Minden. Haynesville stopped the Tide, 12 to 0, and Neville did the trick, 13 to 0.

In other contests this season, Haynesville beat Bastrop, 37 to 0, and defeated Fair Park of Shreveport, 20 to 0. Neville lost their opener to Camden, Ark., 10 to 0, but has been made a clean sweep of its state schedule, beating Oak Grove, 38 to 0, besting Ruston, 12 to 7, and stopping Winnfield, 26 to 0.

The result of that Winnfield battle has also been consoling to the Bengals as they look back to see that the state championship Byrd high school eleven beat Winnfield this year only 28 to 0.

Coach Percy Brown's backfield will be faster this time with his touchdown twins, Pete Haddad and Richard Basco, teaming up on long end runs, off tackle thrusts and in their passing attack. Basaco is just about the fastest man in the Tiger backfield and Haddad isn't much in the shade. Neville's chances to score will rest heavily on these two boys.

Harris Bell and Andrew Pappas will be the main dependencies of these running backs on their long end sweeps as they come in fast to clear the way. Pappas' next biggest job will be pounding at the Tornado wall for extra yardage. Jim Davis and Milo Mattonson should share the backfield burden.

This game, in fact, will be Neville's hardest on schedule and will tax even Tiger to the utmost.

Victory may hinge also on the alertness of the Neville ends. Joe Gimler has been adept at snagging Tiger passes. Urbane Kelly also has been playing stellar ball. Coach Brown believes one or the other of these boys may be a deciding factor in winning the game. Should Neville fail on its end runs and line plays, a passing attack will undoubtedly open, and Gimler or Kelly will be right in the midst of it.

Three good tackles, Ed Tonore, John Cole and Edward Endom, bolster Neville's forward wall considerably. Darius Crews and Nick Danna, at guards, and P. A. Poag, Jr., at center, make up the remainder of the line and will probably feel the most wear of the battle.

If Neville can beat Haynesville they will have little else to worry about in their march for the title, long sought by Monroe elevens. After the Tornado, the locals meet Vicksburg, Miss., Natchez, Miss., and Lafayette and wind up their regular schedule against Bastrop's Rams.

VANDERBILT BEATEN BY FORDHAM, 13-7

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The hapless Rams of Fordham, kicked all about the football lot by Purdue last week, took it out on Vanderbilt today by trimming the land-sailing Commodores from the south, 13 to 7, in a hard-fought intersectional battle at the Polo Grounds. Twenty thousand fans turned out.

Striking while they were still boiling from the Purdue rout, the Rams put on a red hot first quarter to score twice and threaten for a time to turn the proceedings into a massacre. From there on they were held scoreless. The visitors counted their one touchdown in the fourth, and seemed headed for a second until an unlucky fumble halted what had all the earmarks of a victory march.

INDIANS HAVE 2 WEEKS TO PREP FOR S'EASTERN

Squad Expected To Be At Full Strength For Game At Hammond

After a hard struggle Thursday night, the Indians of Northeast Center managed to come out ahead and now they're concentrating on their coming battle with Southeastern.

Although several injuries were reported, they were minor ones and the squad as a whole is in much better condition than they have been since the first of the season. The Indians' next game is two weeks off and they will have a chance to rest and recuperate and should enter their next game at full strength.

Several Braves are still out with injuries but all are rounding back into shape rapidly. Among these are Ben Arnold, Arlas Guin, Frank Mosely, Henry Spillar, Frankie Bono, and "Squatty" Young.

Ben Arnold is a fast backfield man who hails from Brinkley, Ark. Arnold was injured in practice before the season started and has been unable to show his wares. He came here with a good reputation as a blocker and also excels in punting and passing. He is expected to be able to report back out this week.

Guin is still troubled with a leg injury suffered in the first game of the season when he scored three touchdowns in seven minutes. However, he will be able to play by next week. Frank Mosely has a chipped bone in his arm. Mosely's arm was injured in the Henderson game and he played Thursday night against the advice of the club physician.

Henry Spillar, first string center, has been troubled with an old high school injury and was unable to participate in the game Thursday night. Frankie Bono, the star signal caller for the Braves, was bruised up somewhat in the tilt with the Teachers and will be forced to miss practice several days in order to prevent complications.

Coach Malone had a game scheduled for this Friday night with the Barksdale Field Flyers but cancelled it because he didn't want to risk hurting any more of the Braves.

The Indians' next game will be against Southeastern college and will be played in Hammond, La. This will be the first game for the Indians away from home. Coach "Red" Swanson is said to have the best team in Southeastern's history.

GAME POSTPONED

The game with Lon-Morris college, originally scheduled to be played Friday night, will be played here the last week in November. The exact date has not been set but it will probably be either the 27th or 28th.

Coach Malone felt that his men couldn't play their best brand of football while still handicapped by injuries, so he had the game moved back until his boys were in better shape to tackle the powerful Lon-Morris team.

CLARKS RALLIES TO TIE GILBERT TEAM

CLARKS, La., Oct. 19.—(Special)—The Clarks Lumberjacks scored two touchdowns in the fourth quarter to tie the Gilbert team here Friday afternoon. The score was 13 to 13.

The visitors recovered a fumble on the opening kickoff which led to the first score, which resulted from a pass by Priest to Oglesby. The point after touchdown resulted from a pass also to Oglesby. The second score came in the third quarter when Priest went over for a touchdown.

In the fourth quarter after numerous scoring opportunities, the Lumberjacks in possession of the ball on the three-yard line, scored when McBroom recovered a fumble made by his team-mate Corbin, and went over for a touchdown. The try for extra point was blocked. A few minutes later Sellers, halfback, intercepted a pass on his own 45-yard line and raced 55 yards for a touchdown. Corbin hit the line for the extra point.

BIG TEN CHAMPS SCORE EARLY TO WHIP GREEN WAVE

Minnesota Uses Second And Third String To Keep Down Score

By D. R. MacKenzie
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 19.—Tulane's Green Wave was only a ripple on the football seas today as Minnesota's powerful Dreadnaught sank the boys from Dixie under a score of 20 to 0.

Thirty-five thousand spectators witnessed the intersectional gridiron battle, in which only the generous use of second and third string reserves by Bernie Bierman prevented the score being greater.

The victory proved a costly one for the Gophers, however, as Minnesota's captain and quarterback, Glenn Seidel, received a broken collar bone late in the game. He will be lost for the rest of the season.

Minnesota struck the invaders with surprising suddenness, sailing up and down for three touchdowns in the first half, and toyed with Ted Cox's eleven for the remainder of the game.

Then, to show their class, the Gophers made a brilliant stand on the one-foot line in the last five minutes, repelling three thrusts at the line and knocking down a forward pass over the goal. When Tulane lost the ball after that, their one and only scoring threat, the oval rested on Minnesota's five-yard stripe.

After Tulane punted on the first play of the tussle, Babe Levoir scampered around his left end for 28 yards for the Green Wave's 20-yard line and in four smashes through the line, Roscoe made it first down on the one. Beise went over on the next play and Levoir converted.

Later Wilkinson, Minnesota's big guard, blocked Captain Barney Mintz's punt, scooped up the ball and ran 45 yards for a touchdown without a hand being laid on him. Levoir again converted.

With Roscoe, Beise and Levoir cracking Tulane tackles for repeated gains, Tulane sent in seven fresh men in the second period, but the Gopher power was functioning at top speed. Roscoe carried the oval from the 12 to the five-yard line to set the stage for the most brilliant play of the game.

Three times the boys from Dixie held, but on the fourth, Thompson, a substitute half, took the ball on a smash through tackle. Almost to the goal line, his interference blocked his way and four Tulane players hemmed him in.

Then, with a mighty leap that knocked both his own blockers and would-be tacklers to the ground, Thompson flew through the air to land over the goal. Levoir failed to kick the point.

Tulane's one scoring threat in the last period resulted from a Gopher fumble after a bad pass from center. The Gophers made their brilliant goal stand with the lineup spotted with reserves.

Minnesota gained 192 yards from scrimmage to 159 for Tulane. The Gophers made 12 first downs and Tulane six.

COLUMBIA DEFEATS WINNSBORO, 6 TO 0

COLUMBIA, La., Oct. 19.—(Special)—The Columbia Crimson Tide defeated the Winnsboro Wildcats, 6 to 0, on the local gridiron yesterday in what proved a thriller from start to finish.

The two teams battled on almost even terms throughout the first three quarters and it was not until the last period that the Crimsons were able to shove over a touchdown that decided the game. Fumbles by the Tide when they were in scoring positions in the first and third periods marred the stellar Columbia offense.

The drive that brought the touchdown began from Winnsboro's 45. Corley and J. May alternated in carrying the ball to the Wildcats' ten-yard stripe where Corley took the oval on a wide right end run for the score.

The lineups: Winnsboro—Bradley and Lord, ends; Funderburk and Chesney, tackles; R. C. Smith and Hamucher, guards; Lang, center; J. E. Smith, quarterback; Bankston and Svetlecis, halfbacks, and Holstein, fullback. Columbia—J. R. Hawkins and Gunn, ends; Tichell and E. Duke, tackles; Martin and Kelly, guards; J. M. Hawkins, center; Lee, quarterback; May and Cruse, halfbacks, and Corley, fullback.

At the end of the first half of 1935, 22 companies operating on domestic routes, and four offering service to foreign nations, were operating 464 planes.

MUSTANGS SCORE IN FOURTH PERIOD TO DEFEAT RICE

Touchdown And Field Goal Upset Favored Owls Before 26,000

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 19.—(AP)—A dazzling Southern Methodist team shot the vaunted Rice Institute Owl off its high perch in the national football picture here today, 10-0, before 26,000 spectators.

Through the first three periods the Mustangs threatened.

In the fourth they broke loose. Bobby Wilson wiggled around the ends to put the ball on Rice's 16 yard line and then Orr, backed up to the 23 stripe, booted his perfect field goal to put them on top.

Bob Finley and Wilson, five minutes later, had carried deep into Owl territory and Wilson finally got around left end seven yards for a touchdown. Orr's toe was good for the extra point.

The largest throng in Southern Methodist's home game history jamming every inch of Ownby oval, shrieked wildly as Coach Matty Bell's powerhouse stamped itself as one of the nation's leading teams.

Harry Shuford, the 190-pound fullback genius, tired from relentless battering at the Owl line and great line backing, got a tremendous, standing ovation from the crowd when he trotted off the field two minutes before the final gun.

He had battered the guards and tackles all afternoon in successful short bucks through the line, accounting for most of the Mustang short first downs. In the second period he belted the line for 33 yards on three tries straight over center, scattering Rice linemen with low running thrusts.

But one man he had trouble in eluding was big Primo Miller, Rice's junior tackle. The 216-pound giant sparkled defensively the 60 minutes he played.

Harry Witt, Rice halfback, kicked beautifully to keep his team out of more trouble, and Ray Smith and Buck Friedman plunged the line lustily, especially in the first five minutes when it looked as if Rice would come off a winner.

The lineups:

WILDCATS SHADE AUSTIN, 6 TO 0

ALEXANDRIA, La., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Avenging a loss of last season, the Louisiana college Wildcats scored a touchdown in the second period to defeat the Stephen F. Austin Lumber Jackets, in Pineville tonight, 6 to 0.

R. O. Rush, Wildcats' quarterback, went through right tackle five yards in the second quarter to score for the Pineville eleven. His try for point was wide.

Outgaining the Jacks in every quarter, the Cats lacked punch to add to their six-point margin. Bun Dolan, Jacksonville, Texas, center for the Cats, intercepted his second Austin pass late in the fourth period and returned the ball to Austin's 29. Guy small, Palestine, Texas, halfback, then broke loose through Austin's right tackle for a 14-yard run to Austin's 15-yard mark for a first down as the game ended.

MONARCHS TO PLAY SHREVEPORT GIANTS

The Monroe Monarchs, negro professional baseball club, will leave here today for a three-game series with the Shreveport Giants. The first two games will be played this afternoon and they will follow the twin bill with another battle tomorrow afternoon.

The Monarchs got a little the worst of their series of games here earlier in the week when they bowed before the Milwaukee, Wis., Giants and the Pittsburgh, Pa., Crawfords but they hope to get back into the win column today.

JUMPS INTO THE LEAD

Chalking up one touchdown against Kentucky, and four against Drake, Jumping Joe Williams, above, Ohio State sophomore halfback from Barberton, Ohio, jumped into the lead of the Big Ten scoring column and gained the reputation of being a second Chick Harley. The youngster carried the ball eight times against Drake, and picked up 87 yards. Against Kentucky, he toted the leather 16 times, and averaged 11 yards a trip.

AUBURN CRUSHES STRONG KENTUCKY ELEVEN, 25 TO 0

Plainsmen's Line Smashes Wildcats' Attack As Backs Run Wild

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 19.—(AP)—An inspired Auburn line rose to great heights today to smash Kentucky's vaunted offense, sent fleet backs scampering down the field to win 23 to 0 and crush the hopes of the Wildcats in their bid for a Southeastern conference title.

Auburn scored in every quarter, alternating touchdowns with a field goal in the second quarter from the educated toe of Haygood Paterson, giant tackle.

Johnson and Davis, Kentucky's touchdown twins, were stopped cold by the fighting defense displayed by Auburn's entire forward wall although Johnson directed a strong passing attack until he was forced out of the game in the third quarter after he was tackled viciously by Rodgers, Auburn tackle.

Auburn scored first as Billy Hitchcock, bringing back memories of his all-American brother—Jimmy of '32—sidestepped his way for eighteen yards through the Kentucky team for a touchdown.

Paced by "Bunky" O'Rourke, hard driving fullback, who led Auburn in her great game today, the Plainsmen in the second quarter drove down to the Kentucky six yard line. Paterson dropped back and booted the ball between the uprights for his second field goal of the season.

Kentucky made its strongest bid for a score as the third quarter opened, aided by a freak pass from Johnson that struck the hands of Davis, his halfback running mate, was touched by an Auburn player, and finally caught by Long, Kentucky end, for a gain of 35 yards on Auburn's 35 yard line.

Another pass, Johnson to Davis, placed the ball on the Plainsmen's 22 but the next toss, a long one, was intercepted by O'Rourke who ran it out to his 19 to stop the threat.

After an exchange of punts, O'Rourke, ever a thorn in Kentucky's side, broke away and ran 56 yards to a touchdown, carrying Kentucky's safety man over the goal line with him in a last desperate dive for a score. Paterson, who had kicked the first goal, missed this one.

Not content with their comfortable lead, the Plainsmen scored again on the opening play of the fourth quarter as Mitchell, sub for Hitchcock, raced around right end, reversed his field and sprinted 50 yards for a touchdown. Strange, sub for Williams, added the extra point and the game ended as Kentucky attempted to revive its passing attack in an effort to score.

Auburn led 12 to 9 in first downs, but held a wide lead in yards gained from scrimmage, running up 315 to Kentucky's 92.

Lineup and summary follows:

SARAZEN BEATEN BY KRUEGER IN P. G. A. TOURNEY

Beloit Star Eliminates Favorite, 2 And 1; Runyan Advances

By Whitney Martin
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

TWIN HILLS GOLF COURSE, OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 19—The sturdy, knickered figure of Gene Sarazen, the Connecticut farmer, faded out of the P. G. A. national tournament picture today before the steady play of Alvin (Butch) Krueger of Beloit, Wis. Krueger eliminated the tournament favorite 2 and 1 in a thrilling 18 hole, second round match.

And as Sarazen joined Walter Hagen in the discard, Paul Runyan, defending champion, sailed serenely onward with a 3 and 2 victory over burley Mortie Dutra of Royal Oak, Mich.

Runyan progressed in select company which included Tony Manero of Greensboro, N. C., who will be Runyan's opponent in a 36-hole third round match tomorrow; Johnny Revolta, the raven-haired Milwaukeean who yesterday eliminated the medalist, Hagen; Al Watrous of Birmingham, Mich.; Jimmy Thompson, the long-distance man from Ridgewood, N. J., and the dapper Denny Shute of Chicago, former British open champion.

The stunning defeat of Sarazen overshadowed other events of a balmy autumn day at Twin Hills. The sturdy, confident Sarazen set a sizzling pace from the start, only to have Krueger match him virtually stroke for stroke, and when the break came it was Sarazen who crumbled.

Square through the 13th hole, Sarazen stroked fives on the next two holes to go two down. They halved the sixteenth, and, with opportunity knocking loudly on the 17th, Krueger answered. Sarazen's approach putt stopped two inches from the cup and laid Krueger's ball, six inches back, a perfect stymie.

The gangling, grinning Beloit player calmly took his niblick and lifted his ball over Sarazen's into the cup for a half, and the match.

Runyan took par as his model in defeating Dutra. The trim little champion, brown felt hat cocked jauntily on the side of his head, was out in 35. Although he was two over par coming in, it was too much for Dutra whose card included three fives.

Revolta was given a great battle by Jimmy Hines before a short approach on the 18th cost Hines the match.

Sam Parks also ran up against a buzz-saw. Francis Scheider of Oklahoma City carried the open champion to the 18th green before bowing, 1 up. Both players were wild on the last nine, with Scheider one stroke wilder.

Thompson blasted J. B. Collins of Mansfield, O., out of the picture in short odrer. Six up at the turn by virtue of a par 35 to Collins' 41, Thompson went on to win, six and 4.

Denny Shute uncorked a blazing 32 on the first nine in turning in a 4 and 3 victory over Henry Bontempo of Springfield, Mass. Bontempo himself played a steady game, with a 36 going out and three threes coming in.

Bitter battles loom in the first 36-hole matches tomorrow.

In addition to the Runyan-Manero match; pairings include Horton Smith and Denny Shute, Jimmy Thompson and Ed Dudley, Ky Laffoon and Tommy Armour, and Al Watrous and Sam Parks. The amazing Alvin Krueger meets Eddie Schultz of Troy, N. Y., who eliminated George Slingerland of Greensboro, N. C., today, 2 and 1.

LIONS AND RAMS IN ANNUAL GAME SATURDAY NIGHT

Ouachita To Be In Good Shape For Bastrop After Week Of Rest

With a week of rest behind them, the Lions of Ouachita parish high school will continue preparations this week for their annual clash with the Bastrop high school Rams here Saturday night at Brown field. It will be Ouachita's second class A game of the season.

Coach "Lefty" Haynes pushed his Lions through several hard workouts last week but went light on the players with minor injuries so that they might be in tip-top shape for their remaining heavy schedule.

The Lions are rated to win in view of the showings made thus far this season, but the Rams are not forgetting that 19 to 13 trimming handed them last year by the locals and will be especially interested in Lion hunting the remainder of this week.

Of the four games played by each of the two teams thus far, only one other eleven has been met by both. Crossett, Ark., has faced both Ouachita and Bastrop with the Lions winning, 24 to 0, and the Rams winning, 13 to 0.

Other results have been: Ouachita beat Delhi, 26 to 0; defeated Tallulah, 6 to 0, and walloped Columbia, 36 to 6. Bastrop defeated Farmerville, 21 to 13, lost to Mangham, 20 to 2, and bowed before Haynesville, 37 to 0.

Coach Haynes views these scores optimistically but is going ahead as if every thing depended on winning this game. In fact the Bastrop boys are capable of pulling an upset almost any time and Coach Haynes doesn't want his Lions to be caught napping.

The Bastrop battle will mark the beginning of the real heavy work for Ouachita, for immediately after that skirmish they will find the powerful Golden Tornado of Haynesville waiting in for them and close on the heels of the Tornado will follow the Yellow Jackets of Byrd High school of Shreveport.

Both the Haynesville and Shreveport games will be played away from home, making the Bastrop contest the last home game until November 15, when the Lions meet Rayville here. Ouachita will wind up its season against Bolton's Bears here Thanksgiving unless they are fortunate enough to get into the championship play-off.

The Ouachita backfield of Harvey Gregg, quarterback, Sol Mayer and Eddie Bowles, halfbacks, and Bob Staples, fullback has improved greatly since the opening of the season and Mayer has especially exceeded expectations as a ball carrier.

The local line is the pride of the team and has been hard to penetrate all season. This is chiefly because there are only veterans in the lot, with the exception of one who has had enough experience by now to know what it's all about. Coach Haynes has three stellar ends in Jack Warren, John Renwick and Earl Cobb. His tackles, Billy Trimble and F. C. Eason are strong, and Wheeler Mitchell and Moise Peters, his guards, are dependable. At center he has Rudy Vandenberg, with Joe Butler, another lineman, capable of playing a good game at center or at guard.

MANHATTAN BATTLES HOLY CROSS TO TIE

TEXAS COMES FROM BEHIND TO BEAT GENTS, 19-13

LONGHORNS PUSH OVER TOUCHDOWN IN FOURTH PERIOD

Centenary Battles Gamely But Loses In Bruising Struggle

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 19.—(AP)—A sustained 30 yard drive in the closing minutes of the fourth period, featuring crushing drives by Jay Arnold, big halfback, gave the University of Texas a 19 to 13 victory over Centenary college here today in a "grudge" game that was a battle royal from start to finish.

The victory atoned for a 9-6 defeat last year that spoiled a day set aside for the Texas team to honor its coach, Jack Chevigny.

Centenary's Gentlemen battled to the last ditch to stave off defeat after pulling up even with the Longhorns by sterling playing in the third period. But the Texas powerhouse was too much.

On his touchdown march Arnold repeatedly rammed the Centenary line for heavy gains and first downs. Thrown out of bounds on the Gents' three yard line, in three bruising efforts he cracked center to the six inch line from where Pitzer, fullback, took it over by inches for the winning tally.

With Texas playing ragged ball in the opening period and fumbling frequently, Centenary had things its own way.

A fumble by Gilbreath a few minutes after the game opened was recovered by Crowther for Centenary on the Texas 14 and opened the way for a Centenary touchdown. Texas was penalized five yards for offside and Crowther took it through the line in two tries. Stokes place kicked the extra point. Centenary threatened repeatedly until near the end of the second period, when Texas marched down the field for a touchdown from its 37 yard line. Sands passed to Launey for 33 and passed to Arnold for 22 more. Atchison tossed one into the far corner to Johnny Morrow, a substitute quarterback, for the score. Small placekicked to tie the count.

Texas took the lead in the third quarter when it bucked and passed to a touchdown from the kickoff.

TALLULAH DEFEATS LAKE PROVIDENCE

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Oct. 19.—(Special)—In one of the most exciting games ever played on the local gridiron, the Tallulah Trojans defeated the hard-fighting Lake Providence Panthers, 25 to 13, here yesterday.

The Panthers got the jump on the Trojans in the first quarter when they surprised the invaders with an aerial attack that netted two touchdowns and an extra point.

In the second quarter Tallulah tried the overhead route and netted two touchdowns also but failed to convert the extra points, the half ending 13 to 12 for the locals. But the Trojans got their running plays to clicking in the last half and wasted no time raking in two more touchdowns and an extra point.

The Panther passing attack of Brice to Lightsey and Bonner was the chief ground gainer for the locals. They completed 15 passes and first downs were about even.

Lake Providence has a clean slate in Class B circles. Next week they meet Forrest.

Whatley, Erwin, Trim, Davis, Shochley, Howard, Lightsey played in the local line with Bonner, Brice, Goode, Braswell and Murray in the backfield. The Cagnolatti brothers, Morton, Coad and Wade were outstanding for Tallulah.

IMPORTANT GAME WITH HAYNESVILLE NEXT FOR NEVILLE

Tigers Face Biggest Obstacle In Battle For Class A Title

The biggest obstacle remaining in the path of the Neville High school Tigers in their march toward the Class A. championship goal is the Golden Tornado of Haynesville whom they will strive to dispose of here Thursday night in a game scheduled to be played at Northeast Center of L. S. U.

The Tornado is just as powerful this year as it was last season when it nosed out the Bengals, 7 to 0, at Haynesville. Neither has the Tornado been defeated during their present campaign and they don't intend to be a stepping stone for Neville, if they can help it.

On the other hand the Tigers have been awaiting this chance for one whole year, and if ever they wanted vengeance on an old foe, it is this time. They haven't forgotten that the touchdown that robbed them of a chance at the title was disputed and they still stoutly contend that the best that game should have been was a scoreless tie.

From all appearances the two elevens will again be about evenly matched and it will be a hard earned victory for one or the other. The apparent evenness in strength is shown in their showing against the powerful Crimson Tide of Minden. Haynesville stopped the Tide, 12 to 0, and Neville did the trick, 13 to 0.

In other contests this season, Haynesville beat Bastrop, 37 to 0, and defeated Fair Park of Shreveport, 20 to 0. Neville lost their opener to Camden, Ark., 10 to 0, but has been made a clean sweep of its state schedule, beating Oak Grove, 38 to 0, besting Ruston, 12 to 7, and stopping Winnfield, 26 to 0.

The result of that Winnfield battle has also been consoling to the Bengals as they look back to see that the state championship Byrd high school eleven beat Winnfield this year only 28 to 0.

Coach Percy Brown's backfield will be faster this time with his touchdown twins, Pete Haddad and Richard Basco, teaming up on long end runs, off tackle thrusts and in their passing attack. Basaco is just about the fastest man in the Tiger backfield and Haddad isn't much in the shade. Neville's chances to score will rest heavily on these two boys.

Harris Bell and Andrew Pappas will be the main dependencies of these running backs on their long end sweeps as they come in fast to clear the way. Pappas' next biggest job will be pounding at the Tornado wall for extra yardage. Jim Davis and Milo Mattonson should share the backfield burden.

This game, in fact, will be Neville's hardest on schedule and will tax even Tiger to the utmost.

Victory may hinge also on the alertness of the Neville ends. Joe Gimler has been adept at snagging Tiger passes. Urbane Kelly also has been playing stellar ball. Coach Brown believes one or the other of these boys may be a deciding factor in winning the game. Should Neville fail on its end runs and line plays, a passing attack will undoubtedly open, and Gimler or Kelly will be right in the midst of it.

Three good tackles, Ed Tonore, John Cole and Edward Endom, bolster Neville's forward wall considerably. Darius Crews and Nick Danna, at guards, and P. A. Poag, Jr., at center, make up the remainder of the line and will probably feel the most wear of the battle.

If Neville can beat Haynesville they will have little else to worry about in their march for the title, long sought by Monroe elevens. After the Tornado, the locals meet Vicksburg, Miss., Natchez, Miss., and Lafayette and wind up their regular schedule against Bastrop's Rams.

VANDERBILT BEATEN BY FORDHAM, 13-7

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The hapless Rams of Fordham, kicked all about the football lot by Purdue last week, took it out on Vanderbilt today by trimming the land-sailing Commodores from the south, 13 to 7, in a hard-fought intersectional battle at the Polo Grounds. Twenty thousand fans turned out.

Striking while they were still boiling from the Purdue rout, the Rams put on a red hot first quarter to score twice and threaten for a time to turn the proceedings into a massacre. From there on they were held scoreless. The visitors counted their one touchdown in the fourth, and seemed headed for a second until an unlucky fumble halted what had all the earmarks of a victory march.

INDIANS HAVE 2 WEEKS TO PREP FOR S'EASTERN

Squad Expected To Be At Full Strength For Game At Hammond

After a hard struggle Thursday night, the Indians of Northeast Center managed to come out ahead and now they're concentrating on their coming battle with Southeastern.

Although several injuries were reported, they were minor ones and the squad as a whole is in much better condition than they have been since the first of the season. The Indians' next game is two weeks off and they will have a chance to rest and recuperate and should enter their next game at full strength.

Several Braves are still out with injuries but all are rounding back into shape rapidly. Among these are Ben Arnold, Arlas Guin, Frank Mosely, Henry Spillar, Frankie Bono, and "Squatty" Young.

Ben Arnold is a fast backfield man who hails from Brinkley, Ark. Arnold was injured in practice before the season started and has been unable to show his wares. He came here with a good reputation as a blocker and also excels in punting and passing. He is expected to be able to report back out this week.

Guin is still troubled with a leg injury suffered in the first game of the season when he scored three touchdowns in seven minutes. However, he will be able to play by next week. Frank Mosely has a chipped bone in his arm. Mosely's arm was injured in the Henderson game and he played Thursday night against the advice of the club physician.

Henry Spillar, first string center, has been troubled with an old high school injury and was unable to participate in the game Thursday night. Frankie Bono, the star signal caller for the Braves, was bruised up somewhat in the tilt with the Teachers and will be forced to miss practice several days in order to prevent complications.

Coach Malone had a game scheduled for this Friday night with the Barksdale Field Flyers but cancelled it because he didn't want to risk hurting any more of the Braves.

The Indians' next game will be against Southeastern college and will be played in Hammond, La. This will be the first game for the Indians away from home. Coach "Red" Swanson is said to have the best team in Southeastern's history.

GAME POSTPONED

The game with Lon-Morris college, originally scheduled to be played Friday night, will be played here the last week in November. The exact date has not been set but it will probably be either the 27th or 28th.

Coach Malone felt that his men couldn't play their best brand of football while still handicapped by injuries, so he had the game moved back until his boys were in better shape to tackle the powerful Lon-Morris team.

CLARKS RALLIES TO TIE GILBERT TEAM

CLARKS, La., Oct. 19.—(Special)—The Clarks Lumberjacks scored two touchdowns in the fourth quarter to tie the Gilbert team here Friday afternoon. The score was 13 to 13.

The visitors recovered a fumble on the opening kickoff which led to the first score, which resulted from a pass by Priest to Oglesby. The point after touchdown resulted from a pass also to Oglesby. The second score came in the third quarter when Priest went over for a touchdown.

In the fourth quarter after numerous scoring opportunities, the Lumberjacks in possession of the ball on the three-yard line, scored when McBroom recovered a fumble made by his team-mate Corbin, and went over for a touchdown. The try for extra point was blocked. A few minutes later Sellers, halfback, intercepted a pass on his own 45-yard line and raced 55 yards for a touchdown. Corbin hit the line for the extra point.

BIG TEN CHAMPS SCORE EARLY TO WHIP GREEN WAVE

Minnesota Uses Second And Third String To Keep Down Score

By D. R. MacKenzie
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 19.—Tulane's Green Wave was only a ripple on the football seas today as Minnesota's powerful Dreadnaught sank the boys from Dixie under a score of 20 to 0.

Thirty-five thousand spectators witnessed the intersectional gridiron battle, in which only the generous use of second and third string reserves by Bernie Bierman prevented the score being greater.

The victory proved a costly one for the Gophers, however, as Minnesota's captain and quarterback, Glenn Seidel, received a broken collar bone late in the game. He will be lost for the rest of the season.

Minnesota struck the invaders with surprising suddenness, sailing up and down for three touchdowns in the first half, and toyed with Ted Cox's eleven for the remainder of the game.

Then, to show their class, the Gophers made a brilliant stand on the one-foot line in the last five minutes, repelling three thrusts at the line and knocking down a forward pass over the goal. When Tulane lost the ball after that, their one and only scoring threat, the oval rested on Minnesota's five-yard stripe.

After Tulane punted on the first play of the tussle, Babe Levoir scampered around his left end for 28 yards for the Green Wave's 20-yard line and in four smashes through the line, Roscoe made it first down on the one. Beise went over on the next play and Levoir converted.

Later Wilkinson, Minnesota's big guard, blocked Captain Barney Mintz's punt, scooped up the ball and ran 45 yards for a touchdown without a hand being laid on him. Levoir again converted.

With Roscoe, Beise and Levoir cracking Tulane tackles for repeated gains, Tulane sent in seven fresh men in the second period, but the Gopher power was functioning at top speed. Roscoe carried the oval from the 12 to the five-yard line to set the stage for the most brilliant play of the game.

Three times the boys from Dixie held, but on the fourth, Thompson, a substitute half, took the ball on a smash through tackle. Almost to the goal line, his interference blocked his way and four Tulane players hemmed him in.

Then, with a mighty leap that knocked both his own blockers and would-be tacklers to the ground, Thompson flew through the air to land over the goal. Levoir failed to kick the point.

Tulane's one scoring threat in the last period resulted from a Gopher fumble after a bad pass from center. The Gophers made their brilliant goal stand with the lineup spotted with reserves.

Minnesota gained 192 yards from scrimmage to 159 for Tulane. The Gophers made 12 first downs and Tulane six.

The lineup:

COLUMBIA DEFEATS WINNSBORO, 6 TO 0

COLUMBIA, La., Oct. 19.—(Special)—The Columbia Crimson Tide defeated the Winnsboro Wildcats, 6 to 0, on the local gridiron yesterday in what proved a thriller from start to finish.

The two teams battled on almost even terms throughout the first three quarters and it was not until the last period that the Crimsons were able to shove over a touchdown that decided the game. Fumbles by the Tide when they were in scoring positions in the first and third periods marred the stellar Columbia offense.

The drive that brought the touchdown began from Winnsboro's 45. Corley and J. May alternated in carrying the ball to the Wildcats' ten-yard stripe where Corley took the oval on a wide right end run for the score.

The lineups: Winnsboro—Bradley and Lord, ends; Funderburk and Chesney, tackles; R. C. Smith and Hamucher, guards; Lang, center; J. E. Smith, quarterback; Bankston and Svetlecis, halfbacks, and Holstein, fullback. Columbia—J. R. Hawkins and Gunn, ends; Ticheli and E. Duke, tackles; Martin and Kelly, guards; J. M. Hawkins, center; Lee, quarterback; May and Cruse, halfbacks, and Corley, fullback.

At the end of the first half of 1935, 22 companies operating on domestic routes, and four offering service to foreign nations, were operating 464 planes.

MUSTANGS SCORE IN FOURTH PERIOD TO DEFEAT RICE

Touchdown And Field Goal Upset Favored Owls Before 26,000

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 19.—(AP)—A dazzling Southern Methodist team shot the vaunted Rice Institute Owl off its high perch in the national football picture here today, 10-0, before 26,000 spectators.

Through the first three periods the Mustangs threatened.

In the fourth they broke loose. Bobby Wilson wiggled around the ends to put the ball on Rice's 16 yard line and then Orr, backed up to the 23 stripe, booted his perfect field goal to put them on top.

Bob Finley and Wilson, five minutes later, had carried deep into Owl territory and Wilson finally got around left end seven yards for a touchdown. Orr's toe was good for the extra point.

The largest throng in Southern Methodist's home game history jamming every inch of Ownby oval, shrieked wildly as Coach Matty Bell's powerhouse stamped itself as one of the nation's leading teams.

Harry Shuford, the 190-pound fullbacking genius, tired from relentless battering at the Owl line and great line backing, got a tremendous, standing ovation from the crowd when he trotted off the field two minutes before the final gun.

He had battered the guards and tackles all afternoon in successful short bucks through the line, accounting for most of the Mustang short first downs. In the second period he belted the line for 33 yards on three tries straight over center, scattering Rice linemen with low running thrusts.

But one man he had trouble in eluding was big Primo Miller, Rice's junior tackle. The 216-pound giant sparkled defensively the 60 minutes he played.

Harry Witt, Rice halfback, kicked beautifully to keep his team out of more trouble, and Ray Smith and Buck Friedman plunged the line lustily, especially in the first five minutes when it looked as if Rice would come off a winner.

The lineups:

WILDCATS SHADE AUSTIN, 6 TO 0

ALEXANDRIA, La., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Avenging a loss of last season, the Louisiana college Wildcats scored a touchdown in the second period to defeat the Stephen F. Austin Lumber Jackets, in Pineville tonight, 6 to 0.

R. O. Rush, Wildcats' quarterback, went through right tackle five yards in the second quarter to score for the Pineville eleven. His try for point was wide.

Outgaining the Jacks in every quarter, the Cats lacked punch to add to their six-point margin. Bun Dolan, Jacksonville, Texas, center for the Cats, intercepted his second Austin pass late in the fourth period and returned the ball to Austin's 29. Guy small, Palestine, Texas, halfback, then broke loose through Austin's right tackle for a 14-yard run to Austin's 15-yard mark for a first down as the game ended.

MONARCHS TO PLAY SHREVEPORT GIANTS

The Monroe Monarchs, negro professional baseball club, will leave here today for a three-game series with the Shreveport Giants. The first two games will be played this afternoon and they will follow the twin bill with another battle tomorrow afternoon.

The Monarchs got a little the worst of their series of games here earlier in the week when they bowed before the Milwaukee, Wis., Giants and the Pittsburgh, Pa., Crawfords but they hope to get back into the win column today.

JUMPS INTO THE LEAD

Chalking up one touchdown against Kentucky, and four against Drake, Jumping Joe Williams, above, Ohio State sophomore halfback from Barberton, Ohio, jumped into the lead of the Big Ten scoring column and gained the reputation of being a second Chick Harley. The youngster carried the ball eight times against Drake, and picked up 87 yards. Against Kentucky, he toted the leather 16 times, and averaged 11 yards a trip.

AUBURN CRUSHES STRONG KENTUCKY ELEVEN, 25 TO 0

Plainsmen's Line Smashes Wildcats' Attack As Backs Run Wild

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 19.—(AP)—An inspired Auburn line rose to great heights today to smash Kentucky's vaunted offense, sent fleet backs scampering down the field to win 23 to 0 and crush the hopes of the Wildcats in their bid for a Southeastern conference title.

Auburn scored in every quarter, alternating touchdowns with a field goal in the second quarter from the educated toe of Haygood Paterson, giant tackle.

Johnson and Davis, Kentucky's touchdown twins, were stopped cold by the fighting defense displayed by Auburn's entire forward wall although Johnson directed a strong passing attack until he was forced out of the game in the third quarter after he was tackled viciously by Rodgers, Auburn tackle.

Auburn scored first as Billy Hitchcock, bringing back memories of his all-American brother—Jimmy of '32—sidestepped his way for eighteen yards through the Kentucky team for a touchdown.

Paced by "Bunky" O'Rourke, hard driving fullback, who led Auburn in her great game today, the Plainsmen in the second quarter drove down to the Kentucky six yard line. Paterson dropped back and booted the ball between the uprights for his second field goal of the season.

Kentucky made its strongest bid for a score as the third quarter opened, aided by a freak pass from Johnson that struck the hands of Davis, his halfback running mate, was touched by an Auburn player, and finally caught by Long, Kentucky end, for a gain of 35 yards on Auburn's 35 yard line.

Another pass, Johnson to Davis, placed the ball on the Plainsmen's 22 but the next toss, a long one, was intercepted by O'Rourke who ran it out to his 19 to stop the threat.

After an exchange of punts, O'Rourke, ever a thorn in Kentucky's side, broke away and ran 56 yards to a touchdown, carrying Kentucky's safety man over the goal line with him in a last desperate dive for a score. Paterson, who had kicked the first goal, missed this one.

Not content with their comfortable lead, the Plainsmen scored again on the opening play of the fourth quarter as Mitchell, sub for Hitchcock, raced around right end, reversed his field and sprinted 50 yards for a touchdown. Strange, sub for Williams, added the extra point and the game ended as Kentucky attempted to revive its passing attack in an effort to score.

Auburn led 12 to 9 in first downs, but held a wide lead in yards gained from scrimmage, running up 315 to Kentucky's 92.

Lineup and summary follows:

| Auburn | Pos. | Kentucky |

SARAZEN BEATEN BY KRUEGER IN P. G. A. TOURNEY

Beloit Star Eliminates Favorite, 2 And 1; Runyan Advances

By Whitney Martin
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

TWIN HILLS GOLF COURSE, OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 19—The sturdy, knickered figure of Gene Sarazen, the Connecticut farmer, faded out of the P. G. A. national tournament picture today before the steady play of Alvin (Butch) Krueger of Beloit, Wis. Krueger eliminated the tournament favorite 2 and 1 in a thrilling 18 hole, second round match.

And as Sarazen joined Walter Hagen in the discard, Paul Runyan, defending champion, sailed serenely onward with a 3 and 2 victory over burley Mortie Dutra of Royal Oak, Mich.

Runyan progressed in select company which included Tony Manero of Greensboro, N. C., who will be Runyan's opponent in a 36-hole third round match tomorrow; Johnny Revolta, the raven-haired Milwaukeean who yesterday eliminated the medalist, Hagen; Al Watrous of Birmingham, Mich.; Jimmy Thompson, the long-distance man from Ridgewood, N. J., and the dapper Denny Shute of Chicago, former British open champion.

The stunning defeat of Sarazen overshadowed other events of a balmy autumn day at Twin Hills. The sturdy, confident Sarazen set a sizzling pace from the start, only to have Krueger match him virtually stroke for stroke, and when the break came it was Sarazen who crumbled.

Square through the 13th hole, Sarazen stroked fives on the next two holes to go two down. They halved the sixteenth, and, with opportunity knocking loudly on the 17th, Krueger answered. Sarazen's approach putt stopped two inches from the cup and laid Krueger's ball, six inches back, a perfect stymie.

The gangling, grinning Beloit player calmly took his niblick and lifted his ball over Sarazen's into the cup for a half, and the match.

Runyan took par as his model in defeating Dutra. The trim little champion, brown felt hat cocked jauntily on the side of his head, was out in 35. Although he was two over par coming in, it was too much for Dutra whose card included three fives.

Revolta was given a great battle by Jimmy Hines before a short approach on the 18th cost Hines the match.

Sam Parks also ran up against a buzz-saw. Francis Scheider of Oklahoma City carried the open champion to the 18th green before bowing, 1 up. Both players were wild on the last nine, with Scheider one stroke wilder.

Thompson blasted J. B. Collins of Mansfield, O., out of the picture in short odrer. Six up at the turn by virtue of a par 35 to Collins' 41, Thompson went on to win, six and 4.

Denny Shute uncorked a blazing 32 on the first nine in turning in a 4 and 3 victory over Henry Bontempo of Springfield, Mass. Bontempo himself played a steady game, with a 36 going out and three threes coming in.

Bitter battles loom in the first 36-hole matches tomorrow.

In addition to the Runyan-Manero match, pairings include Horton Smith and Denny Shute, Jimmy Thompson and Ed Dudley, Ky Laffoon and Tommy Armour, and Al Watrous and Sam Parks. The amazing Alvin Krueger meets Eddie Schultz of Troy, N. Y., who eliminated George Slingerland of Greensboro, N. C., today, 2 and 1.

LIONS AND RAMS IN ANNUAL GAME SATURDAY NIGHT

Ouachita To Be In Good Shape For Bastrop After Week Of Rest

With a week of rest behind them, the Lions of Ouachita parish high school will continue preparations this week for their annual clash with the Bastrop high school Rams here Saturday night at Brown field. It will be Ouachita's second class A game of the season.

Coach "Lefty" Haynes pushed his Lions through several hard workouts last week but went light on the players with minor injuries so that they might be in tip-top shape for their remaining heavy schedule.

The Lions are rated to win in view of the showings made thus far this season, but the Rams are not forgetting that 19 to 13 trimming handed them last year by the locals and will be especially interested in Lion hunting the remainder of this week.

Of the four games played by each of the two teams thus far, only one other eleven has been met by both. Crossett, Ark., has faced both Ouachita and Bastrop with the Lions winning, 24 to 0, and the Rams winning, 13 to 0.

Other results have been: Ouachita beat Delhi, 26 to 0; defeated Tallulah, 6 to 0, and walloped Columbia, 36 to 6. Bastrop defeated Farmerville, 21 to 13, lost to Mangham, 20 to 2, and bowed before Haynesville, 37 to 0.

Coach Haynes views these scores optimistically but is going ahead as if every thing depended on winning this game. In fact the Bastrop boys are capable of pulling an upset almost any time and Coach Haynes doesn't want his Lions to be caught napping.

The Bastrop battle will mark the beginning of the real heavy work for Ouachita, for immediately after that skirmish they will find the powerful Golden Tornado of Haynesville waiting in for them and close on the heels of the Tornado will follow the Yellow Jackets of Byrd High school of Shreveport.

Both the Haynesville and Shreveport games will be played away from home, making the Bastrop contest the last home game until November 15, when the Lions meet Rayville here. Ouachita will wind up its season against Bolton's Bears here Thanksgiving unless they are fortunate enough to get into the championship play-off.

The Ouachita backfield of Harvey Gregg, quarterback, Sol Mayer and Eddie Bowles, halfbacks, and Bob Staples, fullback has improved greatly since the opening of the season and Mayer has especially exceeded expectations as a ball carrier.

The local line is the pride of the team and has been hard to penetrate all season. This is chiefly because there are only veterans in the lot, with the exception of one who has had enough experience by now to know what it's all about. Coach Haynes has three stellar ends in Jack Warren, John Renwick and Earl Cobb, His tackles, Billy Trimble and F. C. Eason are strong, and Wheeler Mitchell and Moise Peters, his guards, are dependable. At center he has Rudy Vandenberg, with Joe Butler, another lineman, capable of playing a good game at center or at guard.

MANHATTAN BATTLES HOLY CROSS TO TIE

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Chick Meehan's enterprising young men of Manhattan college started a fourth quarter uprising to gain a 13-13 tie with undefeated Holy Cross here today and thus became the first to cross the Crusaders goal line this season.

The Jaspers beat back after being 13 points down to the highly rated Crusaders at the start of the final period.

MARVIN MEETS MIDDLEKAUFF IN THURSDAY BOUT

PAIR OF BRUISING GIANTS HEADLINE WRESTLING CARD

Bruscato Announces Sale Of Stadium Interest To Julius Sigel

Tommy Marvin and Bill Middlekauff, a pair of bruising giants, have been booked for the main event match of the weekly wrestling show at Roosevelt stadium Thursday night, Promoter Charlie Bruscato announced yesterday. Marvin, a veteran who hails from Illinois, weighs 230 pounds, while Middlekauff, the elongated Floridian, tips the beam at 235.

Bruscato also announced yesterday that he had disposed of a majority share of his holdings in Roosevelt stadium to Julius Sigel, well-known Shreveport promoter. Sigel has valuable connections in the wrestling game, having promoted sporting events for many years, and an even better grade of talent will be brought here as a result of the change in ownership, Bruscato said. The local promoter announced that Sigel would handle the business end of the local stadium also. Bruscato said the admission price would remain at 40 cents as long as the crowds hold up.

The Marvin-Middlekauff affair should produce plenty of action. They are both aggressive performers and neither hesitates to resort to rough stuff at the slightest provocation. Both are handy with their fists, with Marvin being especially noted for his ability to sock. He formerly was a leading heavyweight boxer and was a member of Jack Dempsey's entourage for several years.

Middlekauff will have an advantage in weight and height. He uses his long legs to good advantage and should give the tough Mr. Marvin plenty of trouble. It ought to be a rough and tumble affair.

Middlekauff recently was named on the all-time eleven composed of former Florida football stars. Bill was a bone-crushing fullback for the 'Gators and was named on a couple of all-American selections in 1927, his greatest year as a Florida gridiron luminary. Incidentally, he has a brother just starting out as a member of the Florida varsity.

Middlekauff, of course, is partial to football tactics, just as are all other former college athletes who have turned to professional wrestling for a living. He likes to subdue his opponents with flying tackles and other methods common to the football field. Marvin's chief weapon of attack is a chin lock.

Bruscato said Sigel hopes to bring Ernest Kelly back here for a semi-final appearance Thursday night. Kelly lost to Marvin in a rousing match last week. Kelly asked for another tough opponent, after he was told he couldn't have a return match with Marvin. Bruscato said Sigel was attempting to line up a real big fellow for the Tennesseean.

Both matches will be best two out of three falls.

COLORED HIGH HOLDS ARKANSAS TO 0-0 TIE

The Monroe Colored High school Bulldogs and the Arkansas State college freshman team played a scoreless tie here Friday night at Forsythe park.

Although they were outweighed fifteen pounds to the man in the line and twelve pounds in the backfield, the local team put up a stiff fight that netted them fifteen first downs to Arkansas' seven.

The Bulldogs showed to advantage in the kicking department with Washington, local fullback, getting off punts averaging 47 yards. Washington saved the game for Monroe in the fourth quarter. Following a punt, an Arkansas end downed the ball on the Bulldogs' one foot line. On the first play Washington dropped back under the shadow of his goal and booted the ball 65 yards.

The only Bulldog chance to score came in the final minutes of the last quarter when Gulley, who played a great game for the local school at tackle, blocked a punt and recovered on the twelve-yard line. Schwartz, halfback, shot a pass to Bo Clay, left end, but the ball got away from the youngster as he crossed the line.

YALE BEATS NAVY BY SINGLE POINT

Bulldogs Protect Scant Lead To Shade Middies Before 60, 000

YALE BOWL, NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Against a background of the most colorful pageantry and the biggest crowd so far this season along the eastern football front, Yale's smartly coached team capitalized its alert defense today to save a one-point lead and turn back the Navy, 7 to 6.

A crowd of 60,000 saw Yale strike quickly in the first period and turn back all but one of the Navy's counter-thrusts.

Fast-stepping Al Hessberg of Albany, a sophomore ball carrier, circled Navy's right end for the Eli touchdown as the climax of a 42-yard drive, involving only a half dozen plays, but the decisive extra point was booted by a substitute lineman, Henry Gardner, Jr., of Winnetka, Ill., sent in for only one play. It paid dividends when Irwin Fike, Navy end, failed to get the ball over the crossbar with his place-kick in the third period following a 58-yard touchdown drive led by Fullback John Schmidt.

Navy's powerful attack, featuring two complete teams, outrushed the Elis. The Middies gained eight first downs to Yale's five but were outplayed and outsmarted by the speedier Elis at nearly every critical point.

Three times, Navy's scoring threats were abruptly ended by intercepted passes. Twice Jerry Roscoe, Yale's brisk quarterback, plucked Navy passes from the air, while Bernie Rankin grabbed a third and galloped 68 yards for the day's longest run.

Navy's scoring drive, in the third period succeeded because of the power thrusts of Schmidt. He smashed over Yale's left side for the touchdown from the three-yard line after Tom King had skidded six yards on a cutback play.

MILLSAPS UPSETS B'HAM-SOUTHERN

Majors Score Early And Then Repulse Strong Panther Threats

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Talla Jones sprinted 90 yards for a touchdown on the opening kick-off today, and Buster Bosarge added the extra point for Millsaps, giving the Majors a 7 to 6 victory over Birmingham-Southern, the first victory of the local college over the Panthers in the history of their athletic relations.

Southern scored on the first play of the second quarter when Art Hanes, substitute back, reeled off 61 yards from scrimmage for a touchdown jaunt, only to see McClendon's kick for the tying point go wide and low of the bar.

After that, serious scoring threats were lacking until the last three minutes of play. Starting from their own 20-yard line, the Panthers swept down to the Millsaps 6, a 73-yard march, using five consecutive aerial tosses to effect the rapid drive. The timer's whistle caught the Magic City clan before they could capitalize on this last-minute rally.

A heavy shower just before the kick-off gave the teams a wet sod and slippery ball to play with in the first part of the game and fumbles were frequent as the apparently superior Panthers were checked several times by these miscues. Birmingham-Southern gained 165 yards from scrimmage compared to 90 for Millsaps and made eight first downs to three for the locals.

With only a matter of minutes to play, Robbins shot one to Hunter on the four yard line, where it was first down. Then the Tigers stiffened.

Cracks at the line were beaten back, and Robbins' passes battered down. On the fourth try, a pass, Robbins to Keen, was ruled complete because of interference, and an offside penalty gave Arkansas first down and four more cracks at the goal from the same spot.

The Razorbacks mixed passes with running plays, but couldn't make it, and the ball went over, sewing up the game for Louisiana.

While virtually all the other southern leaders were getting upset, North Carolina took Davidson into camp, 14-0, to remain unbeaten, and so did Georgia, victor over North Carolina State, 13-0. Alabama and Auburn posted spectacular triumphs, both of which could be classed as upsets. Alabama continued its erratic course this time with an awesome 25-0 conquest of Tennessee. Auburn tripped up Kentucky in decisive fashion 23-0.

In the east, Army, led by Charles (Monk) Meyer, subdued Harvard 13-0, while Dartmouth's backs ran wild against Brown 41-0. Penn, coming back from two defeats, looked like the power it was supposed to be from the start in lacing Columbia 34-0. Fordham, badly beaten by Purdue, likewise showed a reversal in form in taking a 13-7 decision from Vanderbilt's Commodores. Princeton scored 27 points in the final quarter to turn back Rutgers 29-6; Temple outpointed Carnegie 13-0, and Colgate routed Lafayette 52-0. New York university turned in another brilliant display of passing in a 33-7 conquest of Penn military. Holy Cross suffered a setback in its title hopes, playing a 13-13 draw with Manhattan.

Washington's 21-0 victory over Washington State and California's 6-0 verdict over Santa Clara marked developments in the far west. Denver defeated Utah State 13-7 in the principal Rocky Mountain conference struggle.

RAYVILLE NOSES OUT DELHI TEAM, 7 TO 6

RAYVILLE, La., Oct. 19.—(Special)—The Rayville Hornets won their first game of the season when they defeated the crippled Delhi Bears, 7 to 6 on the Bruin's home grounds.

The kick for the extra point by Captain Meadors was his third straight and it was the margin by which the game went to the Hornets. The touchdown was made by George Greer after a series of nice runs by Greer, Savage and Meeks had put the ball in scoring distance. Delhi scored on a long pass to an end who had hid out. Meadors blocked the kick for the extra point.

The Hornets used two pony backs, Adcock and Shoemaker, who went in in the last of the half and alternated making first downs, until they carried the ball a total of 70 yards. They had the ball on Delhi's two-yard line as the half ended. Rayville also was down on the Bruins' goal line as the game ended.

The Rayville boys played their best game of the year. The work of Captain Meadors at tackle was especially good. He played a great defensive and offensive game and his punting was one of the features of the game. Meeks was a power on the defense and his line-plunging was the best he has turned in this year. G. Greer, Savage, Shoemaker and Adcock turned in good gains at halves and their blocking was excellent. Savage ran 80 yards for a touchdown on a lateral from Greer, but it was declared illegal and called back. O'Neal called a good game at quarter and played well on the defense. The two guards, Dickens and Donald, played their usual good game, which has been a feature of all the Hornets' games. The two "baby" guards, Inzer and Landrum, turned in good games when they went in to relieve the regulars. C. O'Neal, the Hornet's 120-pound center, played a bang-up game.

CRIMSONS SCORE IN EVERY PERIOD TO WALLOP VOLS

Tennessee Plays Raggedly As Tide Stages Great Comeback

By Kenneth Gregory
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

SHIELDS WATKINS FIELD, KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Slashing the flanks, ripping the line and firing aerial bombs, Alabama's Crimson Tide rolled recklessly over a helpless Tennessee eleven today, crushing the Volunteers 25 to 0 in a Southeastern conference duel witnessed by 18,000 homecoming day fans.

Playing raggedly throughout, Tennessee failed to offer any threats, penetrated Alabama's territory but once and took one of the worst drubbings in many seasons.

The Crimson Tide, displaying excellent teamwork all the way, gave its best exhibition of the season and revived Alabama hopes following its disastrous loss to Mississippi State last week. It was Tennessee's first conference setback, the Vols conquering the Auburn Plainsmen last week.

Alabama scored in every period, ran up 17 first downs to three for Tennessee. The Tide completed five out of 10 passes for 99 yards and tore through the slow charging Volunteer line for 174 yards, while the Crimson forwards stopped Tennessee with a net offensive gain of 20 yards.

Riley Smith, the Tide's triple threat quarterback, scored two of Alabama's touchdowns, punted superbly all afternoon and stood out in the backfield with a half dozen others, including Rudy Rhordanz, Joe Riley, Young Boozer, Jim Angelich and Bubber Nisbet.

Tennessee was woefully weak against passing, the Crimson Tide ends breaking into the open time after time. Paul (Bear) Bryant, the husky left end who was injured last week, played an excellent game along with Captain Jimmy Walker in cutting down the Vols' ball-carriers, while the center-linemen stood as a bulwark.

Starting cautiously, the teams played on even terms for about seven minutes when Alabama marched to Tennessee's 21-yard line on a 19-yard pass from Stapp to Bryant. A forward lateral, Stapp to Bryant to Smith, gained 15 and Smith scored on a quarterback sneak through the center of the line.

The Tide came right back and drove to Tennessee's 8-yard line, featured by a 14-yard pass, Riley to Bryant, as the first period ended, but on the next play Nisbet fumbled, Dickens recovered and booted the ball out to the Vols' 46, from which point the Crimsons counted again.

Riley tossed a 14-yard pass to Jimmy Walker and came right back with another heave for 15 yards to Bryant. Line thrusts by Boozer and Nisbet gave Alabama first down on the six and on the third play Riley sprinted around end and cut back through an opening for a touchdown.

Two plays after the second half kickoff, Phil Dickens broke around Alabama's left flank for 19 yards to the Tide's 49, and that was the only time the Vols crossed the center of the field, except in the last period when Dickens tossed a long pass to the substitute Jim Porter who was downed on the Alabama 33, but the play was called back when both elevens were offside.

Tennessee got nine yards in two attempts and then Bill Lippe fumbled, with Rhordanz recovering on Alabama's 39. The Crimson eleven drove to its third touchdown with Rhordanz racing 21 yards off tackle, seven through the center and 11 around end to place the ball on the two-yard line. On the next play he plowed the goal line.

Alabama marched 45 yards for its last touchdown, featured by a 15-yard run by Rhordanz and an 18-yard pass, Riley to Hillman Walker that carried to the Vols' five. The Tide drew a 15-yard penalty and this was followed by a similar penalty to Tennessee, again placing the ball on the five. Smith, on another quarterback sneak, scored from the two-yard line and added extra point from placement.

BOBBY JONES SAYS

Almost every time we try to tell the average golfer how to take strokes off his score we have to conclude by trying to send him off to the practice tee. Even while we are explaining how his swing can be improved and he is eagerly listening we both know that he has no intention of doing the work necessary to cause our advice to be of any value. There are few ordinary business-men golfers who are willing to spend two or three hours practicing what they have been told in each half-hour lesson. So I expect it to cause a measure of relief when I declare that here is something that may be taken straight out on the course.

The rule which I give as a stroke-saver without hours of laborious practice is this, "Keep your approaches low."

Little Hits Them Low

Anyone watching Lawson Little at Cleveland in the amateur championship would have observed that he played every type of iron shot with a club a bit stronger than was needed for the distance. Playing then something less than a full shot, his ball always flew on a lower trajectory than that of his opponent. It would have been noticed also that Little played his short pitches to drop short of the hole and run up. Hardly ever, when the pin was open to him, did he attempt a steep pitch intended to drop and stop at the holeside. It was no accident that his control of these shots was better than that of anyone else in the field.

To play a low three-quarter iron shot requires finesse. For the man possessing sufficient skill it is certainly the shot to play for it keeps the ball more fully in command of the player. But it is not the shot for the average golfer. From the outer ranges he will do better to play his normal shot.

Requires Precision

But when one gets within fifty yards or so of the green, the lower shot becomes the simplest to play as well as the easiest to control. A steep pitch right up to the hole may look fine, but it must be struck perfectly both to hold it on line and to stop it. It gets no benefit from favorable slopes which nearly always can be played with a shot of the other kind, and when it is mis-hit the results are disastrous. To appreciate this one need only recall the times he has hit one of these a bit heavy so that the backspin failed to take hold.

Almost every golfer has been made to realize that the number-one iron is the most difficult club of all to play. A succession of complete failures with it convince very quickly. But it is not so generally appreciated that a full shot, or anything like it, with a mashie-niblic or niblic is just about as troublesome. The player gets hold of the ball all right, and he gets it into the air. But he rarely knows where it will come down.

Gives Player "Break"

A great deal can be done to improve a player's scoring ability without actually increasing his mechanical skill, by showing him how to give himself a "break." The play around the greens offers a wealth of opportunities. If his pitching has been a bit wild, I should expect an immediate improvement if he will only think of keeping them a bit lower when the way is open for him to do so. Merely by dropping back to a number 8 instead of a 9, or even by hauling out a number seven for a short pitch-and-run, he can save a number of precious strokes. He will certainly give himself more holeable first putts than he has seen in a long while.

Bobby Jones making a low approach shot. A less powerful club than the one ordinarily chosen for an approach shot will aid in keeping the ball.

The New FOOTBALL

By Jimmy Donahue and Buzz Wetzel

Ten years ago football teams were afraid to use the lateral pass which then was a common form of attack in English rugby; it was thought too dangerous. But today you will find as high as four laterals being worked on a single play, making it evident that coaches have become lateral conscious.

To work properly, the ball carrier on the start of a lateral must maneuver a defensive man into such a position that he is out of the way of a trailing back. He then flips the ball to the trailer just as the defensive man is making his tackle.

Most laterals have developed from end runs, with a short toss to the back swinging wide for the lateral. Late developments have the lateral coming from a short pass to either end, in position about 10 yards across the scrimmage line. The receiving end immediately tosses the ball to a back following up the play.

Another lateral is the quick pass, underhanded, from the quarterback to a back shooting off to the weak side.

Success of most of these laterals, despite their being handled by three or four men, is due simply to the way the players follow up the plays. The chance to be on the tail end of one of these madcap runs has given guards and tackles the incentive to get up after knocking down their men and follow the ball carrier in the hope of breaking into the scoring column.

IRISH RALLY TO DOWN PITT, 9-6

Peters Kicks Field Goal For Victory With Three Minutes To Go

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Notre Dame's fighting Irish, after four long and weary years of fighting and trying, came from behind today to smite down the treacherous Panthers from Pittsburgh, by the breath-taking margin of 9 to 6, before a delirious throng of spectators. The Fighting Irish were heroes of Notre Dame's victory hour tonight as campus and town went wild, but it was Martin Joseph Peters, the six-foot three, 205-pound giant from Peoria, Ill., who was the toast of toasts.

With the game deadlocked at six-all and with but three minutes to play, Big Marty dropped back on Pitt's 25-yard stripe and booted a perfect placement to win one of the most gruelling gridiron duels in all Notre Dame football history.

Pitt scored its touchdown on a 37-yard March early in the second period with Leon Shedlosky, Bill Stapulus and Frank Patrick smashing the Irish line into bits. Patrick carried the ball over for the score on a two-yard smash through his left tackle. Wayne Millner broke through to block Patrick's attempted place kick for the extra point.

Two kicks opened the road for Notre Dame's tying touchdown. After a 15-yard penalty for holding had put the Irish back on their own eight, Bill Shakespeare punted the ball 86 yards out of danger. Arnold Greene got off a nice kick but the ball hit on the Pitt 40-yard line and bounced back to the 21 giving Notre Dame first down.

Fred Carideo and Shakespeare supplied the other "breaks," hammering the pitt line into submittion with Shakespeare going over from four yards through tackle for the tying score. Bill's try for the extra point was a failure.

MARVIN MEETS MIDDLEKAUFF IN THURSDAY BOUT

Bruscato Announces Sale Of Stadium Interest To Julius Sigel

Tommy Marvin and Bill Middlekauff, a pair of bruising giants, have been booked for the main event match of the weekly wrestling show at Roosevelt stadium Thursday night, Promoter Charlie Bruscato announced yesterday. Marvin, a veteran who hails from Illinois, weighs 230 pounds, while Middlekauff, the elongated Floridian, tips the beam at 235.

Bruscato also announced yesterday that he had disposed of a majority share of his holdings in Roosevelt stadium to Julius Sigel, well-known Shreveport promoter. Sigel has valuable connections in the wrestling game, having promoted sporting events for many years, and an even better grade of talent will be brought here as a result of the change in ownership, Bruscato said. The local promoter announced that Sigel would handle the business end of the local stadium also. Bruscato said the admission price would remain at 40 cents as long as the crowds hold up.

The Marvin-Middlekauff affair should produce plenty of action. They are both aggressive performers and neither hesitates to resort to rough stuff at the slightest provocation. Both are handy with their fists, with Marvin being especially noted for his ability to sock. He formerly was a leading heavyweight boxer and was a member of Jack Dempsey's entourage for several years.

Middlekauff will have an advantage in weight and height. He uses his long legs to good advantage and should give the tough Mr. Marvin plenty of trouble. It ought to be a rough and tumble affair.

Middlekauff recently was named on the all-time eleven composed of former Florida football stars. Bill was a bone-crushing fullback for the 'Gators and was named on a couple of all-American selections in 1927, his greatest year as a Florida gridiron luminary. Incidentally, he has a brother just starting out as a member of the Florida varsity.

Middlekauff, of course, is partial to football tactics, just as are all other former college athletes who have turned to professional wrestling for a living. He likes to subdue his opponents with flying tackles and other methods common to the football field. Marvin's chief weapon of attack is a chin lock.

Bruscato said Sigel hopes to bring Ernest Kelly back here for a semi-final appearance Thursday night. Kelly lost to Marvin in a rousing match last week. Kelly asked for another tough opponent, after he was told he couldn't have a return match with Marvin. Bruscato said Sigel was attempting to line up a real big fellow for the Tennesseean.

Both matches will be best two out of three falls.

COLORED HIGH HOLDS ARKANSAS TO 0-0 TIE

The Monroe Colored High school Bulldogs and the Arkansas State college freshman team played a scoreless tie here Friday night at Forsythe park.

Although they were outweighed fifteen pounds to the man in the line and twelve pounds in the backfield, the local team put up a stiff fight that netted them fifteen first downs to Arkansas' seven.

The Bulldogs showed to advantage in the kicking department with Washington, local fullback, getting off punts averaging 47 yards. Washington saved the game for Monroe in the fourth quarter. Following a punt, an Arkansas end downed the ball on the Bulldogs' one foot line. On the first play Washington dropped back under the shadow of his goal and booted the ball 65 yards.

The only Bulldog chance to score came in the final minutes of the last quarter when Gulley, who played a great game for the local school at tackle, blocked a punt and recovered in the twelve-yard line. Schwartz, halfback, shot a pass to Bo Clay, left end, but the ball got away from the youngster as he crossed the line.

YALE BEATS NAVY BY SINGLE POINT

Bulldogs Protect Scant Lead To Shade Middies Before 60, 000

YALE BOWL, NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Against a background of the most colorful pageantry and the biggest crowd so far this season along the eastern football front, Yale's smartly coached team capitalized its alert defense today to save a one-point lead and turn back the Navy, 7 to 6.

A crowd of 60,000 saw Yale strike quickly in the first period and turn back all but one of the Navy's counter-thrusts.

Fast-stepping Al Hessberg of Albany, a sophomore ball carrier, circled Navy's right end for the Eli touchdown as the climax of a 42-yard drive, involving only a half dozen plays, but the decisive extra point was booted by a substitute lineman, Henry Gardner, Jr., of Winnetka, Ill., sent in for only one play. It paid dividends when Irwin Fike, Navy end, failed to get the ball over the crossbar with his place-kick in the third period following a 58-yard touchdown drive led by Fullback John Schmidt.

Navy's powerful attack, featuring two complete teams, outrushed the Elis. The Middies gained eight first downs to Yale's five but were outplayed and outsmarted by the speedier Elis at nearly every critical point.

MILLSAPS UPSETS B'HAM-SOUTHERN

Majors Score Early And Then Repulse Strong Panther Threats

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Talla Jones sprinted 90 yards for a touchdown on the opening kick-off today, and Buster Bosarge added the extra point for Millsaps, giving the Majors a 7 to 6 victory over Birmingham-Southern, the first victory of the local college over the Panthers in the history of their athletic relations.

Southern scored on the first play of the second quarter when Art Hanes, substitute back, reeled off 61 yards from scrimmage for a touchdown jaunt, only to see McClendon's kick for the tying point go wide and low of the bar.

After that, serious scoring threats were lacking until the last three minutes of play. Starting from their own 20-yard line, the Panthers swept down to the Millsaps 6, a 73-yard march, using five consecutive aerial tosses to effect the rapid drive. The timer's whistle caught the Magic City clan before they could capitalize on this last-minute rally.

A heavy shower just before the kick-off gave the teams a wet sod and slippery ball to play with in the first part of the game and fumbles were frequent as the apparently superior Panthers were checked several times by these miscues. Birmingham-Southern gained 165 yards from scrimmage compared to 90 for Millsaps and made eight first downs to three for the locals.

time and again through the air. Robbins connected repeatedly for gains that endangered the Louisiana goal.

With only a matter of minutes to play, Robbins shot one to Hunter on the four yard line, where it was first down. Then the Tigers stiffened.

Cracks at the line were beaten back, and Robbins' passes battered down. On the fourth try, a pass, Robbins to Keen, was ruled complete because of interference, and an offside penalty gave Arkansas first down and four more cracks at the goal from the same spot.

The Razorbacks mixed passes with running plays, but couldn't make it, and the ball went over, sewing up the game for Louisiana.

umph and Purdue's Boilermakers trounced Chicago 19-0.

While virtually all the other southern leaders were getting upset, North Carolina took Davidson into camp, 14-0, to remain unbeaten, and so did Georgia, victor over North Carolina State, 13-0. Alabama and Auburn posted spectacular triumphs, both of which could be classed as upsets. Alabama continued its erratic course this time with an awesome 25-0 conquest of Tennessee. Auburn tripped up Kentucky in decisive fashion 23-0.

In the east, Army, led by Charles (Monk) Meyer, subdued Harvard 13-0, while Dartmouth's backs ran wild against Brown 41-0. Penn, coming back from two defeats, looked like the power it was supposed to be from the start in lacing Columbia 34-0. Fordham, badly beaten by Purdue, likewise showed a reversal in form in taking a 13-7 decision from Vanderbilt's Commodores. Princeton scored 27 points in the final quarter to turn back Rutgers 29-6; Temple outpointed Carnegie 13-0, and Colgate routed Lafayette 52-0. New York university turned in another brilliant display of passing in a 33-7 conquest of Penn military. Holy Cross suffered a setback in its title hopes, playing a 13-13 draw with Manhattan.

Washington's 21-0 victory over Washington State and California's 6-0 verdict over Santa Clara marked developments in the far west. Denver defeated Utah State 13-7 in the principal Rocky Mountain conference struggle.

RAYVILLE NOSES OUT DELHI TEAM, 7 TO 6

RAYVILLE, La., Oct. 19.—(Special)—The Rayville Hornets won their first game of the season when they defeated the crippled Delhi Bears, 7 to 6 on the Bruin's home grounds.

The kick for the extra point by Captain Meadors was his third straight and it was the margin by which the game went to the Hornets. The touchdown was made by George Greer after a series of nice runs by Greer, Savage and Meeks had put the ball in scoring distance. Delhi scored on a long pass to an end who had hid out. Meadors blocked the kick for the extra point.

The Hornets used two pony backs, Adcock and Shoemaker, who went in in the last of the half and alternated making first downs, until they carried the ball a total of 70 yards. They had the ball on Delhi's two-yard line as the half ended. Rayville also was down on the Bruins' goal line as the game ended.

The Rayville boys played their best game of the year. The work of Captain Meadors at tackle was especially good. He played a great defensive and offensive game and his punting was one of the features of the game. Meeks was a power on the defense and his line-plunging was the best he has turned in this year. G. Greer, Savage, Shoemaker and Adcock turned in good gains at halves and their blocking was excellent. Savage ran 80 yards for a touchdown on a lateral from Greer, but it was declared illegal and called back. O'Neal called a good game at quarter and played well on the defense. The two guards, Dickens and Donald, played their usual good game, which has been a feature of all the Hornets' games. The two "baby" guards, Inzer and Landrum, turned in good games when they went in to relieve the regulars. C. O'Neal, the Hornet's 120-pound center, played a bang-up game.

CRIMSONS SCORE IN EVERY PERIOD TO WALLOP VOLS

Tennessee Plays Raggedly As Tide Stages Great Comeback

By Kenneth Gregory
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

SHIELDS WATKINS FIELD, KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Slashing the flanks, ripping the line and firing aerial bombs, Alabama's Crimson Tide rolled recklessly over a helpless Tennessee eleven today, crushing the Volunteers 25 to 0 in a Southeastern conference duel witnessed by 18,000 homecoming day fans.

Playing raggedly throughout, Tennessee failed to offer any threats, penetrated Alabama's territory but once and took one of the worst drubbings in many seasons.

The Crimson Tide, displaying excellent teamwork all the way, gave its best exhibition of the season and revived Alabama hopes following its disastrous loss to Mississippi State last week. It was Tennessee's first conference setback, the Vols conquering the Auburn Plainsmen last week.

Alabama scored in every period, ran up 17 first downs to three for Tennessee. The Tide completed five out of 10 passes for 99 yards and tore through the slow charging Volunteer line for 174 yards, while the Crimson forwards stopped Tennessee with a net offensive gain of 20 yards.

Riley Smith, the Tide's triple threat quarterback, scored two of Alabama's touchdowns, punted superbly all afternoon and stood out in the backfield with a half dozen others, including Rudy Rhordanz, Joe Riley, Young Boozer, Jim Angelich and Bubber Nisbet.

Tennessee was woefully weak against passing, the Crimson Tide ends breaking into the open time after time. Paul (Bear) Bryant, the husky left end who was injured last week, played an excellent game along with Captain Jimmy Walker in cutting down the Vols' ball-carriers, while the center-linemen stood as a bulwark.

Starting cautiously, the teams played on even terms for about seven minutes when Alabama marched to Tennessee's 21-yard line on a 19-yard pass from Stapp to Bryant. A forward lateral, Stapp to Bryant to Smith, gained 15 and Smith scored on a quarterback sneak through the center of the line.

The Tide came right back and drove to Tennessee's 8-yard line, featured by a 14-yard pass, Riley to Bryant, as the first period ended, but on the next play Nisbet fumbled, Dickens recovered and booted the ball out to the Vols' 46, from which point the Crimsons counted again.

Riley tossed a 14-yard pass to Jimmy Walker and came right back with another heave for 15 yards to Bryant. Line thrusts by Boozer and Nisbet gave Alabama first down on the six and on the third play Riley sprinted around end and cut back through an opening for a touchdown.

Two plays after the second half kickoff, Phil Dickens broke around Alabama's left flank for 19 yards to the Tide's 49, and that was the only time the Vols crossed the center of the field, except in the last period when Dickens tossed a long pass to the substitute Jim Porter who was downed on the Alabama 33, but the play was called back when both elevens were offside.

Tennessee got nine yards in two attempts and then Bill Lippe fumbled, with Rhordanz recovering on Alabama's 39. The Crimson eleven drove to its third touchdown with Rhordanz racing 21 yards off tackle, seven through the center and 11 around end to place the ball on the two-yard line. On the next play he plowed the goal line.

Alabama marched 45 yards for its last touchdown, featured by a 15-yard run by Rhordanz and an 18-yard pass, Riley to Hillman Walker that carried to the Vols' five. The Tide drew a 15-yard penalty and this was followed by a similar penalty to Tennessee, again placing the ball on the five. Smith, on another quarterback sneak, scored from the two-yard line and added extra point from placement.

BOBBY JONES SAYS

Almost every time we try to tell, the average golfer how to take strokes off his score we have to conclude by trying to send him off to the practice tee. Even while we are explaining how his swing can be improved and he is eagerly listening we both know that he has no intention of doing the work necessary to cause our advice to be of any value. There are few ordinary business-men golfers who are willing to spend two or three hours practicing what they have been told in each half-hour lesson. So I expect it to cause a measure of relief when I declare that here is something that may be taken straight out on the course.

The rule which I give as a stroke-saver without hours of laborious practice is this, "Keep your approaches low."

Little Hits Them Low

Anyone watching Lawson Little at Cleveland in the amateur championship would have observed that he played every type of iron shot with a club a bit stronger than was needed for the distance. Playing then something less than a full shot, his ball always flew on a lower trajectory than that of his opponent. It would have been noticed also that Little played his short pitches to drop short of the hole and run up. Hardly ever, when the pin was open to him, did he attempt a steep pitch intended to drop and stop at the holeside. It was no accident that his control of these shots was better than that of anyone else in the field.

To play a low three-quarter iron shot requires finesse. For the man possessing sufficient skill it is certainly the shot to play for it keeps the ball more fully in command of the player. But it is not the shot for the average golfer. From the outer ranges he will do better to play his normal shot.

Requires Precision

But when one gets within fifty yards or so of the green, the lower shot becomes the simplest to play as well as the easiest to control. A steep pitch right up to the hole may look fine, but it must be struck perfectly both to hold it on line and to stop it. It gets no benefit from favorable slopes which nearly always can be played with a shot of the other kind, and when it is mis-hit the results are disastrous. To appreciate this one need only recall the times he has hit one of these a bit heavy so that the backspin failed to take hold.

Almost every golfer has been made to realize that the number-one iron is the most difficult club of all to play. A succession of complete failures with it convince very quickly. But it is not so generally appreciated that a full shot, or anything like it, with a mashie-niblic or niblic is just about as troublesome. The player gets hold of the ball all right, and he gets it into the air. But he rarely knows where it will come down.

Gives Player "Break"

A great deal can be done to improve a player's scoring ability without actually increasing his mechanical skill, by showing him how to give himself a "break." The play around the greens offers a wealth of opportunities. If his pitching has been a bit wild, I should expect an immediate improvement if he will only think of keeping them a bit lower when the way is open for him to do so. Merely by dropping back to a number 8 instead of a 9, or even by hauling out a number seven for a short pitch-and-run, he can save a number of precious strokes. He will certainly give himself more holeable first putts than he has seen in a long while.

Bobby Jones making a low approach shot. A less powerful club than the one ordinarily chosen for an approach shot will aid in keeping the ball.

The New FOOTBALL

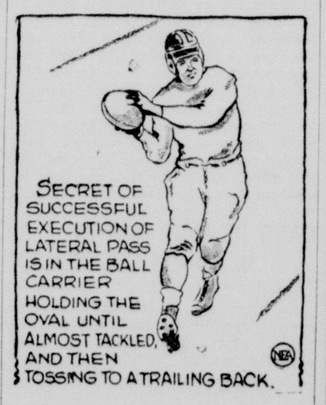
By Jimmy Donahue and Buzz Wetzel



Ten years ago football teams were afraid to use the lateral pass which then was a common form of attack in English rugby; it was thought too dangerous. But today you will find as high as four laterals being worked on a single play, making it evident that coaches have become lateral conscious.

To work properly, the ball carrier on the start of a lateral must maneuver a defensive man into such a position that he is out of the way of a trailing back. He then flips the ball to the trailer just as the defensive man is making his tackle.

Most laterals have developed from end runs, with a short toss to the back swinging wide for the lateral. Late developments have the lateral coming from a short pass to either end, in position about 10 yards across the scrimmage line. The receiving end immediately tosses the ball to a back following up the play.

Another lateral is the quick pass, underhanded, from the quarterback to a back shooting off to the weak side.

Success of most of these laterals, despite their being handled by three or four men, is due simply to the way the players follow up the plays. The chance to be on the tail end of one of these madcap runs has given guards and tackles the incentive to get up after knocking down their men and follow the ball carrier in the hope of breaking into the scoring column.

IRISH RALLY TO DOWN PITT, 9-6

Peters Kicks Field Goal For Victory With Three Minutes To Go

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Notre Dame's fighting Irish, after four long and weary years of fighting and trying, came from behind today to smite down the treacherous Panthers from Pittsburgh, by the breath-taking margin of 9 to 6, before a delirious throng of spectators. The Fighting Irish were heroes of Notre Dame's victory hour tonight as campus and town went wild, but it was Martin Joseph Peters, the six-foot three, 205-pound giant from Peoria, Ill., who was the toast of toasts.

With the game deadlocked at six-all and with but three minutes to play, Big Marty dropped back on Pitt's 25-yard stripe and booted a perfect placement to win one of the most gruelling gridiron duels in all Notre Dame football history.

Pitt scored its touchdown on a 37-yard March early in the second period with Leon Shedlosky, Bill Stapulus and Frank Patrick smashing the Irish line into bits. Patrick carried the ball over for the score on a two-yard smash through his left tackle. Wayne Millner broke through to block Patrick's attempted place kick for the extra point.

Two kicks opened the road for Notre Dame's tying touchdown. After a 15-yard penalty for holding had put the Irish back on their own eight, Bill Shakespeare punted the ball 86 yards out of danger. Arnold Greene got off a nice kick but the ball hit on the Pitt 40-yard line and bounced back to the 21 giving Notre Dame first down.

Fred Carideo and Shakespeare supplied the other "breaks," hammering the pitt line into submittion with Shakespeare going over from four yards through tackle for the tying score. Bill's try for the extra point was a failure.

The village of Saline, in Bienville parish, will hold a gala all-day celebration on November 23 to mark the installation of electric light and power service by the Louisiana Power and Light company, A. O. Evans, division manager, announced Saturday.

Harvey C. Couch, president of the company, will be present and participate in the exercises and there will be other speakers. It is expected that several thousand persons will attend.

Dinner at noon will be served on the grounds and there will be athletic events and a special program arranged. Mayor H. E. Suddeth of Saline is arranging the plans for the celebration in cooperation with the power and light company.

The new line is being extended from Minden to Saline, a distance of 40 miles and will serve the following towns: Jamestown, Fryberg, Lawhon, Castor, Alberta, Ashland and Saline. More than 200 new patrons will be served.

Saline has in past years staged a highly successful watermelon celebration and the present observance is expected to eclipse all past efforts, stated Mr. Evans.

Complete details of the day's program will be announced through the press later, he said.

SALVATION ARMY NEEDS DISCUSSED

Board Of Directors Decides To Conduct Drive For Funds

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Salvation Army, held in the offices of W. J. Quiggles, president of the board, the need of an immediate, home service appeal, due to the fact that the present budget is exhausted, was discussed.

It was pointed out that there is no permanent place in which to conduct religious and character-building meetings of the organization.

Attention of the board was called to the inability of the organization to meet emergency needs of families daily asking assistance, and the fact that the government has closed all Bureau of Transient homes. Capt. G. W. Whitaker said that the army program can not advance until needed financing is secured.

A proposed budget was studied and tentatively adopted. The total amount proposed was said to be nominal compared with the benefits to be derived.

The board adopted a proposal to secure the aid of the American Legion as co-sponsors with the army in making the appeal. A general chairman will be secured at once and plans put into effect for a drive, it was stated by Captain Whitaker.

UNITED ELECTRIC ENLARGES SHOP

1936 Delco Radio For The Home On Display In New Showroom

Due to the increase in the stock of new parts, the United Electric service has enlarged its store at 306 North Third street. The building at 308 North Third street has been included for use as a parts department and display room for the new Delco radios.

The 1936 Delco console radios have just been received and are now on display. Many features are included in this year's model, "robot control" being the most important. By this new feature individual circuits, which must be synchronized perfectly for maximum efficiency, are controlled by precisely calibrated capacitors. A twist of the dial and the Delco tuner takes hold, bringing every circuit into resonance.

Cabinets of the Delco radios are made from beautifully matched woods and each cabinet is a fine piece of furniture, which will blend in with all types of home furnishings. There are seven Delco models available in both console and table models.

United Electric Service does all automobile electrical work, and carries a large supply of parts. These supplies include batteries, auto radios, head light lenses, Delco light plants and pumps. Radiator repairing is also done by the company. J. F. Jones is manager of the concern.

Mr. Jones stated that they were authorized distributors for United Motors, which includes many electrical parts and supplies.

The local concern is conveniently located near the downtown business section of Monroe, making it possible for cars to be left for repairs while their owners are in the business section.

BARBER SHOP HAS FOUR OPERATORS

All of the operators at E. N. Johnson barber shop have been there for more than a year and are well acquainted with the people of Monroe. They are L. A. Harveston, H. A. Jasper, "Red" Hedgepeth and E. N. Johnson. The shop is well equipped to supply any service that the customer may demand.

The latest in ladies' hair bobbing is a specialty of the shop. The different styles have been studied so that the correct bob can be given to suit the wearer.

Many peculiarities of the operators were brought out by Mr. Johnson, owner and operator.

For instance H. A. Jasper has owned a razor strap 36 years, and even then someone gave it to him as a used piece of goods. Now he wonders why he can't sharpen his razor with it.

"Red" Hedgepeth has had a pair of clippers for 18 years. L. A. Harveston said that he was so slow that the clippers get hot, making it necessary for him to have two pairs.

"Several days ago," Mr. Johnson said, "L. A. Harveston's clippers shocked a man, the electrical current knocking him from the chair. As said customer was returning to his seat someone said "Look out." In his amazement, the man stammered, "Is he going to put them on me again?"

These few instances show that E. N. Johnson barber shop is a friendly place, and a cordial invitation is extended to the people of Monroe to try this shop. A courteous shine boy is also employed.

CARS DEMONSTRATED IN 10-MINUTE PERIOD

As time goes, 10 minutes does not seem a lengthy or important period. Yet in just that length of time America smokes 2,080,000 cigarettes, 39 babies are born, over $9,500 worth of gold is mined, Boulder dam generates 258,500 kv. a. of electrical power and the News-Star—World prints 4,000 complete newspapers.

Appreciating the value of a 10-minute period in the demonstrating of motor cars and the value of the buyers' time, Pontiac dealers are concentrating on 10-minute demonstrations, condensing their sales presentations and information to fit a 10-minute period. In the first formally observed and timed tests of motor trucks over the perilous hairpin turns and steep switchbacks of the Pikes Peak auto highway, near Colorado Springs, Chevrolet 1½-ton and half-ton trucks demonstrated their power, endurance and efficiency over the course of the annual Labor Day hill climb contest, a distance of 12 miles, 2200 feet, with a rise of 4959 feet from the start to the summit, 14,109 feet above sea level. The upper illustrations show the 1½-ton truck, driven by W. P. # 1936 OLDSMOBILE SHOWN AT MEETING

L. P. Landry, Local Dealer, Enthusiastic Over Latest Model Car

"I've seen the 1936 Oldsmobiles. I've heard about the 1936 plans. I've been told of the great production expansion and so I want to say that I am confident that 1936 will again see all records for production and sales of Oldsmobiles broken."

This was the enthusiastic statement of L. P. Landry, Oldsmobile dealer in Monroe, after returning here in one of the 1936 model Oldsmobiles from a dealer meeting at Memphis, Tenn.

"The country knows Oldsmobile as "the car that has everything," he said, "and the new 1936 cars have everything plus. There is a definite advance in style leader styling, keeping Oldsmobile far in front in graceful streamline design. There are new advancements in mechanical features, augmenting those which last year resulted in such a tremendous demand for Oldsmobile cars," he said.

"The 1936 cars are big, new automobiles, beautifully designed, roomy and comfortable, and possessing all those features which have made Oldsmobile famous.

"Production of the new cars in volume is under way at Lansing. The huge new factory which has been acquired for Fisher body operations, with a half million feet of floor space, is in full swing. Cars are rolling from the longer Oldsmobile assembly line at the rate of 750 per day.

"When the cars were shown to the dealers of this area, and plans for the coming year were outlined, unanimous approval of both cars and program was expressed by the dealer organization.

"In 1935 all records were broken but these marks are destined to stand only a short time. For the 1936 models, refined and advanced in styling and engineering, are sure to reach new production and sales peaks in the closing year," Mr. Landry said.

Popularity of the 1935 Oldsmobiles was so great that when the factory was closed at the end of the 1935 production there still remained on hand a large number of unfilled retail orders. Mr. Landry pointed out. This condition is unprecedented in the industry.

"Public announcement of the new cars will be made at an early date," he said. "The factory is expanded to meet the public demand on the new models. Every one of us in the dealer organization of more than 3,000 look forward with extreme confidence to a big year for Oldsmobile in 1936."

MOTOR TRAVEL SHOWS INCREASE DURING 1935

That motor travel this year is exceeding that of any previous year since the invention of the automobile is believed to be indicated by the 120,635 highway information inquries received by the Esso touring service in the first eight months of 1935, a total greater than that for the entire year of 1934.

"Not only are inquiries from motorists this year greatly exceeding those of 1934," says the management of the touring service, "but are the greatest since the touring service was established in 1927. As the real development of touring came after that date, we feel certain that the record figures for this year indicate a new high for touring. This conclusion is borne out by the gasoline consumption figures which also are touching an all-time high."

August inquiries at the touring service totaled 23,414 this year as compared with 20,445 in 1934. Figures for succeeding months are expected to show less seasonal decline than usual as autumn motoring is growing more popular, according to the touring service.

INDUSTRIAL AND REVIEW OF THE TWIN CITIES

SALINE TO HOLD BIG CELEBRATION

Will Observe Completion Of Light And Power Line To City

The village of Saline, in Bienville parish, will hold a gala all-day celebration on November 23 to mark the installation of electric light and power service by the Louisiana Power and Light company, A. O. Evans, division manager, announced Saturday.

Harvey C. Couch, president of the company, will be present and participate in the exercises and there will be other speakers. It is expected that several thousand persons will attend.

Dinner at noon will be served on the grounds and there will be athletic events and a special program arranged. Mayor H. E. Suddeth of Saline is arranging the plans for the celebration in cooperation with the power and light company.

The new line is being extended from Minden to Saline, a distance of 40 miles and will serve the following towns: Jamestown, Fryberg, Lawhon, Castor, Alberta, Ashland and Saline. More than 200 new patrons will be served.

Saline has in past years staged a highly successful watermelon celebration and the present observance is expected to eclipse all past efforts, stated Mr. Evans.

Complete details of the day's program will be announced through the press later, he said.

Real Estate Transfers

Real estate transfers recorded yesterday at the office of the clerk of court of Ouachita parish were as follows:

Mrs. Sallie Noah and Mrs. Alice R. McDonald sold to H. S. McDonald an undivided five-eighths interest in the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter and the southwest diagonal half of the southwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 4, township 16 north, range 1 east for a consideration of $600.

G. O. Dooley sold to Mrs. Jessie Childers lot 7 of block 4 of G. O. Dooley's subdivision of sections 5 and 8 of township 17 north, range 4 east, for a consideration of $50.

SALVATION ARMY NEEDS DISCUSSED

Board Of Directors Decides To Conduct Drive For Funds

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Salvation Army, held in the offices of W. J. Quiggles, president of the board, the need of an immediate home service appeal, due to the fact that the present budget is exhausted, was discussed.

It was pointed out that there is no permanent place in which to conduct religious and character-building meetings of the organization.

Attention of the board was called to the inability of the organization to meet emergency needs of families daily asking assistance, and the fact that the government has closed all Bureau of Transient homes. Capt. G. W. Whitaker said that the army program can not advance until needed financing is secured.

A proposed budget was studied and tentatively adopted. The total amount proposed was said to be nominal compared with the benefits to be derived.

The board adopted a proposal to secure the aid of the American Legion as co-sponsors with the army in making the appeal. A general chairman will be secured at once and plans put into effect for a drive, it was stated by Captain Whitaker.

Chinese mandarins were eating corn on the cob as early as 1573, according to records published at that time. They were also eating succotash long before moderns mixed lima beans with corn.

UNITED ELECTRIC ENLARGES SHOP

1936 Delco Radio For The Home On Display In New Showroom

Due to the increase in the stock of new parts, the United Electric service has enlarged its store at 306 North Third street. The building at 308 North Third street has been included for use as a parts department and display room for the new Delco radios.

The 1936 Delco console radios have just been received and are now on display. Many features are included in this year's model, "robot control" being the most important. By this new feature individual circuits, which must be synchronized perfectly for maximum efficiency, are controlled by precisely calibrated capacitors. A twist of the dial and the Delco tuner takes hold, bringing every circuit into resonance.

Cabinets of the Delco radios are made from beautifully matched woods and each cabinet is a fine piece of furniture, which will blend in with all types of home furnishings. There are seven Delco models available in both console and table models.

United Electric Service does all automobile electrical work, and carries a large supply of parts. These supplies include batteries, auto radios, head light lenses, Delco light plants and pumps. Radiator repairing is also done by the company. J. F. Jones is manager of the concern.

Mr. Jones stated that they were authorized distributors for United Motors, which includes many electrical parts and supplies.

The local concern is conveniently located near the downtown business section of Monroe, making it possible for cars to be left for repairs while their owners are in the business section.

BARBER SHOP HAS FOUR OPERATORS

All of the operators at E. N. Johnson barber shop have been there for more than a year and are well acquainted with the people of Monroe. They are L. A. Harveston, H. A. Jasper, "Red" Hedgepeth and E. N. Johnson. The shop is well equipped to supply any service that the customer may demand.

The latest in ladies' hair bobbing is a specialty of the shop. The different styles have been studied so that the correct bob can be given to suit the wearer.

Many peculiarities of the operators were brought out by Mr. Johnson, owner and operator.

For instance H. A. Jasper has owned a razor strap 36 years, and even then someone gave it to him as a used piece of goods. Now he wonders why he can't sharpen his razor with it.

"Red" Hedgepeth has had a pair of clippers for 18 years. L. A. Harveston said that he was so slow that the clippers get hot, making it necessary for him to have two pairs.

"Several days ago," Mr. Johnson said, "L. A. Harveston's clippers shocked a man, the electrical current knocking him from the chair. As said customer was returning to his seat someone said "Look out." In his amazement, the man stammered, "Is he going to put them on me again?"

These few instances show that E. N. Johnson barber shop is a friendly place, and a cordial invitation is extended to the people of Monroe to try this shop. A courteous shine boy is also employed.

CARS DEMONSTRATED IN 10-MINUTE PERIOD

As time goes, 10 minutes does not seem a lengthy or important period. Yet in just that length of time America smokes 2,080,000 cigarettes, 39 babies are born, over $9,500 worth of gold is mined, Boulder dam generates 258,500 kv. a. of electrical power and the News-Star—World prints 4,000 complete newspapers.

Appreciating the value of a 10-minute period in the demonstrating of motor cars and the value of the buyers' time, Pontiac dealers are concentrating on 10-minute demonstrations, condensing their sales presentations and information to fit a 10-minute period. Ten major features of the Pontiac car are explained during the 10-minute contacts—or a feature a minute.

Chevrolet Trucks In Thrilling Tests Atop Pikes Peak

In the first formally observed and timed tests of motor trucks over the perilous hairpin turns and steep switchbacks of the Pikes Peak auto highway, near Colorado Springs, Chevrolet 1½-ton and half-ton trucks demonstrated their power, endurance and efficiency over the course of the annual Labor Day hill climb contest, a distance of 12 miles, 2200 feet, with a rise of 4959 feet from the start to the summit, 14,109 feet above sea level. The upper illustrations show the 1½-ton truck, driven by W. P. Bentrup, on its way to a record of 37 minutes, 52½ seconds, with its full 3000-pound load (it made the run afterward, without load, in 26 minutes, 12 seconds), and the officials at the finish (left to right): Harry Hartz, technical advisor; Robert M. Ross, Detroit Times; Dan Kennedy, Colorado Springs Gazette and Telegraph; and John L. Jenkins, Chicago Daily News. The lower photos show the Chevrolet half-ton truck, which Harry Hartz drove to the summit in 25 minutes, 3 seconds, and the finish of the run of the 1½-ton truck with full load.

1936 OLDSMOBILE SHOWN AT MEETING

L. P. Landry, Local Dealer, Enthusiastic Over Latest Model Car

"I've seen the 1936 Oldsmobiles. I've heard about the 1936 plans. I've been told of the great production expansion and so I want to say that I am confident that 1936 will again see all records for production and sales of Oldsmobiles broken."

This was the enthusiastic statement of L. P. Landry, Oldsmobile dealer in Monroe, after returning here in one of the 1936 model Oldsmobiles from a dealer meeting at Memphis, Tenn.

"The coluntry knows Oldsmobile as "the car that has everything," he said, "and the new 1936 cars have everything plus. There is a definite advance in style leader styling, keeping Oldsmobile far in front in graceful streamline design. There are new advancements in mechanical features, augmenting those which last year resulted in such a tremendous demand for Oldsmobile cars," he said.

"The 1936 cars are big, new automobiles, beautifully designed, roomy and comfortable, and possessing all those features which have made Oldsmobile famous.

"Production of the new cars in volume is under way at Lansing. The huge new factory which has been acquired for Fisher body operations, with a half million feet of floor space, is in full swing. Cars are rolling from the longer Oldsmobile assembly line at the rate of 750 per day.

"When the cars were shown to the dealers of this area, and plans for the coming year were outlined, unanimous approval of both cars and program was expressed by the dealer organization.

"In 1935 all records were broken but these marks are destined to stand only a short time. For the 1936 models, refined and advanced in styling and engineering, are sure to reach new production and sales peaks in the closing year," Mr. Landry said.

Popularity of the 1935 Oldsmobiles was so great that when the factory was closed at the end of the 1935 production there still remained on hand a large number of unfilled retail orders. Mr. Landry pointed out. This condition is unprecedented in the industry.

"Public announcement of the new cars will be made at an early date," he said. "The factory is expanded to meet the public demand on the new models. Every one of us in the dealer organization of more than 3,000 look forward with extreme confidence to a big year for Oldsmobile in 1936."

MOTOR TRAVEL SHOWS INCREASE DURING 1935

That motor travel this year is exceeding that of any previous year since the invention of the automobile is believed to be indicated by the 120,635 highway information inquries received by the Esso touring service in the first eight months of 1935, a total greater than that for the entire year of 1934.

"Not only are inquiries from motorists this year greatly exceeding those of 1934," says the management of the touring service, "but are the greatest since the touring service was established in 1927. As the real development of touring came after that date, we feel certain that the record figures for this year indicate a new high for touring. This conclusion is borne out by the gasoline consumption figures which also are touching an all-time high."

August inquiries at the touring service totaled 23,414 this year as compared with 20,445 in 1934. Figures for succeeding months are expected to show less seasonal decline than usual as autumn motoring is growing more popular, according to the touring service.

Cotton

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Cotton slipped off around fifty cents a bale in today's brief session as hedge offerings and some long liquidation brought about an easier tone in the market.

The rift in the European war clouds brought out considerable selling by professionals who had recently purchased cotton because of the Anglo-Italian situation abroad.

The customary week-end evening up of commitments aided the bearish side and the market could make no progress toward higher levels.

December closed at 10.80, March at 10.83 and May at 10.84 with final prices at the lows of the day. Better foreign markets were disregarded from the first call.

Exports today totalled 42,741 bales.

Cotton futures closed barely steady at net declines of 7 to 11 points.

New York Stocks

By Victor Eubank
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Wall Street listened to the feeble fluttering of the European peace dove today and bought stocks at substantially higher prices.

Gains of 1 to 3 or more points were scattered over a broad front. The close was strong. Transfers approximated 900,000 shares.

Although it was realized that the partial Anglo-Italian truce was far from being a settlement of the war problem confronting the powers, it was felt that it was at least a move in the right direction. The forward domestic economic push, however, was still viewed as the principal market influence.

Commodities, including wheat and cotton, pointed downward on the more favorable political cables. Bonds were steady. Sterling recovered a cent or more in foreign exchange dealings.

Shares of farm implement companies advanced sharply, Case getting up 5 points or so. The low-priced motors were again exceptionally active, large blocks of Packard flowing over the tape at slight gains. Scattered utilities participated, but industrials were the leaders throughout. The coppers eased and the rails were little better than even.

Among the favorite gainers, many at a new year's high, were General Motors, Chrysler, Auburn, Western Union, U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Electric Auto-Lite, Deere, International Harvester, Johns-Manville, Schenley, De Pont, Westinghouse, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Armour & Wilson & Co. A loss of around 2 points was suffered by Commercial Credit.

While the lessening of war tension abroad was seen as a cheerful market factor, it was recalled that the financial sector, as a whole, has held the opinion that the Ethiopian conflagration would not be allowed to spread.

In line with the activity of automotive stocks, the announcement of General Motors of a new type of financing, eliminating carrying charges and service costs, was seen as a forerunner of similar moves by other companies in a campaign to expand sales among lower wage and salary earners.

Cotton

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Cotton slipped off around fifty cents a bale in today's brief session as hedge offerings and some long liquidation brought about an easier tone in the market.

The rift in the European war clouds brought out considerable selling by professionals who had recently purchased cotton because of the Anglo-Italian situation abroad.

The customary week-end evening up of commitments aided the bearish side and the market could make no progress toward higher levels.

December closed at 10.80, March at 10.83 and May at 10.84 with final prices at the lows of the day. Better foreign markets were disregarded from the first call.

Exports today totalled 42,741 bales.

Cotton futures closed barely steady at net declines of 7 to 11 points.

New York Stocks

By Victor Eubank

(Associated Press Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Wall Street listened to the feeble fluttering of the European peace dove today and bought stocks at substantially higher prices.

Gains of 1 to 3 or more points were scattered over a broad front. The close was strong. Transfers approximated 900,000 shares.

Although it was realized that the partial Anglo-Italian truce was far from being a settlement of the war problem confronting the powers, it was felt that it was at least a move in the right direction. The forward domestic economic push, however, was still viewed as the principal market influence.

Commodities, including wheat and cotton, pointed downward on the more favorable political cables. Bonds were steady. Sterling recovered a cent or more in foreign exchange dealings.

Shares of farm implement companies advanced sharply, Case getting up 5 points or so. The low-priced motors were again exceptionally active, large blocks of Packard flowing over the tape at slight gains. Scattered utilities participated, but industrials were the leaders throughout. The coppers eased and the rails were little better than even.

Among the favorite gainers, many at a new year's high, were General Motors, Chrysler, Auburn, Western Union, U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Electric Auto-Lite, Deere, International Harvester, Johns-Manville, Schenley, De Pont, Westinghouse, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Armour & Wilson & Co. A loss of around 2 points was suffered by Commercial Credit.

While the lessening of war tension abroad was seen as a cheerful market factor, it was recalled that the financial sector, as a whole, has held the opinion that the Ethiopian conflagration would not be allowed to spread.

In line with the activity of automotive stocks, the announcement of General Motors of a new type of financing, eliminating carrying charges and service costs, was seen as a forerunner of similar moves by other companies in a campaign to expand sales among lower wage and salary earners.

GLEE CLUBS WILL GIVE PROGRAMS

Plans Are Formulated By Musical Groups Of Northeast Center

A highly successful season is anticipated by the Glee clubs of Northeast Center of Louisiana State university directed by Roger C. Frisble. Plans have recently been outlined for important programs to be given during the next few months time.

Officers of the women's club are as follows: Gene Bounds, president; Gloria Gray, vice-president; Avonia Gerald, secretary; Mary Katherine Pennuel, treasurer; Maurice Hart, reporter.

Officers of the men's club are: Ulmer McDonald, president; Frank Mullen, vice-president; Elton Breazeale, secretary; M. D. Swayze, treasurer; A. D. Langston, reporter.

The matter of dress was simplified by the decision to adopt the same style sweater that members used in the performances given last year.

The Men's Glee club has been confronted with the difficulty of finding first tenor material. Professor Frisbie stated that instead of continuing the practice of four-part harmony, the club will be forced to rely on three-part harmony unless additional material can be secured.

Last year's members participated in the presentation of "The Messiah" in Monroe and later in Baton Rouge. Professor Frisble has urged that as many as possible plan to repeat the rendition this year.

It has been the custom for the glee clubs to sponsor musical entertainments at the college. These programs provide unusual enjoyment and at the same time serve as a means of raising funds to defray the expenses of various trips made.

Of the seven injured at the time of the wreck one later died and four others were dismissed from the sanitarium several days ago.

Four persons are known to have died as a result of the accident.

760 PROHIBITION CASES STRANDED ON DOCKETS

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Seven hundred and sixty prohibition cases are "stranded" on the dockets of Mobile county courts because Mobile county has been unable thus far to obtain a jury that believes in enforcing the dry statutes.

It was estimated today the courts will have to subpoena 228,000 veniremen and it will take approximately 19 years to clear the dockets. The court called approximately 300 veniremen to obtain a jury panel of 18 and dispose of one case by a directed verdict of acquitted during the week.

ROMANTIC RUMORS DENIED BY YOUNG SPANISH FLYER

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Juan Ignacio Pombo, 22-year-old Spanish aviator and good will flier, arrived at Newark airport today (at 6:20 a.m.) in a transport plane from Miami, and gravely denied the romantic rumors that he would wed Marie Elena Rivero, of Santander, Spain, and Mexico City.

Jaunty in a sports suit and a beret, the slight, reserved young Spaniard took great pains to explain that his recent flight from Spain to Mexico City via South America was a personal adventure that turned into an official mission for the Spanish government. He did not fly the Atlantic, he said, to plead his suit to Miss Rivero, who was in Mexico City.

Pombo will be feted by the Spanish colony in New York for the next four days, and then he will sail Wednesday noon for Spain on the liner Habana.

The bazaar will be held the first week-end in December at a place to be announced later.

The bazaar committee, comprised of Mrs. Dan Dennett, chairman, and Mrs. Malcolm Menefee and Mrs. C. B. ## DELHI GIRL, CLARKSDALE RESIDENT ARE MARRIED

DELHI, La., Oct. 19.—(Special)—An event of outstanding interest to friends in northeast Louisiana and Mississippi was the marriage of Miss Mary Jane Anding, of Delhi, to Briggs Hopson of Clarksdale, Miss., at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. L. Anding, recently.

The reception and living rooms were decorated with superb yellow chrysanthemums, while tall baskets of autumn glory were placed at vantage points about the living room. The bride, on the arm of her brother, George Anding, who gave her away in marriage, entered to the strains of Mendolhson's wedding march with Mrs. W. P. Crawford at the piano. She was radiantly lovely in a blue tailleur with grey fur and accessories to match. Her corsage was of pink sweetheart roses. Mr. Hopson's best man was C. E. McBride of Clarksdale.

A double ring ceremony by Rev. J. T. Harris of Rayville was performed while Mrs. Crawford softly played "My Dear." An informal reception followed, during which ices in shape of American Beauty roses with individual cakes were served. The wedding cake on the dining table was embossed in pink and white with sprays of Queen's Wreath. A lavish display of gifts showed the high regard in which the bride is held in this section. Only relatives and intimate friends attended the ceremony.

The bride and groom left immediately for a honeymoon in New Orleans. They will be at home to their friends at Clarksdale. A large number of relatives and friends of Mississippi attended the wedding.

TECH PREPARING FOR HOMECOMING

Alumni To Gather On Campus For Normal Game Next Saturday

RUSTON, La., Oct. 19.—(Special)—They are getting ready for the Louisiana Tech alumni to come home again.

The annual football homecoming occasion, with the Techmen and the State Normal Demons furnishing the principal attraction, will be observed Saturday afternoon, October 26.

In accordance with a Tech tradition, local college lettermen have selected a "regal party" to reign over certain festivities of the day. Nelda Nelda Nobles of Hilly will be the queen. Her attendants will include Doris Davenport, Monroe; Mary Lee Lord, Baskin; Evelyn Wall, West Monroe, and Carolyn Cupp, Ruston.

On the eve of the homecoming celebration, a huge bonfire will be started north of the new stadium, and the students will gather around to "warm up" their enthusiasm for the Tech-Normal contest the following afternoon. Preceding the bonfire, the freshman boys will stage a shirt-tail parade through the business section of Ruston.

Plans also call for another pep meeting to be held in the main auditorium from 11 to 12 o'clock Saturday morning. Graduates of the classes from 1900 to 1905, inclusive, will be special guests at this gathering.

Several hundred copies of a homecoming edition of the Tech Talk have been mailed to former students in an effort by the alumni to secure a large attendance at the celebration.

Painting of campus buildings and sidewalks, which has been done in the past by students of both Normal and Tech, will be stopped this year as the result of an agreement reached by Allen White, Arcadia, chairman of the Tech pep squad, and Dean Prather of the State Normal.

RAILROAD CLAIM AGENT IS SERIOUSLY STRICKEN

Edward M. Strong, claim agent for the Missouri Pacific railroad, was in a serious condition at the St. Francis sanitarium yesterday as the result of a paralytic stroke suffered Thursday. His condition, however, appeared to be somewhat better than on Friday, it was stated. He is not allowed to see visitors.

Mr. Strong was for a number of years ticket agent for the railroad and is a member of the municipal Democratic executive committee. He recently qualified for reelection to his political job.

GLEE CLUBS WILL GIVE PROGRAMS

Plans Are Formulated By Musical Groups Of Northeast Center

A highly successful season is anticipated by the Glee clubs of Northeast Center of Louisiana State university directed by Roger C. Frisble. Plans have recently been outlined for important programs to be given during the next few months time.

Officers of the women's club are as follows: Gene Bounds, president; Gloria Gray, vice-president; Avonia Gerald, secretary; Mary Katherine Pennuel, treasurer; Maurice Hart, reporter.

Officers of the men's club are: Ulmer McDonald, president; Frank Mullen, vice-president; Elton Breazeale, secretary; M. D. Swayze, treasurer; A. D. Langston, reporter.

The matter of dress was simplified by the decision to adopt the same style sweater that members used in the performances given last year.

The Men's Glee club has been confronted with the difficulty of finding first tenor material. Professor Frisbie stated that instead of continuing the practice of four-part harmony, the club will be forced to rely on three-part harmony unless additional material can be secured.

Last year's members participated in the presentation of "The Messiah" in Monroe and later in Baton Rouge. Professor Frisbie has urged that as many as possible plan to repeat the rendition this year.

It has been the custom for the glee clubs to sponsor musical entertainments at the college. These programs provide unusual enjoyment and at the same time serve as a means of raising funds to defray the expenses of various trips made.

A. E. Harrell, 16-year-old Corsicana, Texas, youth, who suffered a bad fracture of his right leg, is still confined to the hospital.

Of the seven injured at the time of the wreck one later died and four others were dismissed from the sanitarium several days ago.

Four persons are known to have died as a result of the accident.

760 PROHIBITION CASES STRANDED ON DOCKETS

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Seven hundred and sixty prohibition cases are "stranded" on the dockets of Mobile county courts because Mobile county has been unable thus far to obtain a jury that believes in enforcing the dry statutes.

It was estimated today the courts will have to subpoena 228,000 veniremen and it will take approximately 19 years to clear the dockets. The court called approximately 300 veniremen to obtain a jury panel of 18 and dispose of one case by a directed verdict of acquitted during the week.

ROMANTIC RUMORS DENIED BY YOUNG SPANISH FLYER

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Juan Ignacio Pombo, 22-year-old Spanish aviator and good will flier, arrived at Newark airport today (at 6:20 a.m.) in a transport plane from Miami, and gravely denied the romantic rumors that he would wed Marie Elena Rivero, of Santander, Spain, and Mexico City.

Jaunty in a sports suit and a beret, the slight, reserved young Spaniard took great pains to explain that his recent flight from Spain to Mexico City via South America was a personal adventure that turned into an official mission for the Spanish government. He did not fly the Atlantic, he said, to plead his suit to Miss Rivero, who was in Mexico City.

Pombo will be feted by the Spanish colony in New York for the next four days, and then he will sail Wednesday noon for Spain on the liner Habana.

DELHI GIRL, CLARKSDALE RESIDENT ARE MARRIED

DELHI, La., Oct. 19.—(Special)—An event of outstanding interest to friends in northeast Louisiana and Mississippi was the marriage of Miss Mary Jane Anding, of Delhi, to Briggs Hopson of Clarksdale, Miss., at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. L. Anding, recently.

The reception and living rooms were decorated with superb yellow chrysanthemums, while tall baskets of autumn glory were placed at vantage points about the living room. The bride, on the arm of her brother, George Anding, who gave her away in marriage, entered to the strains of Mendolhson's wedding march with Mrs. W. P. Crawford at the piano. She was radiantly lovely in a blue tailleur with grey fur and accessories to match. Her corsage was of pink sweetheart roses. Mr. Hopson's best man was C. E. McBride of Clarksdale.

A double ring ceremony by Rev. J. T. Harris of Rayville was performed while Mrs. Crawford softly played "My Dear." An informal reception followed, during which ices in shape of American Beauty roses with individual cakes were served. The wedding cake on the dining table was embossed in pink and white with sprays of Queen's Wreath. A lavish display of gifts showed the high regard in which the bride is held in this section. Only relatives and intimate friends attended the ceremony.

The bride and groom left immediately for a honeymoon in New Orleans. They will be at home to their friends at Clarksdale. A large number of relatives and friends of Mississippi attended the wedding.

TECH PREPARING FOR HOMECOMING

Alumni To Gather On Campus For Normal Game Next Saturday

RUSTON, La., Oct. 19.—(Special)—They are getting ready for the Louisiana Tech alumni to come home again.

The annual football homecoming occasion, with the Techmen and the State Normal Demons furnishing the principal attraction, will be observed Saturday afternoon, October 26.

In accordance with a Tech tradition, local college lettermen have selected a "regal party" to reign over certain festivities of the day. Nelda Nelda Nobles of Hilly will be the queen. Her attendants will include Doris Davenport, Monroe; Mary Lee Lord, Baskin; Evelyn Wall, West Monroe, and Carolyn Cupp, Ruston.

On the eve of the homecoming celebration, a huge bonfire will be started north of the new stadium, and the students will gather around to "warm up" their enthusiasm for the Tech-Normal contest the following afternoon. Preceding the bonfire, the freshman boys will stage a shirt-tail parade through the business section of Ruston.

Plans also call for another pep meeting to be held in the main auditorium from 11 to 12 o'clock Saturday morning. Graduates of the classes from 1900 to 1905, inclusive, will be special guests at this gathering.

Several hundred copies of a homecoming edition of the Tech Talk have been mailed to former students in an effort by the alumni to secure a large attendance at the celebration.

Painting of campus buildings and sidewalks, which has been done in the past by students of both Normal and Tech, will be stopped this year as the result of an agreement reached by Allen White, Arcadia, chairman of the Tech pep squad, and Dean Prather of the State Normal.

Monroe Society Has Taken Plunge Into Winter Activities

Junior Charity League Event Slated Oct. 26th

Psychology Is Sweeping Country; Number Of Monroe Women Are Making Study Of Character Analysis

By Eve Bradford

Injun summer! The time when all the homesick Indians come back to dance in the radiance of the harvest moon. Like Ceres they are invisible except to the imaginary eye, but their silent passing throws the woods into splendor. Some there are who believe that the drifting, crimson leaves is a sure sign of "redskins" and the haze on the horizon is the smoke from their pipes. When the "Injuns" come back from their happy hunting ground at this particular time every year, a sweet melancholy hangs in the air. Soft winds unfold a cloth of gold along the woodland pathways, a carpet of leaves from which rises faint music, a hymn as old as when the first redskin gathered fallen leaves for winter beds. Unless you have walked down the aisles of God's first cathedrals when the leaves commence to fall, you have missed something infinitely beautiful—a woodcock whistling across the path, squirrels busily engaged in storing up their winter's supply of food, robins eating dogwood berries. There are millions of berries and we remember that "He careth for the birds." How much more will He care for us if we have "the faith of even a grain of mustard seed."

Society has taken the plunge, during the past week, into real winter activity. No matter what their other engagements, the women of Monroe will check and encircle one particular date on the calendar, October the twenty-sixth, when Junior leaguers will act as hostesses on the Cherokee terrace of the Frances hotel. The cause is, of course, for sweet charity. So be there in your best bib and tucker and with your purse strings loose. The Junior league group, chairmaned by Violet Meyer, will be rather grand to look at. That poetic looking person, Merrill Bush, for instance, will be in evidence; also a raft of other favorites, Lois Bernstein, Mary Black, Georgia Kellogg, Sue Graves, Ann Platt, Violet Martin, Suzanne Kellogg. When Junior Charity league members swing into action, you can make up your mind that the winter season is launched and things are going to happen in a big way socially.

We are beginning to suspect that there is something in the wind that blows Joel Nichols and a good looking young man together for week-end trips with Joel's home folks. They came up from Baton Rouge last week. A friend who dropped in found them with heads together and they seemed very much agitated when discovered. Time will tell. Next week, perhaps, we will have something interesting to tell you.

Friends browsed around among the hors d'oeuvres, to the accompaniment of clinking cocktail glasses, at the Walter Blacks before the dance at Lakeside Country club. Such a jolly, easy way of entertaining a crowd. Every one simply loves the gaiety of it and especially so when the hospitality is tinged with that warmth of manner and graciousness found in the Black home.

Laughter is a good tonic and should be taken in large doses. That is the reason why Wilson Ewing is such a general favorite. His laughter is contagious and when it is silenced friends look for the reason. The reason last week was discovered when he appeared with his neck bandaged. A tumor was removed but he was back at his old haunts a few days later. Byron Vaughan is another favorite whose hearty laugh is one of his greatest charms. He was missed last week, socially and otherwise. When the pollen flies he stays in doors. Hay fever, you know. P. M. Atkins, whose long seige of illness was a source of great worry to his friends, has quite recovered and is once again his splendid self. Glasses were lifted high at the Frances hotel the other night when a group of friends drank to his health in commemoration of his birthday anniversary. The cutting of the birthday cake with its (?) candles placed everyone in a class with the two-year-olds.

The study of psychology is sweeping the country by storm. You would be surprised indeed if you knew the number of Monroe women who are making a study of character analysis. And no wonder, the woman of today needs a charming, many-sided personality. You are entertained, you are called on to meet strangers, there are the hours spent with your family and you may have to deal with people in business.

Some women are equal to any role they are called on to play. We say, "How lucky these women are who possess a winning personality." But is such a personality entirely a gift bestowed at birth, and not attainable otherwise? Psychologists tell us not. They tell us that women who seem charming and successful and are much admired have had to subdue certain of their traits and have developed others that are desirable. A woman inclined to talk "a mile a minute" has taught herself to speak more slowly. A fly-off-the-handle sort of woman has developed poise and a shy person has learned the charm there is in a sympathetic smile.

It is true, that we can not change our personality over-night, and merely by wishing to do so. But those who set about it with a will are able to transform themselves. First, according to the psychologists, you learn to know yourself. Find out your strong points and your weak ones. Ask yourself the effect of certain ways of behaving. Then build your personality as you would create a garden, uprooting weed-like traits and cultivating those that are lovable and that win admiration.

Today, as never before we are awakening to the need of charm. What do you remember as the most distinguishing characteristic of a man or woman you chance to meet? It is charm, nothing more, something that every one can master, understand, and express. To be always at ease and to acquire a definite individuality, the ability to attract sincere friendships, is the secret desire of every woman; so they have taken up the study of psychology that they may take advantage of the great reservoir of inner power that has been given every one.

The bride wore a stunning tailleure of chartreuse wool trimmed with galyac fur and accessories of brown. An exquisite corsage of Talisman roses and valley lilies added a distinctive note.

Prize Poem Read

An impressive incident, and one long to be remembered, was the reading of the prize-winning poem at the triennial convention of the General Federation of Women' clubs. The poem was written by a junior, Miss Anne Durrum of Denton, Texas, and was read with true appreciation by Grace Morrison Poole. It is as follows:

SOUL IN DEPARTURE

I go from this my house—my ancient house,
For time has come when I must set my face
Into the darkness; I shall not return—
It is not that I dare not come once more
To lift the latch and open wide the door;
Not that so much, as that I cannot break
The chain of steps I take into the night,
I shall not know again this hallowed place,
Caress this earth's brown face for its sweet sake,
I do not go in hot disordered flight;
I do not slink, scourged, from this loved abode,
It is my house, and I must leave it now,
Never to face about upon the road
I take—never to see its roof again.
Sunlight shall warm it, and the winter rain
Shall weather it, but I shall not be here
Today . . . tomorrow . . . or another year . . .
It is in readiness; I leave it swept
And ordered; everything lies to my hand,
And who shall see tear-stains where I have wept?
For none comes after me to dwell herein.
The night is here—and I have stepped outside.
I do not wish to go, and I have cried
Against my going, but the heavy door
Is closing, and I cannot hold it long.
It goes to—slowly—and I am not strong;
There is no turning back. I've left my house.
I should stride forth—undaunted, undismayed;
But there's no light to show the path ahead;
There is no friend to share this crust of bread
That I have brought. I must go quickly now—
But I am so alone . . . and so afraid.

Plans Near Completion

Plans for the annual convention of the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs, to be held in Natchitoches November 8 and 9, are rapidly being completed.

The Lesche club and the Fine Arts club of Natchitoches, with the other clubs of the eight district, will be hostess clubs. Mrs. Sam Levy, president of Lesche, is in charge of plans for the sessions. Mrs. Olive Long Cooper, director of the Fine Arts club, Mrs. W. M. Knott, president of the eighth district, and Mrs. Scriven Swett will assist Mrs. Levy. Miss Carmen Breazeale is general convention chairman.

Meetings will be held at the Baptist church and the city hall and the auditorium of Louisiana Normal college. Headquarters will be the Hotel Nakatosh.

Department group meetings will be an interesting innovation and the presence of Mrs. Roberta Campbell Lawson of Tulsa, Okla., president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, will be a highlight of the program. A banquet honoring Mrs. Lawson will be a feature of the convention. The theme of the convention will center around Louisiana history.

Announcement of the winners in the state contests will be of great interest.

Mrs. Turner K. Butler, insurance chairman of the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs, Ponchatoula, announces the following rules for the essay contest:

The subject shall be, "Economic Security Through Life Insurance."

First prize will be fifty dollars.

Second prize, twenty-five dollars.

All contestants must be members of the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs.

Essays should not exceed one thousand words, and should be typed on one side of paper.

Full name and address as well as club affiliation must be affixed.

The essay contest is sponsored by the Louisiana Association of Life Underwriters, and was to have been held earlier in the year and the awards to be announced at the state convention of the L. F. W. C. to be held in Natchitoches, November 8 and 9, but due to changes in the administration of the Louisiana Association of Life Underwriters, the time limit of the essay contest was lengthened until after the annual meeting of the latter organization, to be held some time in February.

The time limit of the essay contest will be announced later, and the persons to whom the essays are to be sent.

Recipe For A Smart Hat: Feathers On Red Velvet

With feathers prominent in the winter hat scene, Suzy uses wine red ones to top this toque of wine red velvet.

By Adelaide Kerr

PARIS, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Hats are coming up in the world. Crowns and trims are growing higher.

Turbans with feathers sprouting from the crown severe postilion hats with steep crowns, tall chimney toques of astrakhan, and Venetian boys' hats with a feather spearing up from a pointed tip all proclaim a coming vogue for chapeau height. Often it is the trim rather than the crown which towers, but the general trend, Paris modistes say, is growing increasingly stronger.

Some of the newest hats are as military as a drum major's uniform. Agnes designs a casque with coque feathers showering over the top like the caps worn by the cadets of St. Cyr (the French West Point). There are Napoleon hats copied after the headgear of the "little corporal," military caps with visors finished by feather cockades and field marshal hats topped by fox tails.

Feathers are much in the picture this winter. Suzy thrusts a long pheasant feather in the peaked crown of a sports hat and lets a cluster of coque feathers fall from the top of a velvet toque. Green wings spray from each side of a green felt hat with a narrow brim, a black ostrich fancy swirls over the top of a black velvet toque, a bright red feather cockade stands erect on the front of a black astrakhan toque.

Fur plays an important role in the hat pageant. There are any number of fezzes of astrakhan or leopard with high tapering crowns, some of them finished with a cluster of flowers, others touched with a bright feather. The brim of a small black felt breton is rimmed with a band of Persian lamb and an antelope tam-o-shanter beret is centered with a circle and button of black astrakhan.

Most of the smartest hats are creeping further over foreheads and the off-the-face line is sliding gradually from the scene. Veils are still here. Sometimes they are perched in a frothy ruff on the back of a small hat, again they are draped in front to film the eyes.

Black is the favorite hue in smart chapeaux. Brown is much used for sports models, while dark wine red and deep green are seen in hats to accompany coats of those colors.

'Rush Parties' Staged

The Greeks may have had a word for it, but sorority members call their fall activities "rush parties." Members of Delta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi rushed to and fro last week entertaining pledges and, incidentally, having a wonderful time themselves. A dancing party and a tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Jarmons paved the way for a Hallowe'en festival at the home of Miss Mary McCord. Attending the dance were Virginia Simms and Wilds Ross, Diana Powers and "Blimp" Manning, Linda Erick and Jules Furlow, Kitty Barr and Clinton McGehee, Louise Simms and J. W. Blanchard, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Veasey, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Jarmon, Mr. and Mrs. Allen West, Jane Warren and Earl Cobb, Jerry Wilkes and Troy Hendricks.

Present at the Hallowe'en affair were Misses Virginia Simms, Louise Simms, Diana Powers, Lucy Hanchey, Winnifred Maroney, Mary McCord, Linda Erick, Mary Elizabeth Jarmon, Kitty Barr, Joy Wilder, Mrs. W. J. Veasey, Jane Warren, Dorothy Brown, Ruth Murphy, Dara Brown, Dorothy Lively, Jerry Wilkes, Anna Mae West.

Officers of the chapter for 1936 are: President, Mrs. Joy Wilder; vice-president, Winnifred Maroney; recording secretary, Lucy Hanchey; corresponding secretary, Kitty Barr; treasurer, Louise Simms.

Mode Gay, Feminine

It's a gay mode and a feminine one this season. Draperies swirl. Military capes swish. Gorgeous silks rustle and gleam. With the quality trend uppermost in the fashion consciousness of women everywhere.

Women are marching in fashionable array—silk frogs parading over wool-like silk sheers, lame and gold lace adding a military touch to rich crepes and luxrious velvets, velvet capes unfurled over stiff brocaded evening gowns and sheer supple silks are a-glitter with paillettes.

Imagine the time when silk was privileged only to males—who had to be generals, at that! An empress—Alexander's wife—cried in vain for a silk dress, never dreaming that the day would come when women would balance their budgets with silk.

With all the feminine qualities of the mode and the trend toward elaboration, women know that they must choose dresses in fabrics which will keep fresh and new or they will never attain that well-groomed look which is the goal of all really smart women.

If you're going to be the Greek goddess type, in soft statuesque, draperies for evening and restrained draped folds for daytime, choose one of the new heavy silk sheers with a mat surface, or a supple silk crepe. They are ideal for draped dresses because they have such a lovely, heavy hand and because their natural elasticity allows them to fall in deep, sculptural folds without looking heavy or without dragging and pulling. In your evening gowns, let your skirts flow from the waistline in rippling fullness or let a truly classic drapery swirl from one side of the skirt to the other. Your bodice, too, can be draped and you can let a scarf float from one shoulder.

You may prefer the crisper outline of pleats. Nothing is sadder than a pleat that has lost its "plentyness"—that sags and bulges and must be pressed every time the dress is worn. In silks, those fan-like pleated insets in the sheer silk crepe evening dress which makes you look like a Tanagra figurine will stay flat and fan-like. The bosom of the bright silk chiffon blouse you bought to go with that new wool suit will hold its smooth pleats. Your grainy silk crepe afternoon dress with pleats all around the skirt from the knees will stay pencil slim, instead of ballooning out like a ballet costume.

There is something very young and up-and-coming about a pleated skirt. It suggests action and freedom. When coupled with a hip-length jacket there's no stopping it. Pleated skirts, like others for street wear are shorter. They are pleated in groups or all around, and are in plain black or autumnal colorings.

House Guest Entertained

Mrs. R. R. Reynolds' compliment to her house guest, Mrs. J. F. Roberts of Los Angeles, Calif., was a beautifully planned bridge affair at her home on North Third street last week.

A golden color theme, reminiscent of the autumnal season, was portrayed in the garden flowers grouped in artistic array in the reception suite.

Handsome gifts were presented to Mrs. Sydney Kahn, Mrs. D. R. Patterson and Mrs. Basil Risher for high scores and consolation and to Mrs. Roberts for remembrance.

A distinct feature of the afternoon's courtesies was the serving of the delicious refreshments at beautifully appointed linen covered tables.

Invited to meet Mrs. Roberts were Mmes. D. R. Patterson, Eugene Lutz, D. Kramer, Basil Risher, Irving Wolf, J. R. Andrews, John Fracher, Sydney Kahn, Meyer Greenwall, Paul Keller, H. Roberts and W. N. Clark.

Mrs. H. H. Baur, who underwent an operation for appendicitis Friday at St. Francis sanitarium is convalescing nicely. She may be visited by her friends after Monday. Her room number is 231.

Mrs. Guy E. Browne of San Antonio and Mrs. R. R. Brantom of New Orleans, instructors in the Standard Training school commencing today at the First Methodist church, are guests while in the city of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hale on Glenmar avenue.

Miss Elizabeth Hudson is spending the week-end with friends in Shreveport and attended the L. S. U.-Arkansas football game yesterday.

Peace Education Urged

The Peace Council of Louisiana, in its efforts to promote world peace, has unanimously decided to focus all efforts along educational lines. The first meeting of the year 1935-1936 will be held late in this October in New Orleans. The meeting will be open to the membership and general public.

The inspirational speaker will be Miss Jeanette Rankin. Miss Rankin is nationally listed with the platform speakers of understanding of the essentials of her subject.

Mary Hobson Jones, educational secretary, Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, in her article entitled "Educating for World Citizenship," among other things, says: "The time has come when all of us must look beyond our limited horizons to the world about us. The question of international peace is one of the stirring problems of the hour and demands the attention of us all. Whether we be priest or layman, pupil or teacher, industrial magnate or day laborer, this question of world peace affects us. In the successful solution of this problem lies the welfare of every nation and the future development and happiness of the youth of every land.

Mrs. John Shuttleworth, fourth district vice-president of the council of peace and chairman of the loan scholarship of Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs, says:

"One of the corner stones of world peace is an intelligent and peace-minded public. A safe and strong foundation stone which can come through education. Peace education is a strong factor that should concern the educators of today, for the boys and girls in our schools of today will form the backbone of public opinion of the futures.

"To guide these young minds, to formulate fine traits of character, to develop clear and logical habits of thinking and power of discrimination and evaluation, and to foster attitudes that will make for their development as well as a world society—these are the glorious tasks that are alloted to educators. Therefore, it would seem that educators hold the fate of our present civilization in their hands. Such responsibility is not only an honor and a privilege, but also a challenge.

"Will the women of the Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs accept the challenge and each have a definite part of not less than $1 each to add to their district, club, and state scholarships during this October? Make it personal—enlist for permanency in the forward step for future honor and glory.

"Today is the accepted time for action that counts."

Reading Suggested

The nights are close at hand when the greatest comfort to be found is staying at home, close to your own fireside with a good book. It is suggested that the conflict in Ethiopia makes timely a reading or rereading of Dr. Samuel Johnson's "Rasselas, Prince of Abysinnia," because this tale is not only a great and often overlooked classis, but contains a prophesy of flying, an imaginary picture of an army sailing through the clouds against which "neither security walls nor mountains nor seas could afford any security." It also pictures "a flight of northern savages" who "might hover in the wind and light at once with irresistible violence upon the capitol of a fruitful region that was rolling under them."

Where there is to be no detraction from their aptness or from the value of "Rasselas" on its own account, it must be observed that there are zealous readers who are prepared to cite Biblical prophecies not only of the airplane, but of the motor car, the railroad train and even the radio.

There are those who might desire a more pleasing advance report on flying dating back a century and nearly seventy years ahead of the Wright brothers. They might look into Tennyson's "Locksley Hall' and find this:

Saw the heavens fill with commerce, argosies of magic sails,
Pilots of the purple twilight, dropping down with costly bales.
But the same prophet also—
Heard the heavens fill with shouting, and there rain'd a ghastly dew
From the nations' airy navies grappling in the central blue.
The conflict would continue—
Till the war drum throbb'd no longer, and the battle-flags were furl'd
In the Parliament of man, the federation of the world.

Now that last could mean only the final triumph of the League of Nations!

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Roberts of Los Angeles, guests in the home last week of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Reynolds, are now en route to Louisville, Ky., for a visit with friends.

Dr. and Mrs. Neil Bule motored over to Shreveport yesterday to attend the L. S. U.-Arkansas football game.

Anna Joyce Coates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Coates of West Monroe, is convalescing from a recent tonsillectomy performed at St. Francis sanitarium.

International Relations

"International Relations" is a subject that is now engaging the interest of Twentieth Century Book club members. Mrs. Flood Madison spoke at length on this subject at the regular meeting with Mrs. Arthur Dryburgh last week. Mrs. Louis Hullum reviewed the novel "The Terrible Meek."

Russian music, in keeping with the subject of the day, was contributed by Mrs. Henry Whitfield, soloist, and Mrs. J. B. Kugler, a guest of the club.

Mrs. Dryburgh served a luscious refreshment course during the social hour. Guests of the club, in addition to Mrs. Kugler, were Mrs. Frank Farmer, Mrs. Bradley Waelder and Mrs. J. Q. Graves.

Monroe Society Has Taken Plunge Into Winter Activities

Junior Charity League Event Slated Oct. 26th

Psychology Is Sweeping Country; Number Of Monroe Women Are Making Study Of Character Analysis

By Eve Bradford

Injun summer! The time when all the homesick Indians come back to dance in the radiance of the harvest moon. Like Ceres they are invisible except to the imaginary eye, but their silent passing throws the woods into splendor. Some there are who believe that the drifting, crimson leaves is a sure sign of "redskins" and the haze on the horizon is the smoke from their pipes. When the "Injuns" come back from their happy hunting ground at this particular time every year, a sweet melancholy hangs in the air. Soft winds unfold a cloth of gold along the woodland pathways, a carpet of leaves from which rises faint music, a hymn as old as when the first redskin gathered fallen leaves for winter beds. Unless you have walked down the aisles of God's first cathedrals when the leaves commence to fall, you have missed something infinitely beautiful—a woodcock whistling across the path, squirrels busily engaged in storing up their winter's supply of food, robins eating dogwood berries. There are millions of berries and we remember that "He careth for the birds." How much more will He care for us if we have "the faith of even a grain of mustard seed."

Society has taken the plunge, during the past week, into real winter activity. No matter what their other engagements, the women of Monroe will check and encircle one particular date on the calendar, October the twenty-sixth, when Junior leaguers will act as hostesses on the Cherokee terrace of the Frances hotel. The cause is, of course, for sweet charity. So be there in your best bib and tucker and with your purse strings loose. The Junior league group, chairmaned by Violet Meyer, will be rather grand to look at. That poetic looking person, Merrill Bush, for instance, will be in evidence; also a raft of other favorites, Lois Bernstein, Mary Black, Georgia Kellogg, Sue Graves, Ann Platt, Violet Martin, Suzonne Kellogg. When Junior Charity league members swing into action, you can make up your mind that the winter season is launched and things are going to happen in a big way socially.

We are beginning to suspect that there is something in the wind that blows Joel Nichols and a good looking young man together for week-end trips with Joel's home folks. They came up from Baton Rouge last week. A friend who dropped in found them with heads together and they seemed very much agitated when discovered. Time will tell. Next week, perhaps, we will have something interesting to tell you.

Friends browsed around among the hors d'oeuvres, to the accompaniment of clinking cocktail glasses, at the Walter Blacks before the dance at Lakeside Country club. Such a jolly, easy way of entertaining a crowd. Every one simply loves the gaiety of it and especially so when the hospitality is tinged with that warmth of manner and graciousness found in the Black home.

Laughter is a good tonic and should be taken in large doses. That is the reason why Wilson Ewing is such a general favorite. His laughter is contagious and when it is silenced friends look for the reason. The reason last week was discovered when he appeared with his neck bandaged. A tumor was removed but he was back at his old haunts a few days later. Byron Vaughan is another favorite whose hearty laugh is one of his greatest charms. He was missed last week, socially and otherwise. When the pollen flies he stays in doors. Hay fever, you know. P. M. Atkins, whose long seige of illness was a source of great worry to his friends, has quite recovered and is once again his splendid self. Glasses were lifted high at the Frances hotel the other night when a group of friends drank to his health in commemoration of his birthday anniversary. The cutting of the birthday cake with its (?) candles placed everyone in a class with the two-year-olds.

The study of psychology is sweeping the country by storm. You would be surprised indeed if you knew the number of Monroe women who are making a study of character analysis. And no wonder, the woman of today needs a charming, many-sided personality. You are entertained, you are called on to meet strangers, there are the hours spent with your family and you may have to deal with people in business.

Some women are equal to any role they are called on to play. We say, "How lucky these women are who possess a winning personality." But is such a personality entirely a gift bestowed at birth, and not attainable otherwise? Psychologists tell us not. They tell us that women who seem charming and successful and are much admired have had to subdue certain of their traits and have developed others that are desirable. A woman inclined to talk "a mile a minute" has taught herself to speak more slowly. A fly-off-the-handle sort of woman has developed poise and a shy person has learned the charm there is in a sympathetic smile.

It is true, that we can not change our personality over-night, and merely by wishing to do so. But those who set about it with a will are able to transform themselves. First, according to the psychologists, you learn to know yourself. Find out your strong points and your weak ones. Ask yourself the effect of certain ways of behaving. Then build your personality as you would create a garden, uprooting weed-like traits and cultivating those that are lovable and that win admiration.

Today, as never before we are awakening to the need of charm. What do you remember as the most distinguishing characteristic of a man or woman you chance to meet? It is charm, nothing more, something that every one can master, understand, and express. To be always at ease and to acquire a definite individuality, the ability to attract sincere friendships, is the secret desire of every woman, so they have taken up the study of psychology that they may take advantage of the great reservoir of inner power that has been given every one.

Jackson, Saturday, October the twelfth, at the Methodist church parsonage, with the pastor, Reverend W. C. Scott, officiating in the presence of a few intimate friends.

The bride wore a stunning tailleure of chartreuse wool trimmed with galyac fur and accessories of brown. An exquisite corsage of Talisman roses and valley lilies added a distinctive note.

Mrs. William Montgomery of Bastrop, the bride's attendant, wore a smart beige model trimmed in beaver. Brown accessories were worn. Mr. F. E. McVay acted as groomsman.

Prize Poem Read

An impressive incident, and one long to be remembered, was the reading of the prize-winning poem at the triennial convention of the General Federation of Women' clubs. The poem was written by a junior, Miss Anne Durrum of Denton, Texas, and was read with true appreciation by Grace Morrison Poole. It is as follows:

SOUL IN DEPARTURE

I go from this my house—my ancient house,
For time has come when I must set my face
Into the darkness; I shall not return—
It is not that I dare not come once more
To lift the latch and open wide the door;
Not that so much, as that I cannot break
The chain of steps I take into the night,
I shall not know again this hallowed place,
Caress this earth's brown face for its sweet sake,
I do not go in hot disordered flight;
I do not slink, scourged, from this loved abode,
It is my house, and I must leave it now,
Never to face about upon the road
I take—never to see its roof again.
Sunlight shall warm it, and the winter rain
Shall weather it, but I shall not be here
Today . . . tomorrow . . . or another year . . .
It is in readiness; I leave it swept
And ordered; everything lies to my hand,
And who shall see tear-stains where I have wept?
For none comes after me to dwell herein.
The night is here—and I have stepped outside.
I do not wish to go, and I have cried
Against my going, but the heavy door
Is closing, and I cannot hold it long.
It goes to—slowly—and I am not strong;
There is no turning back. I've left my house,
I should stride forth—undaunted, undismayed;
But there's no light to show the path ahead;
There is no friend to share this crust of bread
That I have brought. I must go quickly now—
But I am so alone . . . and so afraid.

Plans Near Completion

Plans for the annual convention of the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs, to be held in Natchitoches November 8 and 9, are rapidly being completed.

The Lesche club and the Fine Arts club of Natchitoches, with the other clubs of the eight district, will be hostess clubs. Mrs. Sam Levy, president of Lesche, is in charge of plans for the sessions. Mrs. Olive Long Cooper, director of the Fine Arts club, Mrs. W. M. Knott, president of the eighth district, and Mrs. Scriven Swett will assist Mrs. Levy. Miss Carmen Breazeale is general convention chairman.

Meetings will be held at the Baptist church and the city hall and the auditorium of Louisiana Normal college. Headquarters will be the Hotel Nakatosh.

Department group meetings will be an interesting innovation and the presence of Mrs. Roberta Campbell Lawson of Tulsa, Okla., president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, will be a highlight of the program. A banquet honoring Mrs. Lawson will be a feature of the convention. The theme of the convention will center around Louisiana history.

Announcement of the winners in the state contests will be of great interest.

Mrs. Turner K. Butler, insurance chairman of the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs, Ponchatoula, announces the following rules for the essay contest:

The subject shall be, "Economic Security Through Life Insurance."

First prize will be fifty dollars.

Second prize, twenty-five dollars.

All contestants must be members of the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs.

Essays should not exceed one thousand words, and should be typed on one side of paper.

Full name and address as well as club affiliation must be affixed.

The essay contest is sponsored by the Louisiana Association of Life Underwriters, and was to have been held earlier in the year and the awards to be announced at the state convention of the L. F. W. C. to be held in Natchitoches, November 8 and 9, but due to changes in the administration of the Louisiana Association of Life Underwriters, the time limit of the essay contest was lengthened until after the annual meeting of the latter organization, to be held some time in February.

The time limit of the essay contest will be announced later, and the persons to whom the essays are to be sent.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Morgan motored to Greenfield, Mo., where they will enjoy a visit with their son, Carl, a student at Kemper Military school.

Recipe For A Smart Hat: Feathers On Red Velvet

With feathers prominent in the winter hat scene, Suzy uses wine red ones to top this toque of wine red velvet.

By Adelaide Kerr

PARIS, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Hats are coming up in the world. Crowns and trims are growing higher.

Turbans with feathers sprouting from the crown severe postilion hats with steep crowns, tall chimney toques of astrakhan, and Venetian boys' hats with a feather spearing up from a pointed tip all proclaim a coming vogue for chapeau height. Often it is the trim rather than the crown which towers, but the general trend, Paris modistes say, is growing increasingly stronger.

Some of the newest hats are as military as a drum major's uniform. Agnes designs a casque with coque feathers showering over the top like the caps worn by the cadets of St. Cyr (the French West Point). There are Napoleon hats copied after the headgear of the "little corporal," military caps with visors finished by feather cockades and field marshal hats topped by fox tails.

Feathers are much in the picture this winter. Suzy thrusts a long pheasant feather in the peaked crown of a sports hat and lets a cluster of coque feathers fall from the top of a velvet toque. Green wings spray from each side of a green felt hat with a narrow brim, a black ostrich fancy swirls over the top of a black velvet toque, a bright red feather cockade stands erect on the front of a black astrakhan toque.

Fur plays an important role in the hat pageant. There are any number of fezzes of astrakhan or leopard with high tapering crowns, some of them finished with a cluster of flowers, others touched with a bright feather. The brim of a small black felt breton is rimmed with a band of Persian lamb and an antelope tam-o-shanter beret is centered with a circle and button of black astrakhan.

Most of the smartest hats are creeping further over foreheads and the off-the-face line is sliding gradually from the scene. Veils are still here. Sometimes they are perched in a frothy ruff on the back of a small hat, again they are draped in front to film the eyes.

Black is the favorite hue in smart chapeaux. Brown is much used for sports models, while dark wine red and deep green are seen in hats to accompany coats of those colors.

'Rush Parties' Staged

The Greeks may have had a word for it, but sorority members call their fall activities "rush parties." Members of Delta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi rushed to and fro last week entertaining pledges and, incidentally, having a wonderful time themselves. A dancing party and a tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Jarmons paved the way for a Hallowe'en festival at the home of Miss Mary McCord. Attending the dance were Virginia Simms and Wilds Ross, Diana Powers and "Blimp" Manning, Linda Erick and Jules Furlow, Kitty Barr and Clinton McGehee, Louise Simms and J. W. Blanchard, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Veasey, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. W. L Jarmon, Mr. and Mrs. Allen West, Jane Warren and Earl Cobb, Jerry Wilkes and Troy Hendricks.

Present at the Hallowe'en affair were Misses Virginia Simms, Louise Simms, Diana Powers, Lucy Hanchey, Winnifred Maroney, Mary McCord, Linda Erick, Mary Elizabeth Jarmon, Kitty Barr, Joy Wilder, Mrs. W. J. Veasey, Jane Warren, Dorothy Brown, Ruth Murphy, Dara Brown, Dorothy Lively, Jerry Wilkes, Anna Mae West.

Officers of the chapter for 1936 are: President, Mrs. Joy Wilder; vice-president, Winnifred Maroney; recording secretary, Lucy Hanchey; corresponding secretary, Kitty Barr; treasurer, Louise Simms.

Mode Gay, Feminine

It's a gay mode and a feminine one this season. Draperies swirl. Military capes swish. Gorgeous silks rustle and gleam. With the quality trend uppermost in the fashion consciousness of women everywhere.

Women are marching in fashionable array—silk frogs parading over wool-like silk sheers, lame and gold lace adding a military touch to rich crepes and luxrious velvets, velvet capes unfurled over stiff brocaded evening gowns and sheer supple silks are aglitter with paillettes.

Imagine the time when silk was privileged only to males—who had to be generals, at that! An empress—Alexander's wife—cried in vain for a silk dress, never dreaming that the day would come when women would balance their budgets with silk.

With all the feminine qualities of the mode and the trend toward elaboration, women know that they must choose dresses in fabrics which will keep fresh and new or they will never attain that well-groomed look which is the goal of all really smart women.

If you're going to be the Greek goddess type, in soft statuesque, draperies for evening and restrained draped folds for daytime, choose one of the new heavy silk sheers with a mat surface, or a supple silk crepe. They are ideal for draped dresses because they have such a lovely, heavy hand and because their natural elasticity allows them to fall in deep, sculptural folds without looking heavy or without dragging and pulling. In your evening gowns, let your skirts flow from the waistline in rippling fullness or let a truly classic drapery swirl from one side of the skirt to the other. Your bodice, too, can be draped and you can let a scarf float from one shoulder.

You may prefer the crisper outline of pleats. Nothing is sadder than a pleat that has lost its "plentyness"—that sags and bulges and must be pressed every time the dress is worn. In silks, those fan-like pleated insets in the sheer silk crepe evening dress which makes you look like a Tanagra figurine will stay flat and fan-like. The bosom of the bright silk chiffon blouse you bought to go with that new wool suit will hold its smooth pleats. Your grainy silk crepe afternoon dress with pleats all around the skirt from the knees will stay pencil slim, instead of ballooning out like a ballet costume.

There is something very young and up-and-coming about a pleated skirt. It suggests action and freedom. When coupled with a hip-length jacket there's no stopping it. Pleated skirts, like others for street wear are shorter. They are pleated in groups or all around, and are in plain black or autumnal colorings.

House Guest Entertained

Mrs. R. R. Reynolds' compliment to her house guest, Mrs. J. F. Roberts of Los Angeles, Calif., was a beautifully planned bridge affair at her home on North Third street last week.

A golden color theme, reminiscent of the autumnal season, was portrayed in the garden flowers grouped in artistic array in the reception suite.

Handsome gifts were presented to Mrs. Sydney Kahn, Mrs. D. R. Patterson and Mrs. Basil Risher for high scores and consolation and to Mrs. Roberts for remembrance.

A distinct feature of the afternoon's courtesies was the serving of the delicious refreshments at beautifully appointed linen covered tables.

Invited to meet Mrs. Roberts were Mmes. D. R. Patterson, Eugene Lutz, D. Kramer, Basil Risher, Irving Wolf, J. R. Andrews, John Pracher, Sydney Kahn, Meyer Greenwall, Paul Keller, H. Roberts and W. N. Clark.

Mrs. H. H. Baur, who underwent an operation for appendicitis Friday at St. Francis sanitarium is convalescing nicely. She may be visited by her friends after Monday. Her room number is 231.

Mrs. Guy E. Browne of San Antonio and Mrs. R. R. Brantom of New Orleans, instructors in the Standard Training school commencing today at the First Methodist church, are guests while in the city of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hale on Glenmar avenue.

Miss Elizabeth Hudson is spending the week-end with friends in Shreveport and attended the L. S. U.-Arkansas football game yesterday.

Peace Education Urged

The Peace Council of Louisiana, in its efforts to promote world peace, has unanimously decided to focus all efforts along educational lines. The first meeting of the year 1935-1936 will be held late in this October in New Orleans. The meeting will be open to the membership and general public.

The inspirational speaker will be Miss Jeanette Rankin. Miss Rankin is nationally listed with the platform speakers of understanding of the essentials of her subject.

Mary Hobson Jones, educational secretary, Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, in her article entitled "Educating for World Citizenship," among other things, says: "The time has come when all of us must look beyond our limited horizons to the world about us. The question of international peace is one of the stirring problems of the hour and demands the attention of us all. Whether we be priest or layman, pupil or teacher, industrial magnate or day laborer, this question of world peace affects us. In the successful solution of this problem lies the welfare of every nation and the future development and happiness of the youth of every land.

Mrs. John Shuttleworth, fourth district vice-president of the council of peace and chairman of the loan scholarship of Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs, says:

"One of the corner stones of world peace is an intelligent and peace-minded public. A safe and strong foundation stone which can come through education. Peace education is a strong factor that should concern the educators of today, for the boys and girls in our schools of today will form the backbone of public opinion of the futures.

"To guide these young minds, to formulate fine traits of character, to develop clear and logical habits of thinking and power of discrimination and evaluation, and to foster attitudes that will make for their development as well as a world society—these are the glorious tasks that are alloted to educators. Therefore, it would seem that educators hold the fate of our present civilization in their hands. Such responsibility is not only an honor and a privilege, but also a challenge.

"Will the women of the Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs accept the challenge and each have a definite part of not less than $1 each to add to their district, club, and state scholarships during this October? Make it personal—enlist for permanency in the forward step for future honor and glory.

"Today is the accepted time for action that counts."

Reading Suggested

The nights are close at hand when the greatest comfort to be found is staying at home, close to your own fireside with a good book. It is suggested that the conflict in Ethiopia makes timely a reading or rereading of Dr. Samuel Johnson's "Rasselas, Prince of Abysinnia," because this tale is not only a great and often overlooked classis, but contains a prophesy of flying, an imaginary picture of an army sailing through the clouds against which "neither security walls nor mountains nor seas could afford any security." It also pictures "a flight of northern savages" who "might hover in the wind and light at once with irresistible violence upon the capitol of a fruitful region that was rolling under them."

Where there is to be no detraction from their aptness or from the value of "Rasselas" on its own account, it must be observed that there are zealous readers who are prepared to cite Biblical prophecies not only of the airplane, but of the motor car, the railroad train and even the radio.

There are those who might desire a more pleasing advance report on flying dating back a century and nearly seventy years ahead of the Wright brothers. They might look into Tennyson's "Locksley Hall' and find this:

Saw the heavens fill with commerce, argosies of magic sails,
Pilots of the purple twilight, dropping down with costly bales.
But the same prophet also—
Heard the heavens fill with shouting, and there rain'd a ghastly dew
From the nations' airy navies grappling in the central blue.
The conflict would continue—
Till the war drum throbb'd no longer, and the battle-flags were furl'd
In the Parliament of man, the federation of the world.

Now that last could mean only the final triumph of the League of Nations!

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Roberts of Los Angeles, guests in the home last week of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Reynolds, are now en route to Louisville, Ky., for a visit with friends.

Dr. and Mrs. Neil Buie motored over to Shreveport yesterday to attend the L. S. U.-Arkansas football game.

Anna Joyce Coates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Coates of West Monroe, is convalescing from a recent tonsillectomy performed at St. Francis sanitarium.

International Relations

"International Relations" is a subject that is now engaging the interest of Twentieth Century Book club members. Mrs. Flood Madison spoke at length on this subject at the regular meeting with Mrs. Arthur Dryburgh last week. Mrs. Louis Hullum reviewed the novel "The Terrible Meek."

Russian music, in keeping with the subject of the day, was contributed by Mrs. Henry Whitfield, soloist, and Mrs. J. B. Kugler, a guest of the club.

Mrs. Dryburgh served a luscious refreshment course during the social hour. Guests of the club, in addition to Mrs. Kugler, were Mrs. Frank Farmer, Mrs. Bradley Waelder and Mrs. J. Q. Graves.

Feminine Golfers Of Lakeside Club Prepare For Tournament

Many Seen On Links Practicing For Event

Enthusiasm Is Being Shown; Mrs. H. W. Roemer In Charge Of Plans; Prizes To Be Awarded Contestants

Feminine golfers at Lakeside Country club are greeting autumn along the fairways, fringed with flaming gum trees, crimson sumach and tall trees festooned with mistletoe that is now putting out waxen berries in readiness for the approaching season of festivity. The towering live oaks supply a verdant green background for the links throughout the year.

Ready to match the briskness of these perfect fall days, feminine golfers are seen daily strolling along the links, adding splashes of color to the landscape with their sports attire, rivaling Joseph's coat of many colors. Golf balls singing down the fairways and the click of brassie shots is sweet music to the ears of golf enthusiasts who are getting in form for one of the busiest seasons Lakeside club has ever known. Interest is running high and golf clubs that have been collecting dust for the past year are being brought out, polished and placed in readiness for daily practice play.

Mrs. H. W. Roemer, chairman of feminine golf activities, is responsible, more or less, for the display of enthusiasm. She is one of the star players and counts that day lost without her round of golf.

Mrs. Roemer announces plans perfected for the handicap tournament, qualifying for which will be completed on Tuesday. Handsome prizes contributed by the merchants, members of the club, will be awarded for low net score, medalist score and consolation and for winners and runners-up. Prizes will also be awarded for approaching and driving.

Interest is not only mounting high in the golf and bridge tournaments and the semi-weekly luncheons, but also in the monthly dancing parties and the stag supper, when the male members have the club house to themselves and are served sumptuous barbecue or Dutch suppers.

Bridge, Golf Enjoyed

Those sun-drenched, golden days of early autumn are being enjoyed to the fullest by feminine members of Lakeside Country club, who are seen almost daily on the golf links and on Wednesdays at the clubhouse, where luncheon and bridge claim their attention.

Last week's luncheon-bridge and golf tournament claimed an unusually large number of members, who enjoyed rubber bridge during the afternoon. The prize winners were Mrs. C. B. White and Mrs. A. V. Miller. Golf balls were presented to Miss Violet Meyer, Mrs. John Sherrouse and Mrs. S. Girault as a result of the golf tournament.

Of interest during the luncheon hour was the presentation of the handsome silver cup to Mrs. Travis Oliver, winner of the vice president's tournament played in the early spring. Mrs. H. W. Roemer, chairman of golf activities, presented the cup in behalf of Mr. A. B. Clarkson, vice president of Lakeside club.

Members present were: Mmes. Carl McHenry, F. P. Stubbs, Louis Milner, Ben Downing, George Lester, Louis Landry, C. E. McRoberts, Francis Faulk, Travis Oliver, Fred Millsaps, Milling Bernstein, Porter Burgess, A. V. Miller, C. B. White, Claude Harrison, George Hyle, H. H. Reardon, W. E. Reardon, Robert Kellogg, Charles Wallace, John Godfrey, Joseph Washburn, John Sherrouse, E. S. Girault, Marvyn Johnson, Nathan Gaston, W. E. Dathrum, A. L. Harrington, H. W. Roemer, J. R. Lathram, Howard Peevy and Bernard Biedenharn, and Miss Violet Meyer.

Bastrop

A wedding of quiet simplicity was that of Miss Lula Mae Page and Mr. Hoffman Jones, which was solemnized Saturday evening, October 12, at the home of the bride's parents on East Madison street. The impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. H. M. Bennett before an improvised alter beautifully decorated with pink roses and ferns.

The bride was lovely in a mahogany crepe ensemble with harmonizing accessories and wore a corsage of Talisman rose buds. Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow McBride of Monroe were the only attendants. Mrs. Jones is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Page and is a graduate of Dodd college and of Louisiana Tech. Mr. Jones is a native of Dallas but has made Bastrop his home for the past several years. The bride and bridegroom left immediately after the ceremony on a brief wedding trip and are now comfortably established at their home in the McMeans apartments.

Two popular young couples, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow McBride, whose marriage was an interesting event of October 5, and Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman Jones, who were married October 12, were honor guests at a delightful affair given Thursday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Miller entertained at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Storey in South Washington street. The occasion was a miscellaneous shower.

The reception suite was decorated in a manner to carry out the Halloween effect. Jack-o-lanterns, black cats, Witches and goblins were conspicuous in the scheme of the decorations. The Halloween motif was also noted in the delicious refreshments served before departure.

Interesting games and contests, significant of the occasion, filled the pleasurable hours and as a climax to the enjoyable evening, Mrs. McBride and Mrs. Jones were sent on a treasure hunt, the end of their quest being a veritable mound of handsome and useful gifts, presented by their friends.

Those sharing Mr. and Mrs. Miller's hospitality with the honor guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Ferrell McLeod, Mr. and Mrs. John Penninger, Misses Eleanor Pomeroy, Beatrice Mitchell, Sarah Jane Hurst, Arline Mixon, Evelyn Albright, Messrs. Duncan Buford, Ben Stanley, Joe Stanley, Frank Holloway and James Holt.

Mrs. Isaac Chapman was hostess to the Pot Pourri Book club on Thursday afternoon. After a brief business session, Mrs. Estelle B. Harris, president, greeted Mrs. Ferd Wolff and Mrs. David Snyder, who were guests, and on this occasion the entire club welcomed a beloved member, Mrs. S. A. Leopold, their vice-president, who has been absent for some time.

A most interesting program on Oriental rugs was given by Mrs. H. L. Seligman and Mrs. Jake Kern, both of whom gave splendid papers showing much comprehensive study. Miss Jean Page then gave selections from the Hubaiyat of Omar Khayyam.

Mrs. Chapman assisted by her mother, Mrs. Wanger, served delicious refreshments to the following: Mesdames Estelle B. Harris, S. A. Leopold, Jake Kern, H. I. Seligman, James Madison, George T. Madison, A. C. Volk, A. H. Brook, H. F. Madison, McVea Young, R. E. Fullenwider, W. T. Smith, J. B. Tisdale, F. L. Billington, Ferd Wolff, David Snyder and Miss Jean Page.

CHAPTER VIII

Ruth did not realize her own exhausted condition. When she sank into a deep, dreamless sleep it was not to waken at daybreak, as she had planned, but in response to a knock on her door hours later.

Sitting up in consternation, she cried, "Come in!" and there entered the old woman with bent back and peering eyes.

"Oh!" cried Ruth. "I meant—" She stopped abruptly, for, of course she could not say, "I meant to run away before you caught me!"

"I was worried about you, Miss Elaine. Are you feeling better? And will you take your breakfast now?"

Ruth thought, "Now I'm in it up to my neck!" Yet a lilting happiness mingled with her dismay. She would have to spend another day here and another night! In this situation there were blended three elements that cheered her: adventure, a little respite from her wanderings, and (most important of all) the chance of seeing once more the young man named John.

"Oh, Lawsy me!" exclaimed the old woman. "Are you too sick to talk, Miss Elaine?" She came to the bed and put her hand on the girl's forehead. "Where do you hurt most?"

Ruth laughed. "I don't hurt at all, Penny, and I'm not sick. Just tired and stiff and sort of jumbled in the head. I was so surprised to find myself here that I couldn't answer you."

Penny said, "When your letter came Tuesday, sayin' you were comin' to the old house for a rest I didn't think you'd be followin' it so soon. I thought you said you'd be here in a couple of weeks. My eyes are terrible bad. I reckon I read it wrong."

"Don't you ever wear glasses, Penny?" asked Ruth scoldingly.

"They don't help, Miss Elaine. I think it's cataract. I'll end up by bein' stone blind, I'm afraid."

"Oh," said Ruth, "I'm sorry!" She impulsively took the old woman's hand and held it for a moment against her cheek. Here was another human being with troubles as deep as her own, and without the hope of youth to help her bear them. "Poor Penny!" she murmured.

"Not that I can't see to take care of the house!" the old woman declared hastily.

"Oh, no!" agreed Ruth. "Did you say breakfast, Penny?"

"Yes, Miss Elaine. There're plenty of fresh eggs. I still keep chickens—white leghorns, the same as when you were a child."

"I'd like a couple of your white leghorn eggs, Penny," Ruth said with enthusiasm, "and a cup of coffee. Some toast, too, if it's not too much trouble."

"It's not," Penny said. "You've changed a lot, Miss Elaine. You never used to think whether a thing was trouble or not." She went out, shaking her head in wonder.

After breakfast the girl amazed the old servant yet further by making her own bed and tidying her room. "I don't want to cause you any extra work," Ruth explained. "You've enough to do as it is."

"I can manage the work fine," the old woman declared positively. "I hope you'll tell your mother and stepfather that, if you get a chance. I don't want to be pensioned off, not till I drop in my tracks."

Ruth saw that the old creature had a horror of giving up her place. She longed to reassure her, yet she felt that such deception would be cruel in the end. As she thought of the old woman's troubles, her own schemes took second place. The impulse came to tell Penny, then and there, that she was not entertaining "Elaine," but just a tramp girl who had wandered in for shelter.

"Penny," she said, "I've something to tell you. I'm not—"

There came a knocking at the front door and Penny said, "Tell me, later, Miss Elaine. It's young John McNeill come to ask about you. He carried you upstairs when you fainted last night. He was worried—"

John McNeill just missed being handsome . . . had the rare quality of distinction.

She went hobbling down the stairs to open the door, while the knocking continued, with some impatience.

Presently Penny called, "Will you come down, Miss Elaine?"

Ruth made a quick survey of herself in the mirror, added a discreet touch of lipstick and went down. Her heart was pounding with both panic and pleasure.

The young man was waiting at the foot of the stairs. John McNeill just missed being handsome, but Ruth's eyes, in their hasty survey, saw that he had the rare quality of distinction. He looked up at her quizzically and Ruth thought, "He'll know I'm a fake. I shan't have to confess."

But he said, "Good morning, Elaine," and held out his hand.

She was surprised to find herself saying, "John McNeill!" and putting her hand in his.

There was a little silence between them after they had shaken hands, but it was not an awkward silence. Penny, who was observing them like a benignant owl, remarked curiously, "Do you find her much changed, Mr. John? I can't depend on my eyes any more—"

"Changed for the better," John McNeill answered coolly.

Penny remarked, "She hasn't made as big a woman as I thought she'd make. She was always an over-tall child, and well filled out, too."

John put his head on one side, considering this. "Let's see—how old were you when you visited here last?"

"Twelve," Ruth replied glibly. To herself she observed, "Bright girl! I know the answers—so far."

"And I was 16," John McNeill said thoughtfully.

"I was in love with you," Ruth remarked audaciously. "You were too old to notice me much, but I was crazy about you just the same." (She thought "Whatever made me say that!")

Penny said with a cackle, "Yes, you were, Miss Elaine! You used to follow him around everywhere, makin' eyes at him. Such airs as you put on, to get him to notice you!"

John McNeill laughed and joined Penny in looking back through the years. "But I noticed she was a good-looking kid," he confessed.

"I remember I said to my mother, 'Give Elaine Chalmers four or five years and she'll be a professional heart-breaker. She's got something—'"

"It seems to me her hair looks darker," Penny stated. "Her mother's hair turned dark that way, too, though not so noticeable."

Ruth thought, "Why have I gotten into this thing! In just a minute something's going to break—"

But nothing was said, and nothing broke. John McNeill turned the conversation from the past to the present, as if that alone interested him. "I'm on my way to work now," he remarked, "but all days must end. Could I invite myself to dinner tonight, Penny, if I brought a steak and cooked it myself?"

Penny said, "Why, yes, Mr. John. But shouldn't you bring your mother, too?"

"Mother's out of town," he answered, "visiting Aunt Sarah in Scranton." (Ruth realized she had been holding her breath.) "So you see it's jure charity for you to take me in."

As he left he said to Ruth, "No more fainting! Promise?"

She laughed. "I was just like a gay nineties heroine last night, wasn't I? I can't imagine what made me do it!"

He looked at her curiously. "You seemed pretty tired," was all he said.

After he had gone Penny seemed to want to talk, but Ruth set about evading her. John McNeill's visit had caused Ruth to abandon all thought of the confession she had been on the verge of making. She thought, "It would spoil the little party tonight. It would spoil everything. I'm going to be Elaine for a few hours longer. It's the nicest thing that ever happened to me!"

So when Penny said, after a while, "Excuse me, Miss Elaine, but does your stepfather say anything more about selling the house?" Ruth replied cannily, "I think it's best for us not to discuss things like that, Penny."

She felt contrite when she saw how rebuked the old creature looked, so she exclaimed hastily, "That funny nickname 'Penny'! How did you get that? I've forgotten."

"Why," the old woman answered, diverted, "it happened when you were just a little tot. I gave you pennies for your bank because you had a fancy for dropping them in. Every time you dropped in a penny a little iron man stepped out and saluted. So you called me 'Penny! Penny!'"

Ruth laughed absently, but she was looking at her hands. "I meant to ask you, Penny—have you any turpentine? I've got blue paint on my hands. It must have come off the door last night. I didn't realize it was freshly painted when I was pounding on it—"

"Oh!" cried the old woman reproachfully. "You've scarred the door!"

She looked so stricken that Ruth said quickly, "If I have, I'll repair the damage. Have you any paint left?"

"Oh, yes," Penny said queerly. "But the quarter moon's past. I'll have to wait now—"

That was the first intimation Ruth had that the old woman was "touched," that mystery as well as pathos dwelt under this roof. . . . Penny hobbled quickly to the porch and Ruth could see her, through the prismatic glass of the side panels, rubbing the door with her sleeve and squinting at it anxiously.

Feminine Golfers Of Lakeside Club Prepare For Tournament

Many Seen On Links Practicing For Event

Enthusiasm Is Being Shown; Mrs. H. W. Roemer In Charge Of Plans; Prizes To Be Awarded Contestants

Feminine golfers at Lakeside Country club are greeting autumn along the fairways, fringed with flaming gum trees, crimson sumach and tall trees festooned with mistletoe that is now putting out waxen berries in readiness for the approaching season of festivity. The towering live oaks supply a verdant green background for the links throughout the year.

Ready to match the briskness of these perfect fall days, feminine golfers are seen daily strolling along the links, adding splashes of color to the landscape with their sports attire, rivaling Joseph's coat of many colors. Golf balls singing down the fairways and the click of brassie shots is sweet music to the ears of golf enthusiasts who are getting in form for one of the busiest seasons Lakeside club has ever known. Interest is running high and golf clubs that have been collecting dust for the past year are being brought out, polished and placed in readiness for daily practice play.

Mrs. H. W. Roemer, chairman of feminine golf activities, is responsible, more or less, for the display of enthusiasm. She is one of the star players and counts that day lost without her round of golf.

Mrs. Roemer announces plans perfected for the handicap tournament, qualifying for which will be completed on Tuesday. Handsome prizes contributed by the merchants, members of the club, will be awarded for low net score, medalist score and consolation and for winners and runners-up. Prizes will also be awarded for approaching and driving.

Interest is not only mounting high in the golf and bridge tournaments and the semi-weekly luncheons, but also in the monthly dancing parties and the stag supper, when the male members have the club house to themselves and are served sumptuous barbecue or Dutch suppers.

Bridge, Golf Enjoyed

Those sun-drenched, golden days of early autumn are being enjoyed to the fullest by feminine members of Lakeside Country club, who are seen almost daily on the golf links and on Wednesdays at the clubhouse, where luncheon and bridge claim their attention.

Last week's luncheon-bridge and golf tournament claimed an unusually large number of members, who enjoyed rubber bridge during the afternoon. The prize winners were Mrs. C. B. White and Mrs. A. V. Miller. Golf balls were presented to Miss Violet Meyer, Mrs. John Sherrouse and Mrs. S. Girault as a result of the golf tournament.

Of interest during the luncheon hour was the presentation of the handsome silver cup to Mrs. Travis Oliver, winner of the vice president's tournament played in the early spring. Mrs. H. W. ## Bastrop

A wedding of quiet simplicity was that of Miss Lula Mae Page and Mr. Hoffman Jones, which was solemnized Saturday evening, October 12, at the home of the bride's parents on East Madison street. The impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. H. M. Bennett before an improvised alter beautifully decorated with pink roses and ferns.

The bride was lovely in a mahogany crepe ensemble with harmonizing accessories and wore a corsage of Talisman rose buds. Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow McBride of Monroe were the only attendants. Mrs. Jones is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Page and is a graduate of Dodd college and of Louisiana Tech. Mr. Jones is a native of Dallas but has made Bastrop his home for the past several years. The bride and bridegroom left immediately after the ceremony on a brief wedding trip and are now comfortably established at their home in the McMeans apartments.

Two popular young couples, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow McBride, whose marriage was an interesting event of October 5, and Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman Jones, who were married October 12, were honor guests at a delightful affair given Thursday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Miller entertained at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Storey in South Washington street. The occasion was a miscellaneous shower.

The reception suite was decorated in a manner to carry out the Halloween effect. Jack-o-lanterns, black cats, Witches and goblins were conspicuous in the scheme of the decorations. The Halloween motif was also noted in the delicious refreshments served before departure.

Interesting games and contests, significant of the occasion, filled the pleasurable hours and as a climax to the enjoyable evening, Mrs. McBride and Mrs. Jones were sent on a treasure hunt, the end of their quest being a veritable mound of handsome and useful gifts, presented by their friends.

Those sharing Mr. and Mrs. Miller's hospitality with the honor guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Ferrell McLeod, Mr. and Mrs. John Penninger, Misses Eleanor Pomeroy, Beatrice Mitchell, Sarah Jane Hurst, Arline Mixon, Evelyn Albright, Messrs. Duncan Buford, Ben Stanley, Joe Stanley, Frank Holloway and James Holt.

Harris, president, greeted Mrs. Ferd Wolff and Mrs. David Snyder, who were guests, and on this occasion the entire club welcomed a beloved member, Mrs. S. A. Leopold, their vice-president, who has been absent for some time.

A most interesting program on Oriental rugs was given by Mrs. H. L. Seligman and Mrs. Jake Kern, both of whom gave splendid papers showing much comprehensive study. Miss Jean Page then gave selections from the Hubaiyat of Omar Khayyam.

CHAPTER VIII

Ruth did not realize her own exhausted condition. When she sank into a deep, dreamless sleep it was not to waken at daybreak, as she had planned, but in response to a knock on her door hours later.

Sitting up in consternation, she cried, "Come in!" and there entered the old woman with bent back and peering eyes.

"Oh!" cried Ruth. "I meant—" She stopped abruptly, for, of course she could not say, "I meant to run away before you caught me!"

"I was worried about you, Miss Elaine. Are you feeling better? And will you take your breakfast now?"

Ruth thought, "Now I'm in it up to my neck!" Yet a lilting happiness mingled with her dismay. She would have to spend another day here and another night! In this situation there were blended three elements that cheered her: adventure, a little respite from her wanderings, and (most important of all) the chance of seeing once more the young man named John.

"Oh, Lawsy me!" exclaimed the old woman. "Are you too sick to talk, Miss Elaine?" She came to the bed and put her hand on the girl's forehead. "Where do you hurt most?"

Ruth laughed. "I don't hurt at all, Penny, and I'm not sick. Just tired and stiff and sort of jumbled in the head. I was so surprised to find myself here that I couldn't answer you."

Penny said, "When your letter came Tuesday, sayin' you were comin' to the old house for a rest I didn't think you'd be followin' it so soon. I thought you said you'd be here in a couple of weeks. My eyes are terrible bad. I reckon I read it wrong."

"Don't you ever wear glasses, Penny?" asked Ruth scoldingly.

"They don't help, Miss Elaine. I think it's cataract. I'll end up by bein' stone blind, I'm afraid."

"Oh," said Ruth, "I'm sorry!" She impulsively took the old woman's hand and held it for a moment against her cheek. Here was another human being with troubles as deep as her own, and without the hope of youth to help her bear them. "Poor Penny!" she murmured.

"Not that I can't see to take care of the house!" the old woman declared hastily.

"Oh, no!" agreed Ruth. "Did you say breakfast, Penny?"

"Yes, Miss Elaine. There're plenty of fresh eggs. I still keep chickens—white leghorns, the same as when you were a child."

"I'd like a couple of your white leghorn eggs, Penny," Ruth said with enthusiasm, "and a cup of coffee. Some toast, too, if it's not too much trouble."

"It's not," Penny said. "You've changed a lot, Miss Elaine. You never used to think whether a thing was trouble or not." She went out, shaking her head in wonder.

After breakfast the girl amazed the old servant yet further by making her own bed and tidying her room. "I don't want to cause you any extra work," Ruth explained. "You've enough to do as it is."

"I can manage the work fine," the old woman declared positively. "I hope you'll tell your mother and stepfather that, if you get a chance. I don't want to be pensioned off, not till I drop in my tracks."

Ruth saw that the old creature had a horror of giving up her place. She longed to reassure her, yet she felt that such deception would be cruel in the end. As she thought of the old woman's troubles, her own schemes took second place. The impulse came to tell Penny, then and there, that she was not entertaining "Elaine," but just a tramp girl who had wandered in for shelter.

"Penny," she said, "I've something to tell you. I'm not—"

There came a knocking at the front door and Penny said, "Tell me, later, Miss Elaine. It's young John McNeill come to ask about you. He carried you upstairs when you fainted last night. He was worried—"

John McNeill just missed being handsome . . . had the rare quality of distinction.

She went hobbling down the stairs to open the door, while the knocking continued, with some impatience.

Presently Penny called, "Will you come down, Miss Elaine?"

Ruth made a quick survey of herself in the mirror, added a discreet touch of lipstick and went down. Her heart was pounding with both panic and pleasure.

The young man was waiting at the foot of the stairs. John McNeill just missed being handsome, but Ruth's eyes, in their hasty survey, saw that he had the rare quality of distinction. He looked up at her quizzically and Ruth thought, "He'll know I'm a fake. I shan't have to confess."

But he said, "Good morning, Elaine," and held out his hand.

She was surprised to find herself saying, "John McNeill!" and putting her hand in his.

There was a little silence between them after they had shaken hands, but it was not an awkward silence. Penny, who was observing them like a benignant owl, remarked curiously, "Do you find her much changed, Mr. John? I can't depend on my eyes any more—"

"Changed for the better," John McNeill answered coolly.

Penny remarked, "She hasn't made as big a woman as I thought she'd make. She was always an over-tall child, and well filled out, too."

John put his head on one side, considering this. "Let's see—how old were you when you visited here last?"

"Twelve," Ruth replied glibly. To herself she observed, "Bright girl! I know the answers—so far."

"And I was 16," John McNeill said thoughtfully.

"I was in love with you," Ruth remarked audaciously. "You were too old to notice me much, but I was crazy about you just the same." (She thought, "Whatever made me say that!")

Penny said with a cackle, "Yes, you were, Miss Elaine! You used to follow him around everywhere, makin' eyes at him. Such airs as you put on, to get him to notice you!"

John McNeill laughed and joined Penny in looking back through the years. "But I noticed she was a good-looking kid," he confessed.

"I remember I said to my mother, 'Give Elaine Chalmers four or five years and she'll be a professional heart-breaker. She's got something—'"

"It seems to me her hair looks darker," Penny stated. "Her mother's hair turned dark that way, too, though not so noticeable."

Ruth thought, "Why have I gotten into this thing! In just a minute something's going to break—"

But nothing was said, and nothing broke. John McNeill turned the conversation from the past to the present, as if that alone interested him. "I'm on my way to work now," he remarked, "but all days must end. Could I invite myself to dinner tonight, Penny, if I brought a steak and cooked it myself?"

Penny said, "Why, yes, Mr. John. But shouldn't you bring your mother, too?"

"Mother's out of town," he answered, "visiting Aunt Sarah in Scranton." (Ruth realized she had been holding her breath.) "So you see it's jure charity for you to take me in."

As he left he said to Ruth, "No more fainting! Promise?"

She laughed. "I was just like a gay nineties heroine last night, wasn't I? I can't imagine what made me do it!"

He looked at her curiously. "You seemed pretty tired," was all he said.

After he had gone Penny seemed to want to talk, but Ruth set about evading her. John McNeill's visit had caused Ruth to abandon all thought of the confession she had been on the verge of making. She thought, "It would spoil the little party tonight. It would spoil everything. I'm going to be Elaine for a few hours longer. It's the nicest thing that ever happened to me!"

So when Penny said, after a while, "Excuse me, Miss Elaine, but does your stepfather say anything more about selling the house?" Ruth replied cannily, "I think it's best for us not to discuss things like that, Penny."

She felt contrite when she saw how rebuked the old creature looked, so she exclaimed hastily, "That funny nickname 'Penny'! How did you get that? I've forgotten."

"Why," the old woman answered, diverted, "it happened when you were just a little tot. I gave you pennies for your bank because you had a fancy for dropping them in. Every time you dropped in a penny a little iron man stepped out and saluted. So you called me 'Penny! Penny!'"

Ruth laughed absently, but she was looking at her hands. "I meant to ask you, Penny—have you any turpentine? I've got blue paint on my hands. It must have come off the door last night. I didn't realize it was freshly painted when I was pounding on it—"

"Oh!" cried the old woman reproachfully. "You've scarred the door!"

She looked so stricken that Ruth said quickly, "If I have, I'll repair the damage. Have you any paint left?"

"Oh, yes," Penny said queerly. "But the quarter moon's past. I'll have to wait now—"

That was the first intimation Ruth had that the old woman was "touched," that mystery as well as pathos dwelt under this roof. . . . Penny hobbled quickly to the porch and Ruth could see her, through the prismatic glass of the side panels, rubbing the door with her sleeve and squinting at it anxiously.

Birthday Celebrated

Birthdays are quite wonderful when the passing years touch one as lightly and as lovingly as they do Mrs. S. J. Meek. Growing old gracefully is an art that few acquire, yet is greatly to be desired.

Mrs. Meek, who celebrated her birthday anniversary in the midst of cherished friends last week, finds each passing year richer and fuller, as they bring new friends and a greater love and understanding of the old friends, without whom life would be quite incomplete.

Mrs. William Washburn, as a complete surprise to Mrs. Meek, gathered friends together in her home in commemoration of her birthday anniversary. The hours were freighted with happiness for the celebrant, who received with characteristic graciousness the loving attentions and the beautiful gifts showered upon her.

Beautiful flowers from the gardens of friends and an abundance of delicious food contributed toward the festive atmosphere and the success of this charming event that will dwell for all time in the memory of those present.

The tea table, radiant with candlelight and beautifully appointed with silver and crystal, was presided over by Mrs. Joseph Washburn and Mrs. William Gladney, assisted by Miss May Read and Miss Katherine Morrison.

Present to offer their felicitations were: Mrs. A. R. Doughty, Mrs. Anna Trousdale, Mrs. Walker Glenn, Mrs. John Munholland, Mrs. Marshall Munholland, Mrs. T. O. Brown, Mrs. W. B. Gladney, Mrs. Curtis Smith, Mrs. E. Holloway, Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. David Garrett, Mrs. Flood Madison, Jr., Mrs. R. H. Oliver, Sr., Miss Myrtle Rodgers, Miss May Read, Miss Beryl Madison and Miss Katherine Morrison.

Bride Is Entertained

October brides claimed the social spotlight last week, when many charming affairs were planned in their honor.

Mrs. Elliott Thompson, formerly Miss Virginia Hinkle, was a prominent figure at several bridge affairs, breakfast parties and luncheons. Outstanding was the bridge party Wednesday, with Mrs. James Dorman and Mrs. G. I. Hemphill hostesses at the home of Mrs. Hemphill.

Pink Radiance roses of pronounced beauty banked the reception suite, where guests were welcomed and the interesting games of bridge introduced. Gifts of Japanese china were presented to Mrs. Darwin Nichols for high score and Mrs. Richard Troy for consolation. Mrs. Thompson's gift from her hostesses was a set of Rosepoint rock crystal goblets.

A distinct feature of the afternoon was the presentation of beautiful gifts of a miscellaneous nature to Mrs. Thompson, each gift bearing the card of one of the guests. Mrs. Hemphill's young son, John Dennis, and Mrs. Dorman's nephew, Carlton Kemp, were privileged to bestow the gifts upon Mrs. Thompson.

A luscious salad course, with individual, monogramed wedding cakes, was served at the card tables appointed with pink crystal.

Enjoying this gracious hospitality were, in addition to Mrs. Thompson, Mmes E. G. Hinkle, C. C. Thompson, M. Braswell, R. M. Troy, Victor Davis, Sam Jones, Walter Kellogg, Allen Kimball, Helen Berry, Sydney Grubbs and D. ### Birthday Celebrated

Birthdays are quite wonderful when the passing years touch one as lightly and as lovingly as they do Mrs. S. J. Meek. Growing old gracefully is an art that few acquire, yet is greatly to be desired.

Mrs. Meek, who celebrated her birthday anniversary in the midst of cherished friends last week, finds each passing year richer and fuller, as they bring new friends and a greater love and understanding of the old friends, without whom life would be quite incomplete.

Mrs. William Washburn, as a complete surprise to Mrs. Meek, gathered friends together in her home in commemoration of her birthday anniversary. The hours were freighted with happiness for the celebrant, who received with characteristic graciousness the loving attentions and the beautiful gifts showered upon her.

Beautiful flowers from the gardens of friends and an abundance of delicious food contributed toward the festive atmosphere and the success of this charming event that will dwell for all time in the memory of those present.

The tea table, radiant with candlelight and beautifully appointed with silver and crystal, was presided over by Mrs. Joseph Washburn and Mrs. William Gladney, assisted by Miss May Read and Miss Katherine Morrison.

Present to offer their felicitations were: Mrs. A. R. Doughty, Mrs. Anna Trousdale, Mrs. Walker Glenn, Mrs. John Munholland, Mrs. Marshall Munholland, Mrs. T. O. Brown, Mrs. W. B. Gladney, Mrs. Curtis Smith, Mrs. E. Holloway, Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. David Garrett, Mrs. Flood Madison, Jr., Mrs. R. H. Oliver, Sr., Miss Myrtle Rodgers, Miss May Read, Miss Beryl Madison and Miss Katherine Morrison.

Mrs. Elliott Thompson, formerly Miss Virginia Hinkle, was a prominent figure at several bridge affairs, breakfast parties and luncheons. Outstanding was the bridge party Wednesday, with Mrs. James Dorman and Mrs. G. I. Hemphill hostesses at the home of Mrs. Hemphill.

Gifts of Japanese china were presented to Mrs. Darwin Nichols for high score and Mrs. Richard Troy for consolation. Mrs. Thompson's gift from her hostesses was a set of Rosepoint rock crystal goblets.

A distinct feature of the afternoon was the presentation of beautiful gifts of a miscellaneous nature to Mrs. Thompson, each gift bearing the card of one of the guests. Mrs. Hemphill's young son, John Dennis, and Mrs. Dorman's nephew, Carlton Kemp, were privileged to bestow the gifts upon Mrs. Thompson.

A luscious salad course, with individual, monogramed wedding cakes, was served at the card tables appointed with pink crystal.

UNCHANGING

By Helen Welshimer

THIS one thing is unchanging:
Oh, constant as the sun,
Devotion that I hold for you
Grows steadier, dear one.

TALL kingdoms topple over,
Strong rulers lose their crowns.
Young men march off to battles
To fight for border towns.

AND women prat of favors,
And places in the mart,
But I am happier than they
Because I rule your heart!

Radio And Stage Stars Featured In 'Big Broadcast Of 1936

New Tunes In Film At Paramount

Jack Oakie, Burns And Allen And Lyda Roberti Furnish Comedy

TUNEFUL, brisk and gay, "The Big Broadcast of 1936," which opened at the Paramount theater yesterday, combines a diverting comedy plot with an impressive collection of stars, garnered from the top ranks of radio, stage and screen.

Packed with rich comedy moments, handsomely produced, this highly entertaining production is headed by a cast that can be depended upon to lead the way when it comes to cutting crazy capers. Such comedians as Jack Oakie, Burns and Allen and Lyda Roberti are sure-fire stand-bys for light-hearted humor and laugh-provoking antics.

In addition, an imposing array of famous personalities such as Bing Crosby, Amos 'n' Andy, Ethel Merman, Bill Robinson, Ray Noble and his orchestra, Willie, West and McGinty, Mary Boland and Charles Ruggles contribute specialty numbers that shouldn't be missed.

The story centers around the hilarious adventures of two radio entertainers when they fall into the hands of a young countess. Jack Oakie and Henry Wadsworth own and operate their own radio station. Air fans believe that the romantic singer, "Lochinvar" is one man whereas it is Oakie who does the announcing and Wadsworth the singing. To avert bankruptcy the boys decide to compete in an international radio contest. Burns and Allen bring their television invention, the Radio Eye, to the studio.

Lyda Roberti, rich, romantic-minded countess, and her social secretary, Wendy Barrie, meet the boys. Miss Roberti kidnaps Oakie and Wadsworth on her private yacht and takes them to to her Cuban island estate to decide which one she wants to marry. In their frantic effort to escape, including a thrilling chase, Oakie, in calling Burns and Allen for help with the Radio Eye, unwittingly takes part in the broadcasting contest. An uproarious finale closes the fun film.

As a background to the main theme, different specialties are offered as high lights of the production. Amos 'n' Andy, beloved black-face comics, are seen in a typically familiar skit. Bing Crosby warbles his "I Wished on the Moon" number, while Ethel Merman sings "It's the Animal in Me" with an elaborately staged chorus ensemble background. Bill Robinson, world-famed negro tap dancer, presents his sensational dance routine, the Nicholas Brothers, two sepian singers and dancers, are seen in "The Miss Brown to You" musical presentation, while Ray Noble and his band render other of the comedy's song hits, while Miss Roberti does the "Double Trouble" number. Mary Boland and Charles Ruggles appear in a mirth-provoking sketch. Norman Taurog did a fine directorial job.

"The Big Broadcast of 1936" is indeed a merry melange of music, mirth and amusement with comedy and acting honors equally divided among all participants.

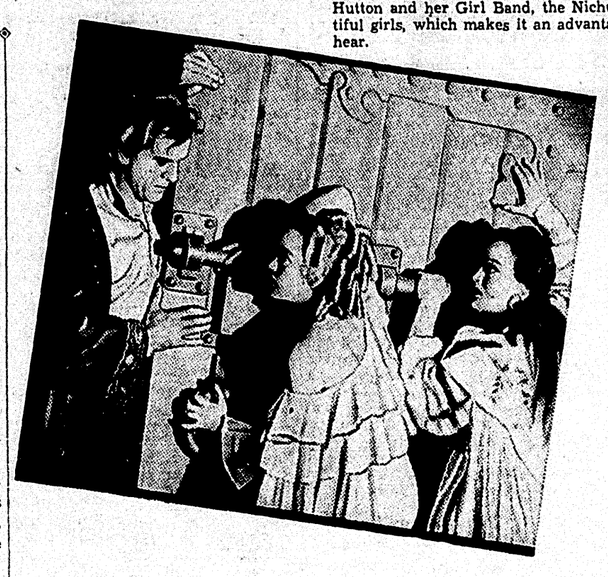
SCENES FROM FEATURED FILM ATTRACTIONS AT LOCAL THEATERS

Starred in "The Gay Deception," the attraction at the Paramount theater Tuesday and Wednesday, Francis Lederer and Frances Dee discover that it is fun to be fooled! They are the gay deceivers of this light hearted comedy, and when they finish pretending to be what they aren't they find themselves in each others arms and intoxicatingly in love. Benita Hume, Allan Mowbray and Akin Tamiroff are in the specially selected supporting cast.

Paramount's "The Big Broadcast of 1936," the attraction at the Paramount theater today and Monday, shines with the stars that you see above and others. Reading from lef to right, beginning with the top row, they are Bing Crosby, Ethel Merman, Amos 'n' Andy, Gracie Allen, George Burns, Bill Robinson, Jack Oakie, Lyda Roberti, Charles Ruggles, Mary Boland, Henry Wadsworth and Ray Noble. Others doing specialties include Willie, West and McGinty, Ina Ray Hutton and her Girl Band, the Nicholas Brothers and a bevy of beautiful girls, which makes it an advantage in being able to see as well as hear.

Two sisters fight over the same man in the new Paramount picture "Smart Girl," coming to the Capitol theater Tuesday and Wednesday. Gail Patrick is one sister while Ida Lupino is the other, a character that is a clever picture of the modern girl, breezy, knowing, square shooting, sure of what she wants, and positive about how to go about getting what she wants. Kent Taylor is the man in question in this comedy romance that is high powered, fast moving and sophisticated.



A dramatic moment in the new Columbia melodrama "The Black Room," showing today and Monday at the Capitol theater, which finds Karloff, famed dilineator of monstrous characters, a bluebeard who does himself proud spilling blood all over the gloomy castle in which he lives as the last of an accursed noble family. The two terrified young ladies on the right are Misses Marian Marsh and Katherine DeMille, who seem to have a rough idea of what is in store for them.

Cary Grant and Kathleen Burke in a romantic and dramatic scene from Paramount's "The Last Outpost," colorful story of the British soldiers in the Sudan desert and the attraction at the Paramount theater Thursday and Friday. Claude Rains, Gertrude Michael, Colin Tapley, Billy Bevan and Margaret Swope are also in the big cast in this grandest of all adventure stories.

Screen Life In Hollywood

By Hubbard Keavy

HOLLYWOOD—The Fred Perrys haven't made up their minds yet just where they'll live.

Helen Vinson Perry isn't ready to give up her movies and her new husband can't afford to quit tennis for awhile.

For the next two or three years anyway, Helen will appear in pictures both here and in London. Meanwhile, Fred has to go dashing around the world, defending his title.

In a little while, Fred has to go to Australia to see about a new racket or something his firm has called him over for, and Helen will go as far as Hawaii with him. Then she has to come back here for a picture, but she will have to be in England in January. Fred can't get there until February.

Sticks To Career

If she can do it, Helen Perry hopes to sandwich in pictures between the Davis cup and the Wimbledon and the Forest Hills matches because she's pretty determined to see her Fred perform each and every time.

"We frequently went over this business of being separated, four or five times a year by broad expanses of water, before I finally said 'yes' and meant it," says Helen. "Finally, mother told me to make the best of it. 'When your father and I were married,' my mother said, 'he didn't have a nickel and I was broke, too. But we got married anyway.' That settled it."

Perry doesn't think much of movie acting, judged from his jesting remarks about "parading on the screen." But Helen is as serious about her career as Fred is about his. Obviously, he has tried to convince her she ought to give up working, but Helen says she believes a liberal "clothing fund" will be nice to have.

Teaching Her Tennis

Mr. Perry is teaching Mrs. Perry the rudiments of tennis, but Mrs. Perry is afraid she never will be very good because she's always a little self-conscious on the court with such a famous teacher, although he is her husband. Perry has had movie offers, but he can't accept them. Two studios have tennis stories and they want Fred to appear in them, but he can't afford to turn professional—yet.

He hopes to convince the Australian sporting goods company, for which he works, to establish a factory in the United States. He'd like to live here and so, of course, would Mrs. Perry.

WEEKEND RECESS TAKEN BY MISSISSIPPI SOLONS

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 19.—(AP)—The Mississippi legislature was in weekend recess today, after three weeks in special session on an emergency legislative program submitted by Governor Sennett Conner.

When the lawmakers return one of the first matters they will take up will be a corrupt practices act to regulate the activities of candidates in primary campaigns. It was considered likely the measure would receive approval.

Both the senate and house have approved a relief setup to care for the state's unemployables for a four month period, November 1 to March 1, but some differences between them have yet to be ironed out.

COMPLETION DATE OF POSTOFFICE AT BASTROP REVEALED

BASTROP, Oct. 19.—(Special)—Definite assurance was given this week by the contractor in charge of the Bastrop postoffice construction that the building would be completed and turned over to the government representative of the postoffice department by Saturday, October 26.

With this assurance, officials of the postoffice are making preparations to begin moving into the new structure as soon as the building is completed. It is believed that by November or sooner the postoffice will be doing business in its new location.

What has held up the completion of the postoffice has been the delay in the shipment of tile flooring for the lobby. This arrived this week and finishing touches are now being rapidly put on the structure.

With the assurance that the postoffice will probably be occupied around the first of the month, the special committee in charge of plans for the dedication set Sunday, November 3 as a tentative date. Congressman Riley J. Wilson and S. W. Purdum, fourth assistant postmaster general, are expected to be among the speakers. The committee making arrangements for the dedication is composed of Isaac Chapman, chairman; Mayor J. R. Ludlum and R. E. Holladay, Jr.

Karloff Is At His Best In Thrille

'The Black Room' Furnish Chills For Capitol Audiences

PEOPLE addicted to nervous d orders are admonished not to vi the Capitol theater, where Karl is holding forth in his new Columl picture, "The Black Room."

The above advice may not be e tirely fair; even neurotics are dese ing of an evening's entertainment tl stands head and shoulders over a melodrama that has emerged fr Hollywood in many months. But it suffice that Karloff at his best enough to chill the stoutest heart, a he is at his best in "The Black Roor

Without benefit of plaster of pa or hardware protruding from his fo head and sticking out of his ears, K loff, in his natural physical st portrays the role of a bluebeard the Balkans, a ruthless killer wh thirst for blood seems never to sated.

As the fiendish Baron de Berghm one of twin sons, he fights relentles to forestall the violent death that in store for him if the legendary cu that hangs over his family is to h its way. The birth of twins, accordi to the legend, is to mark the end the de Berghman line. The youn son will kill the elder son and family shall be wiped out forever.

Karloff, as the elder de Berghm murders his brother in an effort defeat the anathema—only sub quently to meet death at the hands the corpse.

But these two murders are not alo in this blood-soaked film. In crumbling de Berghman castle an crypt—the Black Room—presumal sealed up—serves as the scene more life-taking by the cruel Bar de Berghman, a murderous villain there ever was on.

Lovely Marian Marsh, whose allu ing beauty causes much of the t moil, is excellently cast; she is a ve talented young lady. Katherine D Mille is seen as a seductive servi girl, who, after winning the baro favor, becomes a victim of the gri execution chamber. Robert Allen, w recently enjoyed a personal trium in Grace Moore's "Love Me Forev leaves nothing to be desired as a da ing young lieutenant in love with M Marsh. And Thurston Hall, Jo Buckler, Henry Kolker, Fredrik Vo ding and others in the supporting c enact their roles exceptionally well.

Roy William Neill's expert dir tion has much to do with the fi quality of "The Black Room." K Karloff is something to see. He gi by far the outstanding performar of his splendid career.

Radio And Stage Stars Featured In 'Big Broadcast Of 1936'

New Tunes In Film At Paramount

Jack Oakie, Burns And Allen And Lyda Roberti Furnish Comedy

TUNEFUL, brisk and gay, "The Big Broadcast of 1936," which opened at the Paramount theater yesterday, combines a diverting comedy plot with an impressive collection of stars, garnered from the top ranks of radio, stage and screen.

Packed with rich comedy moments, handsomely produced, this highly entertaining production is headed by a cast that can be depended upon to lead the way when it comes to cutting crazy capers. Such comedians as Jack Oakie, Burns and Allen and Lyda Roberti are sure-fire stand-bys for light-hearted humor and laugh-provoking antics.

In addition, an imposing array of famous personalities such as Bing Crosby, Amos 'n' Andy, Ethel Merman, Bill Robinson, Ray Noble and his orchestra, Willie, West and McGinty, Mary Boland and Charles Ruggles contribute specialty numbers that shouldn't be missed.

The story centers around the hilarious adventures of two radio entertainers when they fall into the hands of a young countess. Jack Oakie and Henry Wadsworth own and operate their own radio station. Air fans believe that the romantic singer, "Lochinvar" is one man whereas it is Oakie who does the announcing and Wadsworth the singing. To avert bankruptcy the boys decide to compete in an international radio contest. Burns and Allen bring their television invention, the Radio Eye, to the studio.

Lyda Roberti, rich, romantic-minded countess, and her social secretary, Wendy Barrie, meet the boys. Miss Roberti kidnaps Oakie and Wadsworth on her private yacht and takes them to to her Cuban island estate to decide which one she wants to marry. In their frantic effort to escape, including a thrilling chase, Oakie, in calling Burns and Allen for help with the Radio Eye, unwittingly takes part in the broadcasting contest. An uproarious finale closes the fun film.

As a background to the main theme, different specialties are offered as high lights of the production. Amos 'n' Andy, beloved black-face comics, are seen in a typically familiar skit. Bing Crosby warbles his "I Wished on the Moon" number, while Ethel Merman sings "It's the Animal in Me" with an elaborately staged chorus ensemble background. Bill Robinson, world-famed negro tap dancer, presents his sensational dance routine, the Nicholas Brothers, two sepian singers and dancers, are seen in "The Miss Brown to You" musical presentation, while Ray Noble and his band render other of the comedy's song hits, while Miss Roberti does the "Double Trouble" number. Mary Boland and Charles Ruggles appear in a mirth-provoking sketch. Norman Taurog did a fine directorial job.

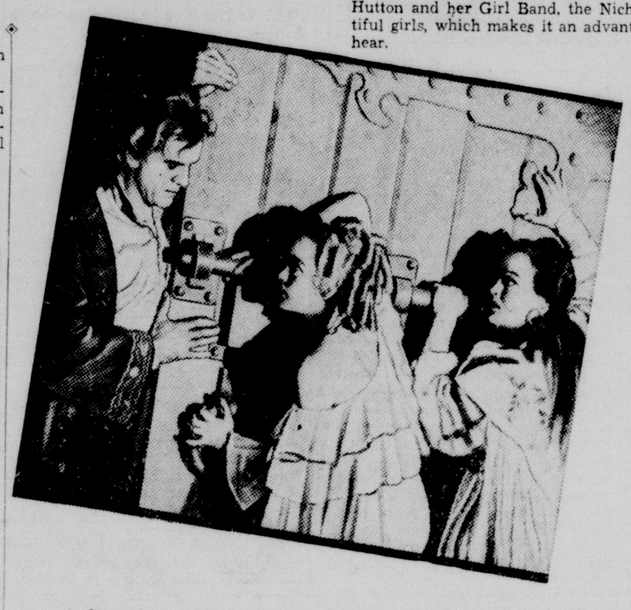
"The Big Broadcast of 1936" is indeed a merry melange of music, mirth and amusement with comedy and acting honors equally divided among all participants.

SCENES FROM FEATURED FILM ATTRACTIONS AT LOCAL THEATERS

Starred in "The Gay Deception," the attraction at the Paramount theater Tuesday and Wednesday, Francis Lederer and Frances Dee discover that it is fun to be fooled! They are the gay deceivers of this light hearted comedy, and when they finish pretending to be what they aren't they find themselves in each others arms and intoxicatingly in love. Benita Hume, Allan Mowbray and Akin Tamiroff are in the specially selected supporting cast.

Paramount's "The Big Broadcast of 1936," the attraction at the Paramount theater today and Monday, shines with the stars that you see above and others. Reading from lef to right, beginning with the top row, they are Bing Crosby, Ethel Merman, Amos 'n' Andy, Gracie Allen, George Burns, Bill Robinson, Jack Oakie, Lyda Roberti, Charles Ruggles, Mary Boland, Henry Wadsworth and Ray Noble. Others doing specialties include Willie, West and McGinty, Ina Ray Hutton and her Girl Band, the Nicholas Brothers and a bevy of beautiful girls, which makes it an advantage in being able to see as well as hear.

Two sisters fight over the same man in the new Paramount picture "Smart Girl," coming to the Capitol theater Tuesday and Wednesday. Gail Patrick is one sister while Ida Lupino is the other, a character that is a clever picture of the modern girl, breezy, knowing, square shooting, sure of what she wants, and positive about how to go about getting what she wants. Kent Taylor is the man in question in this comedy romance that is high powered, fast moving and sophisticated.



A dramatic moment in the new Columbia melodrama "The Black Room," showing today and Monday at the Capitol theater, which finds Karloff, famed dilineator of monstrous characters, a bluebeard who does himself proud spilling blood all over the gloomy castle in which he lives as the last of an accursed noble family. The two terrified young ladies on the right are Misses Marian Marsh and Katherine DeMille, who seem to have a rough idea of what is in store for them.

Cary Grant and Kathleen Burke in a romantic and dramatic scene from Paramount's "The Last Outpost," colorful story of the British soldiers in the Sudan desert and the attraction at the Paramount theater Thursday and Friday. Claude Rains, Gertrude Michael, Colin Tapley, Billy Bevan and Margaret Swope are also in the big cast in this grandest of all adventure stories.

Screen Life In Hollywood

By Hubbard Keavy

HOLLYWOOD—The Fred Perrys haven't made up their minds yet just where they'll live.

Helen Vinson Perry isn't ready to give up her movies and her new husband can't afford to quit tennis for awhile.

For the next two or three years anyway, Helen will appear in pictures both here and in London. Meanwhile, Fred has to go dashing around the world, defending his title.

In a little while, Fred has to go to Australia to see about a new racket or something his firm has called him over for, and Helen will go as far as Hawaii with him. Then she has to come back here for a picture, but she will have to be in England in January. Fred can't get there until February.

Sticks To Career

If she can do it, Helen Perry hopes to sandwich in pictures between the Davis cup and the Wimbledon and the Forest Hills matches because she's pretty determined to see her Fred perform each and every time.

"We frequently went over this business of being separated, four or five times a year by broad expanses of water, before I finally said 'yes' and meant it," says Helen. "Finally, mother told me to make the best of it. 'When your father and I were married,' my mother said, 'he didn't have a nickel and I was broke, too. But we got married anyway.' That settled it."

Perry doesn't think much of movie acting, judged from his jesting remarks about "parading on the screen." But Helen is as serious about her career as Fred is about his. Obviously, he has tried to convince her she ought to give up working, but Helen says she believes a liberal "clothing fund" will be nice to have.

Teaching Her Tennis

Mr. Perry is teaching Mrs. Perry the rudiments of tennis, but Mrs. Perry is afraid she never will be very good because she's always a little self-conscious on the court with such a famous teacher, although he is her husband. Perry has had movie offers, but he can't accept them. Two studios have tennis stories and they want Fred to appear in them, but he can't afford to turn professional—yet.

He hopes to convince the Australian sporting goods company, for which he works, to establish a factory in the United States. He'd like to live here and so, of course, would Mrs. Perry.

Both the senate and house have approved a relief setup to care for the state's unemployables for a four month period, November 1 to March 1, but some differences between them have yet to be ironed out.

The senate has rejected a proposal to abolish the state property tax, but is to discuss a motion to reconsider its action next Wednesday.

COMPLETION DATE OF POSTOFFICE AT BASTROP REVEALED

BASTROP, Oct. 19.—(Special)—Definite assurance was given this week by the contractor in charge of the Bastrop postoffice construction that the building would be completed and turned over to the government representative of the postoffice department by Saturday, October 26.

With this assurance, officials of the postoffice are making preparations to begin moving into the new structure as soon as the building is completed. It is believed that by November or sooner the postoffice will be doing business in its new location.

What has held up the completion of the postoffice has been the delay in the shipment of tile flooring for the lobby. This arrived this week and finishing touches are now being rapidly put on the structure.

With the assurance that the postoffice will probably be occupied around the first of the month, the special committee in charge of plans for the dedication set Sunday, November 3 as a tentative date. Congressman Riley J. Wilson and S. W. Purdum, fourth assistant postmaster general, are expected to be among the speakers. The committee making arrangements for the dedication is composed of Isaac Chapman, chairman; Mayor J. R. Ludlum and R. E. Holladay, Jr.

FARMER FATALLY HURT WHEN TRUCK HITS COW

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Eugene Weathersby, 45-year-old farmer of Liberty, Miss., was instantly killed early this morning when his truck overturned after striking a cow five miles north of Scotland on U. S. 61.

Joe Westbrook, 25, and Sonny Ramsay, 10, negro, who were in the truck with Mr. Weathersby, were injured, but their condition was not considered critical.

The trio were on their way home after having brought a load of produce to Baton Rouge.

CATHOLIC CARNIVAL TO BE HELD IN NOVEMBER

Plans are being formulated for the annual carnival of the St. Matthew's Catholic church, which will be held November 5, 6 and 7, in the I. Baer building on St. John street. Proceeds of the carnival will be applied on the church debt.

Entrance prizes will be awarded each night. Miss Tina Collins of Bastrop will be in charge of registration. Mrs. Albert Horuff and Mrs. W. E. Reardon will be in charge of the meals.

Karloff Is At His Best In Thriller

'The Black Room' Furnishes Chills For Capitol Audiences

PEOPLE addicted to nervous disorders are admonished not to visit the Capitol theater, where Karloff is holding forth in his new Columbia picture, "The Black Room."

The above advice may not be entirely fair; even neurotics are deserving of an evening's entertainment that stands head and shoulders over any melodrama that has emerged from Hollywood in many months. But let it suffice that Karloff at his best is enough to chill the stoutest heart, and he is at his best in "The Black Room."

Without benefit of plaster of paris or hardware protruding from his forehead and sticking out of his ears, Karloff, in his natural physical state, portrays the role of a bluebeard of the Balkans, a ruthless killer whose thirst for blood seems never to be sated.

As the fiendish Baron de Berghman, one of twin sons, he fights relentlessly to forestall the violent death that is in store for him if the legendary curse that hangs over his family is to have its way. The birth of twins, according to the legend, is to mark the end of the de Berghman line. The younger son will kill the elder son and the family shall be wiped out forever.

Karloff, as the elder de Berghman, murders his brother in an effort to defeat the anathema—only subsequently to meet death at the hands of the corpse.

But these two murders are not alone in this blood-soaked film. In the crumbling de Berghman castle an old crypt—the Black Room—presumably sealed up—serves as the scene for more life-taking by the cruel Baron de Berghman, a murderous villain if there ever was on.

Lovely Marian Marsh, whose alluring beauty causes much of the turmoil, is excellently cast; she is a very talented young lady. Katherine DeMille is seen as a seductive serving girl, who, after winning the baron's favor, becomes a victim of the grisly execution chamber. Robert Allen, who recently enjoyed a personal triumph in Grace Moore's "Love Me Forever," leaves nothing to be desired as a dashing young lieutenant in love with Miss Marsh. And Thurston Hall, John Buckler, Henry Kolker, Fredrik Vogeding and others in the supporting cast enact their roles exceptionally well.

Roy William Neill's expert direction has much to do with the fine quality of "The Black Room." But Karloff is something to see. He gives by far the outstanding performance of his splendid career.

More BUILDING Necessary for Entire Nation!

REPAIR PLAN FOR KITCHENS GAINS FAVOR

Trend Toward Economy Of Space To Save Steps Of Housewives

Modernization of the kitchen has proved in hundreds of instances to more than justify the expenditure.

Since the beginning of the operation of the modernization credit plan hundreds of American families have taken advantage of the credit made possible by the plan for remodeling and improving kitchens. The general trend has been toward an economy of space in an effort to minimize the time required to prepare a meal as well as to save as many steps for the housewife as possible. At the same time the modernization credit plan has made it possible for many housewives to replace much of the old and outmoded kitchen equipment with modern kitchen equipment now on the market. The conservation of time and energy made possible in kitchens by the plan has been considered to more than compensate for the cost of such improvements.

Many Possibilities

Considering the kitchen as a room, improvement possibilities are many. The modern trend has been toward more adequate ventilation and increased window space. Numerous materials have also been developed for ceilings, walls, and floors which give added efficiency to a kitchen as a whole. These materials are either washable, insulating, fireproof or impervious to dampness. Inclusion of any of these in the kitchen repair project minimizes the problems of cleanliness or discomfort.

There are also new kinds of equipment available on the present-day market which materially add to the convenience and efficiency of a kitchen. In many homes it has been found desirable to install rotary fans placed in a wall so that the hot air and fumes from the kitchen may be rapidly disseminated. Frequently ceiling fans are installed. There has also been a vast improvement in kitchen illumination. In many repair projects owners have found it advisable to completely rewire the room with outlets located at points convenient to electrical appliances.

End Drudgery

A wide variety of sinks, ranges, cabinets, shelves and the like are now on the market, which make kitchen duties a pleasure rather than drudgery. Until April 1, 1936, modernization credit in amounts up to $2,000 may be obtained from private lending institutions holding housing administration insurance contracts. The owner of a home may be given five years to repay such an obligation in monthly installments. Such credit advances are made strictly on a character basis with no collateral being required.

The borrower must be able to satisfy the lending institution of his financial responsibility and give assurance of his ability to repay the sum advanced within the time specified.

POOL CURB

A concrete curb may be placed around a lily pool if desired. In places where a pool is shaded, many builders place boulders and rocks around the sides. Whatever type of pool is selected, the owner will find it helps to improve the appearance of the home garden.

Hotel Lobby Modernization

Wall Paper Is Aid To Smarter Decoration

Throughout the United States east of the Rockies wallpaper wholesalers and dealers have been meeting with the wallpaper industry adviser to the federal housing administration to discuss ways and means of making available to the ultimate consumer the smart modern wallpaper designs which the industry now produces.

These men were reminded that wallpaper is a style item, just as is the clothing which women wear in their homes. It was pointed out that many women realize this, but due to inadequate methods of merchandising on the part of the wallpaper trade they have not been able to show the same good taste in decorating their homes as they have in decorating their persons.

Wallpaper men throughout the country are now planning to display smart wallpapers in model rooms and in reproductions of parts of rooms in their store windows and display spaces. Since women buy 87 per cent of all items connected with the decoration and furnishing of homes, it is believed that this direct consumer appeal will markedly increase the public demand for better wallpaper and will at the same time make it easier for women to select the papers which will look best in their homes.

"To show a prospective customer a piece of wallpaper 18 by 24 inches in area and expect her to imagine how her entire room will look with such a paper on the walls is as bad as selling as it would be weer the automobile people to show a few parts of a car and expect their prospects to imagine the completed machine in operation from this meager display," said the wallpaper industry adviser at these meetings. He also pointed out that wallpaper could be purchased and hung with loans insured under the terms of the national housing act.

METHOD OF REMOVING SOOT IS DISCUSSED

Soot on the heating surface of a boiler should be removed because it decreases efficiency by increasing the resistance to the flow of heat. The result is that the heat transfer to the water is reduced and the temperature of the flue gas higher than it would be if the surfaces were clean.

The reduction in heat transfer depends on the position and area of the sooted surfaces, the thickness of the soot, and the percentage of the total heat absorbed by those surfaces when clean. Thus it will vary with every type of boiler.

Large boilers are usually equipped with soot blowers. Fuel savings up to eight per cent have been reported; four to five per cent is probably more conservative. Further losses may arise from incomplete combustion due to insufficient drafts caused by soot clogging the passages or flue, which may, and usually will, be much greater than the loss caused by the insulating effect.

STORE TRAFFIC

Many large store owners are taking advantage of modernization loans insured by the federal housing administration to add escalators. This is a great aid in solving the traffic problem encountered in the modern store.

This method of transportation aids sales. Displays facing the escalator should represent the merchandise offered on that floor. The passenger has a chance to see these displays and finds it easier to shop at each floor to inspect the articles offered.

BOOKCASE LIGHTS

Since it is often difficult to get proper light on a large wall bookcase from a lamp the installation of small tubular lights at the side of each shelf or a cove light above will prove to be a great convenience. These lights will be particularly useful on winter days when room lamps need not be turned on to light the bookcase.

QUESTION BOX

Q.—How can I remove mildew on a surface which is to be repainted?

A.—Wash the surface with a strong soap solution to which household ammonia has been added. Flush the surface with clean water and allow several days for it to dry. Some paints resist mildew better than others. Investigate the types of paint beforehand.

Q.—I should like to use the space in my bathroom now occupied by a radiator for a linen cabinet. Are there space-saving radiators available for bathrooms?

A.—There are several types of radiators that are very well suited for use in bathrooms and other rooms where space is at a premium. You may use the concealed or recessed type of radiator. Your heating contractor will be glad to explain to you how the concealed type of radiator may be set in the wall of the bathroom where it will be entirely out of the way. If you do not wish to have the radiator set in the wall, you have the option of choosing one of the small free-standing radiators which come in a variety of sizes. Still another alternative is to use a very thin wall-type radiator.

Q.—The location of my hot-water tank seems to cause the water to cool in a very short time. Can I remedy this?

A.—Hot water will remain hot for long periods in a tank covered with an insulating jacket, and fuel will be saved.

The insulation should not be dense, for it will have little value. It should be porous and contain air spaces. Ready-made jackets of sizes to fit standard tanks are available.

A jacket can be made of ordinary corrugated board. This is wrapped tightly around the tank in a number of layers, adjoining layers being pasted together. The top is covered with disks to fit. The outside can be covered with muslin and painted.

GARAGE DOORS

If house doors were neglected as garage doors so often are, the housewife might well be ashamed of her home. Heavy garage doors frequently have hinges too light to withstand the abuse which they usually receive. They are exposed to all kinds of weather and should be treated periodically with some good preservative. Summer is a good time to remove neglected garage doors, replace worn hardware, refinish surfaces, and add fixtures which will aid in keeping them in good repair. To keep them rigid when open and prevent undue strain on the hinges caused by wind, drive a 2 by 4 inch post into the earth next to the position of the open garage door. A sturdy metal fastening on the post and the door can be easily attached, and this simple device will prevent many future repair costs resulting from banging garage doors.

CLOSET LIGHT

A light is almost a necessity in much used closets.

Install a door type of switch control. It automatically turns on the closet light when the door is opened.

This switch is convenient and economical. There is no danger of closing the door and leaving the light burning for several hours for the automatic switch will turn off the light as soon as the door is closed.

CREDIT PLAN EXTENDED TO APARTMENTS

Efficient Aid To Reducing Operation Costs, It Is Declared

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Installation of equipment and machinery for commercial-residential buildings as a means of lowering operating costs is now possible under the Federal Housing administration's amended modernization credit plan.

Under the amendments the housing administration will insure loans made by private institutions in amounts up to $50,000 on equipment for apartment or multiple-family houses (two or more separate dwelling units under the same roof) and for hotels.

Installation of new heating equipment, air-conditioning systems, illuminating systems, bath and plumbing fixtures, sewerage systems, elevators, and other improvements are eligible under the extended plan. An exhaustive survey of the country's commercial-residential properties of the Federal Housing administration reveals the fact that there are scores of thousands of such structures wherein exist a definite need for new equipment and machinery. Through the new method of credit extension, apartment building owners may now improve their properties to such an extent as to be on a competitive basis with larger operators in the same field.

Changes Made

Several changes have been made under the $50,000 extension in contrast with the regulations which formerly held under the $2,000 modernization limit.

Primarily, because of the diversity of risk under the new arrangement, the housing administration considers the taking of collateral by lending institutions appropriate, but does not make this obligatory by regulation. In the case of purchase and installation of equipment and machinery for apartment buildings, the housing administration suggests that such collateral be in the form of a chattel mortgage, conditioned sale, or bailment lease as state laws designate. Under the amended plan the lending institution's decision as to the credit worthiness of applicants is taken as final, if an approved form of credit statement is taken and assurance is given that all phases of the loan conform with the housing administration's regulations.

A more complete financial and credit statement is also required under the $50,000 extension. A balance sheet and profit-and-loss statement must be submitted by the borrower to the lending institution. When these points are taken into consideration the Federal Housing administration will insure the loan. Under the amended plan the maximum interest charge remains the same as under the $2,000 arrangement. This maximum is an amount equivalent to a $5 discount per $100 original face amount of a one-year note, to be repaid in equal monthly installments. The housing administration, however, urges lending institutions to make loans under the $50,000 extension at as low an interest rate as possible.

Board Decides

Eligibility of equipment and machinery for apartment and multiple-family dwellings is determined in every instance by a board of authority at national headquarters in Washington. It is stressed that where a ruling may apply in one case it does not necessarily mean that the same rule will apply generally. In a general sense, all equipment and machinery peculiarly adapted to the business conducted on a property and necessary to its operation may be purchased with loans granted under the $50,000 extension.

Apartment-building owners may obtain specific information concerning individual projects from Federal Housing headquarters in Washington.

SHOP LIGHTING

Store windows are the best salesmen. Night lighting of attractively arranged windows increases sales.

Unusual effects may be attained by the use of colored electric lights. A soft blue light on a silver backdrop can be used to display a variety of objects. The intensity of the light is not as important as the unusualness and color. A street filled with bright, fully lighted windows is monotonous. The store that adds a soft color may attract customers where the usual harshly lighted windows in adjacent stores will be ignored.

Comfort at Little Cost

Effective results in modern decoration are obtained in the living room shown above by the combination of built-in bookcases, wall-width, ceiling-high mirror, and brick fireplace. Continuation of the mantel as a top shelf for the bookcase provides additional space for incidentals. Many rooms in existing dwellings may be transformed into livable, comfortable places for the family to gather. Such improvements are inexpensive and funds for such work may be obtained from any private lending institution cooperating in the modernization credit plan of the Federal Housing Administration.

Architectural Taste Is Vital To Better Homes

Architecture is a subject which is related to every person. It is not merely a "fine art" to be placed in great galleries and admired by the few. It is not an esoteric subject. Rather, it is part of each person's daily life, and each should be as familiar with what is good architecture as he is with what is good food or warm clothing.

The August 28 Milwaukee Journal had an editorial on the subject of architectural taste which said in part:

"Why are most people indifferent to architecture? * * * The American people as a whole lack architecture taste. We see a Colonial detail which strikes our fancy. We see a heavy English door which we admire. We delight in an odd type of rough plastering. We find some pleasing casement windows. Presently we go to an architect and demand that he mix the whole into a residence which can only be a perpetual monument to our lack of architectural taste. If he objects, we refuse to sit at his feet to learn. We 'know what we want, we are aware of 'what we like.' We will build our house— and live in it. And build it we do pretty much according to our original ideas, despite the architect's protests. * * * A man can be of a mongrel house as in the wearing of a cap, a red tie, and brown shoes just as ridiculous in the ownership with evening dress. The fact that he is fond of all four of these items of dress and that all four are excellent in and of themselves does not excuse their combination in a person of taste."

Shelter—the homes we spend the greater part of our time in are among the most unsatisfactory of our buildings. Because they are so "everyday" we disregard the fact that they can and should be as carefully studied, as functional, and as attractive as possible.

America should think as much about its homes as it does its cars. Then there would be a revival in architectural taste.

SEVERAL WAYS TO PRESERVE WOOD GIVEN

There is a variety of methods for the preservation of wood which is subjected to abnormal weather conditions and, in some localities, attacks by insects.

The effectiveness of any good wood preservative is measured largely by the depth to which the preservative penetrates. There are various ways of applying preservatives, but the most satisfactory means is by impregnation under pressure and by the use of pressure the penetration is subject to control. The amount of preservation may be varied to suit the different requirements. This results in an economical use of the preservative material.

Preservatively treated wood may be tested for penetration. Cresote oil is indicated by a dark discoloration and can be determined by taking a sample at a point free from imperfections. Zinc chloride and other colorless preservatives can be tested with chemicals.

Preservatives will not make weak timbers strong nor restore strength to timber which has been partially destroyed by decay. It should be applied to sound wood after it is cut and framed, in order that all exposed parts may be treated. If some cutting after treatment is unavoidable, hot creosote oil may be applied to the exposed surfaces.

RED ACCENT

Red's primary use is as an accent color, particularly in rooms that receive little sunlight. As such, it should be used sparingly and with neutral backgrounds.

ORGANIZE NEW HOUSING CLASS

FHA Expert To Teach In Graduate School At American University

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Dr. Ernest M. Fisher, director of the division of statistics and economics, federal housing administration, will conduct a course in housing and home financing during the 1935-36 term of the graduate school of the America.. university here.

Subjects which will receive attention during the course will include the quantitative and qualitative evaluation of the nation's housing equipment or plant, its original and replacement cost, the cost of shelter in relation to other items in the family budget, and housing standards together with the related questions of slums and blighted areas and of housing by public agencies here and abroad. The housing market, appraisal techniques, and financing methods will also be taken under discussion during the course. The coming term will mark the first time such a course has been offered at American university.

MORE LUMBER WILL BE USED DURING YEAR

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Lumber consumption this year will be greater than it has been in any 12-month period since 1931, it is predicted by the special lumber survey committee of the department of commerce.

The committee estimates a total consumption of between 16,000,000,000 and 17,000,000,000 board feet during 1935, which contrasts favorably with the total of 13,105,000,000 feet in 1932 and 15,467,467,000,000 last year. The stimulus given residential construction by the federal housing administration on a nation-wide scale is said by the committee to have been partly responsible for the gains in the lumber industry.

Trend Toward Economy Of Space To Save Steps Of Housewives

Modernization of the kitchen has proved in hundreds of instances to more than justify the expenditure.

Wallpaper men throughout the country are now planning to display smart wallpapers in model rooms and in reproductions of parts of rooms in their store windows and display spaces. Since women buy 87 per cent of all items connected with the decoration and furnishing of homes, it is believed that this direct consumer appeal will markedly increase the public demand for better wallpaper and will at the same time make it easier for women to select the papers which will look best in their homes.

"To show a prospective customer a piece of wallpaper 18 by 24 inches in area and expect her to imagine how her entire room will look with such a paper on the walls is as bad as selling as it would be weer the automobile people to show a few parts of a car and expect their prospects to imagine the completed machine in operation from this meager display," said the wallpaper industry adviser at these meetings. He also pointed out that wallpaper could be purchased and hung with loans insured under the terms of the national housing act.

METHOD OF REMOVING SOOT IS DISCUSSED

Soot on the heating surface of a boiler should be removed because it decreases efficiency by increasing the resistance to the flow of heat. The result is that the heat transfer to the water is reduced and the temperature of the flue gas higher than it would be if the surfaces were clean.

The reduction in heat transfer depends on the position and area of the sooted surfaces, the thickness of the soot, and the percentage of the total heat absorbed by those surfaces when clean. Thus it will vary with every type of boiler.

Large boilers are usually equipped with soot blowers. Fuel savings up to eight per cent have been reported; four to five per cent is probably more conservative. Further losses may arise from incomplete combustion due to insufficient drafts caused by soot clogging the passages or flue, which may, and usually will, be much greater than the loss caused by the insulating effect.

STORE TRAFFIC

Many large store owners are taking advantage of modernization loans insured by the federal housing administration to add escalators. This is a great aid in solving the traffic problem encountered in the modern store.

This method of transportation aids sales. Displays facing the escalator should represent the merchandise offered on that floor. The passenger has a chance to see these displays and finds it easier to shop at each floor to inspect the articles offered.

BOOKCASE LIGHTS

Since it is often difficult to get proper light on a large wall bookcase from a lamp the installation of small tubular lights at the side of each shelf or a cove light above will prove to be a great convenience These lights will be particularly useful on winter days when room lamps need not be turned on to light the bookcase.

QUESTION BOX

Q.—How can I remove mildew on a surface which is to be repainted?

A.—Wash the surface with a strong soap solution to which household ammonia has been added. Flush the surface with clean water and allow several days for it to dry. Some paints resist mildew better than others. Investigate the types of paint beforehand.

Q.—I should like to use the space in my bathroom now occupied by a radiator for a linen cabinet. Are there space-saving radiators available for bathrooms?

A.—There are several types of radiators that are very well suited for use in bathrooms and other rooms where space is at a premium. You may use the concealed or recessed type of radiator. Your heating contractor will be glad to explain to you how the concealed type of radiator may be set in the wall of the bathroom where it will be entirely out of the way. If you do not wish to have the radiator set in the wall, you have the option of choosing one of the small free-standing radiators which come in a variety of sizes. Still another alternative is to use a very thin wall-type radiator.

Q.—The location of my hot-water tank seems to cause the water to cool in a very short time. Can I remedy this?

A.—Hot water will remain hot for long periods in a tank covered with an insulating jacket, and fuel will be saved.

The insulation should not be dense, for it will have little value. It should be porous and contain air spaces. Ready-made jackets of sizes to fit standard tanks are available.

A jacket can be made of ordinary corrugated board. This is wrapped tightly around the tank in a number of layers, adjoining layers being pasted together. The top is covered with disks to fit. The outside can be covered with muslin and painted.

GARAGE DOORS

If house doors were neglected as garage doors so often are, the housewife might well be ashamed of her home. Heavy garage doors frequently have hinges too light to withstand the abuse which they usually receive. They are exposed to all kinds of weather and should be treated periodically with some good preservative. Summer is a good time to remove neglected garage doors, replace worn hardware, refinish surfaces, and add fixtures which will aid in keeping them in good repair. To keep them rigid when open and prevent undue strain on the hinges caused by wind, drive a 2 by 4 inch post into the earth next to the position of the open garage door. A sturdy metal fastening on the post and the door can be easily attached, and this simple device will prevent many future repair costs resulting from banging garage doors.

CLOSET LIGHT

A light is almost a necessity in much used closets.

Install a door type of switch control. It automatically turns on the closet light when the door is opened.

This switch is convenient and economical. There is no danger of closing the door and leaving the light burning for several hours for the automatic switch will turn off the light as soon as the door is closed.

CREDIT PLAN EXTENDED TO APARTMENTS

Efficient Aid To Reducing Operation Costs, It Is Declared

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Installation of equipment and machinery for commercial-residential buildings as a means of lowering operating costs is now possible under the Federal Housing administration's amended modernization credit plan.

Under the amendments the housing administration will insure loans made by private institutions in amounts up to $50,000 on equipment for apartment or multiple-family houses (two or more separate dwelling units under the same roof) and for hotels.

Installation of new heating equipment, air-conditioning systems, illuminating systems, bath and plumbing fixtures, sewerage systems, elevators, and other improvements are eligible under the extended plan. An exhaustive survey of the country's commercial-residential properties of the Federal Housing administration reveals the fact that there are scores of thousands of such structures wherein exist a definite need for new equipment and machinery. Through the new method of credit extension, apartment building owners may now improve their properties to such an extent as to be on a competitive basis with larger operators in the same field.

Changes Made

Several changes have been made under the $50,000 extension in contrast with the regulations which formerly held under the $2,000 modernization limit.

Primarily, because of the diversity of risk under the new arrangement, the housing administration considers the taking of collateral by lending institutions appropriate, but does not make this obligatory by regulation. In the case of purchase and installation of equipment and machinery for apartment buildings, the housing administration suggests that such collateral be in the form of a chattel mortgage, conditioned sale, or bailment lease as state laws designate. Under the amended plan the lending institution's decision as to the credit worthiness of applicants is taken as final, if an approved form of credit statement is taken and assurance is given that all phases of the loan conform with the housing administration's regulations.

A more complete financial and credit statement is also required under the $50,000 extension. A balance sheet and profit-and-loss statement must be submitted by the borrower to the lending institution. When these points are taken into consideration the Federal Housing administration will insure the loan. Under the amended plan the maximum interest charge remains the same as under the $2,000 arrangement. This maximum is an amount equivalent to a $5 discount per $100 original face amount of a one-year note, to be repaid in equal monthly installments. The housing administration, however, urges lending institutions to make loans under the $50,000 extension at as low an interest rate as possible.

Board Decides

Eligibility of equipment and machinery for apartment and multiple-family dwellings is determined in every instance by a board of authority at national headquarters in Washington. It is stressed that where a ruling may apply in one case it does not necessarily mean that the same rule will apply generally. In a general sense, all equipment and machinery peculiarly adapted to the business conducted on a property and necessary to its operation may be purchased with loans granted under the $50,000 extension.

Apartment-building owners may obtain specific information concerning individual projects from Federal Housing headquarters in Washington.

SHOP LIGHTING

Store windows are the best salesmen. Night lighting of attractively arranged windows increases sales.

Unusual effects may be attained by the use of colored electric lights. A soft blue light on a silver backdrop can be used to display a variety of objects. The intensity of the light is not as important as the unusualness and color. A street filled with bright, fully lighted windows is monotonous. The store that adds a soft color may attract customers where the usual harshly lighted windows in adjacent stores will be ignored.

Comfort at Little Cost

Effective results in modern decoration are obtained in the living room shown above by the combination of built-in bookcases, wall-width, ceiling-high mirror, and brick fireplace. Continuation of the mantel as a top shelf for the bookcase provides additional space for incidentals. Many rooms in existing dwellings may be transformed into livable, comfortable places for the family to gather. Such improvements are inexpensive and funds for such work may be obtained from any private lending institution cooperating in the modernization credit plan of the Federal Housing Administration.

Architectural Taste Is Vital To Better Homes

Architecture is a subject which is related to every person. It is not merely a "fine art" to be placed in great galleries and admired by the few. It is not an esoteric subject. Rather, it is part of each person's daily life, and each should be as familiar with what is good architecture as he is with what is good food or warm clothing.

The August 28 Milwaukee Journal had an editorial on the subject of architectural taste which said in part:

"Why are most people indifferent to architecture? • • • The American people as a whole lack architecture taste. We see a Colonial detail which strikes our fancy. We see a heavy English door which we admire. We delight in an odd type of rough plastering. We find some pleasing casement windows. Presently we go to an architect and demand that he mix the whole into a residence which can only be a perpetual monument to our lack of architectural taste. If he objects, we refuse to sit at his feet to learn. We 'know what we want, we are aware of 'what we like.' We will build our house— and live in it. And build it we do pretty much according to our original ideas, despite the architect's protests. • • • A man can be of a mongrel house as in the wearing of a cap, a red tie, and brown shoes just as ridiculous in the ownership with evening dress. The fact that he is fond of all four of these items of dress and that all four are excellent in and of themselves does not excuse their combination in a person of taste."

Shelter—the homes we spend the greater part of our time in are among the most unsatisfactory of our buildings. Because they are so "everyday" we disregard the fact that they can and should be as carefully studied, as functional, and as attractive as possible.

America should think as much about its homes as it does its cars. Then there would be a revival in architectural taste.

SEVERAL WAYS TO PRESERVE WOOD GIVEN

There is a variety of methods for the preservation of wood which is subjected to abnormal weather conditions and, in some localities, attacks by insects.

The effectiveness of any good wood preservative is measured largely by the depth to which the preservative penetrates. There are various ways of applying preservatives, but the most satisfactory means is by impregnation under pressure and by the use of pressure the penetration is subject to control. The amount of preservation may be varied to suit the different requirements. This results in an economical use of the preservative material.

Preservatively treated wood may be tested for penetration. Cresote oil is indicated by a dark discoloration and can be determined by taking a sample at a point free from imperfections. Zinc chloride and other colorless preservatives can be tested with chemicals.

Preservatives will not make weak timbers strong nor restore strength to timber which has been partially destroyed by decay. It should be applied to sound wood after it is cut and framed, in order that all exposed parts may be treated. If some cutting after treatment is unavoidable, hot creosote oil may be applied to the exposed surfaces.

RED ACCENT

Red's primary use is as an accent color, particularly in rooms that receive little sunlight. As such, it should be used sparingly and with neutral backgrounds.

FHA Expert To Teach In Graduate School At American University

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Dr. Ernest M. Fisher, director of the division of statistics and economics, federal housing administration, will conduct a course in housing and home financing during the 1935-36 term of the graduate school of the America.. university here.

Subjects which will receive attention during the course will include the quantitative and qualitative evaluation of the nation's housing equipment or plant, its original and replacement cost, the cost of shelter in relation to other items in the family budget, and housing standards together with the related questions of slums and blighted areas and of housing by public agencies here and abroad. The housing market, appraisal techniques, and financing methods will also be taken under discussion during the course. The coming term will mark the first time such a course has been offered at American university.

MORE LUMBER WILL BE USED DURING YEAR

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Lumber consumption this year will be greater than it has been in any 12-month period since 1931, it is predicted by the special lumber survey committee of the department of commerce.

The committee estimates a total consumption of between 16,000,000,000 and 17,000,000,000 board feet during 1935, which contrasts favorably with the total of 13,105,000,000 feet in 1932 and 15,467,467,000,000 last year. The stimulus given residential construction by the federal housing administration on a nation-wide scale is said by the committee to have been partly responsible for the gains in the lumber industry.

FARM FINANCING SHOWS INCREASE

67 Per Cent Gain Shown In Real Estate Mortgages In Louisiana

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 19.—(Special)—Far real estate mortgage financing in Louisiana by banks, insurance companies and other private investors showed a 67 per cent increase during the first half of 1935 compared with the corresponding period in 1934, the Farm Credit administration reported today.

The 1935 figure is $5,548,000 and that for the first six months of 1934, $3,318,000. Wyoming and Nevada led the entire country with increases of approximately 160 per cent.

The fact that private concerns are going back into the field of lending money on farm real estate is considered one of the most significant signs of returning prosperity.

Over the entire United States private concerns and individuals recorded over $306,000,000 of farm real estate mortgages during the first six months of 1935 compared with $241,000,000 in the same period in 1934. This is a 27 per cent increase.

The $306,000,000 loaned by private creditors compares with $227,000,000 by the Federal Land banks and Land bank commissioner during the same period. This is the first period since 1933 in which the volume of farm real estate mortgage financing by private creditors exceeded the amount loaned by the Federal Land banks and commissioner.

The total amount of farm mortgage financing during the first half of 1935 continued to decline, being about $583,000,000 on farm mortgages since the refinancing program began in 1933, at a time when financing by private creditors had dropped to the lowest level in years.

Life insurance companies continued to register the largest percentage of increase in farm mortgage financing during the first half of this year. They loaned over $37,000,000, an increase of 83 per cent over the first half of 1934; commercial banks recorded farm mortgages aggregating $88,000,000, or an increase of 57 per cent; individuals $141,000,000 or an increase of 22 per cent; and all other private creditors $39,000,000 or a decrease of 22 per cent.

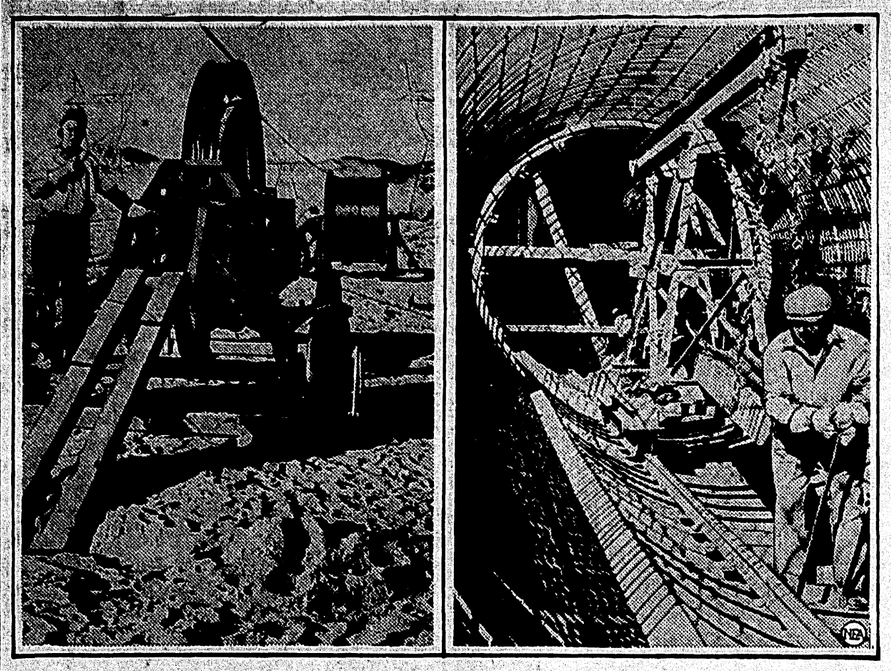
LOS ANGELES FORGES ITS LINKS WITH BOULDER DAM



Steadily the work goes forward of linking Los Angeles and its hinterland with Boulder dam, the last activities that will bring victory to the coast in its long battle with the desert. At the left tractors are shown unwinding great drums of cable which will be strung on steel towers 800 to 1,000 feet apart. Across 270 miles of mountains and deserts this slender thread has been spinning its way for two years toward the giant generators at the dam, to carry 275,000 volts that will furnish power and light to the Los Angeles section. At the right men are at work on the great skeleton of the Colorado river aqueduct. These huge conduits will carry a billion gallons of water a day to the thirsty cities

SANITARIUM'S VISITING HOURS TO BE OBSERVED

Cooperation of the public in observing the schedule of visiting hours at the St. Francis sanitarium was requested yesterday in a statement issued at the sanitarium. The visiting hours are from 10 to 11 o'clock in the morning, 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

It was stated that the sanitarium, in giving the best possible service to its patients, must allot to the patients certain periods of the day when they may rest without receiving visitors.

A number of persons have become accustomed to visiting friends or relatives at the sanitarium at almost any hour of the day or evening and have not been turned away because the sanitarium staff has been reluctant to overrule against the sentiment attached to such visits. However, in the future, all persons are sincerely requested to refrain from visiting patients except during the prescribed hours.

INCREASE SHOWN IN COTTON CROP

Production In Louisiana Substantially Higher This Year Than Last

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 19.—(Special)—Louisiana's cotton crop appears likely to be substantially higher this year than last. Cotton ginned prior to October 1 in the state was 365,312 bales as compared with only 339,944 bales on the same date last year.

The marked shift in cotton production among the various parishes of the state was shown by the October 1 report of the census bureau made public today.

Caddo parish, which in previous years has led all other parishes in the state in the amount of cotton ginned, now ranks third with a decrease of nearly 3,000 bales under the total for last year. The amount ginned in Caddo parish to October 1 was 23,645 bales as compared with 26,706 up to the same date in 1934.

St. Landry parish with a high increase of nearly 11,000 bales ranks above all other parishes at the present time, having ginned 29,441 up to the present time this year as contrasted to 18,759 to the same time last year.

The other parish which leads Caddo this year is Franklin with 23,979 bales to its credit as compared with 23,821 in 1934.

Other parishes which have ginned over 10,000 bales in 1935 together with their total up to the same date in 1934 are; Acadia, 10,241 as compared with 6,470; Avoyelles, 13,997 and 12,519; Bossier, 14,622 and 14,673; East Carroll, 11,476 and 10,724; Evangeline, 15,536 and 10,875; Lafayette, 14,243 and 4,903; Morehous, 11,903 and 12,122; Natchitoches, 13,527 and 23,179; Rapides, 11,601 and 14,331; Richland, 18,960 and 17,580; Tensas, 11,202 and 8,973; Washington, 10,768 and 5,838.

CRIMINAL RECORDS OF NEGRO TRIO IS GIVEN BY POLICE

Fingerprint records of three negroes arrested by police here for the hold-up and robbery of a white couple on Smoot field Wednesday night, October 9, revealed Saturday that two of them have criminal records as confidence men and "flim-flammers," and that the oldest of the trio, Lorenzo Roberson, 64, has an unusually long criminal record. He has been in the toils of the law in more than 20 of the larger cities of the country and three of his prison terms were served in Sing Sing prison, at Ossining, N. Y.

Personal possessions of the negroes when they were arrested here last Friday included an automobile and a worn book of maps—road maps of every state in the union, Canada and Mexico, and maps of the principal cities of the countries.

Clyde Wimbush, 34, one of the younger two negroes, was the other alleged hold-up man having a record as a confidence man. James Chappell, 25, is the third negro held in the case. The three negroes are in the parish jail.

Roberson has been convicted on numerous occasions on such charges as "confidence game operator, pocket book dropper, flim-flammer and swindling." He has also been convicted of vagrancy, larceny, attempted grand larceny, and has been held for investigation in many cities.

Among the cities where his operations have resulted in peace officers placing him under arrest to answer charges are Kansas City, Kans., Johnston, Pa., Pittsburgh, Pa., Cleveland, Ohio, Newark, N. J., New York city, Yonkers, N. Y., Louisville, Ky., Charlotte, N. C., Chattanooga, Tenn., New Orleans, St. Paul, Minn., St. Louis, Mo., Westchester, N. Y., New Rochelle, N. Y., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Wimbush has been in difficulties with the law in Norfolk, Va., Kansas City, Mo., Beaumont, Tex., Los Angeles, Calif., and Steubenville, O.

Chappell has been held by peace officers at Chillicothe, Mo., Lexington, Ky., and Charleston, W. Va. The most serious charge held against him was a prohibition violation charge at Chillicothe in 1930.

BREWERY SERVES 142,152 BOTTLES OF BEER DURING VISITS OF LEGIONNAIRES

Figures compiled today by Anheuser-Busch for the American Legion revealed that delegates to the recent legion convention drank 142,152 bottles of beer in four days, as guests of the brewery. A bar 800 feet long and the services of 75 bartenders and 40 assistants were required to accommodate the thirsty legionnaires and their friends. All together, 110,000 persons visited this bar and were taken through the plant, which is the world's largest brewery.

Anheuser-Busch were prepared to serve even more beer, but two factors held the consumption to 142,152 bottles. One was that on the fo day rain, which held the attenda down to 5,000, drove the visitors doors, but even then 13,200 bo were consumed. The second was the 75 bartenders were consta running out of glasses, many of wh were kept as souvenirs the mi they were empty. Fifteen thous glasses were ordered to take car the visitors. Of the 15,000, 13,800 v carried home as mementoes of party. Two dance orchestras pla continuously, keeping the gayet the visitors at fever pitch.

Brewery officials were gratifie report that there was not the slig evidence of disorder at any time ing the American Legion's visit.

FARM FINANCING SHOWS INCREASE

67 Per Cent Gain Shown In Real Estate Mortgages In Louisiana

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 19.—(Special)—Far real estate mortgage financing in Louisiana by banks, insurance companies and other private investors showed a 67 per cent increase during the first half of 1935 compared with the corresponding period in 1934, the Farm Credit administration reported today.

The 1935 figure is $5,548,000 and that for the first six months of 1934, $3,318,000. Wyoming and Nevada led the entire country with increases of approximately 160 per cent.

The fact that private concerns are going back into the field of lending money on farm real estate is considered one of the most significant signs of returning prosperity.

Over the entire United States private concerns and individuals recorded over $306,000,000 of farm real estate mortgages during the first six months of 1935 compared with $241,000,000 in the same period in 1934. This is a 27 per cent increase.

The $306,000,000 loaned by private creditors compares with $227,000,000 by the Federal Land banks and Land bank commissioner during the same period. This is the first period since 1933 in which the volume of farm real estate mortgage financing by private creditors exceeded the amount loaned by the Federal Land banks and commissioner.

The total amount of farm mortgage financing during the first half of 1935 continued to decline, being about $583,000,000 on farm mortgages since the refinancing program began in 1933, at a time when financing by private creditors had dropped to the lowest level in years.

Life insurance companies continued to register the largest percentage of increase in farm mortgage financing during the first half of this year. They loaned over $37,000,000, an increase of 83 per cent over the first half of 1934; commercial banks recorded farm mortgages aggregating $88,000,000, or an increase of 57 per cent; individuals $141,000,000 or an increase of 22 per cent; and all other private creditors $39,000,000 or a decrease of 22 per cent.

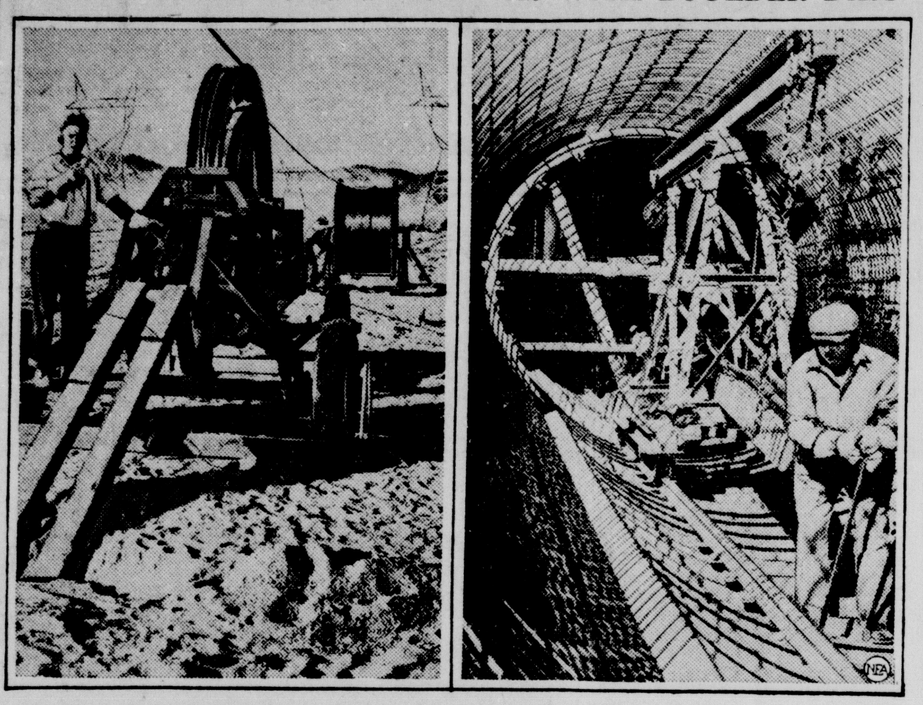
LOS ANGELES FORGES ITS LINKS WITH BOULDER DAM



Steadily the work goes forward of linking Los Angeles and its hinterland with Boulder dam, the last activities that will bring victory to the coast in its long battle with the desert. At the left tractors are shown unwinding great drums of cable which will be strung on steel towers 800 to 1,000 feet apart. Across 270 miles of mountains and deserts this slender thread has been spinning its way for two years toward the giant generators at the dam, to carry 275,000 volts that will furnish power and light to the Los Angeles section. At the right men are at work on the great skeleton of the Colorado river aqueduct. These huge conduits will carry a billion gallons of water a day to the thirsty cities

SANITARIUM'S VISITING HOURS TO BE OBSERVED

Cooperation of the public in observing the schedule of visiting hours at the St. Francis sanitarium was requested yesterday in a statement issued at the sanitarium. The visiting hours are from 10 to 11 o'clock in the morning, 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

It was stated that the sanitarium, in giving the best possible service to its patients, must allot to the patients certain periods of the day when they may rest without receiving visitors.

A number of persons have become accustomed to visiting friends or relatives at the sanitarium at almost any hour of the day or evening and have not been turned away because the sanitarium staff has been reluctant to overrule against the sentiment attached to such visits. However, in the future, all persons are sincerely requested to refrain from visiting patients except during the prescribed hours.

The "zipper" fastener was invented by Whitcomb Judson in 1893, but Gideon Sundback later improved and patented it.

INCREASE SHOWN IN COTTON CROP

Production In Louisiana Substantially Higher This Year Than Last

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 19.—(Special)—Louisiana's cotton crop appears likely to be substantially higher this year than last. Cotton ginned prior to October 1 in the state was 365,312 bales as compared with only 339,944 bales on the same date last year.

The marked shift in cotton production among the various parishes of the state was shown by the October 1 report of the census bureau made public today.

Caddo parish, which in previous years has led all other parishes in the state in the amount of cotton ginned, now ranks third with a decrease of nearly 3,000 bales under the total for last year. The amount ginned in Caddo parish to October 1 was 23,645 bales as compared with 26,706 up to the same date in 1934.

St. Landry parish with a high increase of nearly 11,000 bales ranks above all other parishes at the present time, having ginned 29,441 up to the present time this year as contrasted to 18,759 to the same time last year.

The other parish which leads Caddo this year is Franklin with 23,979 bales to its credit as compared with 23,821 in 1934.

Other parishes which have ginned over 10,000 bales in 1935 together with their total up to the same date in 1934 are: Acadia, 10,241 as compared with 6,470; Avoyelles, 13,997 and 12,519; Bossier, 14,622 and 14,673; East Carroll, 11,476 and 10,724; Evangeline, 15,536 and 10,875; Lafayette, 14,243 and 4,903; Morehous, 11,903 and 12,122; Natchitoches, 13,527 and 23,179; Rapides, 11,601 and 14,331; Richland, 18,960 and 17,580; Tensas, 11,202 and 8,973; Washington, 10,768 and 5,838.

CRIMINAL RECORDS OF NEGRO TRIO IS GIVEN BY POLICE

Fingerprint records of three negroes arrested by police here for the hold-up and robbery of a white couple on Smoot field Wednesday night, October 9, revealed Saturday that two of them have criminal records as confidence men and "flim-flammers," and that the oldest of the trio, Lorenzo Roberson, 64, has an unusually long criminal record. He has been in the toils of the law in more than 20 of the larger cities of the country and three of his prison terms were served in Sing Sing prison, at Ossining, N. Y.

Personal possessions of the negroes when they were arrested here last Friday included an automobile and a worn book of maps—road maps of every state in the union, Canada and Mexico, and maps of the principal cities of the countries.

Clyde Wimbush, 34, one of the younger two negroes, was the other alleged hold-up man having a record as a confidence man. James Chappell, 25, is the third negro held in the case. The three negroes are in the parish jail.

Roberson has been convicted on numerous occasions on such charges as "confidence game operator, pocket book dropper, flim-flammer and swindling." He has also been convicted of vagrancy, larceny, attempted grand larceny, and has been held for investigation in many cities.

Among the cities where his operations have resulted in peace officers placing him under arrest to answer charges are Kansas City, Kans., Johnston, Pa., Pittsburgh, Pa., Cleveland, Ohio, Newark, N. J., New York city, Yonkers, N. Y., Louisville, Ky., Charlotte, N. C., Chattanooga, Tenn., New Orleans, St. Paul, Minn., St. Louis, Mo., Westchester, N. Y., New Rochelle, N. Y., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Wimbush has been in difficulties with the law in Norfolk, Va., Kansas City, Mo., Beaumont, Tex., Los Angeles, Calif., and Steubenville, O.

Chappell has been held by peace officers at Chillicothe, Mo., Lexington, Ky., and Charleston, W. Va. The most serious charge held against him was a prohibition violation charge at Chillicothe in 1930.

BREWERY SERVES 142,152 BOTTLES OF BEER DURING VISITS OF LEGIONNAIRES

Figures compiled today by Anheuser-Busch for the American Legion revealed that delegates to the recent legion convention drank 142,152 bottles of beer in four days, as guests of the brewery. A bar 800 feet long and the services of 75 bartenders and 40 assistants were required to accommodate the thirsty legionnaires and their friends. All together, 110,000 persons visited this bar and were taken through the plant, which is the world's largest brewery.

Anheuser-Busch were prepared to serve even more beer, but two factors held the consumption to 142,152 bottles. One was that on the fo day rain, which held the attenda down to 5,000, drove the visitors doors, but even then 13,200 bo were consumed. The second was the 75 bartenders were consta running out of glasses, many of wl were kept as souvenirs the mi they were empty. Fifteen thous glasses were ordered to take car the visitors. Of the 15,000, 13,800 carried home as mementoes of party. Two dance orchestras pla continuously, keeping the gayet the visitors at fever pitch.

Brewery officials were gratifie report that there was not the sligh evidence of disorder at any time ing the American Legion's visit.

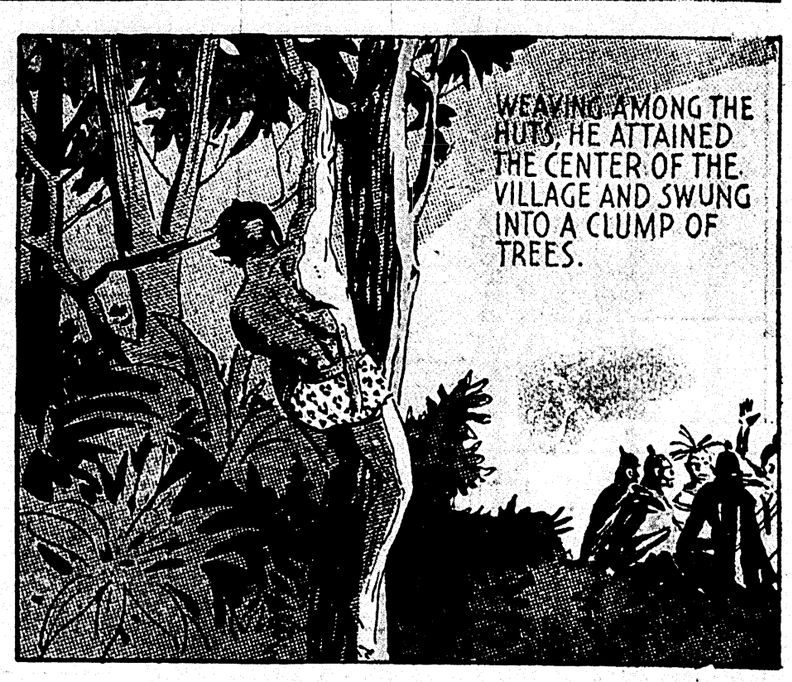
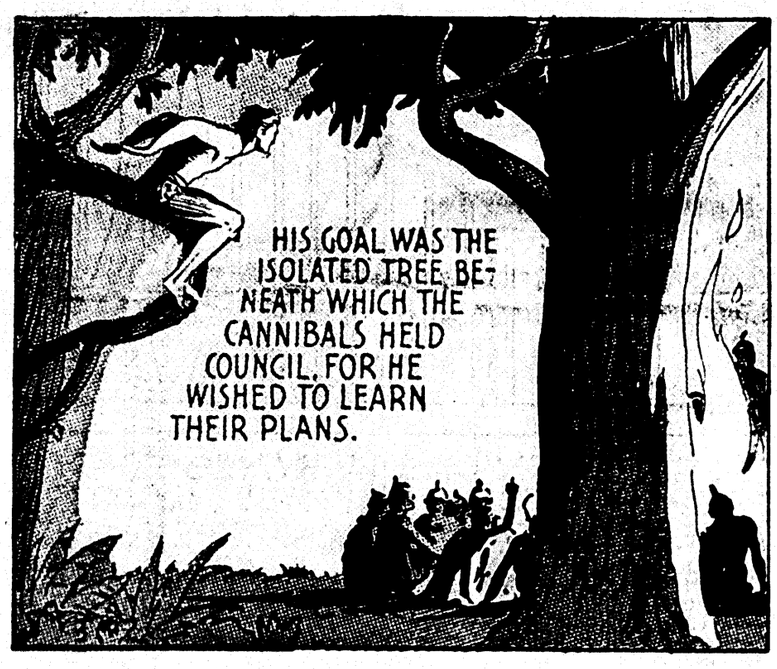
SCALING THE PALISADE, TARZAN DROPPED DOWN INTO THE VILLAGE OF THE LION PEOPLE, WHO HELD SIGREDA CAPTIVE.

CAUTIOUSLY HE SLIPPED PAST THE SENTRIES, UNAWARE THAT THEY HAD BEEN ORDERED TO LET HIM PASS FREELY.

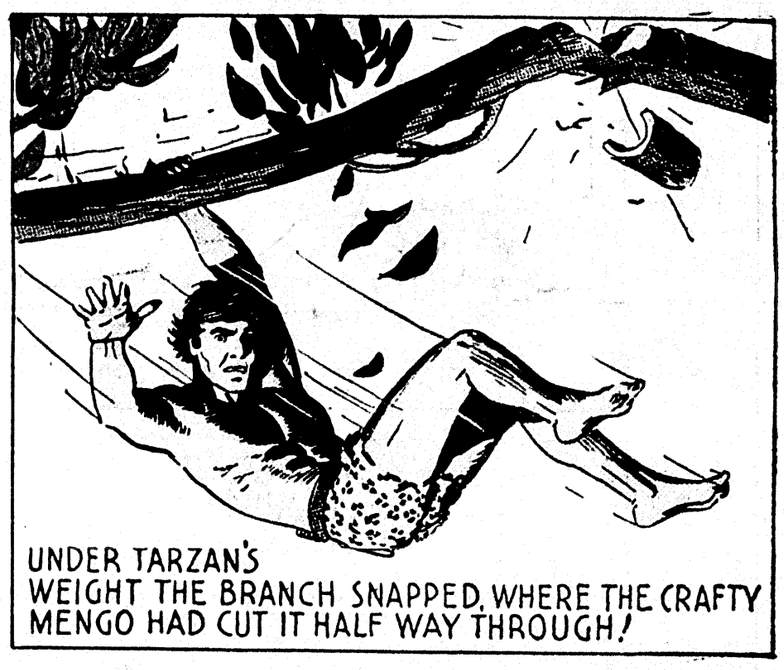


WEAVING AMONG THE HUTS, HE ATTAINED THE CENTER OF THE VILLAGE AND SWUNG INTO A CLUMP OF TREES.



HIS GOAL WAS THE ISOLATED TREE BENEATH WHICH THE CANNIBALS HELD COUNCIL, FOR HE WISHED TO LEARN THEIR PLANS.

HE LEAPED TOWARD IT, BUT WHEN HIS FINGERS CLOSED ON A BOUGH, A HARROWING RIPPING OF WOOD FORETOLD HIS FATE.

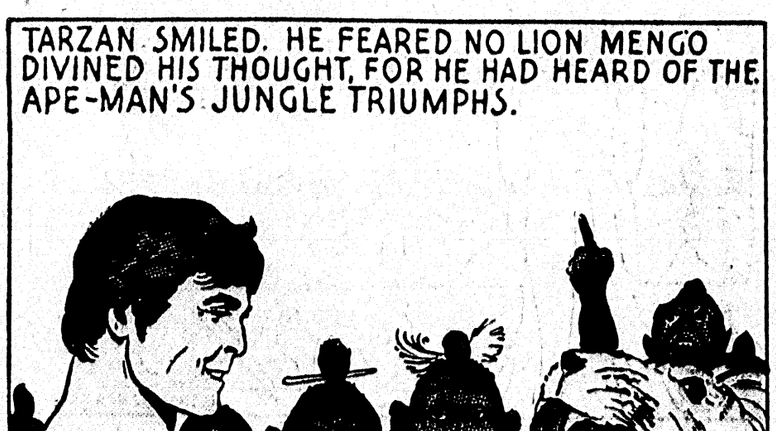


UNDER TARZAN'S WEIGHT THE BRANCH SNAPPED, WHERE THE CRAFTY MENGO HAD CUT IT HALF WAY THROUGH!

AND THE APE-MAN FELL INTO A BRISTLING CIRCLE OF EXPECTANT WARRIORS.

HE FOUGHT WITH THE FURY OF A TRAPPED BEAST, AND FOUR CANNIBALS FELL BY HIS HAND BEFORE THE THRONG SUBDUED HIM.

"THIS," ROARED MENGO, "IS THE LAST OF TARZAN! SOON HE SHALL FACE LORD SIMBA IN THE MYSTIC KRAAL. THEN-- THE FEAST!"



TARZAN SMILED. HE FEARED NO LION. MENGO DIVINED HIS THOUGHT, FOR HE HAD HEARD OF THE APE-MAN'S JUNGLE TRIUMPHS.

"WE SHALL HONOR TARZAN," MENGO ADDED, "BY SETTING MANY LIONS UPON HIM. ONE MUST KILL HIM!"

Guards Open Port At Lake Charles

WORKERS COME IN AS PICKETS ARE SURPRISED

Automobiles And Trucks Carry Men To Places On Docks

NO RESISTANCE MADE

Contract Signed With Louisiana Organization To Load

LAKE CHARLES, La., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Seventy-five grim-faced guards armed with shiny machine guns, rifles and other firearms, today marched onto the Lake Charles waterfront and opened the port to shipping which had been blocked for ten days by the dock strike of the International Longshoremen's association. There was no disturbance.

Pickets Surprised

Taking the pickets by surprise, the unit of guards marched down the front port main road, followed by a slow-moving truck which was covered with tarpaulin.

A few minutes later seventeen automobiles and trucks carrying Louisiana Longshoremen's association workers, independent labor, entered the docks also through the front road, which prior to today had been blocked by pickets and within ten minutes the workers were on the docks.

Handling of cargo began here at 9 a.m.

I. L. A. pickets stationed along the dock roads, armed with clubs and sticks since the strike was called here ten days ago in an effort to force I. L. A. recognition at Lake Charles and other gulf ports, made no move to interfere with transportation of laborers to the docks.

Contracts Signed

Last week the Lake Charles Maritime association signed two-year contracts with the Louisiana organization for handling of deep sea cargo. One vessel has been moored here for the past several days awaiting loading of a cargo of rosin for Buenos Aires.

Business leaders of the city at the beginning of the strike conferred with officials of both the parish and the state, requesting that precautions be taken to keep the port open for business.

In months past the local port was the scene of two bloody encounters in the dock labor war.

Began October 1

The strike was called along the gulf coast from Pensacola to New Orleans on October 1 but many of the ports have reported scheduled working of ships with independent labor under police guards.

On Friday, October 11, the strike was extended to include Lake Charles and Texas ports where higher wages and I. L. A. recognition were sought.

A number of brushes have been reported in New Orleans where independent labor organizations hold the working contracts and the steamship association declared that shipping was going forward without delay.

In one of the skirmishes a negro was fatally wounded in New Orleans and several persons have suffered injuries from beatings, stabbings and shootings.

I. L. A. pickets have kept vigil at all of the gulf ports since the strike was called.

C. L. A. spokesmen in New Orleans contested statements issued by the steamship association that normal

Buster Keaton, Actor, Suffers From Breakdown

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Apprehension was felt in the screen colony today over the condition of Buster Keaton, somber-faced funmaker, who lies seriously ill in a hospital.

Dr. John Shuman, Santa Monica, the comedian's physician, said he was "suffering from a nervous breakdown brought on by family and financial worries."

An attack of influenza sent Keaton to bed several days ago, Dr. Shuman said and the nervous condition followed.

"His condition is very grave, and it was necessary to remove him from his home to a hospital for complete isolation," the physician added.

The comedian, once a circus and stage acrobatic clown, was divorced last October 4 by his second wife, the former Mae Elizabeth Scribbens, his nurse during an illness. His first wife was Natalie Talmadge, sister of Norma and Constance Talmadge. Married in 1921, they were parted in 1932.

Foe Of War Dies Untold Of Fighting

LONDON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Arthur Henderson, implacable foe of war, died without knowing his great dream of world peace had been shattered by the boom of guns in East Africa.

Attaches of the west end nursing home where the president of the world disarmament conference died last night disclosed today that Henderson—whose indefatigable crusade for peace was inspired by the death of his oldest son in the World war—had not seen a newspaper for six weeks.

SUPREME COURT GIVES ORDER ON COTTON CONTROL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The supreme court today directed the United States to show by November 11 why Georgia should not be permitted to file a suit to test the constitutionality of the Bankhead cotton control act. A petition to file the suit has been presented in behalf of Governor Talmadge of Georgia.

The court's action delayed decision on whether it would consider the case brought by Georgia, which had been expected today.

Already, however, another suit is

Barksdale Airplanes Maneuver At Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Crack planes of the United States army air post at Barksdale field, Shreveport, La., gathered here today to repel an imaginary air attack on New Orleans from Cuba.

Thirty planes of the 20th pursuit group and 30 of the third attack group were scheduled to take part in the maneuvers. Fifty truck trains and ground crews arrived at Shushan airport yesterday.

Col. G. E. Lovel, commanding officer, said the problem was to prevent a hypothetical enemy in Havana harbor from capturing the base after bringing planes near the city on an aircraft carrier.

ITALY REPORTS NUMBER KILLED IN TAKING CITY

FRANCE SEEKS PEACE

Still Endeavors To Work Out Plan Suitable To Mussolini

ROME, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Fourteen native Italian soldiers were killed today in an assault at Dagnerrei, it was officially reported.

The communique added that 40 native troops (apparently Italian Somaliland soldiers) were wounded in the assault.

(Dagnerrei is a village in Ethiopia south of Gerlogubi on the Webbe Shibeli river).

It was also announced that 50 Ethiopians were killed, "very many wounded," and a large number of prisoners taken.

Italian Forces Driving To North

ASMARA, ERITREA, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Official Italian sources announced that the Italian Somaliland forces were driving northward to take Gorrahei, in Ogaden province, following the capture Friday of the fortress of Dagnerrei.

Today, Gen. Rudolfo Graziani's forces had already advanced 60 miles beyond their original line, according to this report and were farther into Ethiopia than the northern army.

The complete possession of the rich oases such as those in the Sciaveli region was said by military authorities to be of the highest importance.

The region has been the center of Ethiopian resistance and furnished

IL DUCE'S WIFE HIDES FEELINGS AS BOYS BATTLE

Lives Up To Husband's Spartan Creed Regarding Emotions

ROME, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Donna Rachele Mussolini, following the Spartan creed of her premier husband, keeps to herself any fears for her two soldier boys, aviators on the East African front.

Both Vittorio and Bruno, Il Duce's oldest sons, have been under fire as their planes flew over Ethiopia and passed through anti-aircraft barrages.

Mussolini's reputation for personal bravery is assurance enough that he would not encourage premature tears at home. He encouraged his sons to fly and sent them to the East African front with a smile.

If they should be killed, fascists would expect him to take his grief as he expects all fascists to take theirs—it is part of his creed to "live dangerously."

Donna Rachele, who is entitled by law to be called "your excellency," is the mother of five children. Her life is devoted to her husband and her children. She lives up to Il Duce's belief that woman's place is in the home.

Whether she is worried, fascists say,

Naval Reserve Flier Awaits Plane Repairs

LAKE CHARLES, La., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Lieut. J. W. Williams, United States naval reserve flyer and B. Adkins, C. B. M., attached to the United States rangers, remained here today awaiting repairs to their plane damaged in a forced landing in a strong wind here Sunday.

The officers, bound from naval air station at Anacostia, near Washington, D. C., to Long Beach, Cal., naval air base escaped with minor injuries when their plane landed across two ditches before stopping 400 feet from the runway of the old airport.

A vapor-lock developed from low fuel supply, it was said, Lieut. Williams circled Lake Charles several times before deciding whether to attempt to set his amphibian down on the lake, or lower the wheels and ground the plane. The plane was damaged to some extent.

JOHN BULL'S ANSWER TO ITALY

Adamant to Italy's petition for diminished naval strength in the Mediterranean while Premier Mussolini flooded Africa with troops for his Ethiopian campaign, Great Britain hurried her mighty war-fleet to the trouble zone in preparation for any eventuality. Here are two of the fleet, H.M.S. Renown (nearest camera) and H.M.S. Hood, en route to the concentration point off Alexandria, Egypt, which experts regard as England's first line of defense in event of war with Italy. (Associated Press Photo)

Defense Claims Shushan Did Not Control Payment

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The defense offered testimony today in the trial of A. L. Shushan in federal district court for alleged evasion of $71,000 of income taxes, seeking to show that the defendant did not control payment by the Orleans levee board to the Standard Dredging company of New York.

The government previously had attempted to show that in June, 1932, the levee board owed the dredging company nearly $1,000,000, and that the defendant at that time demanded and obtained an extension of an alleged rebate agreement whereby he asserledly received two cents per cubic yard on dirt and sand pumped into the Lake Pontchartrain lakeshore development.

A ten-count indictment in federal court accused Shushan, a political ally of the late Huey P. Long and president of the levee board, with failing to report and pay taxes on income allegedly received by him in 1929-33, under the reported income agreement.

Burke Recalled

As the third week of the trial opened John E. Burke, cashier of the levee board, was recalled to the witness stand at the request of the government for questioning regarding the sum owed by the levee board to the Standard Dredging company.

Cross-examination of Burke was interrupted Friday to give government agents an opportunity to check the levee board's records.

During presentation of the government's case, Claude Cummins, president of the Standard Dredging company, testified that Shushan demanded a continuation of the alleged rebate agreement shortly after he had as-

37 MEN FEARED LOST IN STORM

Thirteen Killed And Scores Injured In British Isles

LONDON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Eight ships searched today for 37 men feared lost after abandoning a foundering freighter in a raging storm which killed 13 and injured scores in the British Isles.

The crew of the 5,735-ton freighter Vardulia took to their lifeboats in tempestuous seas 400 miles west of the Hebrides after sending SOS calls Saturday.

Since then there has been no trace of the storm-lashed crew or of the ship.

The crew of the freighter, Pendennis, wireless messages related, was luckier. Before the Pendennis sank in the North sea, whipped by the same storm, the Norwegian steamer Iris reached her and took off 22 men. The

STORM MAY HIT ROOSEVELT SHIP NEAR CUBA AREA

Both Are Reported Headed For Windward Passage Off Island

CRAFT GET WARNING

Tropical Hurricane Located South Of Kingston Threatens

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Both President Roosevelt's cruiser, the U. S. S. Houston, and a late-season tropical storm were headed today for the windward passage which separates eastern Cuba and the Island of Haiti.

The president's ship apparently was in no danger but government weather men here warned all vessels to take precautions in the waters south of Cuba and through the windward passage.

The disturbance, first located southwest of Jamaica, was reported moving in a general northeast direction accompanied by shifting gales and hurricane winds near the center.

Lack of definite reports from ships near the storm prevented the weather bureau from knowing much about it but the national observatory in Havana said eastern Cuba might feel winds which had acquired "a dangerous force."

If first reports prove correct and the disturbance continues a northeastward course it would pass over or near the eastern tip of Cuba, south of Haiti and toward the eastern Bahama Islands. This path would take it hundreds of miles southeast of Florida.

The weather bureau's 10 p.m. advisory

YOUNG WOMAN IS KILLED, 3 HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Car Crashes Into Rear Of Parked Truck Near Morgan City

MORGAN CITY, La., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Miss Urilda Alice Barr, 25, of New Orleans, was dead today and her mother, brother and aunt critically injured as a result of a collision between their automobile and a five-ton truck near here yesterday as they were en route to attend a funeral in Lake Charles, La.

The automobile almost telescoped as it crashed into the rear of the parked truck which had been stopped because of a flat tire. Miss Bar suffered a broken neck, crushed chest and other injuries.

The others injured were her mother, Mrs. Louise Kenney Barr, 50; her aunt, Mrs. Alice Barr Smith, 45, of Savannah, Ga., and her brother, Thomas Barr III, 22, who was driving the automobile.

Taken To Hospital

The injured were taken to a hospital in Houma. Mrs. Smith suffered fractures of both legs and the right wrist, Mrs. Barr fractures of the right leg and right arm, and Barr a broken right leg and lacerations. ## Creator Of The Gumps Is Killed

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Millions brushed a tear from their eyes as they read the "funnies" today and mourned the passing of a man who had entertained them for years—Sidney Smith, creator of "The Gumps."

His daily strip, portraying the antics, humorous and pathetic, of Andy, Min, Chester, Uncle Bim, Mrs. De Stross and a host of others, held the interest of the financier and his office boy, the college professor and his pupils, the society matron and her maids.

The creator of this national entertainment was killed instantly yesterday morning in an automobile collision near Harvard, Ill. He was alone in a small sedan en route to his summer home in Lake Geneva, Wis. He was 58 years old. The driver of the second car, also riding alone, was BELGRADE, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Police reported today that a few army officials who changed their minds at the last minute prevented a fascist putsch against the Yugoslav government.

The report was that the plotters planned to strike immediately after parliament refused a vote of confidence to Premier Milan Stoyadinovitch.

The premier held firm to a determination to carry on without parliament. Under the unusual procedure of Yugoslav law, the lawmakers who rebelled may not assemble again for weeks.

They demanded the premier resign after they voted down his candidate for president of parliament, but the

5 OTHERS WITH NOTED AVIATRIX ALSO IN CRASH

20-Passenger Ship Destroyed By Flames After Falling

HITS TREE AT FIELD

Motor Trouble Blamed For Bringing Big Craft To Ground

TROY, N. Y., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Ruth Nichols, one of America's ace airwomen, and five of her employes were injured today when a big 20-passenger plane crashed at Troy airport.

Miss Nichols was removed to a hospital, where her condition was declared to be "quite serious." Her pilot, Capt. Harry H. Hublitch of New York, also was seriously injured.

The other four apparently escaped with minor injuries. They are:

Ray Hanes, Xenia, O., mechanic.

William Holt, (address unavailable).

Miss Gladys Berginheiser (address unavailable).

Miss Nena Berkinheiser, sister of Gladys (address unavailable).

All of the occupants of the plane were removed almost immediately. A few minutes after they had escaped, the big 20-passenger Condor plane burst into flames, and was destroyed.

Miss Nichols and her pilot had been making exhibition flights over Troy for a week or more, giving ten per cent of the proceeds to charity.

This morning mechanical trouble developed shortly after the plane left the field.

Plummets To Ground

The plane banked and turned to make for the airport, and just as it was about to make a final drop for a landing it apparently lost airway, and plummeted to the ground.

The big plane was close to earth when it dropped, which probably accounts for the fact that none of the occupants was killed. Some of them were able to assist rescuers.

Miss Nichols was removed immediately to Trop hospital, where it was determined that she was seriously hurt, although first indications were that she was not in immediate danger of death.

Paul Andrews of Troy, a photographer, was one of several persons who watched the plane take off and he witnessed the crash.

"The ship apparently had difficulty getting altitude," he said. "It circled and came back toward the airport. The pilot seemed to be getting ready to land.

Craft Hits Tree

"The plane was so low that it hit an elm tree at the edge of the landing field. Its left wing crumpled, up, and it crashed nose first to the ground. It immediately burst into flames."

Miss Nichols' injury was the second of a serious nature the society aviatrix has suffered in an eventful career.

She fell at St. Johns, N. B., in June, 1931, while attempting a transoceanic flight and suffered fracture of several vertebrae.

She crashed on two other occasions, but escaped injury, once leaping from her burning ship at Louisville, Ky., while still wearing a steel corset to protect her back after the previous injury.

Miss Nichols, at 31, has held the one-stop trans-continental speed record for women, the women's altitude record and the long distance flight record.

She began flying in 1922, as a pupil

Slayer Of Woman And Infant Son Is Sought

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Hardin county officers were hunting today a man listed as John Coffman, 40, for questioning in connection with the fatal shooting of Mrs. Anna Smallwood Keith, 20, and her 11-months-old son, Charles.

The mother and child died early today at a hospital here from wounds suffered in a blast of shotgun fire at their home in Elizabethtown, 50 miles from here yesterday. Officers said the woman, with her baby in her arms, essayed the role of peace maker by stepping between her husband and another man who had come to her home allegedly to "settle" a quarrel.

The husband, Harold Keith, was quoted by Chief Deputy Sheriff Waller Hodges as saying his wife told the man to go away but that when he started shooting Hodges said the assailant was described as [illegible].

"Have you an opened package of Wrigley's gum and what is your opinion of it?" That is the question we are asking thousands of people and we are paying crisp, new dollar bills to people who have with them Wrigley's gum and who tell us their opinion of it. Remember, we must approach you, for we cannot pay dollars to people who volunteer their opinions. The friendly manner in which you greet us and answer our questions is really wonderful. We appreciate it! We have been in office buildings, on the streets, in fact every place where there are people and it is a real pleasure paying dollar bills to all of you.

J. R. PETAGNA, 2000 North Third street, caught unawares but fully prepared, showed me his open package of Juicy Fruit; received his new dollar and said: "I've tried the rest, now I'm using the best."

Doctor's Favorite

DOCTOR C. P. GRAY, 115 Louisville street, is a very busy man but was glad to stop and add his good word for Double Mint, his favorite. He says, "Nice after smoking." The new dollar was his and it crackled as he carefully placed it in his wallet.

MRS. MERRILL BUSH, 1105 North First street, received a dollar after remarking: "Wrigley's P. K. package is such a convenient size and the gum itself is a nice mouthful."

J. R. HUMPHRIES, 817 Jackson St., had his opened package of Spearmint ready for me and after being made a dollar richer for his excellent choice in buying chewing gum, said: "I like it's lasting flavor and the handy red tape opener makes it easier to open."

I wish it were possible to tell you about the hundreds of other little chats I've had with Wrigley gum enthusiasts, but space does not permit, so I will list a few names picked at random:

EDWARD KNOLL, 406 North Fifth street; WENDELL LALLEY, box 1672, Monroe; ALVIN SIMS, 312 Drew street, West Monroe; J. C. ARNOLD, 206 South First street, West Monroe; FRED G. THATCHER, 1600 Wood street, West Monroe; GEORGE A. EVANS, Route No. 1, West Monroe; DICKEY LEE, 204 Crosley street, West Monroe; H. G. HUDSON, 208 North Sixth street, West Monroe; F. M'CONNELL, 1105 North Second street, West Monroe; E. B. HARRIS, general delivery, Monroe; LEON CHEW, 1317 Watson street; O. B. MEEKS, 905 DeSiard street; E. R. PARKS, Spencer; BERRY BARBIERO, 921 Layton street; MRS. CARL FORD, Edgewater Garden; LAWRENCE GIBBS, 510 Arkansas avenue; M. H. LINDSAY, 406 K street; MRS. JNO. WILDER, 302 Clayton street, West Monroe; MRS. J. M. HILTON, Route 1, West Monroe; W. R. VINSON, 127 South Grand street; MRS. STANLEY WASSON, 108 Breard street; CHAS. J. PHELPS, DeSiard and Market streets; FRANK O. LOONEY, 918 Jackson street; Geo. S. HOLMES, 1005 Ouachita National Bank building; P. L. CROWELL, 606 North Sixth street; ALICE BAUR, 505 Louisville avenue; J. EDWARD MASSEY, 212 Telemaque street; JACK NELL, North Second street; CASPER O'NEAL, Lamar, Ark.; R. QUENTON, 403 Ludwig avenue, West Monroe; S. H. WILLIAMS, 707 Walnut street; EUGENE M'NABB, 117½ North Grand street; GEO. CARLOCK, 412 Hart street; DORIS CASSIDY, 916 St. John street; GEO. FREEMAN, 204 Powell street.

My assistants and I are spreading out more and more every day. We are downtown, out in the residential sections, around schools and factories. We're trying to surprise you by bobbing up in unexpected places. This week we will visit Columbia, Ruston, Bastrop, Rayville and other nearby towns. Regardless of where you are, always be prepared, you may be next. Be sure you have an opened package of one of the Wrigley's flavors, Spearmint, Double Mint, Juicy Fruit or P. K. Then, when we stop you a crisp, new dollar bill will be given you for your opinion.

An examination of the records of the Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs discloses the fact that Mrs. John Shuttleworth inherited the office of chairman of education in 1910 with a total sum of $8.25 with which to work.

Today, due to the industry of Mrs. Shuttleworth, this sum stands at $10,000. It represents opportunity for a number of young women for whom it provides education and equipment for life. These young women come from widely different walks of life; some from dire poverty with courage to attend college without a single social advantage; others, more privileged, seek higher education in order to command better salaries as teachers. That the scholarship fund has been appreciated is established in the fact that the loan has always been returned.

The work of this department is one of the most important accomplishments of the Louisiana federation.

Monroe's enthusiastic football fans were out in full force for the L. S. U.-Arkansas game in Shreveport on Saturday. In addition to those who motored over for the day, the following spent the week-end, guests at the Washington-Youree: Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Walker, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Bridger Thornhill, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Seymour, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Isaacman, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kellogg, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Lewis, Mrs. R. L. Kellogg, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Black, Mr. and Mrs. Gordan Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. John Sherrouse, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Parrish.

If you are looking for a new and novel way to entertain your friends, why not plan a Swedish buffet party. Everyone will love the gaiety and the informality; and, best of all, they will love the tasty foods arranged buffet fashion.

Have the red and gray, or green and gray of Swedish pottery for your color scheme. Center your table with bright pottery bowl of flowers. Arrange a tempting assortment of appetizers, buffet fashion, with piles of plates, napkins, knives and forks. Have card tables, covered with gay cloths, to which guests can carry their plates.

The hors d'oeuvres? Choose from this list: Stuffed celery, tray of cheeses, platters of cold meats—ham, tongue, corned beef, chicken—pickled beets, shrimp salad, sliced or pickled cucumbers, cole slaw, radishes, stuffed eggs. And, of course, no "smorgasbord" (as the Swedish people call a table of appetizers) is complete without Swedish rye crisp, pumpernickel and rye bread.

To be really Scandinavian, there should also be a fish salad among your appetizers. Here's a tasty one:

1 cup cooked halibut.
4 minced anchovies.
1-2 cup diced cooked carrots
1-2 cup cooked green peas.
1-2 cup diced asparagus, fresh cooked or canned.
1 tablespoon caviar.
2 teaspoons onion juice.
1-2 teaspoon salt.
1-2 teaspoon pepper.
Mayonnaise.

Combine cooked halibut with anchovies, prepared vegetables and seasonings, and moisten thoroughly with mayonnaise. Chill and serve in a bowl, with lettuce.

At one end of your table, in a chafing dish, or buffet food warmer, have a hot dish—Ham a la King, perhaps, in a ring of rice. After the main course bring in coffee and a substantial dessert, something like Swedish apple cake, Swedish pancakes, or peach cobbler with hard sauce.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Brown and two children of Swartz motored over to Shreveport Saturday to visit relatives and incidentally to attend the L. S. U.-Arkansas football game.

Friends of Mrs. Doyle Ray will be glad to known that she is now convalescing from a recent appendectomy at St. Francis sanitarium.

Miss Sydney McLaurin of Vicksburg, Miss., is the attractive guest of her sister, Mrs. Vaughn Fields.

CHARITY LEAGUE PLANS OUTLINED

Christmas Toy Shop Program Explained At Social Agencies Meet

Mrs. Bernard Biedenharn outlined some of the objectives of the Junior Charity league at the meeting of the Council of Social Agencies, Friday noon, at the First Methodist church annex. The first baby clinic held in 1932, was able to give treatment to but 375 babies. Now there are 1,640 on the list.

Mrs. D. C. Metcalf, chairman of the Christmas toy shop, reported that a building has been secured and Mrs. C. K. Crandall has already arranged for three men to be stationed in the building at South Grand and Wood streets, to make toys for the underprivileged. A house-to-house canvass for old toys to be repaired will start on November 10, Miss Elizabeth Langford said. Olan H. Black, Boy Scout executive, will lend the services of scouts to make the collection. Mrs. W. C. Holstein, Ouachita parish Red Cross secretary, will have charge of programs in the schools.

The legion auxiliary will promote toy parties, and Captain G. W. Whitaker of the Salvation Army will contact the churches. Mrs. M. H. Huckaby, president of the legion auxiliary, will assist in the reception of the toys. Mrs. King Hunt, co-chairman with Mrs. Eugene Cudd, president of the Twin City P.-T. A., in the work of dressing dolls, stated that the project will start at once.

Toys can be taken to the toy shop, South Grand and Wood streets, at any time now for repairs, so as to be ready for Christmas distribution. Those lacking a means of carrying them to the shop are asked to telephone Miss Elizabeth Langford, who will see that they are collected.

Rabbi F. K. Hirsch gave a report for the relief committee.

Luncheon was served.

ENEMY'S KISS

by Evelyn M. Winch

SYNOPSIS. Guy Weston has been of great service to Alison Rede, and Alison is very fond of Guy. But her life is complicated by the fact that her wealthy and easy-going father is being victimized by Daphne Sumers the woman he is about to marry. Alison believes Guy knows something about Daphne, but he is mysteriously close-mouthed. Now Alison has seen Daphne, through the window of her flat, locked in the arms of a man. And the man is not her father.

Chapter 24

BAD NEWS

"IT'S so difficult!" thought Alison unhappily. "If I told father, he mightn't believe me! And she'd find some way of wriggling out of it. After all, I can't prove what I saw; it's going to be my word against hers."

And if it came to that, she felt certain, her father would choose to believe Daphne Sumers.

"She'd only say that I'd made it all up," she thought despairingly. "Anyway, can it be right to tell tales? Is it ever right to do wrong?"

So impossible to know! She might only succeed in hurting her father without doing any good. Perhaps the best way would be to go direct to Daphne herself and tell her that she had been found out?

It was still early when Alison got off the 'bus at Knightsbridge. In any case, her father would not be at home before five. She would finish off her shopping, she decided, try and make up her mind what she must do then.

But she was still uncertain as to what was right when at last she got home.

Sitting in her own chair by the fire, alone with him, pouring out his China tea, poking the big logs on the fire to make them blaze, as she had done hundreds of times before, she found it harder than ever to make up her mind.

She could not listen properly to his description of his day, his lunch with Daphne and two old friends, some gossip he had brought home from the club, the latest political scandal; she assented at random, trying to make up her mind to plunge.

"Father——" she drew a deep breath and got as far as that but Robert, still chuckling over his last joke as he lit a cigar, broke in before she could finish.

"By the way, did Daphne tell you about our new plan?"

Alison pulled herself together with a jerk.

"No. As a matter of fact, I missed her this afternoon."

Was he going to ask why? For a second she held her breath.

"Oh? You haven't seen her then?"

"No."

"Oh, we settled everything at lunch!" Robert was pleased to be able to break the news himself, he had rather a childish love of being the first and he did not notice Alison's expression of relief.

"She and I were talking things over," he went on cheerfully, "and we both feel that there's no real reason why we should wait a whole six weeks to get married. I was waiting because your aunt wouldn't be back from India to look after you, but Daphne says that she would much rather that you came with us."

"On your honeymoon?" All Alison's anxious thoughts were scattered by this bombshell. She stared at her father blankly.

"YES." He laughed rather shyly. "We're not a young couple, my dear, to be romantic about that. She says you'd enjoy it. Daphne thinks it'd be great fun having you with her while I'm playing with my botanical collection. You see we've decided to go to Spain now, the Southern Pyrenees, instead of Madeira, and you'd love that."

"I think I'd feel horribly in the way." Alison could not keep the sheer dismay out of her voice.

"Nonsense! How could you be in the way? We both want you." He patted her shoulder.

"Father, please — honestly, I'd rather not!" It came out with a rush. I'd much rather stay in the house alone, if Aunt Emily isn't back in time!"

"I thought you'd be pleased." Robert looked upset and very hurt.

"I—I think it's sweet of you both to want me." She got that out with an effort.

"We do want you. Surely that's enough?" There was a note of annoyance in his voice now.

"But I'd rather stay here." In her despair, Alison plunged. "I—I want to talk to you about that. You see, I've been thinking things out and I think I want to take up some work."

"Work? What on earth for? My dear child, don't be so silly!" He was quite heated. "There's no earthly reason to work. You know perfectly well what I think of all this modern nonsense about girls earning their own living!"

"I don't want to earn my living." Alison strove to be patient. "I just want something to do."

His annoyance faded suddenly into laughter.

"Something to do. You'll have plenty. Why, Daphne's planning to give a dance to bring you out as soon as we get back, and you'll be much too busy playing round and amusing yourself to worry about work."

"But I don't want to dance and amuse myself."

"Don't want to come out and be presented? What rubbish! You'll love it. All girls do. Dancing and spending money and having new frocks and stuff—what a little goose you are!"

Was there no way of making him understand? thought Alison helplessly. A few months ago, he would have listened to her views, have taken them seriously, but now Daphne had taught him to think of his daughter as a child still, to be treated as a fool!

She made one last desperate plea.

"Let me try it—just for a little while anyway. The three weeks you're away and see—"

"See what?" His anger burst suddenly. "My dear, you're being very stupid! It's not like you. All this nonsense about work! Daphne and I want you to come with us, and that's enough. It's extraordinarily sweet of her to want you, and I don't think you're behaving any too well. I'm afraid it's simply that you're jealous, and I hate to think that!" His anger died away, as it always did in a few seconds. He touched her right hand gently. "Alison?"

She broke from him and fled.

"I CAN'T bear this! I'll have it out with her!"

That was the one idea in Alison's mind as she rushed upstairs to her room. The thought of being third on that honeymoon trip, of being left half the day with Daphne and with no escape, was dreadful.

Skiing and mountaineering had been Alison's hobbies when she was at school; the freedom and the loneliness of the high peaks appealed to a mystic streak in her nature. She had found in those solitary expeditions some things she had always wanted, peace to straighten out her tangled ideas and to know herself and her aims.

The light and color of those wide landscapes in summer, the utter silence of the snow and the thin cold air in winter enchanted her and had formed a secret joy to which she could look forward during the dullest term. The notion of sharing her particular escape wih Daphne was abhorrent.

"She'd get nerves and scream—I'm sure she would! She'd stick somewhere and expect me to lug her down and then tell father that I wasn't kind! She'll probably turn up in high-heeled kid slippers," thought Alison rebelliously. "And whatever happens now I shall always think of her kissing that man!"

She did not go downstairs again. She could not face her father until she had made up her mind what she was going to do. She lingered in her own room, pretending to read while she thought deeply. Yet when the housemaid came up to lay out her dress for the evening she seemed no nearer a decision.

"—anything more—funny—" Guy had said. And surely this was funny? For Daphne to change all her plans on the spur of the moment, change her arrangements for a honeymoon trip to Madeira and insist on a third person coming out with them to Spain!

"It's not that she wants me," thought Alison with conviction. "She doesn't like me a little bit. She may put that over with father, it doesn't go down with me!"

"We settled everything at lunch," he had said. What had made her change? Not that kiss, then, in the basement at Fulham. Something had happened before that.

Could this new motive have anything to do with Guy? But the butler had said distinctly that he had given no name, so it couldn't be that!

One thing Alison felt sure of—something had made Daphne change her mind, it was no mere whim, for Daphne Sumers was not the type of person who acts without some deep motive. The more she considered it, the more Alison mistrusted this sudden change of plan.

Alison is trapped, without knowing it, Monday.

ARMISTICE DAY TO BE OBSERVED HERE

Legionnaires from the entire fifth district will participate in a large parade as will other veterans and civic clubs. There will be numerous floats entered.

The usual memorial exercises will be held at the Paramount theater and business houses will close for the services, from 10 a.m. until noon so that clerks may attend.

A dance will be the concluding feature at the Club Plantation on the night of Armistice day.

At their regular meeting Monday night, the members of the local legion post will perfect final plans for the holding of the exercises.

NEW CCC CAMP IS FORMALLY OPENED

Several Hundred Persons Attend Ceremonies Near Ruston Sunday

RUSTON, Oct. 21.—(Special)—With appropriate ceremonies and in the presence of several hundred visitors, the Riley J. Wilson CCC camp was dedicated Sunday afternoon. The camp, located one mile north of the city, stands in a beautiful grove of native trees and on an eminence that guarantees excellent drainage. Army authorities have pronounced it one of the best located and most attractive CCC camp in the entire south.

Sunday afternoon's ceremonies was begun with invocation by Lieutenant Woods, chaplain. Then followed "America," sung by the assemblage. Introduction of army personnel followed. The address of welcome, by Mayor Charles C. Goyne, showed that the city of Ruston had extended valuable aid and assistance in providing necessary facilities for the camp. T. W. Shields, secretary of the Soil Conservation association of Lincoln parish, told of the aims and purposes of that organization. James A. Gaar, Ruel Colvin and J. H. Liner are co-operators for the association. Among other camp authorities who made short talks were: A. A. Breeden, Harold G. Anthony. Ewing Jone, representing the Washington, D. C. soil erosion office, made a short address.

Congressman Riley J. Wilson, for whom the camp was named, explained at length the aims and purposes of the soil erosion service and the CCC camps. The main objective of the soil erosion work, Mr. Wilson said, is to correct the mistakes farmers have made in the past when they put good land under the plough but made no provision for holding the richest and finest of the soil.

It is due largely to the fact that our soils have become impoverished by erosion that our crop yields have run to such a low average. With every field properly terraced and managed as directed by the soil erosion supervisors, these worn-out soils can in time be brought back to their original fertility, Mr. Wilson believes.

He pointed out, also, that the work of the soil erosion service is not only saving soil fertility; it is providing work for literally thousands and thousands of excellent young men who otherwise would be idle. Later, Mr. Wilson believes, a number of drainage CCC camps will be set up in the area requiring better drainage. At the present time, there are five CCC camps in the fifth congressional district.

Miss Frances Langford Talks Entertainingly Of Her Life Work

Miss Frances Langford, noted screen star of Hollywood, spent a few minutes in Monroe Saturday noon, arriving on a plane of the Delta Air corporation, which was conveying her on her way to her former home in Florida.

Miss Langford told entertainingly how she came to enter her present profession. She said that she originally sang in a church choir in her Florida home city, where she was said to have a silvery soprano voice. But a short time later, she was forced to have her tonsils removed and after that she was unable to sing as formerly.

Then it was that she endeavored to sing a contralto part, which proved even more successful than had her soprano voice. She was sought after to broadcast and succeeded so well with her musical numbers that her career led first to New York and then to Hollywood.

In "Every Night at Eight," she made a great hit in the movies and a number of other photo plays have derived no small degree of success through her efforts, in the opinion of showgoers.

Her next important appearance will be in "Broadway Melody."

The present flight of Miss Langford was made in order to enable her to visit her parents in Florida, whom she has not seen for a number of years.

Monroe Little Theater Announces Production Selected

The Monroe Little Theater management announced Monday that "Dover Road," by Milne, has been decided upon as the first major production of the fall season. It will be given by the local group during the first week in December, in all probability at the Central Grammar school auditorium.

Selection of the cast will begin at once and rehearsals, under the direction of Mrs. Blanche Oliver, will start at the earliest possible date, stated Herman Chapman, secretary of the Little Theater.

Instead of conducting a campaign for members, a different plan will be employed this fall. Those who attend the initial production will be asked to purchase a season ticket at the door. For those who do not purchase season tickets, a proportionately higher admisison fee will be charged for each production.

WOMAN HELD FOR ORLEANS SLAYING

22-Year-Old Hostess At Beer Parlor Admits Stabbing Man

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 21.—(AP)—A 22-year-old hostess at a North Rampart street beer parlor, booked by the police as Elsie Smith, but whose real name she said is Elva Cross, a native of Seminole, Okla., was charged today with the murder of Rolland B. Steele, 24, a resident of Eutaw, Ala., who was stabbed to death early Sunday morning in the beer parlor.

The young woman was quoted by City Detectives Arthuer Leininger and Albert Gerlinger as admitting that she stabbed the Alabama visitor in the back with an eight-inch carving knife and saying that she did so to protect her friend, Henry Langhauser, 33, the bar tender at the place, during a fight.

Langhauser was booked as an accessory before and after the fact in connection with the slaying.

The woman said the stabbing of Steele climaxed an argument in which Steele seized a long knife from the kitchen table of the place, swung at her and missed and then ran to the bar and attacked Langhauser with the knife.

Hit In Wrong Place

She was quoted by the officers as saying that she did not mean to kill the man but that the knife had struck "in the wrong place."

During the fight, officers quoted the woman as saying, "Henry ducked and I struck the man in the back with the knife."

Steele was in New Orleans visiting with his uncle, Charles W. Wheeler, of Greensboro, Ala., a former local club member and former member of the New Orleans cotton exchange.

His uncle said Steele two months ago had won $40,000 on the Irish sweepstakes and had come to New Orleans for a pleasure trip preparatory to marrying his childhood sweetheart and settling down on an Alabama farm.

His uncle said they had gone to their hotel room early Sunday morning after a night club party and that Steele went out to "get one more beer."

Langhauser told the officers that Steele became offended at the bar because a couple seated there would not drink with him and that he went into the kitchen of the place, where the argument was provoked.

Dies In Hospital

After the stabbing Steele was taken to Charity hospital, where surgeons worked in vain to save his life and within about an hour he died in the admitting room of the hospital.

The woman said she directed the police to her room, where she said they would find two knives which were involved in the cutting affray and her yellow evening gown from which she said she had washed splotches of blood.

Detailing her own life story to the officers, Miss Cross declared that she had drifted about through the southwest after an "unhappy marriage."

She said her father's name was "Cross" and that he was a farmer at Seminole. She said Langhauser "was good to me when I came here. That's why I stabbed the man—to take care of him."

Steele's body was sent Sunday night to Eutaw by train. His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reese, reside there.

Mr. Wheeler said he and Steele had planned to leave for home Sunday, but "Rolland prevailed upon me to remain another day."

Bring On The Thinking Motor Car

The millennium is approaching. It must be when such a man as Dr. Miller McClintock, Harvard professor, an expert in solving traffic problems in the larger cities of the country, forecasts an accident-proof motor car.

He sees the car of tomorrow as a vehicle with brains, electric cells seeing all, knowing all, saying nothing, but working automatically to protect the brainless person behind the wheel and those he might endanger. He envisions a motor car controlled by an electric mechanism signalling a motor car on a cross route that it is on its way.

That's what we've needed all along—something to take the place of the driver. Motor cars have been made comparatively safe. That is, if one leaves them in the garage there isn't likely to be any untoward mishap. It is after they are piloted out on the streets and highways that they lose their balance and cavort in such manner as to pile up sad vital statistics.

It never has been entirely safe to give a motor car its head. That has been one of the chief faults of the vehicle. We know of scores of persons who would be in the market for cars if they could be assured that the cars would think for themselves, act for themselves and otherwise conduct themselves in a safe and sane manner. We know scores of persons who would cease to be a menace to life and limb if their motor cars were able to do their thinking for them.

As it is, going out on the streets and highways, in a motor car or on foot, is a good deal like enlisting in the Ethiopian army. If one thing doesn't get you, something else will. Therefore, in the interests of those who compile the fatality statistics and those who pay insurance premiums, we say to Dr. McClintock, come on with your thinking car of tomorrow. Today would be even better.

Desire For Peace

With war underway in Africa and threatening all of Europe, a large part of the thought in America is toward peace and its preservation. One of the products of so much thinking is the International League for Peace and Freedom, a woman's organization which proposes to circulate a giant petition against war throughout the world. Its calculations seem to ignore one important consideration. In those countries which today are regarded as potential disturbers of the international peace, public opinion simply cannot be reached for such a purpose. Does the league really believe it would be permitted to circulate a peace petition in Italy or organize anti-war demonstrations in Germany?

Moreover, and apart from this difficulty, there is a basic weakness in all such movements for peace by expression of popular will, such as the league expects to launch. It is that they assume the existence of a really effective repugnance for war that needs only to be crystallized. Unfortunately, experience does not support such an assumption. Most persons theoretically hate war. But when their national (or personal) interests become sufficiently involved, it is astonishing how small a residue of practicing pacifists remains in any country.

Even the neutrality agitation in the United States furnishes an example of how superficial is the desire for peace. If it meant anything, it meant that the United States would be prepared to give up its entire foreign trade, if necessary, to keep itself out of war. Yet proposals that exports of cotton to belligerent nations be prohibited in time of war, as well as munitions and other immediate implements of conflict, already have produced protests from the cotton interests against such "unfair discrimination."

Under pressure every nation is willing to fight, and the only practical method of proceeding for peace is not to assume a trait of human nature that does not exist, but to remove, as far as possible, the pressures that make for war, many of which are economic in their origin.

Determining The Famous

Before October 15 about 100 electors will register their choices among seventy-six candidates for admission to the Hall of Fame at New York university.

The most summary perusal of the list reveals some sharp contrasts. On it, for example, are Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, and Frederick Douglass, born a slave and noted as an orator for abolition. The feminine names—there are ten of them—are mostly those of early workers for what were denominated as "women's rights." Most persons of considerable cultivation would be sent to the reference books to determine for what a good many names on the list are noted. It is a little disconcerting to see on the same list Rev. Peter Bulkeley, Puritan clergyman, who died in 1658, and Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll, best known as an oratorical assailant of "revealed" religion.

Halls of fame, like politics, make queer associates. Whoever is elected, there will be a considerable element of students of history who will complain injustice has been done by individual exclusions. Those most immediately affected would perhaps smile could they return from their long sleep to see the relative importance being attached to their names.

'At Your Own Risk'

Perhaps the most heartening thing about President Roosevelt's neutrality proclamation is the fact that it lays down a new policy for American citizens in time of foreign war—namely, the fact that any citizen who sticks his head into a mess overseas does so strictly on his own hook.

"Any of our people who voluntarily engage in transactions of any character with either of the belligerents do so at their own risk," says the president.

Here is a sound principle that ought to be made a part of our permanent policy. Think what trouble it would have saved us in the stormy years following 1917! Strictly adhered to, it would have enabled us to stay out of that war.

When foreign nations are at war, the place for Americans is at home. The man who travels in the war zone, lends money to the fighters, or sells goods to them has only himself to blame if he gets into a jam.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE

COURAGE ISN'T ENOUGH

The people, who "don't know where they're going, but are on their way," rarely arrive at any goal that is worth while.

Imagine the skipper of a great ocean vessel setting out on a voyage with no rudder and no instruments for "shooting" the sun. He might arrive somehow, somewhere, but it would be rather foolish to depend on it.

One of the greatest uses of education is to teach men and women the value of an incentive. Before you embark on any career find out first, if it is one for which you are fitted; second, whether you have the ability to carry it through. Colonel Lindbergh accomplished a great feat when he took off from America to France and reached his goal without going astray. But he had spent a long time training for his flight before he attempted it.

The people who spoke of him as a "flying fool" when he started on his great "hop" didn't know what they were talking about.

Don't think that because you may be fearless that you can carry through any enterprise upon which you may embark. You will find among the people you know many who are courageous.

But courage is not enough.

You may say that Columbus had courage, as indeed he did. But had he known when he first sailed away that, instead of gold, he would find only Indians, he might not have been so venturesome.

I admire courage intensely, and wish I possessed more of it. But I still believe that it should be mixed with caution, and "look before you leap" is one of the most useful of all adages.

Before taking up any calling, train yourself thoroughly for it. Read about it, think about it, talk about it.

Discuss it with other people. Look at it from every point of view.

Then, when you are sure you are ready, float your bark or fly your airship, taking into consideration every possibility of failure.

Daring is admirable. But the boys who are the surest to get there—and back—are those who are fully prepared for eventualities.

I admire D'Artagnan, but if it had not been for the hard, cold common sense of Athos, the celebrated Three Musketeers wouldn't have made much of stir in the world.

THE QUIET FIELDS

The quiet fields, the autumn fields,
No growing now; they rest
And wait for winter's coverlet
Upon the earth's brown breast.

No sudden warmth, no striving now,
No longing for the rain,
No turmoil as soft growing things
Stretch up and up again.

The fields a patterned symbol are
Of life itself that lifts
Its springtime passionately through Old mysteries and new,

And flowers, some way, somehow, drifts
And weeps and smiles and goes
At last the way of flesh, of time,
To quietude's repose.

UNEARTHING THE PAST

Tillie—Did you notice that the fortune teller used the spade cards a great deal in telling fortunes?

Bessie—Well, I suppose she used the spade to dig up the past of the people whose fortunes she told.

HIS ONLY CHANCE

Mrs. Knagg—Why do you always speak so sharply to me?

Her Husband—I have to use sharp words in order to get one in edgewise.

A PARTIAL VICTORY

Her Mother—I suppose you're satisfied now that you've made Percy admit that he used bad judgment in that last investment?

Mrs. Pester—Not entirely satisfied. He won't remember that I warned him against it.

COMPLETING HIS EDUCATION

The Victim—That young fellow who had the next chair was a fine barber. Why did you send him back to the barbers' college?

The Head Barber—He was a good operator, yes; but he had an impediment in his speech, so I sent him back for a post-graduate course in conversation.

JUST BEGINNING

Mrs. Finebred—Is yours an old family, Mr. Newpop?

Mr. Newpop—Mercy, no! We've been married only a year.

STILL SINGLE

Mrs. Benham—Doctors don't like to take their own medicine.

Benham—No; I've never heard of Cupid getting married.

METHOD IN IT

The Patron—Why don't you clean your mirrors? Your customers can't see their faces in them.

The Barber—I know they can't. But every time I clean 'em they all commence to kick about the way I've gashed their faces and cut their hair.

Who Are The Slackers?

They Call It Politics

By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON.—With the president and congress both away, Washington is a hotbed of rumors, most of which have absolutely no basis whatever, but all of which are interesting.

For instance, there is the one about Henry Morgenthau, Jr. The secretary of the treasury is enjoying a holiday in Spain, whereupon there is seriously circulated the story that he is to be eased out of the treasury, and is to become ambassador to Madrid. Several details are added, for example that the administration is most anxious to have Claude G. Bowers, now ambassador to Spain, back in this country for the next campaign. He is a spellbinder of parts, and has been keynoter on many big Democratic occasions.

Now it is beyond denial that certain very important figures in the New Deal are convinced it would be an excellent thing if Morgenthau were sent to Spain—or to the Fiji Islands—anywhere out of touch with Washington. They regard him, to put it mildly, as a flop as secretary of the treasury.

But to anyone who has watched Roosevelt it is simply unthinkable that Morgenthau would be thus humiliated. He went to extreme lengths to avoid humiliating William H. Woodin, who was a far worse secretary—from the White House standpoint—than Morgenthau. Woodin disagreed distressingly with most of the New Deal policies. His personal loyalty to Roosevelt prevented his resigning, for a long time, despite the excellent excuse of his health, but he actually had nothing to do with formulating the more important phases of treasury policy.

Whereas Morgenthau has been the ideal "yes man" to the president. His first thought at all times is to do just precisely what the president wants, and to tell the president that any Rooseveltian idea is simply swell. He has never sought self-glorification in the public prints, and has not joined in any conspiracies to unseat presidential favorites from their places near the throne.

So this observer believes that Mr. Morgenthau will serve as secretary of the treasury as long as he wants, and, when his time comes to go, will get a wonderful send off, and with no such lame excuse as "promoting" him to be ambassador to Spain.

Then there is the story about Herbert Hoover's motive in attracting so much limelight. This is that Hoover really has no idea of being a candidate, but intends to hold the limelight and make no statement which would take him out of the apparent race before, say, next February. The explanation given for this is that Hoover wants to shield any other possible Republican nominee from being put on the spot as to the soldier bonus. By February, Washington believes, the bonus will have passed into history, with its passage over Roosevelt's veto, and hence will no longer be an issue.

This writer still believes, and on excellent authority from close lieutenants of the former president, that he craves a vindication, that he would like to have the nomination forced on him, but that with very little urging he would step out actively and go after it.

Most of the stories going around are just as silly as that one now exploded about Roosevelt's shelving Garner and putting up some one for vice-president next year who would draw strength in some state or section more doubtful than Texas is expected to be.

4 NEGROES ESCAPE DEATH IN CAR CRASH

GRAYSON, La., Oct. 21.—(Special)—Four negroes narrowly escaped death near here early Sunday morning when their car, in passing a second automobile, plunged into a ditch, struck a telegraph pole and turned over. The injured were taken by a passing truck to Columbia, where they received medical treatment. Their injuries were said to consist of cuts and bruises which were not regarded as serious.

The injured men were Alfred Lewis, driver of the wrecked car, Aaron Busby, T. P. Cole and "Hop" Harrison.

Lewis is said to have been attempting to pass a car driven by Caesar Stamper, negro, who, like Lewis and his companions, were en route to Columbia, and instead of passing on the left, was endeavoring to pass on the right side, sideswiping the second car and precipitating Lewis' car into the ditch.

Stamper escaped without injuries and his car was but slightly damaged, while the Lewis car was an almost total wreck.

IN NEW YORK

By PAUL HARRISON

NEW YORK—It is still up to a native Sean O'Casey to capture the c phony of our local Hyde Park, Columbus Circle. Here is the city's G market place of Opinion, the soapbox strasse of Manhattan consecrate free expression on subjects as varied as the shades in an aurora borealis motley forum, it attracts thousands of assorted residents every evening, p

And in this outdoor carnival of oratory, they may select from a va of entertainment. Evangelical services. Atheists. The Man With a C All for Everything. Sex Secrets. Communists. Fascists. Republicans. I of the Hoboes. "Little Eva," the lady minstrel. The American Workers p
The Salvation Army. Star gazers. All are included in the single pric

Chaos, a wild chaos reigns from early in the evening until 1 a.m., v

Square Off On Circle

And the listeners are by no means a docile crowd. Let the man has the floor or rather, the box, cross their doctrines and they will h night. "God," he roared, "sanctions slavery and intends to continue it ever." An old, disheleved woman edged her way to the platform. "I

The radical element in this conglomerate forum is itself divided

But the real show begins later in the night with the appearance of "

No More Rough Stuff

Today, American girls again are yearning for good looks and a tou

That has been proven by the reawakened interest in George Brent an Errol Flynn, Ian Hunter, Warren Hull and Paul Cavanagh.

These men are getting the choice roles these days. Ever since he app with Garbo in "The Painted Vail," George Brent has been in demand for ly romantic parts. Joel McCrea recently staged a strong comeback in "Ba

Robert Taylor, who besides being romantically handsome also can w

ATTACK OF YALE WILL BE TESTED AGAINST HARVARD

Latter's 13 To 0 Decision Over Harvard None Too Impressive

By Herbert W. Barker
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Right beside such epoch-marking weather phenomena as Ireland's "year of the big wind" you can write down the football season of 1935.

The campaign still is in its infancy, yet such championship outfits of a year as Stanford, Alabama, Rice, Tulane, Washington and Lee, Pittsburgh, Kansas State and Colgate, have met defeat.

Going into the fifth week of the season, here's how the situation lines up by sections:

East

No clear picture can be drawn, for the list of major unbeaten and untied teams includes Army, Yale, Dartmouth, Temple, Villanova, Princeton, New York university, Syracuse and Catholic university. Pittsburgh, Colgate and Fordham have been defeated only by intersectional opponents.

Yale's deceptive attack, which carried the Elis to a 7 to 6 triumph over Navy Saturday, will be tested anew this week by Army, none too impressive in a 13 to 0 victory over Harvard.

Dartmouth, which rolled up a 41 to 0 count on hapless Brown, tangles with Harvard. Syracuse, hard-pressed to win from Ohio Wesleyan, takes its turn for a cut at Brown.

Among the other unbeaten squads, Princeton faces Cornell, N. Y. U. meets Georgetown, Temple tackles West Virginia, and Villanova treks west for the first of two games with Detroit, nosed out by Catholic last week.

Pitt, beaten by Notre Dame, 9 to 6, probably will ruin Penn State's perfect record. Colgate, beaten only by Iowa, encounters Holy Cross' Crusaders, who ran into a stunning set-back—a 13 to 13 tie with Manhattan.

Notre Dame, undefeated in four games and victorious over Pitt, features the east's intersectional program in a clash at Baltimore with Navy. Manhattan will play Hunk Anderson's North Carolina State Wolfpack; Columbia, soundly trounced by Penn's powerhouse, 34 to 0, entertains Michigan.

Boston college's Eagles, who took an 18 to 6 decision over previously unbeaten Michigan State, enjoys a breather against New Hampshire.

Midwest

Big Ten: Purdue's powerful Boilermakers and Michigan's not-so-powerful Wolverines are the current leaders with two victories each, but the real fight for the championship apparently lies between Minnesota and Ohio State.

Four conference games will be played this week with Ohio State, 28 to 7 victor over Northwestern, heavily favored over Indiana, upset by Cincinnati. Minnesota is a strong choice over Northwestern.

The real fireworks, however, may come at Champaign where Iowa meets Illinois in the first conference test for both. Wisconsin and Chicago, beaten last week by Michigan and Purdue, respectively, are paired in the other conference contest. Purdue meets well-beaten Carnegie Tech.

Big Six: Nebraska's scoreless tie with Kansas State and Oklahoma's 16 to 0 conquest of Iowa State leaves this race wide open. New light will be shed on the situation Saturday when Nebraska and Oklahoma tangle at Lincoln. Iowa State faces unbeaten Missouri and Kansas plays Kansas State.

South

Southeastern conference: The most exciting race of all with Louisiana State, Vanderbilt, Georgia and Mississippi the only teams not yet beaten within the conference.

Georgia makes its first conference start against erratic Alabama, which trounced Tennessee, 25 to 0. Louisiana State makes its conference debut against Vanderbilt. Tulane, trounced by Minnesota, 20 to 0, and Sewanee are paired in the only other conference game.

Auburn, surprise conqueror of Kentucky, 23 to 0, plays Duke at Durham on Friday. Georgia Tech, which ruined Duke's perfect record, 6 to 0, seeks to check undefeated North Carolina, and Florida meets Maryland Saturday. Mississippi faces Marquette's powerful array while Mississippi State is playing Xavier at Cincinnati.

Southern conference: Duke remains at the top with three successive victories. North Carolina and North Carolina State have won one each. Only conference games this week pit South Carolina against Clemson Thursday, and Virginia against Virginia Military and Virginia Poly against Washington and Lee Saturday.

Southwest: Southern Methodist's 10 to 0 victory over Rice established the Mustangs as title favorites, but Texas Christian holds the lead with two victories and no defeats. Texas and Rice meet this week with Texas A. & M. and Baylor facing each other in the only other conference game. Texas Christian looks for trouble from Centenary at Shreveport.

Pacific Coast conference: California's Golden Bears, victors Saturday over Santa Clara 6 to 0, loom as the team to beat for the title, but Washington and University of California at Los Angeles lead with two victories each. All ten teams engage in conference warfare this week with California playing Southern California, Washington meeting Stanford, U. C. L. A. tackling Oregon, Oregon State confronting Washington State and Montana squaring off against Idaho.

Rocky Mountain conference: Denver's five straight victories gave the Pioneers a big lead in the conference race, but they must face Utah in a crucial game this week. Utah and Colorado university are the only other undefeated conference teams. Colorado university will play Colorado State.

BOB DAVIS STILL LEADING SCORERS

First Position, However, Is Threatened By Rab Rogers

ATLANTA, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Bob Davis' leadership in individual scoring of the Southeastern conference was threatened today. Rab Rodgers, Mississippi halfback, added two touchdowns in his team's victory over Florida Saturday to pull up within six points of the Kentucky sophomore.

While Davis remained atop a big field of scorers with nine touchdowns despite Kentucky's shutout at the hands of Auburn, six others broke into ranks of those who have registered three touchdowns or more this season. That boosted to 14 those with a trio of six-pointers.

Ray Hapes, another Mississippi halfback, dropped from second into third place, but 15 others were well bunched further back.

The following table of touchdowns, points after touchdown and total points include all with 18 points or more:

SKINNY! RUNDOWN! NERVOUS!
Try "Jimmy" Braddock's Simple New Way To Build Rugged Strength...and New Pounds!
"It's Glands Starving for Iodine That Keep Folks Rundown and Skinny", Says "Jimmy" — Tells How He Gained 26 Lbs. In 6 Weeks.
Weak, rundown, skinny folks—take Jimmy Braddock's advice. Use his quick method to gain new strength and lbs. of solid flesh. He gained 26 lbs. in 6 weeks. He says: "Tests convinced me rundown conditions, poor blood and skinniness come frequently from iodine-starved glands. When these glands—particularly the important gland which controls weight building—lack NATURAL PLANT IODINE (don't confuse this with ordinary chemical iodine) even diets rich in fats and starches fail to add weight and strength. That's why thin folks with have huge appetites, yet stay skinny." With the discovery of Kelpamalt—a mineral concentrate made from a huge 90-foot sea plant harvested off the Pacific coast, you can now be sure of your needed ration of plant iodine in concentrated, easy-to-take form. 1500 times richer in iodine than oysters, Kelpamalt helps your food do you good, build rugged strength, add weight, banish fatigue. It's 12 other minerals stimulare the digestive glands which produce the juices that enable you to digest fats and starches. 3 Kelpamalt tablets contain more iron and copper than 1 lb. of spinach or 7½ lbs. of tomatoes, more iodine than 1386 lbs. of lettuce, more calcium than 6 eggs. Start Kelpamalt today. Even if you are "naturally skinny," you must add 5 pounds the first week or the trial is free. Costs but little to use. Sold at all good drug stores.

GEORGIA 1896-97 TEAM TO HONOR DEAD GRID HERO

Bronze Plaque To Be Unveiled For Vonalbade (Von) Gammon

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Football lettermen of Georgia's teams of 1896-97 will walk out on the gridiron just before the Alabama game Saturday and stop before a covered plaque in the walls of the stadium.

There will be a short ceremony and the cover will be removed, revealing that the bronze plaque is in memory of Vonalbade (Von) Gammon.

Death has taken its toll of those players of '96 and '97, but those remaining of the teams of almost 40 years ago want to honor the memory of Von Gammon, who lost his life in one of their battles.

It was just at dawn on the morning following the Virginia-Georgia game of October 30, 1897, that Von Gammon died of injuries suffered in the contest.

Faded newspaper files tell of the excitement when Von Gammon was hurt, the rushing of doctors from the stands, one from Atlanta and another from Athens. The injection of stimulants. The call for an ambulance. And the arrival of his parents from Rome to wait at his bedside.

Then came the announcement of his death.

The game had been played in Atlanta, and immediately a hue and cry sprang up. The city council passed a law prohibiting football in Atlanta. The Georgia legislature considered a bill that would bar the game in the state. There were statements—"brutal," "too rough," and "must be stopped."

But in the midst of the protests there came a letter from Von Gammon's mother, Mrs. Rosalind Burns Gammon, to the representative sponsoring the legislation to outlaw the game.

"It would be a great favor to the family of Von Gammon," she wrote, "if your influence could prevent his death from being used as an argument detrimental to the athletic cause and its advancement at the university.

"His love for his college and his interest in all manly sports, without which he deemed the highest type of manhood impossible, is well known to his classmates and friends, and it would be inexpressibly sad to have the cause he held so dear injured by his sacrifice.

"Grant me the right to request that my boy's death should not be used to defeat the most cherished object of his life."

That letter from the mother of the boy who died halted the hue and cry. Football did not end in Georgia.

Displayed prominently in War memorial hall is a plaque presented to the university in 1921 in honor of Von Gammon. It was a gesture of the University of Virginia.

Eight Are Arrested In Counterfeit Sales

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 21.—(AP)—The sale of counterfeit tickets at the Kentucky-Auburn football game here had resulted today in the arrest of eight men, three of whom were charged with false pretense. The other five were held for investigation.

The three for whom warrants were issued were booked by police as Wilson Turner, 23, and W. L. and C. L. Dailey, all of Atlanta.

Police Lieutenant J. R. Alford said several persons who bought the bogus $1.50 general admission tickets had pointed out the men as being among those offering tickets for sale.

Four of the five held for questioning were listed as from Birmingham and one from Georgia.

Officials at Cramton bowl, where the game was played Saturday, said the counterfeit tickets were such good copies of the originals it was almost impossible to detect the difference.

MISSISSIPPI AND GEORGIA STILL ARE UNDEFEATED

Louisiana-Vandy Game Will Help Straighten Out Muddle

By Price Howard
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Still reeling from the effects of stunning reversals of form, leaders and challengers alike face another dizzy round of football in the Southeastern conference this week-end.

The two undefeated elevens—Georgia and Mississippi—will get torrid tests and the other pair unbeaten in the circuit—Louisiana State and Vanderbilt—are to clash in a game that will help straighten out a highly muddled race. Three intra-conference tests, two against intersectional foes and three with Southern conference teams are included.

On the heels of three more startling results last week, Mississippi's unbeaten darkhorse and Georgia Tech's giant-killing Tornado are pitted against two undefeated outside opponents and Georgia goes into conference circles for its first time to meet Alabama's up and down Crimson Tide.

Georgia, giving North Carolina State its first setback last week, 13 to 0, must meet a swirling Tide that engulfed Tennessee in stunning style, 25 to 0. It was Georgia's fourth straight victory. Mississippi, after continuing its heroic rise from the depths by whipping Florida, 27 to 6, will invade the midwest to tackle unbeaten Marquette.

Georgia Tech will attempt to continue its role of giant-killer, after duplicating its 1933 victory over undefeated Duke, 6 to 0, by going back into the Southern conference Saturday to play North Carolina, last of that loop's unbeaten.

Alabama Poly, which checked Kentucky's challenge in Saturday's other surprising reversal, 23 to 0, will visit Duke Friday. Florida also faces Southern conference competition as host to Maryland.

Tulane, walloped by Minnesota, 20 to 0, and Sewanee, edging out a 9 to 7 decision over Tennessee Wesleyan, will clash in a conference contest at New Orleans. Tennessee takes on little Centre at Knoxville. Mississippi State faces Xavier after trimming Loyola (New Orleans) 6 to 0. Kentucky is idle this week.

The Southeastern failed to get a break in intersectional warfare last Saturday. In addition to Tulane's loss in the Big Ten, Vanderbilt fell victim of Fordham's comeback, 13 to 7, but Louisiana State salvaged some hopes by taking Arkansas, 13 to 7.

WILLARD TO LOOK UP 'WHITE HOPE'

Plans Elimination Contest Among Fighters To Develop Contender

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 21.—(AP)—A "white hope" to compete with Joe Louis as a heavyweight boxing contender is the aim of Jess Willard, former world's heavyweight champion who himself was the "white hope" back in 1915.

Willard plans an elimination contest among amateurs and promises "to train and develop" the winner in the hope of stopping Louis, who he predicts will be the next world's champion.

The ex-titleholder who won the crown from Jack Johnson, only negro who ever held the championship, in 1915 at Havana, Cuba, arrived in Memphis Sunday night and announced tentative plans to hold the competition in "five or six states."

Although he has never seen the Detroit dynamiter work, he predicts he will win from Jimmy Braddock, present champion, and Max Schmeling by a knockout.

"Louis is a cinch to beat Jimmy Braddock," Willard said, "when they meet next summer. Jimmy is going to give Louis a better fight than Max Baer did but that won't be hard to do. I've never seen Louis fight, but he's bound to be a great fighter.

"Baer is certainly capable of a better fight than he made against Louis."

"Big Jess," who has been traveling through the north, said he would remain in Memphis several days to arrange for the contest.

PAUL RUNYAN IS LIKELY WINNER

Faces Real Test Today, However, In Meeting Al Zimmerman

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Dapper Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., a brown felt hat cocked jauntily atop the head that wears the crown of professional golfdom, loomed seriously today as a repeater for the National P. G. A. title.

But the diminutive New Yorker, who proved that little golfers and big scores don't necessarily go together, faced a real test today in blond Al Zimmerman of Portland, Ore., darkest of dark horses in a tournament filled with upsets.

Runyan finished only one stroke over par on the rugged Twin Hills layout yesterday as he piled up an imposing 9 and 8 victory over Tony Manero of Greensburg, N. C. As other crowned heads rolled from the third round guillotine, the champion continued to play straight down the middle in a way that won many supporters from his title-defending cause.

Three other well-known golfers who entered the fourth round were Johnny Revolta of Milwaukee, who accomplished the sizeable feat of eliminating Walter Hagen; Horton Smith, the "Missouri pine," who birdied Denny Shute out of the running, and Tommy Armour, who blasted out his fellow Chicagoan, Ky Laffoon.

Revolta was paired with a formidable opponent in Eddie Schultz, Troy, N. Y., who "beat the man who beat the man to beat" when he downed Alvin (Dutch) Krueger of Beloit, conqueror of Gene Sarazen, one up on an extra hole.

Armour faced Big Ed Dudley of Bala, Pa., who spiked the Siege guns of long-driving Jimmy Thompson, Ridgewood, N. Y., to win 6 and 4.

A. V. MILLER WILL HEAD ARMY DRIVE

Accepts General Chairmanship Of Salvation Group In Monroe

A. V. Miller, well-known citizen and business man, has just been named general chairman of the Salvation Army campaign for finances, it was announced here Monday.

Mr. Miller stated that he had resolved many times that he would not accept such responsibilities but since he had been selected and as the board represented such a worthy group of men, that he could not decline to serve in the worthy cause.

Before the board meeting held last week, Mr. Miller stated that he regarded it the duty of every citizen to assist the army in putting over its work, since it is so faithfully and perseveringly administering to spirituality and character building, as well as relief assistance to classes that are too often called undesirable, people who are not reached by any church.

Under Mr. Miller's guidance, members of the board stated Monday that they were assured that the sum sought by the army will be raised without difficulty.

CONFERENCE IS HELD

OKALOOSA, La., Oct. 21.—(Special)—The final quarterly conference of the year of the Pine Grove circuit of the Methodist Protestant church took place Saturday at Pine Grove church. The conference sermon was preached by Rev. F. L. Shows, president of the conference, who presided over the business session. Reports on the year's work were made by Pine Grove, Hickory Grove and Walnut Grove churches. Dinner was served on the Pine Grove church grounds at noon.

AT LOCAL THEATERS

AT THE PARAMOUNT — Jack Oakie, Paramount comedian, ate "vegetable" lamb chops during the filming of a scene in his new comedy, "The Big Broadcast of 1936," which plays for the last times today at the Paramount theater.

Called upon to eat lamb chops in a sequence in the production, the star was forbidden to do so by his doctor who had put him on a meatless diet. Learning of the situation, Wendy Barrie, who is featured in the same film, instructed her negro cook, who once worked for a vegetarian who demanded roasts, steaks, and chops compounded synthetically of meatless substances, to do the same for Oakie. The culinary result satisfied both the actor and the doctor.

Oakie portrays one of his usual breezy, wise-cracking roles in "The Big Broadcast" where he is seen as radio performer who poses as a romantic singing tenor on the air waves when in reality, his partner, Henry Wadsworth does the actual singing while Oakie does the announcing.

Their accidental meeting with a rich young countess involves them in a series of sprightly complications that leads to a fast moving, merry climax. Norman Taurog directed the fun film featuring also Lyda Roberti and Burns and Allen, Bing Crosby, Amos 'n' Andy, Ethel Merman and Bill Robinson do specialty numbers in the production.

AT THE CAPITOL—Devil with a private graveyard—demon with the kiss of death—luring beauty to his room of doom! How? Why?

The answer is contained in the Columbia drama, "The Black Room," showing today at the Capitol theater. In it, Karloff, famed delineator of blood-chilling roles, is seen as a monstrous bluebeard, last of the de Berghmans, accursed royal family.

A thorough sadist, cruel and wolfish, Karloff, as the Baron de Berghman, assaults the beautiful girls of the neighborhood countryside in the Black Room of his gloomy castle and then casts them, murdered, into a deep pit in the floor of the horrible chamber. To love him is to vanish forever.

Marian Marsh is seen as Thea, the lovely young lady who more than any other, captures the monster's fancy and causes him to kill ruthlessly those who stand in his way. Robert Allen, handsome young actor, plays the part of Lieutenant Lussan, her fiance. Katherine De Mille, dark-haired and seductive, is Mashka, Thea's maid, who also becomes embroiled in the frightful meshes of the bluebeard's desires.

Truck Reported Stolen From Downtown Street

A report was made to the police department Sunday that a Chevrolet truck, belonging to Floyd Courson, 328 Winnsboro road, was stolen from a parking place at the rear of the Shamrock saloon on Hall street Saturday night.

The truck is described as being dark in color and having a home-made body.

Police are investigating.

THE TARZAN TWINS — —By Edgar Rice Burrou

Acting swiftly on his plan to save his knife from the insistent demand of the cannibal chief, Doc called to Bulala: "Tell him to watch closely and I'll show him a great trick." "Big medicine?" asked Bulala. Doc seized upon the words. "Very big medicine!" he cried.

Even the chief was impressed as the white boy exposed the knife to view in his right hand, then covered it with his left palm. "Abracadabra! Allo, presto, change cars and begone!" he shouted. "Now you see it, now you don't." He opened his hands. The knife had vanished!

Dick was amused to see the chief's bewilderment at Doc's sleight-of-hand. As the cannibal looked about for the knife, Doc reached out and apparently extracted it from the black's ear. The astonished savage leaped back so quickly that he fell sprawling over his stool.

The blow to his dignity had a bad effect on temper. He rose to his feet fairly bubbling w rage, and now Dick trembled for poor Doc. knew not what outlet the savage's wrath wo take, and for the life of him he could think no way to stem that seething anger!

Cotton

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Cotton futures were subjected to pressure during most of today's session and in the late trading prices were holding from 5 to 8 points lower.

The major part of the selling was in hedge sales while purchases were mostly for trade accounts with a little speculative support.

December sold at 10.77 as the final hour began, while March at 10.75 and May at 10.78 were from 25 to 40 cents a bale lower.

Weather reports were bullish, if anything, stressing unwanted showers over a wide area, but little buying developed on this as the market sagged point by point.

Exports of 67,819 bales today brought the cumulative total for the season ahead of last year for the first time in many months.

Selling of active options continued unabated in the final hour as the market closed at the lows of the day, 6 to 11 points net lower.

Cotton futures closed irregular at net declines of 6 to 11 points.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Speeding motors ran away from most other contestants in today's stock market, although scattered specialties were close seconds.

It was one of the most active sessions in more than a year. Numerous "new highs" were recorded with gains ranging from 1 to 3 points or so among the favorites. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 2,800,000 shares.

By Victor Eubank
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Industrial favorites, led by the motors, spurted to new highs for the last year or longer in today's stock market.

An avalanche of buying orders swamped the ticker tape during the early proceedings and gains of 1 to 2 or more points were numerous. Rumors of impending peace moves abroad acted as a stimulant while the growth of economic optimism at home kept bullish forces happy.

Grains and cotton marked time as the war fever cooled. Bonds improved moderately. Security prices in London and Paris pointed substantially higher.

Among the principal share gainers were Chrysler, General Motors, Packard, Reo, Hudson Motors, Studebaker, Western Union, National Distillers, American Commercial Alcohol, American Can, Loew's, Du Pont, Columbian Carbon and Sears Roebuck. Most of the rails and utilities were only slightly improved and the steels and coppers eased.

The market got a "boom" thrill in the first hour when one block of 10,000 General Motors changed hands at a fractional advance. Another block of 15,000 Packard went over the tape and was followed by a single transfer of 13,000 Reo.

Leading gold currencies, including the guilder, stiffened when the Bank of the Netherlands reduced its discount rate 1-2 per cent to 4 1-2 per cent. This followed a cut last week from 6 to 5 per cent. Further shading of the rate was said to have been due to easy money conditions and the replenishing of Dutch gold stocks.

Market analysts, while expecting intermittent technical reactions, stressed the view that the status of stocks is almost exactly the reverse of the situation prevailing a year ago when business was faltering. Even allowing for the rise in stock prices, it was said, confidence is general that the uptrend in trade will show little deviation over the winter and spring months.

WORKERS COME IN AS PICKETS ARE SURPRISED

shipping was being practiced and declared that they had ordered ships loaded by non-I. L. A. labor subject to a boycott in other ports.

Men Special Officers

The Lake Charles guards were serving as special officers employed by the Louisiana Longshoremen's association, it was stated at the docks.

Harry Harrison, president of the Louisiana Longshoremens association, who rode at the head of the procession, said the guards were acting in "legal capacity to open and protect the port under commissions from the state of Louisiana as special officers."

"We are prepared for any ventualities," he said, "but we don't expect any trouble."

The truck which followed the unit of guards to the docks carried food and supplies with which to set up a dock camp for working longshoremen.

Shortly after the second convoy arrived on the docks gangs were assigned to setting up a mess hall and arranging sleeping quarters.

Longshoremen immediately began loading a cargo of 250 tons of rosin on the Swedish freighter "Hedrun" which had been berthed for six days awaiting loading.

Another crew began placing a general cargo in the hatches of the bull line freighter, "Edith."

The Heudrun is loading for Buenos Aires and the Edith is loading for Atlantic coast ports.

The motor freighter Garoet was due this afternoon to load a cargo of timber for south African ports.

Riding in the front car with Harrison were Mid Hewitt, business agent of the Louisiana association and George Moyier. Harrison said there were 225 workers in the group carried to the docks.

37 MEN FEARED LOST IN STORM

stricken ship was heavily laden with coal.

The first fury of the storm along the British Isles was believed abating today, but hundreds of craft which had fought to reach the nearest shelter still hugged the harbors.

The steam trawler Riveravon limped into Granton Harbor, Scotland, bringing the body of her mate, George Watt, 27, knocked overboard Saturday. For ten minutes he battled the mountainous waves before he was hauled aboard, fatally hurt.

The Oregon, which went to the rescue of the Vardulia, wirelessed it had arrived at the Vardulia's position and searched the sector without avail.

The 6,000-ton French steamer Adrar went aground near the island of Sylt, off Denmark, and the 6,000-ton German freighter Erfurt put into Bremerhaven with its motors damaged by the storm's buffetings.

SOS calls were received from the Italian steamer Pilsa, 8,000 tons; the French Ouvertine, 2,114 tons, and the Latvian Kandava, 1,905 tons, but their positions and conditions were not given.

The Scandinavian coast was so storm-ridden that harbors were tied up, and ferry boats plying between Germany and Denmark have not been operated since Saturday.

Gly-Cas Enables Him To Enjoy Life As Others

Mr. Campbell, 79, Finds New Remedy Just What He Should Have Had Years Before; Stomach, Kidneys Regulated, Sleeps Good, Dizziness Ended—Like New Again.

"Gly-Cas is the first medicine I have ever found that would give the exact results that were claimed for it," said Mr. W. H. Campbell, age 79, 3008 Dick Taylor street, Monroe, respected local gentleman recently in talking with the Gly-Cas man who is daily meeting crowds of local people at the Phoenix Drug company, 348 DeSiard street, where he is introducing and explaining the action of this valuable new medical discovery:

"Gly-Cas gives the desired results," said Mr. Campbell, "I cannot remember the number of years that I had been troubled with constipation, my system became clogged with poisons and high blood pressure alarmed me. My heart became involved with gases in my stomach. Indigestion was terrible, dizzy spells were entirely too frequent and had to continually be careful of my diet. Often had attacks of shortness of breath until I thought I would surely smother to death. I began to have all kinds of trouble with my kidneys and bladder, couldn't control, back pained and my sleep was disturbed every night. Each morning I was worn-out, had no energy to do anything it seemed. I became alarmed over my condition for regardless of how much money I spent on my case or what I did I could not find anything to help me. When I began to hear so much praise for this new Gly-Cas and learned of the wonderful results it had given so many people here I decided it surely was different and at least worthy of a trial in my own case.

"Little did I realize any medicine could be as remarkable as this new remedy, Gly-Cas, has been in my case," continued Mr. Campbell, "My bowels were regulated almost at once and in a most natural way. Soon I began to eat the foods I had had to deny myself for years and with no ill effects afterwards. I have not had a single attack of indigestion, gas or dizziness since I began Gly-Cas. Even my kidneys have been regulated until I can get a good nights sleep. I feel better than I have in many years and have more energy and strength to enjoy life as others once more. Too much praise cannot be given Gly-Cas for it actually accomplishes what sufferers had hoped for for many years."

food and water in abundance in the otherwise desert region.

During their forward movement, it was stated, the Italians took and occupied the towns of Burdogi and Sciaveli which, like the stronghold of Dagnerrei are along the Webbe Shibeli river.

Military authorities said General Graziani soon was expected to take Gorrahei, which is on the way to the Harar region. (Gorrahei is sometimes spelled Gorahal).

Premier Laval Is Still Seeking Peace

(By Associated Press)

Premier Pierre Laval's efforts to end the Italian war against Ethiopia were revived today; even as the Roman legions of Mussolini awaited the "zero hour" of the major offensive into the interior of Haile Selassie's empire.

Laval—whose conciliatory efforts of recent weeks were given a vote of confidence with his victory in Sunday's parliamentary elections—was reported, unofficially, to have received suggestions from Il Duce for settlement of the last African conflict.

The premier was said to be awaiting the debate in the British parliament this week before submitting the proposals to London.

French officials would not comment on the report, but they said:

"The greatest problem now seems to be to get Emperor Haile Selassie to accept Italian terms."

In Paris, Mussolini was considered certain to refuse to return to Haile Selassie any of the Ethiopian territory his armies already have occupied.

Authoritative quarters in London indicated the proposals for peace in East Africa were crystalizing after diplomatic conversations in Rome, Paris and London.

It was emphasized, however, such proposals were in the very earliest stages and it would be erroneous to say that anything definite had developed, or to say great optimism prevailed.

London circles said any East African peace plan must be wholly acceptable both to Emperor Haile Selassie and to the League of Nations.

Diplomats were in something of a quandary about this: How were they going to devise a peace plan acceptable under the covenant of the league, after the league plainly outlawed Mussolini for resorting to war in Ethiopia in disregard of his covenants under the league?

Italians Poised For Major 'Push'

(By Associated Press)

Italians Poised

Italian arms were poised for an imminent "big push" into interior mountainous Ethiopia today while competent observers on the European side of the troubled Mediterranean sea concluded that the continental crisis was still in solution.

The belief was current in Emperor Haile Selassie's capital that Premier Mussolini may try to initiate direct peace negotiations shortly. Fascist preparations for a second major thrust from the north spoke a more emphatic language than rumors in diplomatic circles.

London's conception of the European situation taut almost to the breaking point last week was this: The house had not been cleaned; the dirt merely had been swept under the bed, out of sight.

Accredited British and foreign observers said the crisis had been merely suspended not solved. Franco-British friendship had been affirmed. The strain on relations between London and Rome had eased. But the British parliament summoned for an emergency session tomorrow was expected to listen to three full days of debate on domestic and international affairs which have still to be solved.

Briefly these observers held that the Franco-British problem of guarantees had not been solved because Premier Laval's reply to Britain's showdown demand was qualified carefully; and Italo-British relations were far from satisfactory because Premier Mussolini showed no disposition to close his war and Britain showed no disposition to let it continue.

A delayed dispatch from field headquarters of the northern Italian armies in Ethiopia apparently described the attitude of Il Duce. Written Saturday it related that slight flank advances had strengthened the fascist front line for a renewed drive southward.

Armies Are Inactive

Military movements virtually were at a standstill. A renewed attack was looked for momentarily with aerial scouts keeping headquarters advised of the situation on a 515-mile frontier. The line extended from the border of Anglo-Egyptian Sudan on the west to the vicinity of the Ethiopian city of Harar to the southeast about half way to the southern front where another great fascist army prepared to advance behind a hard-driven wedge from Italian Somaliland into Ethiopia.

The only definite engagement at arms was in the Dagnerrei region near the Webbe Shibeli river. A dispatch from Mogadiscio, Italian Somaliland, dated Sunday, said Italian forces under General Rudolfo Graziana, on the southern front, wiped out strong Ethiopian forces. Rains still delayed advances.

On the northern front, the Italian line jutted out of the center of the former border between Ethiopia and Italy's colony of Eritrea. Italian aviators reported Ethiopian troops were digging in at Makale, about 60 miles southeast of Aduwa.

The Italian command said it was convinced Ras Kassa, one of the most powerful of Ethiopia's chieftains, intended to unite his forces with those of Ras Seyoum, Ethiopian commander in the north.

An interview with one of the slaves freed by proclamation of General Emilio de Bono, commander-in-chief of the Italian armies in East Africa, disclosed that only about half of them will desert their masters. The slaves attached to the land want to remain; those engaged in "making things with their hands" will leave their masters.

The peace talk at Addis Ababa said Il Duce may negotiate through Count Luigi Vinci-Gigliucci. The Italian minister has remained 11 days after being handed his passports. Government officials believed he could not be waiting merely for the arrival of consular agents, the reason he gave originally for refusing to leave Addis Ababa.

Laval Seeks Way

From Paris came word that Premier Laval, refreshed by victory in the elections, still was trying to find a way to give Italy occupational rights in northern Ethiopia and an economic mandate over the rest of the empire, and at the same time save the face of the League of Nations.

Geneva statesmen, meantime, interpreted the new system of sanctions against Italy as a world law for outlawry of war. Attention was fixed on October 31 for then league states will fix the date for unleashing an economic boycott against Italy.

The "buy nothing from Italy" program the most powerful of the sanctions voted, threatened by its repercussions to strangle Italy's power to purchase abroad the raw materials essential to its national life.

Word came from Rome that Mussolini went out today after the money needed to finance his East African campaign. He opened public subscription for his huge war conversion loan in every bank in Italy. Bankers estimated the maximum return for the government at $720,000,000 and the cost of the Ethiopian campaign at $800,000,000. With funds already available, fascist authorities believed money in sight would enable Il Duce easily to pay for the war.

The fascists from the beginning have characterized financial sanctions which might be imposed by the league as more of a nuisance than a blockade.

The British parliament will be dissolved Friday, and the national elections will be held November 14. Competent observers predicted Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin would be given a renewed mandate by the electorate. It was considered possible the labor party will gain as many as 150 seats, but that would not jeopardize the government's working majority.

The question mark in the peace picture was Mussolini. His peace terms never have been made public in detail. Reliable sources said he would be satisfied with a broad strip of Ethiopia along the Eritrean frontier (already in his hands), extended down the western side of Ethiopia along the Somaliland border.

Cummins testified at the time the demand was made that the company was in "desperate financial straits" with approximately $1,000,000 open accounts and warrants owed by the levee board.

Burke had been called by the defense in an effort to show the dredging company was not solely dependent upon the levee board for money and that the amount outstanding was not as large as represented by Cummins.

Amount $953,779

On cross-examination today Burke testified that on June 30, 1932, the Standard Dredging company held $489,442 of the levee board's warrants which at the time was not cashable and that in addition the board owed the company $464,737 in open accounts, or a total indebtedness of $953,779.

Hugh M. Wilkinson, defense counsel, then took the witness and over vigorous objections by the government, brought out testimony from him to the effect that the levee board made application to the Reconstruction Finance corporation in the summer of 1932 for funds with which to complete the lakeshore projects and that the application specifically required that the dredging accounts be liquidated.

A coroner's jury impaneled on the scene by Dr. T. B. Pugh of Napoleonville, held that Miss Barr died as a "result of an automobile accident."

The situation is stalemated for the present. Whether parliament will be dissolved or the ministry be forced to resign was not clear.

In any event, the premier will have to tolerate parliament for the time being, as the regency itself has the only power to dissolve it. Prince Paul, controlling the regency, is in London.

Senator William E. Murray and Representative John P. Monaghan surveyed the damage and Murray, terming the quake "one of Montana's worst disasters," said he would go by airplane to Washington to ask immediate help.

The plane was engaged in a local radio and navigation mission, officers said, and apparently developed engine trouble.

Mussolini keeps his family life from the public view and knowledge. He is dictator of Italy, but friends say he is little more than a husband and a father at home.

He gets his ears pulled once each year by the children—on his birthday. He may even be scolded from time to time.

Those few friends of his wife who know what she thinks and says of the war do not talk of her. Yet those who have seen Donna Rachele with her children for years have seen her affection for them.

Mussolini himself was steeled by the early hardships of his fascist creed to face trouble calmly. Nevertheless, he has a soft spot in his heart. His mother was an humble school teacher.

If Vittorio and Bruno appear in the casualty lists some day, Il Duce and his wife probably will put on brave faces, even though their hearts will hurt.

crisis for fear the shock would prove too great.

Scores of the nation's leaders intent on forging Great Britain's foreign policy where he left off in 1931, when the labor government fell, paid him tribute as a gentle, beloved idealist known as "Uncle Arthur."

George Lansbury, who succeeded Henderson as chairman of the parliamentary party in 1931, said: "I wish his passing might induce statesmen of the world, even at this late hour, to call a halt in the mad race of armaments."

The death of Henderson, who started life as an iron moulder in Glasgow, Scotland, marks the passing of the first of a coterie of humble-born British workmen who dedicated their youth to the upbuilding of British labor in the pre-war years.

They made labor a powerful force in British public life during and after the war and rose to power on labor's forward surge.

Henderson, who less than a month ago underwent an operation, won the Nobel peace prize in 1934.

His death brought expressions of sorrow in Geneva. An attempt to revive the world disarmament conference was made last month, but it was abandoned on the ground that the Italo-Ethiopian conflict and other reasons made it hopeless so far as achieving anything was concerned.

The council of the League of Nations, which appoints the president of the conference, must decide whether to replace him.

DUCK SEASON IN 29 STATES OPENS

Roar Of Thousands Of Guns Heard As Swift Birds Fly

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The roar of thousands of guns firing missles towards groups of fast-flying birds sounded throughout 29 northern zones states today as the fall duck hunting season began at 7 a.m.

The jingle of alarm clocks aroused hunters with the dawn as the new season opened, all hurrying to their blinds or other vantage points ready for the first ducks to wing their way past.

Although this season's sport will be held under the most restricted regulations ever imposed, opportunities for the best sport in years has been predicted by More Game Birds in America, Inc., a New York foundation which conducted a "duck census" and estimated that perhaps 65,000,000 birds would fly south.

This year's restrictions include the limiting of the shooting to the hours between 7 a.m. and 4 p.m. daily; the prohibition of live decoys and baiting ducks to kill; a bag held to 10 birds per day and the limiting of all firearms to three shots. Sink boxes, sneak boats and open-water shooting also are taboo.

The shooting season, applying to geese, brant, jack snipe, ducks and coot, will continue until Nov. 19. The season in the southern zone states will open Nov. 20 and run until Dec. 19.

The estate of the bureau of biological survey here is much more conservative than that issued by the More Game Birds foundation. J. N. (Ding) Darling, survey chief, figures that 24,000,000 ducks will make the southern flight from Canada and northern United States and that 12,000,000 will be killed by hunting or natural causes.

The states where shooting began today are Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and Nevada.
